The Seminole Coaching Staff

Leonard Hamilton is Doing It Again.

In only two years as the head coach at Florida State, Leonard Hamilton has transformed the Seminoles' program into one that is a winner both nationally and in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He has returned the luster to a very proud program and the best is yet to come.

The Seminoles are becoming a fixture among college basketball's elite teams with postseason appearances, victories over ranked teams, games played in sold-out arenas and invitations to play on national television in prime time becoming staples of Seminole basketball.

Hamilton is attracting the best athletes to Florida State and putting those players into the best positions to achieve success during their collegiate careers in Tallahassee. Not only are the Seminoles achieving success on the court with a lightning-fast return to national prominence but they are also earning overwhelming success off the court with ten of ten seniors earning their degrees since Hamilton's arrival in 2002.

Hamilton led the Seminoles to the second round of the NIT in 2004, improved the team's victory total in each of his first two seasons, recruited and coached only the second All-ACC First-Team selection in school history, landed two of the nation's top recruiting classes (including the consensus No. 1-ranked class in the nation in 2003), defeated five nationally ranked teams in making Florida State a national program of significance.

In two short years since being brought to Tallahassee, Seminole head coach Leonard Hamilton has seen a sharp turnaround in the fortunes of Florida State's basketball program.

He took Oklahoma State from 8-20 to their first postseason play in 35 years. He took Miami from 9-19 to a Big East title contender and three NCAA berths.

Should this Florida State turnaround come as any surprise?

HAMILTON IS ATTRACTING THE BEST ATHLETES TO FLORIDA STATE AND PUTTING THOSE PLAYERS INTO THE BEST POSITIONS TO ACHIEVE SUCCESS.

Full Name: J. Leonard Hamilton

Hamilton has also made Seminole basketball an event in Tallahassee and returned the pride to Florida State alumni and fans across the nation. The attendance at the Leon County Civic Center has improved by nearly 50 percent in just the two years since Hamilton's arrival. The Seminoles' attendance for their home games during the 2003-04 season reached its highest level in more than ten years and helped Florida State tie the school record for home wins in a season with 15. Hamilton has helped make the Civic Center one of the tougher places for conference opponents to play as evidenced by the Seminoles' 6-2 league mark in 2003-04.

Hamilton was hired on March 19, 2002 to return the Seminole men's basketball program to the glory it had earned when it played for the 1972 national championship and regularly competed for, and won, conference championships during the 1980's and early 1990's.

Hamilton was the Washington Wizards' head coach in 2001 and the head coach at the University of Miami for ten years prior to that (1991-00) when he became the eighth head coach in Florida State men's basketball history.

In his final season at Miami, Hamilton guided the Hurricanes to their second straight 20-win season, a share of the Big East regular season championship and the school's first trip to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. The Hurricanes finished

Hamilton has proved to be an extremely effective recruiter, landing recruiting classes ranked at the very top each of his first two years.

THE SEMINOLES' ATTENDANCE FOR THEIR HOME GAMES DURING THE 2003-04 SEASON REACHED ITS HIGHEST LEVEL IN MORE THAN TEN YEARS.

Hamilton's efforts to bring fans back to games are paying off. In the two years since Hamilton's arrival, attendance at Florida State basketball games has increased more than 50 percent.

23-11, including a 13-3 conference record, and were ranked 23rd in the nation in the final Associated Press poll and 20th in the final USA Today/ESPN poll. Miami's 23 wins matched the team's 1998-99 total and, at the time, tied the school record for victories in a season.

Under Hamilton's leadership, Miami became one of the nation's top programs, advancing to postseason play five times in his final six seasons including the three consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances from 1998-2000. Miami's winning records in his final six seasons meant the Hurricanes joined Syracuse and Connecticut as the only Big East schools to have an overall winning record from 1995-2000. The Hurricanes' 48-22 Big East mark over his last four seasons tied Connecticut for the best conference record over that period. Over his last two seasons, Miami registered a league-best 28-6 conference record for a .824 winning percentage.

In his final season with Miami, Hamilton's Hurricanes recorded three wins over ranked teams including a 74-70 home win over No. 18 St. John's, marking the sixth straight season Miami had defeated a ranked opponent in Miami Arena.

In the 40 seasons prior to Hamilton's arrival, the Hurricanes reached the postseason just four times including one NCAA tournament appearance (1960). In his ten seasons at Miami, Hamilton led the Hurricanes to five postseason appearances.

Along with the rise of the Hurricanes' program, Hamilton's players also continued to develop and win individual awards. In 1999-2000, guard Johnny Hemsley earned Second-Team All-Big East honors while center Mario Bland was named to Third-Team All-Conference.

In 1998-99, Hemsley and forward Tim James were named First-Team All-Big East. The Hurricanes joined Syracuse (eight times), Georgetown (twice), Pittsburgh, St. John's and Villanova as the only schools to have two players named First-Team All-Big East in the same season. In ten seasons under Hamilton, the Hurricanes had 13 All-Conference selections.

In 1998-99, Tim James was named Big East Co-Player of the Year, along with Connecticut's Richard Hamilton, and Johnny Hemsley was selected as the league's Most Improved Player.

THE SEMINOLES RANKED SEVENTH IN THE NATION IN FIELD GOAL PERCENTAGE DEFENSE AND 16TH NATIONALLY IN STEALS PER GAME IN 2002-03.

Miami's rise began in 1994-95 when Hamilton led the Hurricanes to the greatest single season turnaround in Big East history. Picked to finish at the bottom of the Big East Conference standings, Hamilton guided the Hurricanes to a fifth-place finish and a berth in the National Invitational Tournament - Miami's first post-season appearance in 31 years.

Miami set a Big East record in 1995 for the greatest single-season improvement in league history.

The Hurricanes' nine-win conference increase tied Louisiana Tech for the best in the nation. Miami's eight-win overall improvement tied for the third best single season increase in school history.

At the conclusion of the 1995 season, Hamilton was named the United Press International National Coach of the Year. His peers also recognized Hamilton as the league coaches tabbed him Big East Conference Coach of the Year for the first time.

Hamilton took home even more hardware at the end of the 1999 season. He was named Big East Coach of the Year for the second time joining Jim Calhoun, Lou Carnesecca, Jim Boheim, John Thompson and P.J. Carlesimo as the only coaches to win the award more than once. Hamilton was later honored as the Eastern Basketball Coach of the Year. In 2000, he was named the Black Coaches Association (BCA) Coach of the Year.

Hamilton understands that defense wins championships. Under his tutelage the Hurricanes became one of the nation's top defensive teams. Miami ranked nationally in field goal percentage in each of his last four seasons including a No. 1 national ranking in 1997-98. In his final season, the Hurricanes ranked 22nd in the nation in field goal percentage defense holding teams to 39.4 percent shooting. In 1998-99, the Hurricanes ranked 13th in the nation holding teams to 38.4 percent shooting.

The 1997-98 Hurricanes ranked No. 1 in the nation in field goal percentage defense holding opponents to 37.9 percent shooting from the floor. The 1996-97 Hurricanes ranked No. 6 in the nation in field goal percentage defense holding opponents to just 38.0 percent shooting.

An acknowledged master practitioner of the art of the turnaround, Leonard Hamilton has the Seminole program on track to return to the form that shocked the ACC their first two years in college basketball's toughest league.

Hamilton's 100% graduation rate among his senior players since coming to Florida State is clear evidence of his commitment to the academic success of his players.

IN TEN SEASONS AT MIAMI, 28 OF HAMILTON'S 31 SENIORS RECEIVED THEIR DEGREES. IN TWO SEASONS AT FLORIDA STATE, HE HAS HELPED TEN OF TEN SENIORS EARN THEIR DEGREES.

Hamilton has continued that tradition since coming to Florida State. The Seminoles ranked seventh in the nation in field goal percentage defense and 16th nationally in steals per game in 2002-03. Tim Pickett, a Hamilton recruit and All-ACC First-Team selection, led the conference in steals with 82 during the 2003 season. He became only the third player in school history to lead the ACC in steals. During the 2003-04 season, the Seminoles finished eighth nationally in 3-point field goals made per game and 21st in field goals percentage defense. In addition, Pickett finished tenth in 3-point field goals made per game and 18th nationally in steals per game.

Despite all his success on the court, Hamilton never lost sight of his No. 1 priority: the student-athlete. His number one goal is to help prepare his players for the challenges they will encounter in life. In his ten seasons at Miami, 28 of Hamilton's 31 seniors received their degrees. In two seasons at Florida State, he has helped six of six seniors earn their degrees including Pickett, a 2004 NBA second round draft selection.

For his work both on and off the court, Coach Hamilton was honored as one of four finalists for the 2000 Coach Wooden "Keys to Life" Award.

The award is given annually to a coach who best exemplifies Coach John Wooden's philosophy of emphasizing the fact that impacting the life of a student is more significant than any winning percentage.

Hamilton arrived at Miami from Oklahoma State where he spent four years rebuilding the Cowboys' program. He led them to consecutive appearances in the NIT, the first back-to-back postseason appearances for OSU since 1953-54.

Prior to his tenure at Oklahoma State, Hamilton was on the staff at the University of Kentucky where he spent 12 seasons with one of the top programs in the country. From 1974-80, he served as an assistant coach, and in 1980 he was honored by being named the first associate head coach in Kentucky basketball history.

During his 12 seasons at Kentucky, the Wildcats registered a 296-83 (.781) record, won eight SEC regular season championships, two SEC tournament titles, went to three Final Fours and won the national title in 1978.

Hamilton's coaching career began at Austin Peay State University where he served as a graduate assistant from 1971-73 and then as a full-time assistant from 1973-74. The Governors won back-to-back Ohio Valley Championships in Hamilton's last two seasons at the school. Hamilton recruited and coached James "Fly" Williams, the 1974 conference Player of the Year and two-time all-conference selection. Williams was a two-time consensus All-America in 1973 and 1974, the only two-time All-America in school history. The Governors won the OVC Championship and played in the NCAA Tournament in 1973.

Hamilton's legacy extends across the nation as seven of his former assistant coaches have moved on to become head coaches at the Division I level. Included on the list are Tim Carter (Texas San Antonio), Dwight Freeman (Norfolk State), Randy Lee (Maine Machias), Dickey Nutt (Arkansas State), John Phillips (Tulsa), Bill Self (Kansas) and Pat Smith (Birmingham State).

He played at Gaston (NC) Community College where he set a school record by scoring 54 points in a game, and later at the University of Tennessee-Martin where he is a charter member of the school's Hall of Fame. At both schools he served as a team captain. Additionally, while at Tennessee-Martin, Hamilton received both the team Most Valuable Player Award and the Best Defensive Player Award his senior season.

He earned his Bachelor of Science degree in physical education from Tennessee-Martin in 1971, and received a master's degree in physical and health education from Austin Peay State in 1973.

The affable and well-spoken Hamilton is always a popular interview among the members of the media, who know they'll get the straight story from the Florida State coach.

HAMILTON'S LEGACY EXTENDS ACROSS THE NATION AS SEVEN OF HIS FORMER ASSISTANT COACHES HAVE MOVED ON TO BECOME HEAD COACHES AT THE DIVISION I LEVEL.

AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE 1995 SEASON, HAMILTON WAS NAMED THE UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL NATIONAL COACH OF THE YEAR.

Hamilton Against The Top 25

With Florida State's 81-65 victory over No. 10 Georgia Tech on Feb. 3, 2004 in the Tallahassee Leon County Civic Center, Leonard Hamilton earned his 24th career victory over an AP Top 25 opponent. The victory over the Yellow Jackets was his fifth over a ranked team as the head coach at Florida State, giving him the most wins against ranked teams during the first two years of a Seminole coaches' tenure. Hamilton's first victory over the nation's No. 1-ranked team came against Oklahoma on Feb. 4, 1989 as the head coach at Oklahoma State. His teams have defeated 11 teams ranked in the top 10 at the time of the game.

Associate Head Coach

Stan Jones

Stan Jones
Associate Head Coach
Univ. of Memphis '84, '90
Third Season at FSU

Associate head coach Stan Jones, who is in his third season at Florida State, was recently named one of the top 25 recruiters in the nation. He has earned that label throughout his eight-year collegiate coaching career and especially during his three years at Florida State. Since becoming a member of Leonard Hamilton's staff in 2002, the Seminoles have landed consecutive top-15 recruiting classes including the consensus No. 1-ranked class in 2003.

Jones was instrumental in attracting the nation's No. 1 recruiting class – Von Wafer, Alexander Johnson, Diego Romero and Antonio Griffin – to Florida State in 2003. Four different college basketball outlets – Rivals.com, the Official College Sports Network, Hoopmasters.com and the Louisville Courier Journal – ranked the Seminoles' recruiting class as the nation's best. It marked the first time in Florida State men's basketball history that the Seminoles had recruited the nation's top class.

Not only has Jones been influential in attracting some of the nation's top talent to play basketball at Florida State, but his coaching ability has helped develop those talented players on the court. With Jones on the staff, the Seminoles advanced to the second round of the NIT and won 19 games in 2004. It marked the first time Florida State earned a postseason berth since 1998 and its win total was the Seminoles' highest since the 1997 season. The Seminoles ranked seventh nationally and second in the ACC in field goal percentage defense in 2003, first in the ACC in scoring defense in 2003 and first in the ACC and third in the nation in 3-point shots made in 2004.

The Seminoles have defeated five top-10 ranked teams in his first two years at Florida State including No. 5-ranked Duke in 2003 and No. 7-ranked North Carolina in 2004. The Seminoles set a school record with a 24-point comeback to defeat North Carolina on national television – the win over the Tar Heels was the first of three consecutive home court victories over top-10 ranked ACC teams.

Jones was also instrumental in the development of All-America Honorable Mention and All-ACC First-Team selection Tim Pickett during his two-year career at Florida State. In 2004, Pickett became only the second player in school history to earn All-Conference First-Team honors.

Jones has coached four teams in the NCAA Tournament in his first eight years as a coach on the collegiate level. Jones helped coach Miami into the NCAA Tournament during three consecutive seasons (1998-2000) and coached Mississippi State into the NCAA Tournament during the 2001 season. In both instances, at Miami and Mississippi, Jones helped both programs return to the NCAA Tournament after lengthy absences. In 1998, the Hurricanes made their first tournament appearance since reviving the program in 1985. Mississippi State, which also won the Southeastern Conference Tournament championship in 2002, had not been to the NCAA Tournament since 1996, a span of six years.

Jones helped lead Mississippi State to a school-best No. 3 seed in the 2002 NCAA Tournament. The Bulldogs also captured only the school's second SEC Tournament championship with victories over No. 11-ranked Florida and No. 8-ranked Alabama in the title game.

Jones was also an assistant head coach to Leonard Hamilton with the Washington Wizards in 2001.

Jones began his collegiate assistant coaching career at Miami under Hamilton in 1996. During his career at Miami, he helped guide the Hurricanes to a 95-54 record for a .638 winning percentage. The 95 wins (19.0 wins per season) were the most in a five-year period for the program since the 1959 through 1964 seasons. Miami won 23 games in both 1999 and 2000 to mark only the third time in program history (and first time since 1964) the program had won at least 20 games in consecutive seasons.

In his final four seasons at Miami, Jones helped guide the Hurricanes to four post-season tournament appearances, a regular season Big East championship and the school's first ever NCAA Tournament "Sweet 16" appearance in 2000. Miami won a school record tying 23 games in 1999 on its way to the school's first ever top-10 national ranking. The Hurricanes were ranked No. 10 in the season ending Associated Press poll.

Miami defeated 13 nationally ranked teams while Jones was at Miami including seven teams ranked in the nation's top 10 at the time of the game. Jones helped engineer Miami's upset of No. 2-ranked Connecticut (on the road) during the 1999-00 season. The Hurricanes became the first team in conference history to win two consecutive games on the road against Connecticut. During Jones' final two years at Miami, the Hurricanes had the best conference road record in the Big East with a 15-2 mark for an 88.2 winning percentage.

While at Miami, Jones coached six All-Big East selections including 1999 conference Co-Player of the Year Tim James. James is the fourth all-time leading scorer in school history, was a two-time All-Conference First-Team selection and the first round draft choice of the Miami Heat in 1999. In addition, Jones coached Johnny Hemsley (the school's seventh all-time leading scorer) and Mario Bland (the school's 14th all-time leading scorer) among others. Hemsley and Bland were also All-Conference selections during their careers. He also coached John Salmons and recruited Darius Rice, two more of Miami's all-time best players.

In addition, Jones helped Miami recruit some of the nation's top players. The Hurricanes' recruiting classes were ranked among the nation's best during his tenure there with the 2000 class ranked seventh and their 1996 class ranked 13th in the nation.

Jones' tenure at Miami was also marked by a rise on the national statistics by the Hurricanes. Miami ranked among the nation's leaders in field goal percentage from 1997-00 and led the nation during the 1997-98 season when the team played in the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1960 and only the second time in school history. During the 1997-98 season, the Hurricanes limited their opponents to a 37.9 field goal percentage. The team ranked sixth in the nation in field goal percentage defense during the 1997 season (38.0) and 13th in 1999 (38.4). The Hurricanes also ranked ninth in the nation in free throw shooting percentage with a 74.8 percent mark during the 2000 season.

With seven published writings on basketball coaching techniques to his credit, Jones has most recently been involved with the production of five instructional basketball videos in the areas of team offense, team defense, practice planning, individual improvement drills and offensive drills.

Jones, who will turn 45 during the 2004-05 season, is married to the former Olga Campos. The couple has a daughter, Shannon (22), and a son, Adam (20).

Assistant
Coach

Mike Jaskulski

Mike Jaskulski
Assistant Coach
St. Norbert College '76
Univ. of Wisconsin '84
Third Season at FSU

In his third season as a member of Leonard Hamilton's coaching staff at Florida State, Mike Jaskulski has utilized his teaching ability, recruiting expertise and coaching roots to help transform the Seminoles into one of the rising programs on the Division I level.

During his 27-year coaching career, Jaskulski has become known as one of the best evaluators of talent and hardest working recruiters in college basketball whose teams annually find success with the players he has recruited.

Since arriving at Florida State in 2002, Jaskulski has had his talents put to the test and has responded brilliantly. His teaching abilities helped the Seminoles advance to the second round of the NIT and win 19 games in 2004 while his recruiting expertise and coaching roots have helped the Seminoles attract a pair of top-15 ranked recruiting classes. Florida State's recruiting class was ranked as the nation's best for the first time in the history of the program in 2003.

Jaskulski helped attract the nation's top recruiting class - Von Wafer, Alexander Johnson, Diego Romero and Antonio Griffin - to Florida State in 2003. It marked the first time the Seminole men's basketball team had earned college basketball's top recruiting class in the 59-year history of the program.

Jaskulski has displayed his coaching talents in his first two seasons in Tallahassee, as the Seminoles have become one of the tougher teams in the nation to scout and play against. Florida State has defeated five ranked teams including No. 5-ranked Duke in 2003 and NCAA Runner-Up Georgia Tech in 2004. The Seminoles defeated four ranked teams during the 2004 season with three - Georgia Tech, Wake Forest and North Carolina - ranked in the nation's top 10 at the time of the game. Jaskulski was the assistant coach in charge of scouting Duke when the Seminoles defeated the No. 5-ranked Blue Devils in 2003.

Jaskulski's expertise has helped the Seminoles become one of the nation's most improved defensive teams in the last two years. The Seminoles finished seventh in the nation and second in the ACC in field goal percentage defense and 16th in the nation and second in the ACC in steals per game in 2003. In 2004, the Seminoles were 21st nationally and second in the ACC in field goal percentage defense. The Seminoles were unranked nationally and in the bottom half of the ACC statistics prior to Jaskulski's arrival.

Tim Pickett, who earned All-America Honorable Mention and All-ACC First-Team honors, was one of Jaskulski's star pupils during the 2003 and 2004 seasons. Pickett was the only player named to the ACC All-Defensive team both years and led the nation in steals during the two years combined. He totaled 164 steals in the last two years.

Jaskulski was a member of Hamilton's staff at Miami from 1994-97 when the Hurricanes made two postseason NIT appearances and played in the quarterfinal round of the Big East Tournament twice. Miami's invitation to the NIT in 1995 was the school's first postseason tournament invitation in 31 years. In addition, Miami ranked among the nation's leaders in numerous statistical categories and increased their victory total by nine over the four-season span.

While serving as an assistant to Hamilton at Miami, Jaskulski helped the Hurricanes to the fifth best win-loss record in the Big East Conference. Miami advanced to postseason play in two of his final three years.

During the 1995 season, the Hurricanes engineered the greatest single season win-loss turnaround in school history and greatest in the nation during that season. Miami finished with a 15-13 record after finishing with a 7-20 record the year before.

While he was at Miami, Jaskulski helped engineer four victories over nationally ranked teams including only the third victory over a top-10 ranked team in school history - a 61-59 victory over No. 7-ranked Villanova Jan. 11, 1997. In addition, he helped the Hurricanes defeat nationally ranked Georgetown (No. 13, Feb. 4, 1995) once and Syracuse (No. 11, Jan. 3, 1996 and Dec. 7, 1996) twice.

Jaskulski also helped recruit and coach a number of the best players in Miami basketball history including NBA first round draft choice and All-America Tim James, two-time All-Big East selection Johnny Hemsley and 1,000-point scorer Mario Bland. All three players are among the Hurricanes' all-time top 15 scorers and leaders in numerous statistical categories.

During his final season as an assistant coach at Miami, the Hurricanes finished in third place in the league standings, sixth in the nation in field goal percentage defense and first in the league statistics in 3-point

Prior to his career at Miami, Jaskulski helped establish the University of Maine as one the premier programs in the North Atlantic Conference in five years as an assistant with the Black Bears. Maine was recognized as one of the most progressive programs in the Northeast with its success exhibited by strong recruiting classes, winning records and strong conference finishes. Maine's 1990 recruiting class was ranked 49th in the nation, the team averaged more wins in his five years (12.0) than it had during the first 65 years of the program (9.3) and it earned its top two conference finishes in school history.

Jaskulski has spent eight years as a head coach. He served as the head coach at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa, from 1985-88 and compiled a record of 62-48 including a 19-10 record during the 1984-85 season. He had a 37-76 record at Towson as its head coach from 1997-2001.

Jaskulski enjoyed tremendous success as the head coach at Loras. He guided the Duhawks to the National Catholic Basketball Tournament four times and helped the team earn a third place finish and three fourth place finishes. Loras was the only team to reach the NCBT Final Four during his tenure. In addition, the team ranked third in the NCAA Division III statistics in team defense in 1988 and was ranked fifth in the nation in team defense during the 1986 season. Jaskulski oversaw the program's successful move from the NAIA into the NCAA and coached seven National Catholic All-Americans and a pair of National Catholic Academic All-Americans in his four-year stay. Loras also played in the NCBT during his two years as an assistant coach at the school.

As the head coach at Towson, he improved every aspect of the program during his tenure. Not only did he increase the overall and conference win totals in each of his last three years, but he did so while graduating his student-athletes at a high rate. During his tenure 10 of 11 senior players earned their degrees while three players earned All-Conference honors.

Jaskulski began his collegiate coaching career at his alma mater St. Norbert College. He was an assistant basketball coach at the school from 1976-82. He has also coached football on the collegiate and high school levels and baseball and track and field at the high school level.

Jaskulski, who will turn 51 during the 2004-05 season, is married to the former Marcia Anne Hendricks, a registered nurse. The couple has two daughters: Katie (13) and Carly (8).

Assistant
Coach

Tony Sheals

Tony Sheals
Assistant Coach
Bethune-Cookman '80
Third Season at FSU

In his first two years as a member of the Leonard Hamilton staff at Florida State, assistant coach Tony Sheals helped the Seminoles advance to the second round of the NIT 2004, increase its victory total in both 2003 and 2004, attract two top-15 ranked recruiting classes and improve every aspect of the program. Sheals' basketball expertise, recruiting knowledge and ability to communicate with players has helped the Seminoles become one of the finest programs in the nation both on and off the court.

Sheals is in his third season at Florida State and 11th as a coach on the Division I level. He has enjoyed an outstanding career and has found success at every level of basketball with tenures in the Atlantic Coast, Big East, America East and Mid-Eastern Athletic conferences. Sheals' accomplishments include recruiting the nation's No. 1 recruiting class to Florida State in 2003, recruiting and coaching the MEAC Rookie of the Year at Delaware State in 2000 and attracting No. 1 recruiting class in the America East Conference to Towson University in both 1998 and 1999.

Sheals has been a tireless coach and recruiter since coming to Tallahassee in 2002. His efforts have paid huge dividends for the Seminoles since his arrival.

Florida State advanced to the second round of the NIT in 2004 to mark the first time since 1998 the Seminoles had played in the postseason. The Seminoles' 19 wins in 2004 were the most since 1997 and marked the second consecutive season the team had improved its victory total. The Seminoles have defeated five nationally ranked teams with Sheals on the coaching staff. Sheals helped Florida State defeat No. 7-ranked North Carolina, No. 10-ranked Wake Forest, No. 10-ranked and NCAA Tournament finalist Georgia Tech and No. 24-ranked Maryland in 2004, and No. 5-ranked Duke in 2003.

His hard work on the recruiting trail has helped the Seminoles attract a pair of top-15 ranked classes including the nation's No. 1-ranked class in 2003. That class included one McDonald's All-American (Von Wafer) and one who earned All-America Honorable Mention Freshman and All-ACC Freshman Team honors (Alexander Johnson). The Seminoles' class of 2004 includes two of the top 30 ranked prep players in the nation (Jason Rich and Isaiah Swann).

Sheals coached All-America Honorable Mention and All-ACC First-Team selection

Tim Pickett during the 2003 and 2004 seasons. In 2003 Pickett became the first Seminole to lead the ACC in steals since Charlie Ward in 1994 and ranked third nationally in 3-point field goals made during the 2004 season.

An outstanding teacher and communicator, Sheals has five years of Division I head coaching success on his resume. He was the head coach at Bethune-Cookman (1994-97) and Delaware State (2000) during the most successful periods in the histories of those programs. Sheals averaged more than 11 wins a season and finished with a conference record of .500 or better in each of his four seasons at Bethune-Cookman and his one year at Delaware State. He was named the MEAC Coach of the Year in 1995 as the Wildcats established school records for regular season record and conference finish, also advancing to the semifinals of the conference tournament.

During his first season in Tallahassee, Sheals helped the team finish with a record of 14-15, Florida State's best record in the last five years. During the season, the team defeated No. 5-ranked Duke, came within one point of defeating eighth-ranked Florida and within seconds of beating the defending national champion, Maryland, all in Tallahassee in front of sell-out crowds.

Sheals inherited a rebuilding project at Bethune-Cookman and immediately began to return the proud program to the upper echelon of the MEAC. In his first season, BCC won nine games, the most the program had won in its most recent four seasons. In addition, the Wildcats' 8-8 conference finish tied the school record for most wins and best conference standing in school history. During the following three seasons, Bethune-Cookman reached the semifinals of the conference tournament twice, won 12 games three times and bettered the school record with nine conference wins in both 1995 and 1997.

Sheals averaged nearly twice as many wins during his four-year tenure as the head coach at BCC (11.3) than the program had averaged in the previous four-year period (six). Under Sheals, the Wildcats won 45 overall games and 34 conference games as compared to 24 overall wins and 16 conference wins in the four years before his arrival.

HIS HARD WORK ON THE RECRUITING TRAIL HAS HELPED THE SEMINOLES ATTRACT A PAIR OF TOP-15 RANKED CLASSES, INCLUDING THE NATION'S NO. 1-RANKED CLASS IN 2003.

Sheals was the head coach at Delaware State during the 1999-00 season. Under Sheals' tutelage, Delaware State lost nine games by eight points or less including five games that went into overtime. The Hornets ranked second in all team defensive categories during his only season there after finishing last the year before his arrival.

Sheals was the Director of Basketball Operations at the University of Miami during the 2001-02 season. The Hurricanes achieved national success during the season as they played in the NCAA Tournament for the fourth time in five years, earned a No. 5 seed in the NCAA Tournament and won a school-record 24 games. Miami's 24-8 record surpassed the former school record of 23 set in 1999 and 2000 when Leonard Hamilton was the team's head coach.

He was also a successful head coach on the community college level in the state of Florida. In two years at South Florida Community College, his teams averaged 18.5 wins and were ranked as high as eighth in the state. It marked the first winning season and first top 10 ranking for the program in four years. In addition, Sheals led SFCC to its first ever postseason tournament victory in his first season, 1991.

Sheals led SFCC to even more success during his second season as its head coach. The Panthers were ranked in the state's top 10 for the second consecutive season and played in the championship game of the conference tournament after finishing third in the conference standings. He was named the South Florida Community Colleges' Coach of the Year and was the head coach of the South squad in the Florida Junior College All-Star game.

In addition to his successful Division I head coaching career, Sheals enjoyed success as an assistant on the Division I level. He was an assistant for one year at Bethune-Cookman before becoming its head coach in 1993 and was an assistant at Towson University before being named the head coach at Delaware State in 1999. At Towson, Sheals was an assistant to current Seminole assistant Mike Jaskulski for two years.

Sheals began his coaching career as the head coach at Kathleen High School in Lakeland, Fla., in 1984. During his six seasons there, his teams averaged 23 wins and finished as the runner-up in the state championship tournament three times. His 1987 team was ranked 18th in the nation by USA Today and he was named the Class 4A Coach of the Year by the Central Florida Coaches Association.

During his tenure at Kathleen, Sheals' team never won fewer than 16 games and established a school record with 31 wins during the 1985-86 season. He guided the Red Devils to 29 wins at least three times (1986, 1987 and 1990) and averaged 30 wins during the 1986 and 1987 seasons. Sheals directed his teams at Kathleen to three district championships, one district runner-up finish, three regional championships and three sectional championships.

Sheals, who will turn 47 at the end of the 2004-05 season, and his wife, Marian, have two children: a son, Drew (15), and a daughter, Marissa (9).

Seminole Basketball Support Staff

Sam Lunt

Head Basketball Trainer
Miami, 1983
21st Season at Florida State

Sam Lunt
Head Basketball Trainer

Sam Lunt is in his 21st season as a member of the Florida State University athletic staff and is in his 16th as the head trainer for the men's basketball team. He is the associate director of sports medicine and teaches classes in the athletic training curriculum.

Lunt handles all of the medical needs for the men's basketball and Olympic sports teams throughout the year. He supervises all rehabilitative efforts in case of injury. In addition, he coordinates team meals on the road and all pregame meals prior to home games.

Lunt began working with the men's basketball team in 1988 and is the longest tenured member of the Florida State basketball staff. The Seminoles have appeared in five NCAA Tournaments, the 2004 NIT and won the 1991 Metro Conference tournament with Lunt on the sidelines.

Lunt came to Florida State in 1983 after receiving his bachelor's degree in athletic training from the University of Miami. While at Miami, he worked as a student trainer in the Hurricane athletic department and served as an assistant trainer with the Miami Dolphins of the NFL during the summer of 1982.

As a graduate assistant at Florida State, Lunt worked with the Seminole football team while earning his master's degree in sports psychology. During the 1985 spring football season, he worked for the Jacksonville Bulls of the USFL. He returned to the collegiate ranks that summer when he was named an assistant trainer at the University of Louisville.

The Ft. Myers, Fla., native returned to Florida State in 1986. His duties included assisting head football trainer Randy Oravetz with the Seminole football team as well as working with all of the men's varsity sports teams. Lunt became the head trainer for the men's basketball team in 1988 while continuing to oversee the medical care for all men's sports.

During his career at Florida State, Lunt has worked with numerous athletes at both the national and international levels. He worked closely with Florida State's physician team in planning and coordinating the medical coverage for the 1991 AAU Junior Olympics that were held in Tallahassee.

Lunt is a certified member of the National Athletic Trainers Association. He worked as a volunteer trainer at the United States Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo., during the 1987 U.S. Olympic Festival. He was also a member of the training staff at the 1989 World University Games in Duisurg, Germany.

Lunt was named the Professional Outreach Athletic Trainer of the Year by the Athletic Trainers' Association of Florida in 2004. He became the first recipient of the award given by the ATAF to the trainer who has done their best to advance the profession and the association. It is the first time during his career that he has won the award. Lunt was honored for his commitment to community service and work on numerous local and national sporting events. He was a member of the training staff at the 1989 World University Games in Duisurg, Germany, the 1987 U.S. Olympic Festival and the 1991 AAU Junior Olympics in Tallahassee among numerous large-scale events.

Lunt, 43, is married to the former Agnes Bundick. The couple has three children: Ryan (7), and four-year-old twins, Sean and Erin.

Michael Bradley

Strength and Conditioning Coach for Men's Basketball
San Diego State, 1989
Third Season at Florida State

Michael Bradley, an integral part of head coach Leonard Hamilton's coaching staff, is in his third season at Florida State.

Bradley is considered to be one of the top strength and conditioning coaches in Division I basketball and is credited by the Seminole players with helping them achieve extraordinary levels of performance in the weight room during his first two seasons in Tallahassee.

Bradley is credited with helping the Seminoles improve on the court and earning their first postseason tournament berth since 1998 when the team played in the 2004 NIT.

Bradley designed and equipped the state-of-the-art weight room in the Seminoles' Basketball Training Facility that opened in 2002. The weight room is considered to be one of the best and most complete in all of Division I sports.

Bradley also worked at the University of Miami under Hamilton from 1995-98 where he worked with eight teams, which included one NCAA Tournament and one NIT appearance. Miami's 1997 team won 16 games and played in the NIT for the second time in three years. The Hurricanes' 1998 team advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1960. Miami averaged more than 16 wins per season and defeated six ranked teams during his tenure in Coral Gables.

Bradley came to Florida State from Stanford where the athletes he worked with achieved tremendous success in the weight room and on the field. At Stanford, Bradley worked directly with the men's basketball, men's swimming and field hockey teams. In addition, he assisted with the strength and conditioning efforts for the national ranked football, women's basketball, women's swimming and softball teams. During his four-year tenure at Stanford, the Cardinal won the Sears' Directors' Cup as the nation's top overall program in Division I athletics four times.

Stanford played in the NCAA Tournament three of the four years Bradley worked with the men's basketball team. In 2002, the Cardinal was 21-3 and led the nation in victories. Stanford earned the No. 1 seed in the West Region in 2001, was the

ONE OF THE NATION'S TOP ATHLETIC TRAINERS, SAM LUNT ENTERS HIS 21ST SEASON AS A MEMBER OF THE SEMINOLE ATHLETIC STAFF.

No. 1 seed in the South in 2000 and the No. 2 seed in the West in 1999.

Bradley has also worked at the U.S. Military Academy (1994-95), South Carolina (1993-94), Southern Methodist (1990-93) and was an assistant football coach at UC Santa Barbara (1989-90).

Bradley earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry from San Diego State in 1989 and a master's in chemistry from UC Santa Barbara in 1990.

Guy Rancourt

Director of Basketball Operations
Western Connecticut State, 1997
Second Season at Florida State

Guy Rancourt, the 1999 City University of New York Athletic Conference Coach of the Year at John Jay College, is in his second season as the director of basketball operations. He was the head coach and assistant director of athletics at John Jay from 1999 to 2003 and helped the New York City school to unprecedented success on the basketball court. Rancourt led John Jay to a winning record in each of his first three seasons after the team had won only two games the year before his arrival.

As the director of basketball operations, Rancourt is involved in all phases of the day-to-day operations of the men's basketball office. He will handle office and team fiscal matters, team travel, academic development, dining and housing contracts and will serve as the director of the annual Leonard Hamilton basketball camps for boys.

Rancourt was one of the nation's youngest coaches when he became the head coach at John Jay in 1999. He didn't let his age determine his success as he led the Bloodhounds to 13 wins and a quarterfinal round appearance in the conference tournament in his first season. He led the team to 14 wins and a semifinal berth in the conference tournament in 2001 and a share of the division championship in 2002. As its head coach, Rancourt improved John Jay's victory total in each of those seasons.

In his first season at John Jay, Rancourt led the team to 13 wins, an improvement of 11 wins from the previous season. The 11-win improvement was the third best in Division III in 2000. John Jay ranked fourth nationally in field goal percentage defense (.379) during the 2001 season.

Rancourt performed several administrative duties in his position as assistant director of athletics at John Jay. He was responsible for all scheduling, team travel and accommodations, scheduling of officials and facilities management for each of John Jay's 12 athletic teams. In addition, he worked with the department's compliance office, and its academic support and fundraising units.

Rancourt began his collegiate coaching career at the University of New Haven as an assistant coach from 1997-99. His duties included recruiting, scouting, film exchange and on-court coaching. He was also a volunteer coach at Fairfield University during the 1996-97 season, which captured the MACC title and a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

The Queens, N.Y., native played high school basketball at Archbishop Molloy High School during the same time former Georgia Tech star Kenny Anderson was there.

Rancourt earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Western Connecticut State University in 1997. While at Western Connecticut, he helped lead the team to the 1994 ECAC Championship. The Colonials were routinely ranked among the nation's top teams.

Shaun Downey

Equipment Manager for Men's Basketball
Towson, 2000
Third Season at Florida State

Shaun Downey is in his third season as the equipment manager for the men's basketball team at Florida State. He joined the equipment staff in 2002 and works with both the men's and women's basketball teams while helping open the equipment room in the $10 million Florida State Basketball Training Facility.

Downey works with the entire equipment staff at Florida State and has been instrumental in developing the policies and procedures for equipment room in the basketball facility. He succeeded long-time equipment manager Gene Granger, who retired in May of 2003 after serving the Seminoles for 23 years.

Downey was an assistant equipment manager at his alma mater, Towson University, during the final two years of his collegiate academic career. He assisted in the equipment support for 23 varsity sports and helped maintain team uniforms, equipment and inventory. Downey was the clubhouse manager for the Aberdeen Ironbirds (owned and operated by former Baltimore Oriole great Cal Ripken) in the New York Penn League during the spring of 2002. He helped in the opening of the Ironbirds' new stadium as well as overseeing the opening of the equipment room. Downey also worked in the clubhouses of the Orioles and their class AA Bowie (Md.) Baysox farm club for five years.

Downey was the head manager for the men's basketball team at Towson from 1997-2000. As the team manager at Towson, he was responsible for pre- and post-practice and game equipment organization. He also served as the team's practice and game film coordinator. Downey arranged for the Tigers' game day meals. Downey worked for current Seminole assistant coach Mike Jaskulski at Towson.

Downey earned a bachelor's degree in sports management from Towson in 2000. He is a certified equipment manager by the Athletic Equipment Managers Association.

Martin Unger

Video Coordinator for Men's Basketball
Western Carolina, 1997
Fourth Season at Florida State

Martin Unger
Video Coordinator

Martin Unger, who is in his fourth season as the video coordinator for men's basketball at Florida State, has helped the Seminoles become one of the most technologically advanced programs in the nation during his tenure. Unger initiated Florida State's move from a video tape based system to an all digital network which allows the Seminoles' players and coaches to instantaneously study all game and practice footage in order to utilize that information as a learning tool and to better prepare for upcoming opponents.

Unger works directly with both the men's and women's basketball teams and manages the multi-million dollar video production office in the Florida State Basketball Training Facility. He works directly with Florida State's players and coaches during the competitive season and the offseason in the areas of scouting and evaluation. He is also responsible for the videotaping of Florida State's opponents throughout the season for scouting purposes and preparing the coaching staff for their individual scouting assignments.

Unger was the administrative assistant for the men's basketball team at the University of Richmond from 1997-2001. He was responsible for all recruiting mail-outs and film exchange, assisted with on-campus recruiting and was the co-director of the John Beilein

Boys' Basketball Camp at the University of Richmond. Unger also helped with the development of the student-athlete performance index that tracked the Spider players both on the court and in the classroom. In addition, Unger served as the video coordinator for the football team for two years.

Unger was a student assistant coach at his alma mater Western Carolina from 1995-97. He handled all travel arrangements for the team and assisted with recruiting, on-campus visits, scouting, on-court drills and individual player instruction.

Unger earned a bachelor's degree in sociology (with a minor in history) from Western Carolina in 1997.

A native of Richmond, Va., Unger is married to the former Heather Kepley. The couple has a daughter, Kelsey Morgan (5), and a newborn daughter, Katherine Nicole, who was born September 22, 2004.

Hillard Goldsmith, III

Academic Advisor for Men's Basketball
Florida State, 1992; 1995
First Season at Florida State

Hillard Goldsmith enters his first season as an academic advisor for the Florida State University men's basketball program. A key component in the overall success of the program, Goldsmith is responsible for coordinating and monitoring each student-athlete as they work towards the completion of their degree requirements. He also oversees the study hall and tutorial services for each member of the team.

Goldsmith joins the basketball program after spending the past four years with the Florida Department of Corrections.

Goldsmith is a former student-athlete who earned four varsity letters as a member of the Seminole men's track and field team. Goldsmith was a sprinter on the Seminoles' track and field team from 1989-92 and helped lead Florida State to four consecutive Metro Conference championships. He ran for the Seminoles during one of the golden eras of the track and field program at Florida State when the team was in the midst of winning 15 consecutive conference championships. Goldsmith served as team captain from 1990 through 1992 and was the conference runner-up in the 400-meter run during the 1990 season.

In addition to his academic advising responsibilities, Goldsmith works with all prospective student-athletes during the pre-enrollment and admissions process. Goldsmith works with coaches, prospective student-athletes and the university from the initial on-campus visit through the first day of orientation at the university.

Goldsmith is a member of the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletes (N4A). He received his bachelor's degree from Florida State in criminology in 1992 and earned a master's degree in criminology in 1995 and is currently working on a bachelor's degree in accounting and preparing to take the CPA exam.
