The ACC Tournament:

A ONE-OF-A-KIND EVENT BY THE MEMBERS OF A ONE-OF-A-KIND CONFERENCE.

The 54th annual Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament will be played at the St. Pete Times Forum, March 8-11, 2007, marking the first time the greatest of all college basketball tournaments will be played in the state of Florida. It marks the first the tournament will be played outside of the states of North Carolina, Maryland (including Washington, D.C.) or Georgia.

The ACC Tournament has come to be viewed as the "Grandfather of All Tournaments" for its ability to sustain its competitiveness, success, passion, enthusiasm and commitment since the tournament's beginning in 1954. Basketball in the ACC is unmatched and the ACC Tournament only adds to the athletic luster of the 12 conference institutions. The tournament's pageantry, quality tradition, players and coaches make it the finest of all conference tournaments.

"This will create more and more interest in basketball and the ACC," said Commissioner John Swofford. "We're still relatively new to the state of Florida. To have the opportunity to bring our signature event to the state of Florida, and help brand the ACC name as a conference and now connected to Florida State and Miami, is a real opportunity for us."

From 1954 through 1974, only the ACC Tournament champion advanced as the league's representative in the NCAA Tournament. During those years, as college basketball was shaping itself, the ACC was the only league to host a postseason tournament and the only league where the regular season results only meant where a team would be seeded in the chase for the most coveted conference championship in college athletics.

Since 1975, the ACC regular season champion has earned a bid to the NCAA Tournament regardless of how the conference tournament turned out. Since 1980, there has been no limit on the number of teams a conference can send, and the ACC has never sent fewer than three teams.

The ACC champion is still decided by the winner of the annual ACC Tournament. Now, every conference except the Ivy League stages a postseason tournament.

The ACC Tournament was held at NC State's Reynolds Coliseum for its first 13 years of existence from 1954-66. Since then, the tournament has been held at various sites including the original Charlotte Coliseum, the Capital Centre in Landover, Md., the Omni and the Georgia Dome in Atlanta, Ga., the current Charlotte Coliseum, the Greensboro Coliseum and Verizon Center in Washington, D.C.

The inaugural ACC Tournament in 1954 attracted 39,200 fans to the seven games at Reynolds Coliseum. The 2001 ACC Tournament at Atlanta's Georgia Dome was the most attended conference basketball tournament in NCAA history as it established records for total attendance (182,525), per session average (36,505) and single game attendance (40,083).

The demand for those who go to the event has grown to where the last "public" sale of tickets was in 1966. In the past four decades all of the tournaments have been sold out in advance as the tickets will soon be distributed equally to the 12 member institutions.
