2004 Bowl Championship Series

Starting in 1998, the Bowl Championship Series (BCS) has determined the Division I-A National Champion in football. The BCS, which runs through the 2005 regular season and 2006 bowl season, consists of the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, FedEx Orange Bowl, Rose Bowl and Nokia Sugar Bowl. Conferences with automatic berths include the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 and the Southeastern Conferences. A year ago, Ohio State won the 2002 crown with a 31-24 double-overtime victory over Miami in the Fiesta Bowl. The Hurricanes captured the 2001 national title, defeating Nebraska 37-14 in the Rose Bowl. In the BCS's first season in 1998, Tennessee defeated Florida State, 23-16, in the Fiesta Bowl to claim the national title. A year later, it was Florida State's turn as the Seminoles topped Virginia Tech 46-29 in the Sugar Bowl. Oklahoma claimed the 2000 national championship defeating Florida State 13-2 in the FedEx Orange Bowl.

The BCS also notes the importance of regional consideration regarding team selection. Specifically, as participating members of the BCS, the four BCS Bowls will host the following conference champions in the years the national championship game is not played at their site. Regional consideration tie-ins include the ACC or Big East champion in the Orange Bowl, the SEC champion in the Sugar Bowl, the Big Ten and the Pac-10 champion in the Rose Bowl and the Big 12 champion in the Fiesta Bowl.

Should a BCS Bowl's regional tie-in champion be ranked number one or two in the final BCS standings, when such bowl is not hosting the national championship game, the number one or two-ranked team shall move to the national championship game and the Bowl shall select a replacement team from the BCS pool of eligible teams. The pool will consist of any Division IA team that is ranked among the Top 12 in the final BCS standings and has achieved nine wins during the regular season excluding NCAA-exempted contests.

Through a conference revenue sharing plan, the BCS group will distribute over $40 million to non-participating BCS institutions during its 8-year term. Those monies go to Division I-A and I-AA conferences in support of the game of college football. Additionally, the BCS distributes $200,000 per year to the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame.

This coming season, BCS participants will receive between $13.87-17.05 million depending on the conference affiliation of the at-large participants. Should both at-large participants come from outside the BCS conferences – ACC, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 or SEC – those participants will receive $13.87 million. If one or both at-large selections come from within the original BCS group, the first conference participant shall receive $13.87 million and the second participant from that same conference shall receive a minimum of 4.5 million. The remaining dollars (the difference between $13.87 million and $4.5 million) will be split among the BCS conferences that have just one participant.

2004 BOWL GAME HIGHLIGHTS

- College bowls will pay out $187 million this coming season.
- Bowl games paid out more than $820 million in the past five years alone and will pay out at least $2 billion over the next decade.

- Bowls drew a record total attendance of 1.45 million fans in 2003-04.
- The combined TV audience for the 28 bowls was an average of 117 million households and 17 games saw an increase in TV viewership.
- Average attendance at bowls in existence at least five years has increased 3.3% over that period. The same for bowls that have been around at least ten years (9.3% increase) or twenty years (14.1% increase). On average these games are more popular than ever.
- Of the 20 current bowls that have been played at least five years stadiums were filled to 95.2% of capacity and 13 bowls were at least 99% filled.
- College bowls generate $1.1 billion in annual economic impact (excluding exposure).
- 26 communities hosting 28 bowl games provide stability and commitment one promoter/sponsor could not.
- 56 teams, or 48% of Division I-A programs will have a chance to be a part of the college football post-season bowl experience compared to approximately 20% in other NCAA sports (Div. I-AA football 13%; men's & women's basketball 20%; etc.)

Bowl Games Provide Revenue...

- This year 28 bowl games will distribute more than $187 million to NCAA schools. More than $820 million has been paid out in just the past five years and the bowls will conservatively payout more than $2.1 billion over the next ten years.
- Almost all bowl games are non-profit organizations. The more revenue the bowl brings in through ticket sales, sponsors, etc. the more money can be paid to NCAA schools.
- While it is true that some teams in conferences that don't send multiple teams to bowls don't receive as much revenue, that is a key reason additional bowls have been added recently — to provide more opportunities for those conference members and increase their revenue. Indeed some bowls have been setup with the help of conferences to provide all the other benefits of a bowl.

Bowl Games Are Tradition...

- Bowl games have been a part of college football for 90 years. They have provided some of the greatest moments in college football history and add to the pageantry, color and excitement of the game. Bowl games are as much a part of the tradition of college football as any other aspect of the game.
- While there has been an increase in the number of bowl games, half of the bowls have been around for at least 15 years and 12 of these have been in existence for 25 or more years.
- The addition of bowl games has provided opportunities for more schools to participate in the "bowl experience." That means more student athletes, coaches, cheerleaders, band members, halftime performers, administrators, alumni, college football fans and communities can be a part of this unforgettable experience. College football bowl games offer these people memories that can last a lifetime. This season about 5,600 student-athletes, 11,000 band members, 1,100 cheerleaders, 50,000 - 100,000 performers and millions of fans and community members were a part of this experience.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

- Bowl games bring a measure of importance to the regular season not seen in other sports.

The numerous upsets of November 2001 was a great example of this. Had all those teams being playing for was seeding for a playoff the outcomes would not have meant as much and the interest and excitement, likewise, would have not been as feverish.

No other intercollegiate sport plays as few regular season games as football and every game means something, conference championships mean something. (This is different from basketball where you can lose a dozen games as long as you win in your conference tournament).

- 86 (out of 117) different Division IA schools have participated in at least one bowl game in the past six seasons. A total of 56 schools, or 48 percent, will be a part of the post-season bowl experience this season and 28 teams will finish their season as a "bowl champion." This compares to approximately 20 percent that are selected in NCAA Championships in other sports (I-AA football-13%; baseball-22%; men's and women's basketball-20%; etc.)

Bowl Games Are Popular...

- Total attendance increased this past year as a record of more than 1.45 million fans attended 28 bowl games. The average capacity-filled of the bowl stadiums was 89%. Fifteen bowls were at least 90% filled. Thirteen bowls were at least 99% filled.

- Average attendance was up 3.2% this past year. Of the 20 current bowls that have been played at least five years attendance was up and stadium capacity was at 95.2%. Newer bowls don't have the benefit of years of building a local base of support.

- The combined TV audience for the 28 bowls was an average of 117 million households and 17 games saw increases in TV viewership.

Bowls Benefit Communities...

- Bowl games generate an estimated $1.1 billion dollars worth of economic impact for their host communities each year. This does not include the value of exposure.

- Bowls benefit not only NCAA institutions but local causes and charities. Many bowls contribute in excess of $100,000 annually to charitable causes and host camps for disadvantaged youth. A small sample of charities benefiting include the Boys & Girls Clubs, numerous hospitals, YMCA, local education programs through elementary and high schools, college scholarship programs, the United Way, Make a Wish Foundation and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Bowls Provide New & Unique Experiences...

- Players take part in many diverse experiences and see many sights during their bowl trips

- Players at the Holiday Bowl have lunch and tour an aircraft carrier. Imagine the insight these players have today as they watch these same men fight for freedom in Iraq. Players visit the Alamo in San Antonio, tour historic Alcatraz in San Francisco, Disney theme parks in Orlando, go snowmobiling in Boise, experience a luau and visit Pearl Harbor in Hawaii, and much more. These things never would happen in a playoff setting — ask the Final Four teams what they did do on their trips.

THE SOD CEMETERY

In 1962, the team captains of the Seminole football team returned to Tallahassee with a piece of sod from Sanford Stadium as a trophy from the team's 18-0 victory over the University of Georgia. The turf was presented to Dean Coyle E. Moore, who founded the continuing tradition of the sod game.

The sod cemetery began when that first piece of sod was buried in the corner of the Florida State practice field and a monument was placed to commemorate the road victory.

In the early years, FSU only snipped grass when it won by upset on the road. But as the Seminoles became more successful, the criteria changed. Sod games still represent road games that the Tribe wins when they are significant underdogs, however, all bowl games are now considered sod games as well as landmark road wins no matter who is favored.

Each piece of sod is buried in the cemetery next to the practice field and a tombstone is placed above it with the score and date of the game.

Jason Whitaker, an NCAA Consensus All-America offensive guard in 1999 removed a bit of turf from Florida Field in 1999 to bury in the Sod Cemetery.
