THIS IS FLORIDA STATE

Tucked in the Florida panhandle just shy of the state's northern border lies Florida State University. At home in the capital city of Tallahassee, Florida State is a co-educational university and is one of the two senior members of the nine universities in the state system.

A beautiful campus of some 345 acres is wrapped in greenery that combines the blossoms of camellias, azaleas and dogwoods with palm trees and moss-hung oaks. Over 150 buildings—from old gothic structures to the newer contemporary designs—dot the rolling campus, housing some 22,000 students, and nearly 4,000 faculty and staff.

Academic excellence is found in 14 colleges and schools offering courses of study in 18 major disciplines. There are over 90 choices of bachelor's degrees, 95 choices of master's degrees and doctorate degrees offered in 66 areas.

Students at FSU listen and learn from a distinguished faculty that includes six National Academy of Science members and a Nobel Prize winner. Although native Floridians make up the largest percentage of the student body, Florida State's students come from every state in the nation and another 115 foreign countries.

But it all began Jan. 1, 1957, in one building on 10 acres, when the governor of Florida, James E. Broome, signed a bill locating in Tallahassee the Seminary West of the Suwannee—the first of several names of the institution.

By 1860, the school, not yet a college, boasted an enrollment of 250 and in 1887, the president of the seminary organized the school into a four-year liberal arts college. At its first commencement in June 1891, degrees were conferred on two women and five men. Ten years later the institution was renamed Florida State College. In 1905, it became Florida Female College and in 1909 the name was changed to Florida State College for Women. Dr. Edward Conradi was named president, a post he would hold until 1941.

In 1945, FSCW assumed a dual identity. GIs stationed nearby already were attending classes at the women's school, but as men they couldn't legally enroll. Therefore, FSCW took on the additional title, Tallahassee Branch of the University of Florida (TBUF).

In 1947 Gov. Millard Caldwell signed a bill making both the University of Florida and FSCW coeducational.

FSCW became Florida State University.

As a university, Florida State has had six chief executives: Doak Campbell (1941–57), Robert M. Strozier (1957–60), Gordon W. Blackwell (1960–65), John Champion (1965–69), J. Stanley Marshall (1969–76) and Bernard F. Sliger, who has been president since 1976.

Since 1947, enrollment has nearly quadrupled. Today, its 14 schools and colleges offer students the opportunity to choose from more than 100 career options in arts and sciences, business, communication, criminology, education, home economics, law, library and information studies, music, nursing, social sciences, social work, theatre and visual arts. There also is a joint engineering program in cooperation with Florida A&M University.

Florida State's location in the state capital affords excellent study, research and internship opportunities in the areas of government, social sciences and policy sciences.

In the natural science area, FSU excels as a basic research university. The nuclear physics laboratory is ranked by the National Science Foundation as one of the top four in the nation. FSU also maintains a large marine laboratory on the nearby coast of the Gulf of Mexico.

Overseas study programs in fields ranging from law to hotel and restaurant administration are offered in Florence, Italy; Oxford and London, England; Switzerland, Yugoslavia and the Panama Canal Zone.

Among its faculty, FSU counts six members of the National Academy of Sciences, including Paul Dirac, a Nobel Prize winner in physics.

Kurt Waldheim, former secretary general of the United Nations, recently joined the Florida State faculty as a distinguished visiting lecturer in international relations and law.

The FSU School of Music, with approximately 800 students majoring in its various disciplines, is one of the largest in the south. The world-renowned Florida State University Marching Chiefs always add to the excitement when they take the field at halftime during Seminole home football games.

Near the Marching Chiefs' practice field is the circus lot, home of the Flying High Circus, the only all-collegiate circus in the United States.

The School of Theatre is one of the best of its kind in the nation. Burt Reynolds, acclaimed for his work with aspiring theatre professionals at the Reynolds Institute for Theatre Training in Jupiter, Florida, is an adjunct professor on the theatre faculty.

Fine entertainment also is provided each year by the FSU Artist Series, which has brought the Dave Brubeck Quartet, "A Chorus Line," the Pennsylvania Ballet and others to Tallahassee.

On campus, the Union Program Office presents concerts, movies, lectures, flea markets and other activities throughout the year. The intramural office offers year-round sports activities available to students and faculty.

When it comes to intercollegiate athletics, Florida State has established a winning tradition. Both the men's and women's athletic programs are among the best in the nation.

But it's not just good programs that make a university great. As President Bernard Sliger proclaims, it is the people who make Florida State the successful monument to learning that it is. And he takes special pride in the people—students, faculty, administrators and staff—who are Florida State University.

FSU SPORTS INFORMATION

WAYNE HOGAN Sports Information Director

Wayne Hogan, a 1979 Florida State graduate, is in his second year as Sports Information Director.

In that capacity, Hogan is responsible for all publicity and public relations matters concerning the FSU athletic department. The SID office distributes information on 16 intercollegiate sports.

Hogan returned to his alma mater in 1982 after serving as assistant sports information director at New Mexico for two years. Prior to that move, he worked as Director of Public Relations and Broadcasting for two minor league baseball teams.

Hogan got his start in the field while a student at Florida State. From 1975-79, he was assigned duties that included working in the sports information office, engineering the Seminole Sports Network for football and basketball broadcasts and play-by-play announcing for baseball.

In addition to his duties as sports information director, Hogan works with the basketball radio network.

LISA MORTON Associate Sports Information Director

Lisa Morton is in her fourth year as associate sports information director at Florida State.

As a member of the sports information staff, Morton works with publicizing the entire FSU sports program through the media. She serves as editor of the TRIBE, Florida State's football game program, and is responsible for many other publications produced by the SID office. She also coordinates all publicity for the men's basketball team.

Morton, a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., earned a bachelor's degree in sports management from West Virginia University in 1980.

In addition to duties with the WVU Sports Information Office, she worked with the Eastern Eight (now Atlantic Ten) Basketball Conference, producing the league's media guide in 1978.

DAN PEARSON Assistant Sports Information Director

Dan Pearson is in his second year as a full-time member of the Florida State athletic staff. As assistant sports information director, Pearson works closely with the Seminole football team. In addition to other duties assigned by the director, Pearson also serves as publicity director for the FSU baseball team as well as several other sports.

Pearson came to Florida State from West Virginia, where he received a bachelor's degree in Journalism in 1979. While at WVU, he worked three years in the sports information office as both a student and graduate assistant.

After working the 1981 football season as a part-time assistant at FSU, Pearson was named assistant sports information director in October of 1982.

MEDIA INFORMATION

Florida State University's 1983-84 Basketball Guide has been designed for use by the news media and Seminole fans. Any questions not covered in this brochure can be directed to the Florida State Sports Information Office.

All requests for working press, radio, television, photographers or scouting credentials should be made to Sports Information Director Wayne Hogan or Associate Director Lisa Morton at least one week prior to the playing date.

Working media: Working media will be admitted to the Tallahassee Leon County Civic Center and will be permitted to take their seats at court-side. Press credentials may be picked up prior to the game, or held at the Will Call window.

Requests will be evaluated and credentials issued according to the following criteria:

- a. Local metropolitan press; wire services; national publications; opposing metropolitan press; student newspaper.

- b. Other daily newspapers.
- c. Radio and television personnel not actually broadcasting.
- d. Non-daily newspapers.
- e. Scouts.

Parking: To the east of Center and surrounding areas. Press parking will be issued on a first-come first-served basis.

Photographers: Accredited photographers, upon presenting a photo pass, will be allowed to shoot under both baskets. NO freelance photographer will be permitted to shoot under the basket.

Television: Facilities are available for both local and network broadcasts. Please have requests prepared several weeks prior to the expected broadcast.

Radio: Sections are reserved for both Florida State and opposing radio in the radio booth. FSU grants broadcast rights to the official radio outlet of the visiting team on a reciprocal basis.

Phones: Telephone service should be secured directly through Centel Telephone Company of Tallahassee, Florida. Call 904/222-2236. Have them contact the Sports Information Office for location.

Telecopiers: Two telecopiers are available in the press room.

Services: Half-time stats plus a running play-by-play will be provided to the media. Final stats and a final running will also be available following the conclusion of the game.

Interview policies: Florida State players may be reached through the Sports Information Office. A media card will be filled out and given to the player who will return the call collect. No interviews will be granted on game days prior to the game. Following the completion of the game, Florida State players will be available to the media after a five-minute cooling off period. Head coach Joe Williams will be taken to an interview room across from the locker room where he will conduct a question and answer session with the media.
