GAME NOTES

Over the past seven years, Florida State and Miami have boasted the two most successful programs in the country...since 1987, Miami is 76-8 (.905) while Florida State is 76-10 (.884)...five of FSU's 10 losses since 1987 have come against Miami, including a pair of one-point decisions...Florida State has played Miami more than any other team — 37 times since 1951...there have been six one-point contests in the history of the series...11 games have been decided by three points or less, including five since 1980...in those games, FSU stands at 3-8 with its last "close" win in 1971...UM holds a 13-11 advantage in games played in Miami and has won the last four at home...Florida State has won its last two games in the Orange Bowl, however, beating Nebraska twice...the Hurricanes have been a thorn in the side of Bobby Bowden as they have taken 12 of 18 games against FSU since 1976 and seven of the last nine...overall, Bowden is 7-13 all-time against the Hurricanes...Miami is the only team to shut out the Seminoles in the past 17 seasons, holding FSU scoreless in 1976 and again in 1988...this marks the ninth consecutive FSU-UM contest to be televised nationally...the game could be considered a home game for Florida State, as 16 Seminoles call Miami home...13 games between the two teams have been televised, with each of the last eight being aired nationally...Seminoles quarterback coach Mark Richt is a former Hurricane signal-caller.

SIDELINES

FLORIDA STATE VS. NOTRE DAME — HOW IT HAPPENED

One of the most popular questions asked of FSU and Notre Dame personnel over the last few years is how the short series came about. Specifically, some question why Florida State is not hosting the Fighting Irish in Tallahassee as a return game.

The answer is simple — the game was never Florida State's to bargain with.

Credit for these national powers meeting goes to the athletic directors of both schools and quick work by Citrus Bowl Executive Director Chuck Rohe.

At a meeting of athletic directors, Rohe overheard a conversation that mentioned Penn State's move into the Big 10. Realizing the implication of an opening in the Notre Dame schedule, Rohe raced to FSU A. D. Bob Goin with the offer of a game in the Citrus Bowl between the two schools. Goin and Bobby Bowden jumped at the chance to put the University into a nationally televised arena. Rohe then made an offer to Dick Rosenthal of Notre Dame who was also in favor of the game but concerned about filling the additional void in the Irish's 1993 home schedule left by Penn State. The Seminoles agreed to travel to South Bend in 1993 with the commitment of a home and home series in the future. The rest, as they say, is history.

So, the game was never FSU's to move from Tallahassee and FSU had 21,000 tickets to sell from its campus.
