

Great Moments In FSU Baseball

SHANE ROBINSON has been a terror on the base paths his entire career but it wasn't until the 2006 ACC Tournament that he cemented his name atop the career steals list at FSU.

With five steals at the ACC Tournament, Robinson took over first place all-time at Florida State with 99 in his career. The All-American was 32-for-36 in 2006 stealing bases. In 2005 the center fielder swiped 13 bases before he was thrown out for the first time of the year. Then in 2006 he stole 11 straight before being caught for the first time. In 2005, Robinson swiped 27 consecutive bases at one point and his longest streak as a freshman in 2004 was 19. Robinson's average was 34 steals a year, which he came just two shy of reaching in 2006. The junior did however get the one steal he needed in the NCAA Athens Regional as he became the first Seminole to swipe 100 bases in school history.

MARSHALL McDOUGALL hits six homeruns in a game versus Maryland May 9, 1999. In the 26-2 FSU win McDougall set NCAA records for home runs in a game, RBIs in a game with 16 and total bases with 25.

J.D. DREW was the king of college baseball in 1997. The 1st Team Consensus All-American rewrote college baseball history as he became the first Division I player to ever hit 30 home runs and steal 30 bases in a season.

He was named baseball player of the year by Baseball America, Collegiate Baseball and The Sporting News on top of receiving the Dick Howser Award, which was given out by the American Baseball Coaches Association. Drew's season was capped off when he won the Golden Spikes Award as the nation's top amateur baseball player.

Manager BILLY MARTIN brought the defending World Champion New York Yankees to Tallahassee April 5, 1978 to face-off with the Seminoles. The team was lead by 1977 World Series MVP

REGGIE JACKSON, Lou Pinella, Thurman Munson, Bucky Dent, Catfish Hunter and Ron Guidry to name just a few of the Yankee stars. The Yankees have visited Tallahassee on two occasions and they aren't the only major league team to come to town. George Brett and the Kansas City Royals came to town in 1988 to honor the late Dick Howser as the stadium was named after the Seminole coach and Major League manager.

In 1956 Seminole pitcher TONY AVITABLE struck out 24 batters for FSU in a win over Furman. The Seminoles recorded 25 strikeouts in that game, one short of the NCAA record.

All-American PAUL WILSON made FSU history in 1994 when he became the only Seminole ever drafted No. 1 overall in a professional sport draft. The right-handed pitcher was the first player selected in the draft by the New York Mets. Wilson is one of 17 Florida State players drafted in the first round of the MLB draft.

The 1982 season was a special one for Seminole JEFF LEDBETTER. The senior set NCAA records for home runs in a season (42), home runs in a career (97), home runs in game (4), RBIs in a career (346), total bases in a season (273) and total bases in a career (704). He also set an NCAA record with a .875 slugging percentage. Ledbetter went on to be named The Sporting News' Player of the Year.

Seminole great MIKE LLOYND led Florida State to a 61-13 record in 1986 when he went 20-3 on the hill. The hurler struck out 223 batters and became the 10th recipient of the Golden Spikes Award as the best amateur baseball player in America. Lloyd is one of three Golden Spikes Award winners from Florida State, which is the most won by any school in the history of the award.

DEION SANDERS had a stellar football career at Florida State and went on to play in both the NFL and Major Leagues. Not only is Sanders the only athlete ever to play in a Super Bowl and a World Series, he made headlines in 1992 when on October 11 Sanders played for the Falcons in Miami and then took a charter flight to Pittsburgh for a playoff game that night. Pulling double duty was nothing new for Sanders. In 1987, the three-sport star won a Metro Conference Championship in the 400M Relay and then turned around and delivered the game-winning hit in the Metro Conference Championship game that evening.

Tallahassee has been the starting point for more than 150 FUTURE MAJOR LEAGUERS. Florida State Seminoles have been No. 1 picks overall, they have been taken in the first round and they have won World Series Championships. Former FSU baseball players have won Gold Gloves, been named both American League and National League All-Stars, won Rookie of the Year honors and even managed a World Series Champion.

DICK HOWSER was the first-ever All-American in Florida State history in 1957. The shortstop had a brilliant career at Florida State and went on to the Major Leagues where he was named The Sporting News' Rookie of the Year in 1961. As a Major League manager Howser won three pennants and a World Series Championship. His number 34 jersey was retired in 1976.

World Series Champion DOUG MIENTKIEWICZ is in select company. The former Gold Glove winner is one of only five players in USA Baseball history to win both a gold medal and a World Series Championship. In 2000, Mientkiewicz hit a game-winning grand slam in the preliminaries versus Korea and then propelled the US into the gold medal game with a walk-off, solo home run in the bottom of the ninth versus the Koreans again.

The 2000 USA Baseball Olympic Team

Since baseball was officially given Olympic medal-sport status in 1992, the best finish prior to 2000 for the USA Baseball Olympic Team was a bronze medal at the 1996 Olympic Games. With the first time inclusions of professional players and wooden bats, all of that changed when the 2000 USA Baseball Olympic Team clinched the gold by beating Cuba 4-0 in the championship game. Former Seminole and current Boston Red Sox first baseman DOUG MIENTKIEWICZ played a huge role in the team's success in Sydney. Mientkiewicz hit a grand slam in the eighth inning lifting Team USA past Korea, 4-0, in pool play. The Miami native then belted a game-winning home run in the bottom of the ninth to give Team USA a 3-2 victory and a spot in the gold medal game against Cuba. Mientkiewicz was a two-time All-American at Florida State (1993 and '94).

World Series more times than FSU. The Tribe's recent success is almost unmatched as well as only three teams have gone to the College World Series more often than Florida State since 1990.

1,000: Martin marks another milestone

Head coach MIKE MARTIN has established himself as one of the greatest coaches ever in the collegiate game during his 25-year tenure at Florida State. On top of leading FSU to 25 consecutive NCAA Regionals and to 12 College World Series, Martin stacks up among the best coaches ever in terms of wins and winning percentage. On April 8, 1998, Martin recorded the 1000th win of his career over Jacksonville. The legendary coach has now recorded over 1,300 victories. Martin is one of just eight coaches in Division I history to surpass 1,300 wins.

Florida State Baseball Tradition

With 2,329 wins, 18 College World Series appearances, three National Championship games, 44 NCAA Tournaments, three Golden Spikes Award winners and 17 first round draft picks, Florida State University has become one of the NCAA's premiere baseball schools.

In just 59 years Florida State baseball has grown into one of the most respected collegiate programs in the country. Not only does Seminole baseball mean wins on the diamond but it also has become synonymous with national honors and awards, major league success and Olympic gold.

WINNING TRADITION

Since its inception in 1948, Florida State has the second highest winning percentage in Division I baseball history. The Seminoles are one of just two programs in NCAA Division I history to have won more than 72% of their all-time games and one of only three teams to have won more than 70% of every one of its games. Only two teams have averaged more wins per season and neither of those schools has a higher winning percentage than FSU baseball.

No Seminole baseball player has ever gone through a losing season at Florida State in 59 years of intercollegiate play. Almost 75% of FSU's teams have played in the NCAA Tournament and over 40% of those teams that made the NCAA Tournament went on to compete in the College World Series. Florida State baseball teams have advanced to NCAA Tournament play for 29 straight seasons, which is the second-longest active streak in all of baseball.

Florida State's dominance of college baseball since 1990 is amazing. Over the past 17 years, no team in America has finished in the top 10 or won 50+ games more times than Florida State. This decade alone no team has as many wins as the Seminoles.

NATIONAL HONORS

The nation's top players have been playing at Florida State for almost 60 years and the proof of that is in the honors and awards collected by Seminoles. FSU players have been named Golden Spikes Award winners three times. No school in America has produced more winners of that prestigious award than Florida State. Seminole players have been named the national player of the year nine times spanning almost 30 years. Most recently Shane Robinson captured Collegiate Baseball's top honor in 2005.

When it comes to producing first team All-Americans, Florida State has produced 39 who have combined to receive 73 first team All-American honors.

FSU baseball players have taken home 181 All-America honors in program history, which means every year Seminole teams produce more than three All-Americans. Florida State freshman have been honored with 40 freshman All-America awards as well.

baseball player has been selected in the first round of the MLB draft 17 times and almost 200 former Seminoles have gone from FSU to signing professional contracts. In the 1990's alone, FSU sent 55 players into professional baseball. In 2004, Stephen Drew became the 16th Seminole chosen in the first round of the major league baseball draft and the second in a span of just four seasons. Seven Florida State players have been taken in the first ten picks of a given draft and in the 90's Major League clubs drafted an FSU player in the first round 10 times.

The list of Florida State stars who went on to play in the major leagues ranges from past major leaguers Ken Suarez, Woody Woodward, Jim Lytle, John Grubb and Luis Alicea, to current pros J.D. Drew, Randy Choate, Paul Wilson, Stephen Drew and 2004 World Series Champion Doug Mientkiewicz. Every year more Seminoles are working their way up the professional ladder and into the limelight of professional baseball.

NATION'S BEST FANS

Florida State's winning tradition has been fueled in part by its great fans. Each year, attendance in Dick Howser Stadium ranks among the nation's top 15 as almost 2.5 million fans have come to see the Seminoles play since the opening of the stadium in 1983. In 2005 FSU baseball fans broke the total attendance record for the fourth time in the last seven years as 171,643 fans watched the Seminoles play. The team's average attendance of 4,516 also shattered the previous record set just one season earlier.

The Seminole faithful set the standard for all others in the conference as more than 100,000 FSU fans have attended games at Dick Howser Stadium six times in the last eight years and no ACC school has drawn more fans this decade than Florida State.

MIKE MARTIN

While the Florida State baseball winning tradition began long ago under the first Seminole coaches, there is no question that FSU tradition has reached unprecedented heights under current head coach Mike Martin. In his 27 seasons at the helm, Martin has led Florida State to 12 College World Series appearances, including seven in the last 15 years. All 27 of his teams have appeared in NCAA Regionals, and 22 of those 27 teams have won at least 50 games. Florida State has won 10 ACC regular season and tournament titles under Martin. The 60-win season in 2002 tied an ACC record for most wins in a year and fell just one win shy of tying the school record of 61.

Florida State teams coached by Mike Martin have won over 74 percent of their games and he has never had a losing season at the helm of this program. Martin was named ACC Coach of the Year in 1999 after his team won the ACC regular season with a 22-2 mark, the best regular season record in conference history.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

Facilities don't necessarily make a winning tradition. Tradition in Florida State baseball has made the facilities great. Dick Howser Stadium is, simply put, one of the finest college baseball stadiums in the nation. The setting, with pine trees lining the rightfield wall, grandstand and bleacher seats along both lines, is a beautiful site. The field itself is meticulously groomed year-round. In the fall of 2001 it was named the best field in college baseball.

Located behind the Seminole dugout is a locker room and clubhouse facility that is unmatched in college baseball. The spacious, carpeted rooms include a large player room, an office with video equipment where players and coaches review videos, a training area and a weight room.

The Moore Athletic Center, adjacent to Dick Howser Stadium, houses an additional weight room and training complex. In the state-of-the-art weight room, FSU baseball players have the opportunity to condition themselves under the direction of strength coach Jon Jost and Russell Orr, who run an off-season program for Seminole athletes. In the training room, athletes receive the finest care from the professional training staff, led by head trainer Randy Oravetz.

"Phenomenal. I walked into the clubhouse for the first time about a half an hour ago and I said, 'this is better than 95% of the big league clubhouses.' My clubhouse at Fenway was about the size of this room. If it's not the best, I'd like to see the best in college baseball. To me this is the best place to be and this is the best place to play."

In 2005, Florida State baseball fans shattered the schools records for total and average attendance ranking seventh in the nation in both categories. Dick Howser Stadium has taken its place as one of the top collegiate baseball facilities in the country after a two-year, $12 million dollar project was completed in 2004. Located on the campus of Florida State University, the stadium has provided over two million fans with the feeling of having "the best seat in the house" to watch the finest in college baseball action. On April 2, 2005 Florida State University dedicated the field at Dick Florida State's players and coaches enjoy the convenience and luxury of a clubhouse and locker room currently located behind the Seminole dugout. The Griffin Family Clubhouse was moved to the first base side for the 2004 season as the construction process was completed. The main locker room was described by former Seminole and 2004 World Series Champion Doug Mientkiewicz as being 'better than 95% of the big league clubhouses' he has seen. The locker room contains a personalized wooden locker for each player, a separate locker room for the Seminole coaches and trainers, and a video area where FSU players and coaches can watch film.

The stadium also houses all of the baseball offices. The coaches' offices look over the stadium behind home plate. There is also a weight room and training area adjacent to the clubhouse. Each of the areas were expanded and improved during the renovation process.

There are on-going efforts to keep Dick Howser Stadium one of the top facilities in college baseball. Truly a "player's ballpark," the stadium has had many upgrades even since the $12 million renovation completed less than two years ago. In 2005 an upgraded $50,000 sound system was installed and an enhanced exterior brick façade as the outfield walls now match the exterior grandstand of the stadium.

Dick Howser Stadium, named after the late Kansas City Royals and Florida State manager who was also Florida State's first-ever baseball All-American, is a showcase befitting one of the top collegiate teams in the nation. From the beautifully-manicured playing surface to the chairback seats, Howser Stadium is one of the best places in the country to watch a game.

Stadium capacity increased to 6,700 as additional seats were added during the two-year construction process. Florida

Seminole fans are simply the best and most knowledgeable in college baseball. Although they live and die with 'their' Seminoles, the FSU faithful are known nationwide for their sportsmanship and appreciation of good baseball — by both teams. reason that Mike Martin Field at Dick Howser Stadium has been chosen as an NCAA Regional Tournament site 21 times in 24 years since its opening in 1983. Dick Howser Stadium has also been host to five Super Regionals in the seven years since the new postseason format was adopted.

The stadium was dedicated in honor of Dick Howser in March of 1988 prior to an exhibition game between Florida State and the Kansas City Royals, two of Howser's former teams. As part of the stadium dedication, Kansas City all-stars George Brett and Bo Jackson helped unveil a new $150,000 matrix scoreboard and a bronze bust of Howser. While the bust of Howser still stands in Haggard Baseball Plaza, the matrix scoreboard was replaced in January 2004 with a new $800,000 video board. The state-of-the-art scoreboard provides lineups, statistics and replays throughout the game and stands 40 feet high and 70 feet wide.

Mike Martin Field at Dick Howser Stadium has come a long way in the last two decades. Old Seminole Field was christened Seminole Stadium March 28, 1983, after a one million dollar renovation was completed on the park. Wooden bleachers were replaced with a two-tier concrete grandstand seating 2,500. Modern concession areas, restrooms and a press box complete with separate booths for radio and television broadcasts were also added.

The playing surface dimensions measure 320 feet to right field, 400 feet to center and 340 feet to left. Prior to the 1986 season, a screen was added to the top of the right field wall, increasing in five-foot increments from 20 feet in the power alley to 30 feet in right field — giving a unique effect.

The playing field itself is also often compared to that of a major league park. FSU grounds chief Brian Donaway and his crew oversee the everyday upkeep of the playing surface and surroundings, spending hours on the field year-round. The dedication and hard work of Justin Wilmot (field supervisor) were rewarded in the fall of 2001, when Dick Howser Stadium was named the best collegiate baseball field in the country. Often taken for granted, the grounds crew gives Mike Martin Field at Dick Howser Stadium a playing field unsurpassed by any collegiate team in the nation.

The beautiful home of Florida State's baseball Seminoles, from the Mike Loynd Tradition Room, the Griffin Family Clubhouse to the top-notch playing field and overall family atmosphere, is indeed a fitting tribute to one of FSU's greatest alumni, Dick Howser.

Mike Loynd Tradition Room

The Mike Loynd "Tradition Room", underneath the first base stands, holds an attractive showcase which tells the story of the great players, award-winners and tremendous FSU teams of the past. Trophies and plaques depicting Florida State's baseball success through the years adorn the walls. It also provides a comfortable lounge area adjacent to the FSU clubhouse.

Separate wall displays, attractively back-lit, are devoted to Florida State All-Americans, former Seminoles in the pros, and FSU's 18 College World Series teams and 16 conference championships. Another wall is lined with FSU's most recent tournament and conference championship trophies, as well as replicas of the Golden Spikes Awards of Mike Loynd, Mike Fuentes and J.D. Drew.

The Mike Loynd Tradition Room, built thanks to the generous donation of former Florida State All-American Mike Loynd, serves as a showcase for the great tradition which is Florida State baseball.

The Griffin Family Clubhouse

Former Seminole first team All-American and current Toronto Blue Jay John-Ford Griffin grew up in a Garnet & Gold home. Both his father Bill and mother Carla attended FSU as well as his two sisters. So it seems appropriate one of the greatest Seminole baseball players, along with his entire family, have their names adorning the Seminole Clubhouse. Out of appreciation to the family for a generous gift when the school was renovating Dick Howser Stadium, FSU named one of the nation's top locker rooms in honor of the family as Seminole players now prepare for games and practices in the Griffin Family Clubhouse.

The clubhouse is one of the most impressive in the nation with personalized wooden lockers, a big screen television, a state-of-the-art sound system and every comfort current and future Seminoles could ever ask for.

"Phenomenal," was the first word that came to mind when former Seminole and current Kansas City Royal Doug Mientkiewicz first toured the Griffin Family Clubhouse. "I walked into the clubhouse for the first time and I said, 'this is better than 95% of the big league clubhouses.' My clubhouse at Fenway when we won the World Championship in 2004 was about the size of this room. If it's not the best, I'd like to see the best in college baseball. To me this is the best place to be and this is the best place to play."

Seminole Boosters

From Miami to Minneapolis, and from Warsaw to Walla Walla, young men and women come to Florida State University to embrace its educational excellence, and to compete as a Seminole. Many would not have the opportunity to receive that college education without their athletic scholarship. These young people work hard, and proudly represent Florida State as a winner on the national stage, attracting the attention to our University that winners bring.

Florida State Athletics provides each of our men's and women's teams with the maximum number of scholarships allowed by the NCAA. In addition to the student-athlete competitors, scholarships are also provided to student trainers, managers and graduate assistants who are vital to an athletic program.

The last 15 years have seen a three-fold rise in the cost of athletic scholarships at Florida State. Today, more than $300,000 is needed to permanently endow a Florida State athletic scholarship. Most of the top public universities with whom Florida State competes and to whom we are compared, have endowed all of their athletic scholarships.

Established in 1986 under the direction of William M. Parker of Clearwater, the Seminole Boosters Endowed Scholarship Program is the final step toward perpetual funding of all scholarships for student-athletes at Florida State. Those individuals who contribute to the endowment fund for athletic scholarships at Florida State University gain membership in the Seminole Heritage Foundation.

Scholarships

Position Scholarship ($100,000)

Established in 1998, this scholarship program is funded by the contributions of $100,000 or more for any starting position within any sport of the donor's choosing. The "position" scholarship was created to work toward the final goal of endowing all athletic scholarships.

The Tradition

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 54th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate athletic conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 100 national championships, including 52 in women's competition and 48 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 130 times in men's competition and 71 times in women's action.

The Wake Forest Demon Deacons captured the league's first baseball national title in 1954, just the second season of ACC baseball. The Miami Hurricanes, who joined the ACC for the 2004-05 season, has claimed four national hardball titles (1982, 1985, 1999, 2001) over the past 24 years.

Last year, the ACC tied the league record set in 2005 as seven teams took part in NCAA Tournament play, including Clemson, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Miami, North Carolina, NC State and Virginia. It marked the fourth time in ACC history that at least six teams received a bid into the national tournament. Over the last 10 years, the current 12 ACC schools have made 65 NCAA Tournament appearances, winning 65 percent of their games (219-139) and making 16 trips to the College World Series.

For the first time in conference history, the ACC sent a league-record four teams to compete in the 2006 College World Series. The ACC joined the Southeastern Conference as the only two conferences in the nation to have four teams represented in the eight-team field as Clemson, Georgia Tech, Miami and North Carolina all advanced to play in Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium. It marked only the third time in the 60 years of the CWS that this feat has happened. North Carolina proceeded to the championship final for the first-time in school history where the Tar Heels faced Oregon State in a best-of-three championship series. The Beavers would win the series 2-1, but not before a valiant effort put forth by the Tar Heels.

The 2006 ACC baseball postseason was one for the record books. Not only did the ACC finish with the most wins (31) and the highest winning percentage (.674) among the 29 other conferences competing in last year's NCAA postseason, but the ACC also set a league record for the most teams to make it to the CWS. With a 31-15 record, the ACC posted a winning percentage of .674, the third best postseason showing in conference history.

For the 15th straight season, the ACC posted a non-conference winning percentage over 61 percent, winning 75 percent of the games played against non-conference opponents in 2006. The ACC was 255-86-1 a year ago, pushing the conference's record to 3,669-1,470-19 (.713) in non-league play since 1990. The 255 wins set a league record for non-conference victories in a single-season. The previous record of 249 wins was set back in 2002.

2006 also marked the first season in divisional play for the ACC as Clemson claimed the Atlantic Division title, while North Carolina took home the Coastal Division crown. The Baseball Grounds of Jacksonville was the site of the 33rd ACC Baseball Championship. The Tigers would claim their ninth conference title and first since 1994, as Clemson defeated NC State 8-4 in the championship game. The finals also marked the second straight year that the top-seeded team in the tournament faced the seventh-seed. A championship record 73,251 fans were in attendance during the five day tournament in Jacksonville.

The ACC has consistently infused Major League Baseball with talented players. The current 12 ACC schools have had 531 players selected in the MLB Draft since 1994, including 47 first-round picks. Last year, the ACC had 50 student-athletes selected in the Draft including five chosen in the first-round, extending the ACC's streak of at least one student-athlete selected in the first-round to 15 consecutive years. The Clemson Tigers led all schools with 10 players picked in the 2006 Draft. The ACC has produced four number one overall picks in North Carolina's B.J. Surhoff in 1985, Florida State's Paul Wilson in 1994, Clemson's Kris Benson in 1996 and Miami's Pat Burrell in 1998.

2005-06 in Review

The 2005-06 academic year concluded with the league pocketing an all-time high six national team titles and 15 individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 57 national team titles over the last 16 years. The ACC has won two or more NCAA titles in 24 of the past 26 years.

The first ACC championship was held in swimming on February 25, 1954. The conference did not conduct championships in cross country, wrestling or tennis during the first year.

The 12 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Fencing, which was started in 1971, was discontinued in 1981.

Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet being held in tennis at Wake Forest University.

Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, volleyball, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing.

A History

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members — Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest — drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.
