...FSU will hope to wear out opponents with impressive depth at most positions. The Tribe returns just 14 starters from last year, but welcomes back 54 lettermen from the Sugar Bowl champion squad.

THE PLA

Florida State will begin the 1995 season with a very young football team and without an All-American at cornerback for the first time in seven years.

Samari Rolle and James Colzie should battle through preseason drills for the coveted pressure point of field cornerback that has produced five All-Americans since Deion Sanders in 1988. Byron Capers has quietly moved in at the other cornerback but FSU's secondary, which must also replace Devin Bush at strong safety, remains the primary concern heading into the season.

Defensive end Reinard Wilson can only hope to match his outstanding sophomore numbers during his junior campaign. If Wilson can shake loose for 11 sacks again this year, the Seminole defense should be in good shape. Senior Orpheus Roye is also capable of dominating along the defensive front and Andre Wadsworth has added size and strength since last year.

However, it is the talented linebacking corps that will provide the backbone to the defense in 1995. Todd Rebol is the unsung hero of the defense and the senior should slip easily into Derrick Brook's role as the big play inspiration on defense. Daryl Bush and Sam Cowart are already all-conference level and have the potential to emerge as the nation's best inside tandem.

Clay Shiver may be the finest center in Florida State history and the Outland Trophy candidate anchors an offensive front that returns four of five starters. Also returning in the backfield are quarterback Danny Kanell and 1,000 yard rusher Warrick Dunn, which gives FSU coaches a lot of confidence heading into the season.

FSU's biggest concern on offense is whether the talented receiving corps can produce quickly. Andre Cooper, E.G. Green, Wayne Messam and Phillip Riley proved very capable during spring practice, but none of them have been the "go to" player in a big game and for the Seminole offense to be successful it must be able to throw and catch.

Scott Bentley and Sean Liss give the Seminoles experience at kicker and punter, respectively. Florida State won the national championship on a last minute kick by Bentley two years ago, while Liss has reserved some of his best punts for the most dramatic moments.

Once again, FSU will hope to wear out opponents with impressive depth at most positions. The Tribe returns just 14 starters from last year, but welcomes back 54 lettermen from the Sugar Bowl champion squad.

SEMINOLE SIDELINES

Since 1984, Florida State has had 38 players taken in the first five rounds of the NFL draft. Derrick Alexander, Devin Bush and Derrick Brooks made history last season as for the first time at FSU three players were selected in the first round of the draft.

According to a power ranking system published in Inside Sports Magazine, Florida State had the second most talent-laden team in 1994. "The pollsters voted Nebraska No. 1, while Penn State backers made a case for their club. But in the eyes of NFL personnel gurus, Colorado and Florida State were the best." The power ranking was achieved by assigning an inverse point value to draft position of a player. The top ten follows:

SCHOOL	PLAYERS DRAFTED	AVG. DRAFT POSITION	SCHOOL	PLAYERS DRAFTED	AVG. DRAFT POSITION
1. Colorado	10	85	6. Miami	7	121
2. FLORIDA STATE	8	82	7. Penn State	5	70
3. Ohio State	8	68	8. Nebraska	7	124
4. Michigan	5	51	9. Florida	5	83
5. Wisconsin	7	109	10. Tennessee	6	117
