Over 20 former Florida State golfers from the PGA, LPGA and Senior tours joined a list of celebrities who returned to campus to play in the 2001 Seminole Pro-Am sponsored by Arvida and the Seminole Tribe of Florida. PGA Tour star Jeff Sluman, Senior Tour stars Hubert Green and Bob Duval headlined the group of Seminole golfing greats who's play benefited the tournament and celebrated the dedication of the Dave Middleton Golf Center.

"This was truly a great weekend for Florida State golf and the sport itself in our community," said FSU Director of Athletics, Dave Hart. "I think everyone is amazed at the improved facilities at the Don Veller Course and the Dave Middleton Golf Center. It truly allows the Seminole student-athletes and friends to practice and play at one of the most advanced facilities in the nation. We are excited about our new home for Florida State golf and believe we now offer a player the very best in a teaching facility through the generosity of our loyal supporters."

The Pro-Am, which is in its third year of competition, was the most star-studded in FSU history. The tournament marked the beginning of Florida State's new relationship with Arvida and its new Southwood golf course that opened in Sept. 2002.

Prior to the start of the Pro-Am, FSU president Sandy D'Alemberte dedicated the Dave Middleton Golf Center. The wonderful new state-of-the-art facility houses the Professional Golf Management Program and the new pro shop. In addition the facility includes a brand new clubhouse, locker rooms and a restaurant and grill. A clinic for junior golfers was held this morning before the kickoff of the football game.

The major benefactors of the new Florida State golf facilities include Dave Middleton, Ms. Maggie Allesse, Mr. Buddy Runnels, Mr. Charlie Van Diver and former Seminole football and golf coach Don Veller.

These former Seminoles have earned victories on various professional tours.

Sluman, Green in position for wins

MILWAUKEE — Former Florida State golfer Jeff Sluman fired an 8-under-par 63 on Saturday to take a two-stroke lead over Steve Lowery (64) after three rounds at the Greater Milwaukee Open.

Sluman also was the leader after 54 holes last year only to card a 1-over 72 on Sunday to finish in a tie for 10th.

"This year, I feel like I'm hitting the ball a lot better and a lot straighter," Sluman said. "Last year was a mystery every time I got on the tee. At least this year I feel like through these first three rounds I've got a pretty good idea where it's going to go."

Sluman said he's playing some of the best golf of his 20-year PGA Tour career.

"Scoring-wise, this is pretty close," he said.

This time, thanks to his 54-hole GMO record 193 total, he's within range of the erts carded at 200 in 2000.

Kirk Triplett shot a 4-under 67 and is alone in third place four strokes back.

Ex-'Noles eyeing titles

It's been a good weekend to be a Florida State golfer. Jeff Sluman (bottom) and Hubert Green (right) are perfectly positioned to hoist a trophy by day's end. Sluman leads the PGA Greater Milwaukee Open by two strokes while Green (FSU, 1965-68) is one stroke off the lead at the Senior Players Championship.

Last year, Sluman was the leader after 54 holes only to card a 1-over 72 on Sunday to finish 10th. This time, however, he's within range of the tournament record of minus-24 and Sluman (FSU, 1977-80) says he's playing some of the best golf of his 20-year PGA Tour career.

Television coverage of the GMO begins at 2 p.m. on ABC. The Senior Players Championship follows at 4 p.m. on ABC.

A Closer Look — The Atlantic Coast Conference

The Atlantic Coast Conference boasts a rich tradition of success in men's golf. Each of the nine teams in the ACC is considered to be among the best in the nation and together form the top men's golf conference in the nation.

Florida State joined the ACC and began competing for the conference championship in 1992. The Seminoles earned their best ACC finish, third, during the 1994 season, finished fourth in 1996 and finished fifth during the 1995 and 1997 seasons.

Florida State finished in sixth place at the 48th annual Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament at the Uwharrie Point Country Club in New London, N.C. It was the Seminoles' best team finish since coming in fifth in 1995. Junior Peter Mitchell finished in a tie for ninth place in the individual standings as he finished the event with a career-best 211 score for the 54-hole event. The Seminoles finished the tournament with three of their top seven single round team scores during the 2002 season including a season-best 282 in the second round. The Seminoles three-round total of 868 was their best at the ACC Championship since totaling an 866 in 1988 and was 29 strokes better than their team score during the 2001 tournament when they finished in eighth place. In addition, the Seminoles' two-spot improvement in the team standings was the best of any of the nine ACC teams from the 2001 to the 2002 championship tournament.

Bobby Cochran earned All-ACC honors during the 1994 season — Florida State's third as a member of the conference.
