Myrone Rolle

Seminole Football Touts ...

- A Rhodes Scholar
- 19 Academic All-American honors
- 16 Postgraduate Scholarship Award winners, include six CFA and seven NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship Winners
- 70 ACC All-Academic honorees since 1992, including the returning trio – Christian Ponder, EJ Manuel and Dustin Hopkins – who earned the distinction at the conclusion of the 2009 season
- Ponder has completed his MBA and is pursuing a second graduate degree in sport management, while Ochuko Jenije is currently pursuing a postgraduate degree in higher education after collecting his undergraduate diploma in sport management. Ryan McMahon is working on a second undergraduate degree.
- 2009 deep snapper and graduate student Zach Aronson was selected into the National Football Foundation's Hampshire Honor Society; just the second in the program's history.

Seminole Athletics Touts ...

- Former football standout Myrone Rolle became the second Florida State student-athlete in the past five years to earn the Rhodes Scholarship – one of the oldest and most prestigious awards for international study. Rolle was the first prominent college football player to earn the Rhodes Scholarship in nearly 25 years.
- Over the past 16 years more than $470,000 in postgraduate money has been awarded to FSU student-athletes, as well as numerous other academic honors and awards.
- In the spring 2010 semester, 251 Seminole student-athletes achieved a 3.0 grade point average or better. In all, 11 of 17 FSU athletic teams posted a 3.0 gpa or better.
- The average team gpa for the 2010 spring semester was 2.978. A total of 17 student-athletes made their way onto the 2010 President's List with a perfect 4.0 gpa, while 74 student-athletes earned Dean's List honors with a 3.5 gpa or higher.

THE STUDENT-ATHLETE

THE STUDENT-ATHLETE

Giving back to the community is more than a high ideal at Florida State. It is an integral part to the whole development of the student-athlete. Through the athletic department's office of Student Services, student-athletes are encouraged to serve the community and participate in a program that focuses on life skills as well as personal, career and leadership development.

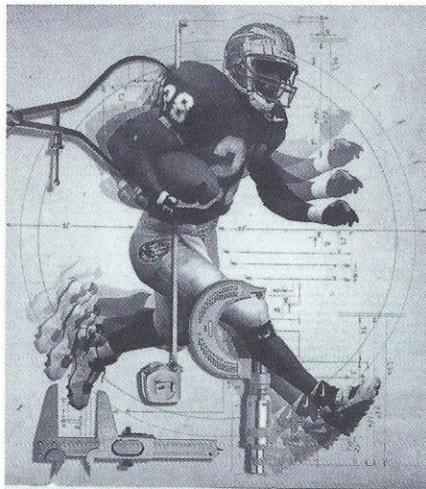

- Members of the Florida State football team donated more than 600 hours of community service throughout the 2009-2010 academic year. As a whole, FSU student-athletes performed approximately 6,700 hours of community service in Tallahassee and its surrounding areas. They graciously volunteered their time through local schools, organizations and special events, including the Tallahassee Fitness Festival, the Children's Home Society, the Second Harvest Food Bank, Big Brother-Big Sister, the American Cancer Society, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Special Olympics and The United Way.

- Quarterback Christian Ponder, who was recognized by the Atlantic Coast Conference and Florida State as a "Top 6 for Service" award recipient, was among dozens of student-athletes who helped collect money to aid rescue and recovery efforts in the wake of the Haiti earthquake.
- The Florida State athletic department has twice been honored as the National Consortium of Academies and Sports Outreach program of the year for reaching more than 150,000 youth.

- Florida State appeared in two of the top 10 most-viewed college football games during the 2009 season. The Seminoles' season-opener at home against Miami (ESPN) ranked 7th across all networks and drew a 5.07 rating and was seen in more than 5.8 million homes. FSU's regular-season finale at Florida (CBS) ranked 10th with a 4.70 rating and reached nearly 5.4 million homes and was that network's fourth highest rated game of the year.
- The Jan. 1, 2010 Gator Bowl game between FSU and West Virginia – Bobby Bowden's final game as coach – reached 4.5 million homes. The rating was the second-highest for the Gator Bowl dating to 2003.
- For the fifth time in six years, Florida State helped set an attendance record at a bowl game. A crowd of 84,219 turned out at Jacksonville Municipal Stadium for the Gator Bowl, establishing a new bowl record.
- FSU's two previous bowl appearances – the 2008 Champs Sports Bowl (vs. Wisconsin) and 2007 Music City Bowl (vs. Kentucky) – also earned high marks from the networks. Not only did the 'Noles help set a new Champs Bowl attendance mark, but the 5.20 rating ranks fourth all-time among bowls broadcast by ESPN. FSU's Music

- City bowl appearance against Kentucky boosted ratings for that game by 80 percent over the previous year.
- The national appeal of the Seminoles is no passing fancy. Since 1990, FSU has appeared in five of the 20 highest-rated ESPN regular season college football game broadcasts. Its 1994 showdown on the road with Miami ranks No. 1 with a 7.67 rating, while the 2006 Labor Day game against the Hurricanes ranks No. 3 (6.86). Florida State's games at Virginia ('95), North Carolina ('97) and Clemson ('07) rank 7th, 16th and 20th.
- Two of the most-watched games in the history of the BCS featured the Seminoles (2000 Sugar Bowl and 2001 Orange Bowl).
- Florida State has played on national television 180 times since 1995, including eight appearances in 2009.

SEMINOLES IN THE NFL

“No contest: Former Seminoles blow away the pack, finishing first by an 11 percent margin. Scouts say top athletes and emphasis on teaching fundamentals make the Seminoles great pros.”

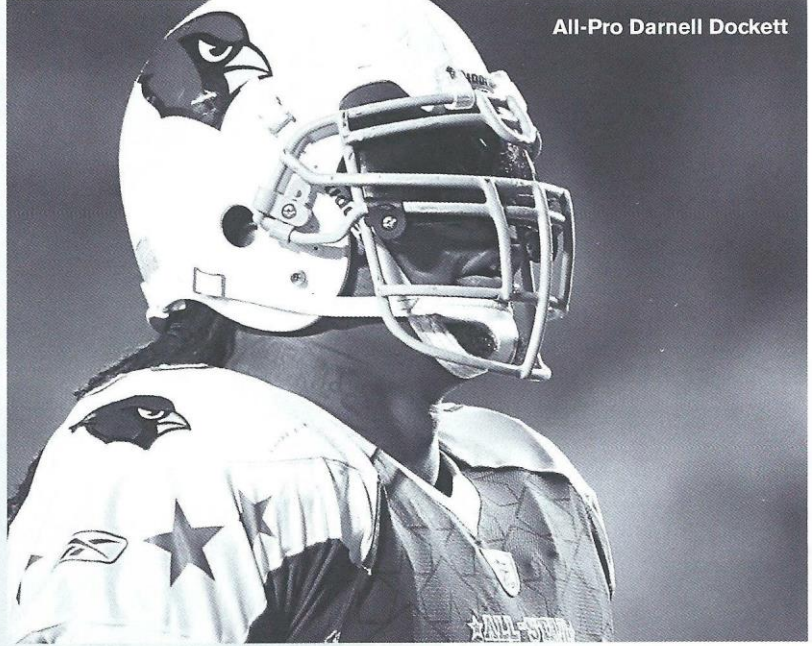

- Wall Street Journal article, which selected FSU as the top school for producing the best NFL players.

Everette Brown

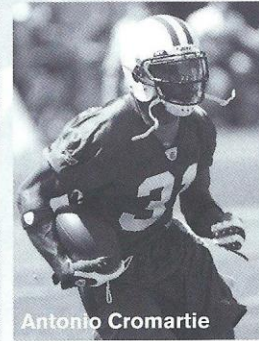

All-Pro Darnell Dockett

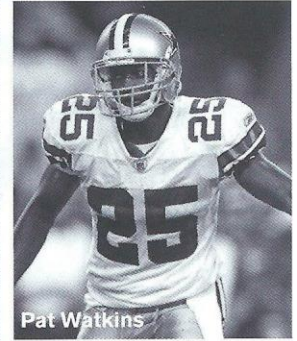

- Since 1993, 104 Florida State Seminoles have been selected in the NFL Draft.
- Former Seminole Darnell Dockett was selected to play in the 2010 NFL Pro Bowl in Miami. FSU was represented by at least three Pro Bowl players from 2007-2009.
- Patrick Robinson, selected in the first round by the Super Bowl champion New Orleans Saints, was one of three Seminoles chosen in the 2010 NFL Draft.
- FSU has had at least one player chosen in the NFL Draft every year since 1984.
- Seven Seminole defensive linemen have been drafted in the last six years, including three first round selections.

1993 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

- Florida State put an exclamation point on its 1993 season by capturing the program's first National Championship with a dramatic, 18-16 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl on January 1, 1994.
- The Seminoles closed the year with a 12-1 record and Florida State was the first team in eight years to open the season at No. 1 and go on to win the title.
- Senior quarterback Charlie Ward collected 20 national awards, including the Heisman Trophy, while leading the Seminoles to their long-awaited crown.
- FSU led the nation in scoring offense and defense, outscoring their 13 opponents by an average of 34 points per game.

1999 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

- The 1999 Florida State football team became the first in the history of the Associated Press poll to go wire-to-wire as the No. 1 team in the nation. The Seminoles completed their 12-0 campaign with a thrilling 46-29 Sugar Bowl victory over Virginia Tech on January 4, 2000.
- Not only did coach Bobby Bowden lead the Seminoles down a path no other team had traveled – wire-to-wire at No. 1 – he also recorded the first perfect season of his career. Along the way, Bowden picked up his 300th career victory.

OSCEOLA AND RENEGADE

Arguably the greatest spectacle in college football unfolds moments before kickoff at Doak Campbell Stadium when Osceola charges down the field atop Renegade, a beautiful Appaloosa, and plants a flaming spear at midfield prior to each home game.

The tradition was born on September 16, 1978, when a student led the football team from the tunnel, riding a horse as the Seminoles headed into battle against Oklahoma State. Jim Kidder and Reo were the original Osceola and Renegade. Since then, five different Renegades and 15 different riders have made the ride and planted the spear, which brings the game day crowd to its feet.

Bill Durham trained the riders and horses for 20 years before passing the honor and responsibility along to his son, Allen, who was a rider from 1992-1994. The clothing and rigging used by Osceola and Renegade are designed for authenticity and approved by the Seminole Indian Tribe of Florida.

SOD CEMETERY

For nearly six decades, "sod games" and the Florida State University Sod Cemetery have been a rich part of the Seminoles college football history, commemorating many of the greatest victories.

In 1962, as the Seminoles completed their Thursday practice in preparation to face Georgia at Sanford Stadium, Dean Coyle Moore – a long-time professor and member of FSU's athletic board – issued a challenge: "Bring back some sod from between the hedges at Georgia." On Saturday, October 20, the Seminoles scored an 18-0 victory over the favored Bulldogs. Team captain Gene McDowell pulled a small piece of grass from the field, which was presented to Moore at the next football practice. Moore and FSU coach Bill Peterson had the sod buried on the practice field as a symbol of victory. A monument was placed to commemorate the triumph and the tradition of the sod game was born.

Since then, before leaving for all road games in which Florida State is the underdog, all road games at the University of Florida and all ACC championship and bowl games, Seminole captains gather their teammates to explain the significance of the tradition. Victorious captains return with a piece of the opponent's turf to be buried in the Sod Cemetery outside the gates of the practice field.

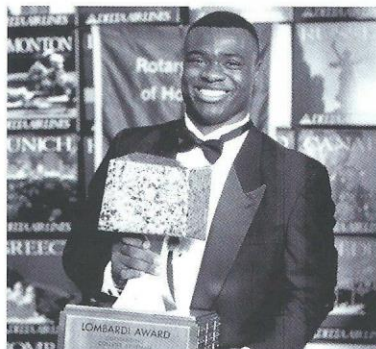

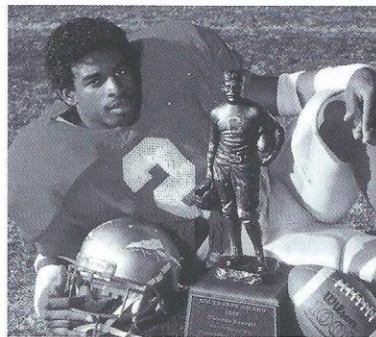

Away from home and against the odds, Florida State sod games represent the most difficult battles on the football field. The Sod Cemetery stands as a tribute to those triumphs, to be enjoyed by the Seminole faithful.
