

Seminoles Earn Three Top-10 Finishes and Finish Sixth At ACC Championship

SEMINOLES GAIN THREE TOP-10 FINISHES AS IMPROVEMENT CONTINUES

The Florida State men's golf team recorded three top-10 finishes, including two in its final three tournaments and finished in sixth place in the Atlantic Coast Conference Championship in the second season under head coach Nicky Goetze. The Seminoles averaged 75.33 strokes in their 12 tournaments during the 2001-02 season - more than .50 strokes per round less than their 75.89 average during the 2000-01 season.

FLORIDA STATE AT THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP

The Florida State University men's golf team finished in sixth place in the team standings at the 49th annual Atlantic Coast Conference championship - its best team finish since coming in fifth in 1995. Junior Peter Mitchell (Miami, Fla.) finished in a tie for ninth place in the team standings as he finished the event with a career-best 211 score for the 54-hole event.

MITCHELL ENJOYS FINEST SEASON

Junior Peter Mitchell cemented his position in the Seminoles starting lineup with an outstanding spring 2002 season. He averaged nearly 3.2 strokes fewer during the 2001-02 season (fall and spring combined) than he did during the first two years of his Seminole career. Mitchell did so while playing in more events, more rounds and earning more top-10 individual finishes as a junior than he did as a freshman and a sophomore combined.

SEMINOLES' LINEUP WAS STRONG DURING SPRING 2002 SEASON

Florida State's starting lineup (Peter Mitchell, Eric Beaty, Rick Westbrook, Alan Beers and Brad Lusenhop) was solid throughout the spring 2002 season and played as a quintet in all six of the Seminoles' events during the season. The players combined to average 75.06 strokes in 21 rounds, shot par or better 20 times, carded 55 scores of 75 or below and earned two scores of 68 or below.

ALL ABOUT MITCHELL'S SPRING SEASON

Junior Peter Mitchell enjoyed an outstanding spring 2002 season. He led the team in numerous categories including stroke average (73.62), rounds of par or better (eight), rounds with scores at 75 or below (16 of 21) and top-10 individual finishes (three). Mitchell established career bests for tournaments played in a single season (seven), rounds played in a single season (21), low round score (70), best 54-hole score (140 at the ACC Championship), low tournament score (211 at the ACC Championship) and with his three top-10 finishes. Mitchell averaged a career-low 73.62 strokes in 21 rounds during seven tournaments.

A LOOK AT MITCHELL'S ACC CHAMPIONSHIP

Junior Peter Mitchell's best career outing came at the ACC Championship as he finished in a tie for ninth place with a career-low 211 score to help Florida State to a sixth place finish. He was under par in all three rounds as he carded a pair of two-under par scores of 70 and finished the event with a one-under par score of 71. Mitchell's 140 score after 54 holes is the best two-round score of his career. He finished the event with a career-low tournament score of 211 which was five strokes better than his previous low tournament score and finished with a career-best minus-5 score vs. par that was five strokes better than his previous best low score vs. par. In addition, he shot three consecutive rounds below 72 for the first time in his career.

BEATY SHINES AS A FRESHMAN FOR SEMINOLES

Freshman Eric Beaty was the only freshman (and one of only two players) to participate in all 12 tournaments for the Seminoles during the 2001-02 fall and spring seasons. He was Florida State's top individual finisher in two events during his freshman season - the Mercedes-Benz Collegiate Championship and the Country Club of Louisiana Intercollegiate and ranked first on the team in rounds at 75 or below (21), low-round score (67) and score vs. par (minus five), while tying for the team lead in tournaments competed in (12) and rounds played in (36).

WESTBROOK CLOSES OUT SEMINOLE CAREER

Senior Rick Westbrook, a two-year member of Florida State's starting lineup who played in 22 events during the course of his Seminole career, earned two top-10 and six top-25 finishes during his Seminole career. His Seminole career-low round of 69 came during the fall 2000 season at the Country Club of Louisiana Intercollegiate and during the spring of 2001 at the Mercedes Benz Collegiate Championship.

BEERS ENJOYS STELLAR SEASON AS A SEMINOLE

Sophomore Alan Beers (Midlothian, Va.) was one of the Seminoles' top five golfers during the 2001-02 season. He became a member of Florida State's starting lineup and competed in 11 of 12 tournaments during the fall and spring seasons. Beers ranked third on the team in tournaments played (11), third in total rounds played (33), fourth in stroke average among starters (75.36), fourth in rounds of 75 or better (17) and tied for fourth with four rounds of par or better. He shot a career-low single-round score of 68 in the third round of the Cleveland Golf Intercollegiate during the spring of 2002 that was the second lowest score of the entire year for the Seminoles.

LUSENHOP ENJOYS BEST SEASON

Sophomore Brad Lusenhop cemented his position as a member of the Seminoles' starting five as he participated in a career-high 12 tournaments during the 2001-2002 fall and spring seasons. He played in twice as many events in 2001-02 than he had during his first two years as a member of the team. Lusenhop ranked second on the team as he carded 19

GIEBLER CLOSSES OUT HIS SEMINOLE CAREER

Senior Al Giebler (Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.), who earned two varsity letters as a member of the Florida State men's golf team, closed out his career as he participated in one tournament during his senior season. He competed in one event, the Coca-Cola Tournament of Champions, and was the Seminoles low-scorer and top finisher. He carded career-low scores for a tournament (222) while tying his career-best for 54 holes (147). Giebler led the Seminoles with a +6 score vs. par and an individual finish of tied for 48th place.

FOUR PLAYERS AMONG SEMINOLES' BEST

Led by Eric Beaty's five-under par 67 during the Mercedes-Benz Collegiate Championship, three Seminoles carded single round scores of 70 or better during the spring 2002 season. Beaty led the team with three scores below 70 while Alan Beers recorded two scores of 70 or below.
