Leonard Hamilton, who is in his first season at Florida State, is a two-time National Coach of the Year.

New FSU Head Coach
Leonard Hamilton:

A Proven Winner in the Bigs

Leonard Hamilton brings excellent recruiting and leadership skills to the table in his first year as head coach at Florida State.

Leonard Hamilton has taken seven different teams to postseason play during his head coaching career.

Leonard Hamilton, who has 29 seasons of experience as a collegiate and NBA coach, is in his first season as the head basketball coach at Florida State University.

Hamilton comes to Florida State after one season as the head coach of the Washington Wizards and 10 years as the head coach at the University of Miami.

In his final season at Miami, Hamilton guided the Hurricanes to their second straight 20-win season, a share of the Big East regular season championship and the school's first trip to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. The Hurricanes finished 23-11, including a 13-3 conference record. They were ranked 23rd in the nation in the final Associated Press poll and 20th in the final USA Today/ESPN poll. Miami's 23 wins matched the team's 1998-99 total and, at the time, tied the school record for victories in a season.

Under Hamilton's leadership, Miami became one of the nation's top programs, advancing to postseason play five times in his final six seasons including the three consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances from 1998-2000. Miami's winning records in his final six seasons meant that the Hurricanes joined Syracuse and Connecticut as the only Big East teams to have an overall winning record from 1995-2000. The Hurricanes' 48-22 Big East mark over his last four seasons tied Connecticut for the best conference record over that period. Over his last two seasons, Miami registered a league-best 28-6 conference record for a .824 winning percentage.

Under Hamilton, the Hurricanes also became one of the nation's top road teams. From 1998 to 2000, Miami registered a league-best 15-2 road record in the grueling Big East conference. Dating back to the 1997-98 season, Miami had won 16 of its last 18 Big East road games.

In 1999-2000, Miami defeated Connecticut in Gampel Pavilion for the second straight season becoming the first team ever to defeat the Huskies in their on-campus arena in back-to-back seasons. Hamilton was also successful against ranked opponents, having recorded 17 wins over teams ranked in the nation's Top-25. His 80-69 victory over 10th-ranked Georgetown during the 1992-93 season was Miami's first over a team ranked in the Top-10 since the rebirth of the Hurricanes' basketball program in 1985.

In his final season with Miami, Hamilton's Hurricanes recorded three wins over ranked teams including a 74-70 home win over No. 18 St. John's, marking the sixth straight season Miami had defeated a ranked opponent in the Miami Arena.

In the 40 seasons prior to Hamilton's arrival, the Hurricanes reached the post-season just four times including one NCAA tournament appearance (1960). In his 10 seasons at Miami, Hamilton led the Hurricanes to five postseason appearances.

Along with the rise of the Hurricanes' program, Hamilton's players also continued to develop and win individual awards. In 1999-2000, guard Johnny Hemsley earned second-team All-Big East honors while center Mario Bland was named to third-team All-Conference.

In 1998-99, Hemsley and forward Tim James were named first-team All-Big East. The Hurricanes joined Syracuse (eight times), Georgetown (twice), Pittsburgh, St. John's and Villanova as the only schools to have two players named first-team All-Big East in the same season. In 10 seasons under Hamilton, the Hurricanes had 13 All-Conference selections.

In 1998-99, Tim James was named Big East Co-Player of the Year, along with Connecticut's Richard Hamilton. Johnny Hemsley was selected as the league's Most Improved Player. Miami's rise began in 1994-95 when Hamilton led the Hurricanes to the greatest single season turnaround in Big East history. Picked to finish at the bottom of the Big East Conference standings, Hamilton guided the Hurricanes to a fifth-place finish and a berth in the National Invitational Tournament - Miami's first postseason appearance in 31 years.

Miami set a Big East record in 1995 for the greatest single-season improvement in league history. The Hurricanes' nine-win conference increase tied Louisiana Tech for the best in the nation. Miami's eight-win overall improvement tied for the third best single season increase in school history.

At the conclusion of the 1995 season, Hamilton was named the United Press International National Coach of the Year. His peers also recognized Hamilton as the league coaches tabbed him Big East Conference Coach of the Year for the first time.

In 1998-99, Hamilton took home even more hardware. Hamilton was named Big East Coach of the Year for the second time joining Jim Calhoun, Lou Carnesecca, Jim Boeheim, John Thompson and P.J. Carlesimo as the only coaches to win the award more than once. Coach Hamilton was later honored as the Eastern Basketball Coach of the Year, and in 2000, he was named the Black Coaches Association (BCA) Coach of the Year.

Hamilton understands that defense wins championships. Under his tutelage the Hurricanes became one of the nation's top defensive teams. Miami ranked nationally in field goal percentage in each of his last four seasons including a No. 1 national ranking in 1997-98. In his final season, the Hurricanes ranked 22nd in the nation in field goal percentage defense holding teams to 39.4 percent shooting. In 1998-99, the Hurricanes ranked 13th in the nation holding teams to 38.4 percent shooting. The 1997-98 Hurricanes ranked No. 1 in the nation in field goal percentage defense holding opponents to 37.9 percent shooting from the floor. The 1996-97 Hurricanes ranked No. 6 in the nation in field goal percentage defense holding opponents to just 38.0 percent shooting.

Despite all his success on the court, Hamilton never lost sight of his No. 1 priority: the student-athlete. His number one goal is to help prepare his players for the challenges they will encounter in life. In his 10 seasons at Miami, 28 of Hamilton's 31 seniors received their degrees.

For his work both on and off the court, Coach Hamilton was honored as one of four finalists for the 2000 Coach Wooden "Keys to Life" Award. The award is given annually to a coach who best exemplifies Coach John Wooden's philosophy of emphasizing the fact that impacting the life of a student is more significant than any winning percentage.

Hamilton arrived at Miami from Oklahoma State where he spent four years rebuilding the Cowboys' program. He led them to consecutive appearances in the NIT, which were the first back-to-back postseason appearances for OSU since 1953-54.

Prior to his stint at Oklahoma State, Hamilton was on the staff at the University of Kentucky where he spent 12 seasons with one of the top programs in the country. From 1974-80, he served as an assistant coach and in 1980 he was honored by being named the first associate head coach in Kentucky basketball history.

During his 12 seasons at Kentucky, the Wildcats registered a 296-83 (.781) record, won eight SEC regular season championships, two SEC tournament titles, went to three Final Fours and won the national title in 1978.

Hamilton's coaching career began at Austin Peay State University where he served as a graduate assistant from 1971-73 and then as a full-time assistant from 1973-74. The Governors won back-to-back Ohio Valley Championships in Hamilton's last two seasons at the school. Hamilton recruited and coached James "Fly" Williams, the 1974 conference Player of the Year and two-time all-conference selection. Williams was a two-time consensus All-America in 1973 and 1974 – the only two time All-American in school history. The Governors won the OVC Championship and played in the NCAA Tournament in 1973.

Hamilton's legacy extends across the nation as four of his former assistant coaches have moved on to become head coaches at the Division I level. Included on the list are Tim Carter (Texas San Antonio), Dickey Nutt (Arkansas State), John Phillips (Tulsa) and Bill Self (Illinois).

He starred at Gaston (NC) Community College where he set a school-record by scoring 54 points in a game, and later at the University of Tennessee-Martin where he is a charter member of the school's Hall of Fame. At both schools he served as a team captain. Additionally, while at Tennessee-Martin, Hamilton received both the teams Most Valuable Player Award and the Best Defensive Player Award his senior season.

He earned his Bachelor of Science degree in physical education from Tennessee-Martin in 1971, and received a Master's Degree in physical and health education from Austin Peay State in 1973.

Leonard Hamilton took five of his final six University of Miami teams to postseason play including three to the NCAA Tournament.

Leonard Hamilton has had 10 players selected in the first round of the NBA draft.

Leonard Hamilton presented Anthony Richardson with a Golden Nole Award soon after his arrival during the spring of 2002.

Quoting Leonard Hamilton

"Leonard Hamilton cares about his players beyond the basketball court. You can talk of Hamilton as a disciplinarian and all that stuff, but he'd be the first to tell you that young people want discipline, tough love. He's great at seeing problems before they become major problems. I've never been around anyone who works harder than him. I've never been around anyone more driven than him. I learned an awful lot being with him outside the lines. I think he's a very special person."

Bill Self

Head Coach, University of Illinois

"I don't think Florida State could have made a better choice than Leonard Hamilton. He's a tremendous defensive basketball coach. He did an unbelievable job building the program at Miami. His Florida ties should help him at Florida State."

Jim Boeheim

Head Coach, Syracuse University

"This is an excellent hire that is not only good for Florida State but also for the Atlantic Coast Conference. Leonard Hamilton is a proven program builder and recruiter and he will be a welcome addition to the ACC."

John Swofford, Commissioner
Atlantic Coast Conference

"Leonard Hamilton is a tremendous choice for Florida State. He is a tireless worker and he does a great job in recruiting as well as coaching his players to reach their full potential. His teams were always very difficult to play against when he coached at the University of Miami. There is no doubt in my mind Leonard will do an outstanding job with the Florida State basketball program."

Pete Gillen

Head Coach, University of Virginia

"Leonard Hamilton is going to be a great asset for Florida State. His recruiting and coaching abilities are absolutely superb. I really believe that with his knowledge of the state of Florida and having been a success at the University of Miami, where he embraced the football program and understood its value and what it could do to help in the world of recruiting, he will pay big dividends in Seminole country. He is a super hire for Florida State."

Dick Vitale

ESPN

"I think Leonard Hamilton is a great choice for Florida State. He has been successful at both Miami and Oklahoma State so he knows how to navigate a basketball team in a football environment. There are a number of positive pieces in place at Florida State and he is a coach that can take a team to the highest level. He is smart, well organized and relates very well to people and players."

Jay Bilas

ESPN

"It is a popular, hackneyed theme in sports, this whole idea of destiny, but maybe magic is what you get when you are the coach, and you sleep less than five hours a night, and you get up at 5:00 every morning, and the only exercise you can squeeze in is on the treadmill while you are watching a film. Maybe magic is what you get when you care so much about your players that you tell them you love them and they tell you they love you back, and you cry together in that locker room when you make those motivational speeches about your sick dad. You can go ahead and believe in magic. What I believe in is Leonard Hamilton."

Dan LeBatard

Miami Herald

"He was our target. He's a veteran head coach who has been through the wars, who has fallen down and gotten back up, who has built programs and then had a lot of success."

Dave Hart, Director of Athletics

Florida State University

"The University of Miami is extremely pleased for Coach Hamilton. He will do an excellent job for FSU."

Paul Dee, Director of Athletics

University of Miami

"I remember the first time Leonard Hamilton came into our house. He was open, honest and made no 'pie in the sky' promises. Coach Hamilton spoke as a parent to a parent knowing that he would be in my stead in many occasions. Thank you for keeping your word and my son."

Theresa Bland Willis

Mother of Mario Bland

University of Miami - Class of 2000

"I came here as a kid, but I'll be leaving as a man. I'm a better person. When I go back home, people see how much I've changed, how giving I am and they ask, 'How did you become so nice? Where did you learn that.' I always tell them, 'Coach Ham, Coach Ham, Coach Ham.' My father died in 1991, so I called Coach Ham my father. All the guys on our team do. He might as well be our legal guardian."

Kevin Norris

University of Miami

Class of 1998

"He brings something to the table that probably a lot of coaches say they do but really don't. He is a coach, but he brings us over to the house for dinner and during the holidays we eat there together. We all know we can talk to him on a personal level about anything. It's as if he's my own dad. I feel like I can call him at any hour of the night and he will have time for me."

Tim James

Leonard Hamilton has been a head coach at the collegiate and NBA levels.

Stan Jones

Associate Head Coach

Stan Jones, who has coached four teams in the NCAA Tournament in his first six years as a coach on the collegiate level, is in his first season as associate head coach at Florida State. Jones helped coach Miami into the NCAA Tournament during three consecutive seasons (1998-2000) and coached Mississippi State into the NCAA Tournament during the 2001 season.

Jones helped lead Mississippi State to a school-best No. 3 seed in the 2002 NCAA Tournament. The Bulldogs advanced to the second round of the tournament with a win over McNeese State, 70-58, in the first round before falling to Texas, 68-64, in the second round. The team captured only the school's second SEC Tournament championship with victories over No. 11 ranked Florida and No. 8 ranked Alabama in the title game. Mississippi State won a school-record 27 games and was ranked 17th in the final Associated Press poll of the season.

Jones was also an assistant head coach to Leonard Hamilton with the Washington Wizards in 2001. He coached three former NBA All-Stars, Mitch Richmond, Juwan Howard and Rod Strickland as well as 2001 All-Rookie Team member Courtney Alexander and All-Star Rookie game participant Richard Hamilton.

Jones began his collegiate assistant coaching career at Miami under Hamilton in 1996. During his career at Miami, he helped guide the Hurricanes to a 95-54 record for a .638 winning percentage. The 95 wins (15.8 wins per season) were the most in a five-year period for the program since the 1959 through 1964 seasons. Miami won 23 games in both 1999 and 2000 to mark only the third time in program history (and first time since 1964) the program had won at least 20 games in consecutive seasons.

In his final four seasons at Miami, Jones helped guide the Hurricanes to four postseason tournament appearances, a regular season Big East championship and the school's first ever NCAA Tournament "Sweet 16" appearance in 2000. Miami won a school record tying 23 games in 1999 on its way to the school's first ever top-10 national ranking. The Hurricanes were ranked No. 10 in the season ending Associated Press poll.

Miami defeated 13 nationally ranked teams while Jones was at Miami, including seven teams ranked in the nation's top-10 at the time of the game. Jones helped engineer Miami's upset of No. 2 ranked Connecticut (on the road) during the 2000-01 season.

While at Miami, Jones coached six All-Big East selections including 1999 conference co-Player of the Year Tim James. James is the fourth all-time leading scorer in school history, was a two-time all-conference first-team selection and the first round draft choice of the Miami Heat in 1999. In addition, Jones coached Johnny Hensley (the school's seventh all-time leading scorer) and Mario Bland (the school's 14th all-time leading scorer, among others).

In addition, Jones helped Miami recruit some of the nation's top players. The Hurricanes' recruiting classes were ranked among the nation's best during his tenure there with the 2000 class ranked seventh and their 1996 class ranked 13th in the nation.

Jones' tenure at Miami was also marked by a rise on the national statistics by the Hurricanes. Miami ranked among the nation's leaders in field goal percentage from 1997-00 and led the nation during the 1997-98 season when the team played in the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1960 and only the second time in school history. The team ranked sixth in the nation in field goal percentage defense during the 1997 season (38.0) and 13th in 1999 (38.4). The Hurricanes also ranked ninth in the nation in free throw shooting percentage with a 74.8 percent mark during the 2000 season.

Jones earned his bachelor's (1984) and master's (1990) degrees in physical education from Memphis State University (now known as the University of Memphis). Jones was a member of the Tigers' junior varsity team for two seasons.

Jones, who will turn 43 during the 2002-03 season, is married to the former Olga Campos. The couple has a daughter, Shannon (20) and a son, Adam (18).

Mike Jaskulski

Assistant Coach

Mike Jaskulski, whose experience and recruiting roots run as deep as any coach in college basketball, is in his first year as an assistant coach at Florida State University. He has been a head or assistant coach at nearly every level of college basketball during his 25 years in the coaching profession and brings that immense amount of experience with him as a member of Leonard Hamilton's first Seminole staff.

As he begins his first year at Florida State, Jaskulski is in his fifth season working as an assistant to Hamilton. He was a member of Hamilton's staff at Miami from 1993-97 when the Hurricanes made two postseason NIT appearances and played in the quarterfinal round of the Big East Tournament twice. Miami's invitation to the NIT was the school's first post-season tournament invitation in 31 years.

While serving as an assistant to Hamilton at Miami, Jaskulski helped the Hurricanes to the fifth best win-loss record in the Big East Conference. Miami advanced to post-season play in two of his final three years and had a 21-8 conference record (72.4 winning percentage) during that time.

During the 1994-95 season, the Hurricanes engineered the greatest single season win-loss record in school history and greatest in the nation during that season. Miami finished with a 15-13 record after finishing with a 7-20 record the year before.

While he was at Miami, Jaskulski helped engineer four victories over nationally ranked teams including only the third victory over a top-10 ranked team in school history -- a 61-59 victory over No. 7 ranked Villanova Jan. 11, 1997. In addition, he helped the Hurricanes defeat nationally ranked Georgetown (No. 13, Feb. 4, 1995) once and Syracuse (No. 11, Jan. 3, 1996 and Dec. 7, 1996) twice.

Jaskulski also helped recruit and coach a number of the best players in Miami basketball history including NBA first round draft choice and All-American Tim James, two-time All-Big East selection Johnny Hemsley and 1,000 point scorer Mario Bland. All three players are among the Hurricanes' all-time top-15 scorers and leaders in numerous statistical categories.

During his final season as an assistant coach at Miami, the Hurricanes finished in third place in the league standings, sixth in the nation in field goal percentage defense and first in the league statistics in 4-point field goal percentage defense.

Jaskulski helped establish the University of Maine as one of the premier programs in the North Atlantic Conference in five years as an assistant with the Black Bears. Maine was recognized as one of the most progressive programs in the Northeast with its success exhibited by strong recruiting classes, winning records and strong conference finishes.

Mike Jaskulski has found success at every level of coaching.

Jaskulski compiled a 99-124 record in eight years as a head coach. He served as the head coach at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa from 1985-88 and compiled a record of 62-48 including a 19-10 record during the 1984-85 season. He had a 37-76 record at Towson as its head coach from 1997-2000.

Jaskulski enjoyed tremendous success as the head coach at Loras. He guided the Duhawks to the National Catholic Basketball Tournament four times and helped the team earn a third place finish and three fourth place finishes.

As the head coach at Towson, he improved every aspect of the program during his tenure. Not only did he increase the overall and conference win totals in each of his last three years, but he did so while graduating his student-athletes at a high rate. During his tenure 10 of 11 senior players earned their degrees while three players earned all-conference honors.

Jaskulski began his collegiate coaching career at his alma mater St. Norbert College. He was an assistant basketball coach at the school from 1976-82. He has also coached football on the collegiate and high school levels and baseball and track and field at the high school level.

Jaskulski earned a bachelor's degree in history from St. Norbert College in De Pere, Wisconsin in 1976 and a master's degree in curriculum and instruction (with an emphasis in physical education) from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1984.

Tony Sheals

Assistant Coach

Tony Sheals, who is in his 13th season as a coach at the collegiate level, is in his first year as an assistant coach to Leonard Hamilton at Florida State. Sheals has a proven coaching record on several different levels and has been successful as head and assistant coach at the Division I level at three different schools in two of the tougher conferences in the nation.

Sheals is a Division I head coach with experience at both Bethune-Cookman College in Florida and Delaware State. He averaged nearly 12 wins a season and finished with a conference record of .500 or better in each of his four seasons at Bethune-Cookman and his one year at Delaware State. He was named the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference Coach of the Year in 1995 as Bethune-Cookman established school records for the regular season, conference finish and advanced to the semifinals of the conference tournament.

In his first season, BCC won nine games, the most the program had won in its most recent four seasons. In addition, the Wildcats' 8-8 conference finish tied the school record for most wins and best conference standing in school history.

During the following three seasons, Bethune-Cookman reached the semifinals of the conference tournament twice, won 12 games three times and bettered the school record with nine conference wins in both 1995 and 1997.

Sheals averaged nearly twice as many wins during his four year tenure as the head coach at BCC (11.6) than the program had averaged in the previous four-year period (six).

Sheals was the head coach at Delaware State during the 1999-00 season. The Hornets ranked second in all team defensive categories during his only season there after finishing last the year before his arrival.

He was also a successful head coach on the community college level in the state of Florida. In two years at South Florida Community College, his teams averaged 18.5 wins and were ranked as high as eighth in the state. In addition, Sheals led SFCC to its first ever post-season tournament victory in his first season, 1991.

Sheals led SFCC to even more success during his second season as its head coach. The Panthers were ranked in the state's top-10 for the second consecutive season and played in the championship game of the conference tournament after finishing third in the conference standings. He was named the South Florida Community Colleges' Coach of the Year and was the head coach of the South squad in the Florida Junior College All-Star game.

In addition to his successful Division I head coaching career, Sheals enjoyed success as an assistant on the Division I level. He was an assistant for one year at Bethune-Cookman before becoming its head coach in 1993 and was an assistant at Towson University before being named the head coach at Delaware State in 1999. At Towson, Sheals was an assistant to current Seminole assistant Mike Jaskulski for two years.

Sheals began his coaching career as the head coach at Kathleen High School in Lakeland, Fla. in 1984. During his six seasons there, his teams averaged 23 wins and finished as the runner-up in the state championship tournament three times. His 1987 team was ranked 18th in the nation by USA Today and he was named the Class 4A Coach of the Year by the Central Florida Coaches Association.

During his tenure at Kathleen, Sheals' team never won fewer than 16 games and established a school record with 31 wins during the 1985-86 season. Sheals directed his teams at Kathleen to three district championships, one district runner-up finish, three regional championships and three sectional championships.

Sheals earned his bachelor's degree in physical education, health and recreation from Bethune-Cookman College in 1980. He graduated Magna Cum Laude.

Sheals, who will turn 45 at the end of the 2002-03 season, and his wife, Marian have two children, a son, Drew (13) and a daughter, Marissa (7).

Gene Granger
EQUIPMENT MANAGER
BETHUNE-COOKMAN '71

Gene Granger, who has been a member of the Florida State University athletic staff since 1971, is in his 23rd year as the head equipment manager for the Seminole men's basketball team.

A native of Dade City, Fla., Granger attended Bethune-Cookman College where he played varsity baseball from 1969-71. He joined the Florida State staff as an assistant equipment manager before being named the head manager in 1977.

Granger, 57, and his wife Alberta, are the proud parents of two children, Apryl (25) and Gene Jr., (21), a member of the basketball team at Charleston Southern College.

Sam Lunt
HEAD BASKETBALL TRAINER
MIAMI, 1983

Sam Lunt is in his 18th season as a member of the Florida State University athletic staff and is in his 14th as the head trainer for the men's basketball team. He is the associate director of the sports medicine program and teaches classes in the athletic training curriculum.

Lunt handles all of the medical needs for the men's basketball and Olympic sports teams throughout the year. He supervises all rehabilitative efforts in case of injury. In addition, he coordinates team meals on the road and all pre-game meals prior to home games.

Lunt began working with the men's basketball team in 1988 and joins equipment manager Gene Granger as the longest tenured members of the Florida State basketball staff. The Seminoles have appeared in five NCAA Tournaments and won the 1991 Metro Conference Tournament with Lunt on the sidelines.

Lunt came to Florida State in 1983 after receiving his bachelor's degree in athletic training from the University of Miami. While at Miami, he worked as a student trainer in the Hurricane athletic department and served as an assistant trainer with the Miami Dolphins of the NFL during the summer of 1982.

As a graduate assistant at Florida State, Lunt worked with the Seminole football team while earning his master's degree in sports psychology. During the 1985 spring football season, he worked for the Jacksonville Bulls of the USFL. He returned to the collegiate ranks that summer when he was named an assistant trainer at the University of Louisville.

The Ft. Myers, Fla., native returned to Florida State in 1986. His duties included assisting head football trainer Randy Oravetz with the Seminole football team as well as working with all of the men's varsity sports teams. Lunt became the head trainer for the men's basketball team in 1988 while continuing to oversee the medical care for all men's sports.

During his career at Florida State, Lunt has work with numerous athletes at both the national and international levels. He worked closely with Florida State's physician team in planning and coordinating the medical coverage for the 1991 AAU Junior Olympics that were held in Tallahassee.

Lunt is a certified member of the National Athletic Trainers Association. He worked as a volunteer trainer at the United States Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo., during the 1987 U.S. Olympic Festival. He was also a member of the training staff at the 1989 World University Games in Duisurg, Germany.

Lunt, 40, is married to the former Agnes Bundick. The couple have three children, a son Ryan (4), and twins, Sean and Erin (1).

Kevin White
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF ACADEMIC SUPPORT

Kevin White is in his sixth year as a member of the academic support staff at Florida State University and serves as the academic counselor for the men's basketball program. He is responsible for coordinating and monitoring each student-athlete as they work toward the completion of their degree requirements. In addition, he oversees the study hall and tutorial services for the team.

As assistant director of academic support, White oversees the educational services for each of the men's basketball players to ensure their proper academic progress as they work toward their degrees. In addition, he assists the department in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes when they make visits to campus. White also serves as the academic advisor for the Seminole men's and women's tennis programs.

A native of Seat Pleasant, Md., White attended James Madison University on a football scholarship. He earned his bachelor's degree in sociology and communication in 1991 and his master's degree in higher education in 1995 from JMU. White is currently working toward earning his Ph.D. in athletic administration at Florida State. White was the Life Skills Coordinator for the Academic Support Unit at James Madison for five years following his graduation.

White is a member of the National Association for Academic Advisors for Athletes (N4A).

White is married for the former Nora Maguire. The couple has a two-year-old son, Anthony Covet White.

Michael Bradley
STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH
FOR MEN'S BASKETBALL

Michael Bradley is in his first season as an assistant director of strength and conditioning at Florida State University. He is in his first season as a member of Leonard Hamilton's Seminole men's basketball staff and his fourth overall with Hamilton. Bradley worked with Hamilton for three seasons at the University of Miami.

Bradley brings a wealth of experience to the Seminoles' strength and conditioning program. He will coordinate the training efforts for the Seminoles' men's basketball team from the new basketball complex that opened during the summer of 2002. Bradley will be responsible for designing and coordinating the weight room in the Seminoles' new facility.

He was most recently at Stanford University where he worked directly with the men's basketball, men's swimming and field hockey teams. In addition, he assisted with the strength and conditioning efforts for the nationally ranked football, women's basketball, women's swimming and softball teams. During his four-year tenure at Stanford, the Cardinal won the Sears Directors' Cup as the nation's top overall program in Division I athletics four times.

The men's basketball team at Stanford played in the NCAA Tournament four times during his tenure. In 2002, the Cardinal was 31-5 and led the nation in victories. The Cardinal earned the No. 1 seed in the West Regional in 2001, the No. 1 seed in the South in 2000 and the No. 2 seed in the West in 1999.

In addition, the Cardinal men's swimming team earned three second place NCAA championship finishes and the field hockey team played in the NCAA Tournament in 2000. In addition, Stanford's softball team advanced to the 2001 Women's College World Series and played in the NCAA regionals in 2002.

Bradley also worked at the University of Miami from 1995-98 where he worked with eight teams, which included one NCAA tournament, and one NIT men's basketball team coached by Hamilton.

Miami's 1997 team won 16 games and played in the NIT for the second time in three years. The Hurricanes' 1998 team advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1960. Miami averaged more than 16 wins per season and defeated six ranked teams during his tenure.

Bradley has also worked at the U.S. Military Academy (1994-95), South Carolina (1993-94), Southern Methodist (1990-93) and was an assistant football coach at UC Santa Barbara (1989-90).

Bradley earned a B.S. in chemistry from San Diego State in 1989 and a M.A. in chemistry from UC Santa Barbara in 1990.

Thom McDonald
DIRECTOR OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS
IOWA STATE UNIVERSITY, 1988
First Year at Florida State

An integral part of head coach Leonard Hamilton's staff is Thom McDonald, who is in his first year as the director of basketball operations at Florida State. As the director of basketball operations, McDonald will be involved in all phases of the day-to-day operations of the men's basketball office. He will handle office and team budgetary matters, team travel, academic development, dining and housing contracts and will serve as the director of the annual Leonard Hamilton basketball camp for boys.

McDonald's vast knowledge of the game of basketball and his ability to organize and implement programs that will enhance the Seminole program make him a perfect fit for Hamilton's staff.

McDonald comes to Florida State after two years as the commissioner of the Iowa Community Colleges Athletic Association and one year as the director of basketball operations at Championship Productions, a Des Moines, Iowa based company. He was also part owner of FutureStars basketball camps and clinics.

As the commissioner of the ICCAA, McDonald was in charge of all compliance, eligibility, championship tournaments, marketing and promotions for the association. In addition, he was responsible for assigning officials, website development, budgetary concerns, and updating of the constitution and by-laws. Other duties included overseeing the day-to-day operations of all 16-member schools and nine sports played by the conference teams. McDonald was also the director for the Pepsi-Cola Sigler Printing Bowl Game.

McDonald was the basketball director for the Iowa Games in 1997 through 2002 as he coordinated tournaments around the state for various age groups throughout the year. He was responsible for year-round basketball leagues and coordinating regional events with approximately 270 teams participating in the championship tournament. He started and organized the NetFest basketball tournament in which 3rd-8th grade boys and girls participated in youth basketball tournaments. He also organized the winter games for school-aged children and was actively involved in public speaking and fund-raising for the Iowa Games.

He was an assistant coach at Drake University from 1994-97. In addition, he also taught and coached at West Lyon and Perry High Schools from 1998-91 and 1991-94, respectively.

McDonald earned his bachelor's degree in elementary education from Iowa State in 1988. He attended Central College in Pella, Ia., from 1983-87 before transferring to Iowa State. He was a four-year letterwinner as a member of the Central College football team and led the Flying Dutchman to the NCAA Division III Tournament three times. In 1984, Central finished as the national runners-up and advanced to the semifinals in 1985 and 1986. He earned All-Iowa Conference second team honors and established Division III national records for most touchdown receptions in a play-off game and the longest reception in a play-off game.

McDonald is married to the former Michelle Jean Finch. The couple has three children, Hayley (11), Grant (9) and Meredith (3).

Shaun Downey
ASSISTANT EQUIPMENT MANAGER
TOWSON, 2000

Shaun Downey is in his first season as an assistant equipment manager with the men's basketball team at Florida State. He joined the staff in August of 2002 and immediately began helping implement new policies and procedures for the equipment room in the newly opened basketball training facility.

Downey was an assistant equipment manager at Towson during the final two years of his academic career. He assisted in equipment support for 23 varsity sports and helped maintain team uniforms, equipment and inventory. Downey was the clubhouse manager for the Aberdeen Ironbirds of the New York Penn League during the spring of 2002. The Ironbirds are the short season Class A team of the Baltimore Orioles that are owned by Cal Ripken. Downey has also worked in the clubhouses of the Orioles and the Class AA Bowie Baysox.

Downey was the head manager for the men's basketball team at Towson University in Maryland from 1997-2000. As the manager at Towson, Downey was responsible for pre and post practice and game equipment organization. He also served as the team's practice and game film coordinator. In addition, Downey was responsible for arranging all game day meals for the team.

Downey earned a bachelor's degree in sports management from Towson in 2000.
