This Is Tallahassee

Near, but far from the glaring strips of neon amusement, and the castles and crowds of Disney, lies another magical place in the Sunshine State — one of powwows, plantations, politics and great pride. Often described as “The Other Florida” with its deep-rooted history, rolling hills, canopy roads of moss-draped oaks, cool climate and Southern-style hospitality; it is a Florida few have seen. It is Tallahassee — Florida with a Southern accent.

Best known as Florida’s capital, Tallahassee is an intimate neo-metropolitan city where the power of state government, the academic and the artistic are complemented by subtle, old-fashioned charm. It is the perfect two- or three-day diversion for the more than 41 million annual visitors to Florida and 13 million residents.

Tallahassee touts a menagerie of sights including one of the world’s deepest freshwater springs, site of America’s first Christmas, a wildlife habitat, Capitol buildings, fascinating museums of history, sprawling plantations, highly acclaimed fishing and hunting adventures and nearby beaches. Spirited area festivals range from celebrations of Tallahassee’s spectacular spring and swamp stomps to genuine rattlesnake roundups and seafood festivals.

With the Gulf of Mexico just 20 miles south and the Georgia border only 14 miles north, Tallahassee rests between the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains and the juncture of Florida’s panhandle and peninsula. Nearer in miles to Atlanta than to Miami, Tallahassee

Like the city itself, the story of how Tallahassee was chosen as the state capital is rich in history. In 1823, two explorers set out — one on horseback from St. Augustine and the other by boat from Pensacola — to find a permanent, central location for the Legislature to convene. The two met at a beautiful site that the Creek and Seminole Indians called “tallahassee” — derived from the words “talwa” meaning town and “ahasee” meaning old. The rendezvous point remains Florida’s capital.

The “old town” has undergone many changes, but one thing remains the same — it is still a government town fiercely proud and dedicated to preserving its heritage. The Capitol buildings, both old and new, epitomize Tallahassee’s perseverance.

more closely resembles its Southern neighbors than Florida in topography, climate and lifestyle.

Accentuating Tallahassee’s Southern persona are lush rolling hills, likened to the seven hills of Rome, and five “official” canopy roads of patriarch oaks. The fertile, rich soil and four distinct, yet pleasant, seasons breed floral brilliance and natural vitality year-round.

The 22nd floor of the New Capitol provides a panoramic scope of a sophisticated Southern city awash in a sea of flowering azaleas, snowy dogwoods, towering pines, fragrant magnolias, and hundreds of shimmering lakes, springs, swamps, rivers and sink holes. Special legislative viewing galleries are open during the legislative session.

Below, in the shade of giant live oaks, proudly stands the Old Capitol, originally constructed in 1845 and restored to its 1902 splendor complete with red-and-white candy-striped awnings, a dome adorned with stained glass, antique furnishings and political memorabilia.

Across from the Old Capitol are the 40-foot twin granite towers of the Vietnam Veteran’s Memorial, and the blue stone Union Bank, Florida’s oldest surviving financial institution. The nostalgic Old Town Trolley, a replica turn-of-the-century street car, carries passengers through restored Adams Street Commons to numerous other historical downtown shops for free — unheard of even 100 years ago.

Minutes from downtown lies the Governor's Mansion, which resembles the home of Florida's military hero Andrew Jackson; and the 52-acre natural animal habitat and 1880s farm of the Tallahassee Museum of History and Natural Science, which provide the rare chance to walk and talk with native Florida animals.

Tallahassee remains firmly linked with the past as evidenced by the unearched 1539 winter encampment of Spanish Hernando de Soto, the site of the first Christmas celebration in America. Visitors travel back through time as they stand in the shadow of a giant 12,000-year-old American Mastodon at the Museum of Florida History or explore other historical spots including The Knott House that Rhymes, The Columns, San Luis Mission, Lake Jackson State Archaeological Site, Natural Bridge Battlefield, First Presbyterian Church, Brokaw-McDougall House, Goodwood Plantation and Adams Street Commons.

Nearby, alligators lazing in the sunshine and anhinga "snake birds" perched on twisted cypress branches are seen at Wakulla Springs, one of the world's deepest freshwater springs and site of many underwater scenes in the "Tarzan" movies with Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan. Safaris aboard glass-bottomed and jungle cruise boats whisk visitors within arm's length of "The Other Florida."

Outdoor enthusiasts enjoy adventures including boating and fishing on area lakes, rivers, ponds and the Gulf — just 30 minutes away. Lakes Seminole, Jackson and Talquin are renowned in the bass fishing world for yielding the "big ones," and dense forests offer an abundance of prize-winning game. Local wildlife areas such as the Florida National Scenic Trail, St. Marks National Wildlife Refuge and Apalachicola National Forest are among many spots for camping, picnicking, swimming, biking and exploring.

Appealing to the strokes of different folks, Tallahassee also features 99 holes of golf on six courses and a proliferation of tennis centers. Sideline athletes cheer the nationally-ranked Florida State Seminoles, Florida A&M Rattlers and the Tallahassee Tiger Sharks, of the East Coast Hockey League. And always a sure bet are the nearby greyhound races.

A sport of sorts, shopping at two regional malls and many specialty centers offer many "playing options" — from popular chains to curiosity and antique shops.

Cultural interests are sparked by widely-acclaimed museums and galleries and elaborate entertainment at the 14,000-seat Tallahassee-Leon County Civic Center.

Tallahassee is a collaboration of power-play politics and classical character splashed with a twist of Southern beauty and charm. Tallahassee is Florida with a Southern accent.

This Is Florida State

Florida State University, which celebrated its golden anniversary as a coeducational graduate research institution in 1997, has joined the nation's elite in both academics and athletics.

Located on the oldest continuous site of higher education in Florida and building rapidly on the framework of a highly regarded liberal arts college for women, the University has emerged over the past 50 years as an institution of national and international esteem. Its stature is evidenced by a number of additions to its record of excellence in the 1990s:

> In 1994, Florida State was classified a "Research University I" by the Carnegie Foundation, placing it among the nation's top research universities.

> In 1994, the college referral service, "Who's Who Among American High School Students," placed FSU among its top 10 — with such universities as Harvard, Duke, Stanford, North Carolina-Chapel Hill, Michigan-Ann Arbor and Yale — of most frequent choices of more than 100,000 of the nation's best and brightest high school students who asked that a specific college be notified of their recognition in "Who's Who."

> Vice President of the United States Al Gore spoke at the dedication of the National High Magnetic Field Laboratory at Florida State in 1994. The National Science Foundation established the $100 million magnet lab in 1990 at FSU, which is partnered in research with the Los Alamos National Laboratory and the University of Florida. A Nobel laureate in physics and a top Russian physicist were among the first scholars drawn to the faculty. The world's largest magnet — two stories high and capable of generating 45 tesla or 1 million times the Earth's magnetic field — was installed in 1995 at the NHMFL, located in the off-campus research complex, Innovation Park. In 1996, the NSF renewed and increased by 50 percent the NHMFL's funding for another five years.

> FSU created the first multipurpose student identification/banking card. The Card Application Technology Center is a national leader in "smart card" systems.

> At the forefront of supercomputing since obtaining its first high-speed computer in 1985, FSU took yet another step in ultrafast and parallel computing in 1990 when it acquired two supercomputers, the Thinking Machine Corp. Connection Machine and the Cray Y-MP.

> In fall 1994, the first tenants moved into the east side of the $100 million University Center, a classroom-and-office facility at Doak Campbell Stadium; the stadium's south end zone also was enclosed and the adjacent Moore Athletic Center expanded. With the completion of the west side in 1996, University Center now provides 550,000 square feet of much needed academic space and a centralized location for student services.

> In 1990, Florida State ranked second in popularity nationwide among high school seniors, based on the number of students who request that their Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores be sent to an institution. FSU was the only institution listed among the top 10 choices of both black and white college-bound students.

> FSU's high-tech program in structural biology in 1991 received the University's largest single foundation grant, $4 million.

> Capping more than a decade of national prominence in intercollegiate athletics, Florida State's athletic teams, nicknamed "Seminoles," joined the Atlantic Coast Conference as its ninth member in 1990. The FSU football team won the 1993 National Championship and its quarterback, Charlie Ward, won the University's first Heisman Trophy.

> The Dr. Bobby E. Leach Center, a state-of-the-art student recreation facility, with a pool, saunas, basketball and racquet-sport courts, was completed in 1991.

> FSU ranked 20th in the nation for 1990-91 in the number of black Ph.D. students it graduates. Over the five years, 1986 to 1990, FSU ranked eighth nationally by granting doctorates to 70 African Americans.

As this list of highlights attests, Florida State is excelling in the 1990s with exceptional strength; energy and vision for the future. Under the leadership of the University's 12th president, Talbot "Sandy" D'Alemberte, who took office in January 1994, FSU will continue to build on the foundation of its history of excellence in scholarship, research and service.

A senior member of the 10-member State University System, FSU was founded as an institution of higher learning in 1851 by legislative act and began in Tallahassee with its first students in 1857.

Today, FSU's operating budget is $474.3 million. Faculty and administrators generate more than $102 million annually in external funding to supplement state-sponsored research. Three direct-support organizations serve to bolster the University: FSU Foundation, which raises millions in private gifts to support academics, Seminole Boosters and FSU Alumni Association.

The main campus is spread over 451.6 acres in Tallahassee; FSU, which has one of the smallest campuses in the SUS, has been actively acquiring land in the 1990s after years of being landlocked at 347 acres. FSU owns 1,281 acres in Leon, Bay, Franklin and Sarasota counties.

Within the state, the University maintains facilities at its 25-acre campus in Panama City, its Marine Laboratory on the Gulf of Mexico, the Appleton Museum in Ocala and the Asolo Performing Arts Center in Sarasota. The Center for Professional Development and Public Service, housed in the Augustus B. Turnbull III Florida State Conference Center on the edge of the campus, provides extensive credit and non-credit continuing education programs statewide.

With 1,655 members, the FSU faculty has included nine National Academy of Sciences elected members, nine American Academy of Arts and Sciences fellows and five Nobel laureates. It is backed by 2,887 administrative/professional and support staff.

Library holdings at Florida State include 2.1 million book titles, 16,384 serials and 4.5 million micro-forms. The main library facility, the Robert M. Strozier Library, is linked by computer to other state university and Florida State's coaching staff and players would like to acknowledge the following young women for their support of the Seminole tennis program and their dedication in keeping the scoring at home matches.

The 1998-99 crew are: Julie Pierce, Marissa Altman, Heather Runyan, Debbie Lawlor, Stacey Agnew, Courtni Sweeney, Kasey Brinkley, Lisa Perry, Melissa Piper, Niki Lager, Allison Stribling, Rae Ann Weiner, Jennifer Seidle, Candace Slowik, Carri Wawrzyk, Meg Zaragoza, Katherine Norris, Lisa Hawthorne, Alexis Megna, Allyson Barchuk, Whitney Reiman, Kristy Shasek, and Brandy Chinni. In addition, a very special thanks to Amy Stuart, a junior from Clearwater, Florida, who helped organize and motivate this year's crew.

Graduate students, who number more than 5,929, pursue advanced degrees in fields as diverse as business administration and theoretical particle physics. A majority of research done at FSU is the direct result of student effort, culminating in numerous books, monographs and journal articles relating to the whole spectrum of intellectual interests and the practical needs of society.

FSU, a residential campus, places a high priority on its 30,519 students and their needs and interests (of the student population: 45 percent are male; 55 percent are female; 20.1 percent are minorities; and 2.5 percent are foreign students). In all areas of its mission — excellence in teaching, research and public service — Florida State University is advancing boldly toward the 21st century.

1999 Preview

The 1999 edition of the Florida State men's tennis team enters the season with high hopes and great expectations. The Seminole roster consists of four seniors along with five seasoned veterans, and the experienced group has set their sights on the 1999 NCAA tournament.

"This team is made up of a group of very coachable guys," said head coach Dave Barron. "We have great team leaders, natural team harmony, and are a very mature team."

Leading the Tribe in 1999 will be senior Ty Braswell, a native of Umatilla, Florida. Braswell piled up 17 wins last year as a Seminole at No. 1 and No. 2 singles and has put together an impressive resumé in fall tournaments in 1998. The highlight of Ty's fall season was his flight one singles championship at the Seminole Fall Classic right at home at the Speicher Center in Tallahassee.

Davidson Kozlowski, a senior from Sarasota, Florida, will also be a leader at the top of the Seminole lineup. Kozlowski compiled an impressive 15-4 record over the 1997-98 season and is a team motivator on the court.

Also returning from the top of last year's lineup is senior Yvo Niks, from Heerhugowaard, Holand. Yvo registered a team-high 29 victories for the Seminoles in 1997-98 at the No. 2 and No. 3 slots in the lineup. It was his third straight 20-win season and has him looking forward to another big season on the court in the spring.

The Tribe's final returning senior is Steve Weinstein, from North Miami Beach, Florida. Despite Steve's battle with lower-back pain this fall, he is expected to be a major contributor to the Seminole's success in the spring. Steve finished the 1997-98 season with a record of 17-9 and plans on improving that mark in the upcoming season.

The Seminole's final seasoned veteran is junior Mike Ingham, from Rochdale, England. Not only was his 1997-98 record of 25-11 a glimpse of bright things to come in 1999, but his fall achievements prove he is prepared for whatever 1999 has in store for him. Ingham won the flight five singles championship at the Seminole Fall Classic in October, and paired with teammate Chad Mooney to capture the flight B doubles title.

Ty Braswell

Steve Weinstein

Mooney, a sophomore from St. Albans, West Virginia, saw limited dual match time as a freshman for the 'Noles but worked hard in the off-season and will definitely be a factor in the 1999 lineup. Mooney had success for the Seminoles in the fall playing in flight four competition.

Joining Mooney as the final returning player from the 1999 season, is sophomore Gerald Casas, from Henderson, Nevada. Casas has done a great job for the Tribe this fall and is anxious to take his place in the Seminole lineup.

The final two members of the 1999 Florida State men's tennis team are freshmen Noah Schnell and Jeff Scarella. Schnell hails from Jupiter, Florida, while Scarella is a native of New Smyrna Beach, Florida. Both Seminoles have had tremendous high school and junior tennis careers.

Coach Barron, who will become the all-time winningest coach in men's tennis history at Florida State with his second win of the spring season, will lead the Seminoles for his ninth consecutive season and his eighth with John Vinson as his assistant. Barron has high expectations on the court for the Seminoles but also emphasizes the importance of activities other than tennis.

"My job is to prepare these men for whatever they might encounter in their lives, both on and off the court," said Barron. "If we work hard off the court it will definitely improve us as tennis players."

The Seminoles' hard work paid off for them last year as they were awarded the prestigious Golden Torch Award signifying the men's athletic program with the highest GPA at Florida State last year.

Florida State's 1999 men's tennis team is anxiously awaiting their spring season. The team has been building towards this season's leadership and experience for four years and is confident it will be a success. The Seminoles are relying on their seasoned veterans and talented youth to achieve their goals of an ACC championship leading to an NCAA tournament berth.

David Barron Head Coach

University of Evansville
Ninth Season at FSU

As David Barron enters his ninth season as head coach of the FSU men's tennis program, he brings a renewed sense of direction, philosophy and attitude to the 1998-99 season. The primary goal remains the same, to advance to the NCAA final site at the end of the season, but the approach taken will have a different look.

Barron has always emphasized that success off the court will dictate how you achieve your goals on the court. A well-rounded player can and should excel in all phases of college life which includes academics, life skills, training, conditioning and the element of winning.

"Our players understand that as long as they achieve off the tennis courts, there success will be reflected in their play on the court," said Barron.

"Although the men's program has been successful the past five or six years with some great wins along the way, we really have only reached a certain plateau. Now I want to go to the next level. So we are asking our coaches, players and staff to re-evaluate their goals and missions, to identify our strengths and weaknesses. Then we can put them together for an even stronger team. Dedication and commitment are an essential element for any athletic program and it is a major necessity to win on the court."

These are not empty words with Barron. His men's program won the trophy for the top men's academic program at FSU last year with a team GPA over 3.0. The honor marked the fourth time in the last eight years that tennis was the top performing program on the men's side of athletics at FSU.

The 1999 dual match season will mark Barron's ninth at the helm of the Florida State men's tennis program, the longest duration by a single coach in the history of the program. Barron will become the all-time winningest coach in FSU history with just two wins this season. He already surpassed 100 wins two seasons ago, a feat only two other coaches in the program's 50 years have reached. With his second dual match win this spring, he will become the all-time winningest tennis coach in Florida State history with 130 victories.

Barron's continuing commitment to elevate the program to higher levels of competition, achievement and success is still very evident going into 1999.

Whether in coaching, recruiting, or involved in charitable activities, Barron has brought the FSU program national acclaim.

1999 will be no different as Barron will be busy guiding the Seminoles into one of the nation's toughest schedules. Despite the difficult schedule, the Seminoles are expected to contend once again for the Atlantic Coast Conference title on their way to an NCAA tournament bid.

The FSU men's tennis team has steadily improved with the addition of top players to the program, and much of the team's success can be attributed to the recruiting and coaching abilities of Barron.

Florida State will begin its sixth campaign in the Scott Speicher Tennis Center at the Donald Loucks Courts, the nationally renowned tennis facility. Barron was one of the central figures behind its construction. Through his vision and lobbying, Barron did much of the leg work to make the center a reality on the Florida State University campus.

A native of Evansville, Indiana, Barron played on a junior college national championship team at Central Florida Community College in Ocala, before graduating in 1981. He then moved on to the University of Evansville where he was the team MVP in 1983, while earning his bachelor's degree later that same year. Barron then traveled to Nova University where he earned a Master's degree in 1985 for Business Administration.

After Nova, Barron worked at Nick Bollettieri's prestigious Tennis Academy. While at the Academy, Barron met Andy Brandi, who went on to become the head coach for the University of Florida women's tennis team. Brandi brought Barron to Gainesville in 1985 where they proceeded to lead the Lady Gators into one of the top programs in the country. Although entering just his ninth year as head coach at FSU, Barron is already proving he can produce the same results for the Seminoles.

Recently, other organizations have benefited from Barron's involvement. He has been heavily involved in a campaign to raise money for the Children's Miracle Network. Through his organizing of a tennis pro-am tournament this fall at the Scott Speicher Tennis Center, money will be raised for the pediatric programs at Shands Hospital at the University of Florida. To date he has raised in excess of $60,000 for the charity.

Barron is married to the former Michelle Sharp. The two are the proud parents of a son John David and a daughter Haille Marie. He is currently working on his Doctorate in Athletic Administration at Florida State and he is USPTA (United States Professional Tennis Association) certified.

John Vinson Assistant Coach

Florida State University
Seventh Season at FSU

John Vinson, who returns for his seventh year as assistant coach of the Seminoles, will once again hold several on and the off court responsibilities for Barron and Florida State. Once again, Vinson will help Coach Barron with the day to day operations of running a successful tennis program. His duties include helping out with recruiting, running practices and assisting with the strength and conditioning of players. His role is especially crucial in the fall, as he organizes the annual Seminole Fall Classic, which has become one of the most successful tournaments in the nation.

Besides his valuable assistance to Coach Barron, Vinson is no stranger to Seminole tennis. He was an assistant coach at FSU under Richard McKee from 1986 to 1988. During that period he worked with current ATP No. 1 doubles player Paul Haarhuis.

In addition to Florida State, Vinson has held two other head coaching positions. He was at Louisiana Tech from 1988 to 1990 coaching the Lady Bulldogs while earning his Master's degree in general counseling. In 1990, Vinson coached the men's and women's tennis teams at Utah State before returning to the Sunshine State in 1991.

Upon returning to Florida, Vinson was named the Florida Section Director of Player Development for the USTA from 1991 to 1993. His duties for the USTA included coaching the top Florida zonal teams, organizing tournaments for Florida USTA players and coaching at many different training sites around the state. His experience with the USTA helped FSU in recruiting Ty Braswell and Steve Weinstein as both met him during his stay with the amateur association.

Vinson lettered four years in tennis at Wake Forest University and held the number one singles position during his senior season under the legendary Demon Deacon tennis coach Jim Leighton and then Ian Crookenden. He was named the teams MVP his junior year after finishing second at the ACC tournament at No. 3 singles.

He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology from FSU and received his master's degree in general counseling from Louisiana Tech University and is USPTA certified. Vinson is married to Kim Schwanbeck Vinson and they have a two-year-old son John Allen and a daughter due in February. Vinson also serves as a tennis pro at various Tallahassee area tennis clubs.

1998 Review

The 1997-98 Florida State men's tennis team completed its season by qualifying for the NCAA regional tournament for the fifth consecutive year. The team competed in Richmond, Virginia in the NCAA Region II tournament against fellow ACC member Virginia.

The men's team finished with a record of 17-8, leaving eighth year head coach Dave Barron just two victories shy of becoming Florida State's all-time winningest tennis coach. The team was led by some talented underclassmen, junior Yvo Niks(29-7), junior Steve Weinstein(17-9), and sophomore Michael Ingham (25-11) all finished the season with impressive singles records. By advancing to the semifinals of the ACC tournament, where they were defeated by the defending ACC champions and national power Duke, the Seminoles earned a six seed in the NCAA Region II tournament.

After a hard-fought battle at the host site Virginia Commonwealth University, the Cavaliers advanced with a 4-1 victory. The men's team finished the season with one more victory than it had the previous year, and raised expectations for a very successful 1998-99 campaign.

The top spot on the men's team was shared by Ty Braswell and Alex Golub. After finishing his junior season 17-12, Ty Braswell will return this season as the Tribe's No.1 singles player and, along with Davidson Kozlowski, will form the No.1 doubles team. Braswell and Kozlowski finished the season together with a victory in the NCAA Region II match against Virginia, and an ACC tournament victory over Georgia Tech's nationally ranked (41st) doubles team of Cassaigne and Cozad.

The 1998 men's team dual match schedule consisted of eleven nationally ranked opponents. The Seminoles got fast starts from Niks, Ingham, and Weinstein. Niks started the season winning his first 12 matches which contributed to 23 consecutive singles victories to start the season by the trio. The quick start helped the team win their first eight dual matches of the season and earn a ranking of 31st in the nation. A big win late in the season came on the road against Clemson University. The Tigers entered the match ranked #28 and the Seminoles were #33. After losing two of three doubles matches, Florida State won five of six singles matches, with a crucial win coming from No.1 Alex Golub over Clemson's Bruce Li.

The ACC continued to bolster its reputation nationally by living up to preseason predictions. With six teams ranked in the preseason polls, seven ACC teams received invitations to the NCAA regional tournament. Four FSU players received ACC honors at the end of the season. Yvo Niks was honored as conference runner-up for third flight. Mike Ingham was runner up for the fourth flight. In addition, Seminoles' Steve Weinstein and Davidson Kozlowski were also acknowledged as runner-ups for the fifth and sixth flights, respectively.
