

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Since the inception of the program in 1949, Florida State swimming and diving has had their share of All-Americans. The Seminoles have racked up a combined 182 All-American certificates in 58 years. In addition to the All-American accolades, FSU boasts six National Champions, at least one every decade since 1960. A sure sign that Florida State is on their way to being on of the elite programs in the country.

CURT GENDERS - ONE-METER DIVING (1961)

Before Dave Cowens, Deion Sanders or Charlie Ward, Curt Genders was considered to be "Possibly the greatest athlete in Florida State history" in the 1964 swimming and diving media guide.

The moniker was well earned as Genders became the first swimmer or diver to ever earn All-America honors in three different seasons as he picked up the award from 1959-61 on the one-meter board as well as three-meter board or "high board" as it was called back in the 1960's.

A native of Sarasota, Genders saved his best NCAA meet for his last. During the 1961 competition, he defeated a pair of Olympians on his very last dive to claim the title on the one-meter board, a first for Florida State swimming and diving.

PHIL BOGGS - ONE-METER DIVING (1971)

Ten years after Curt Genders brought home the program's first national championships and once again it was on the one-meter diving. While most of the swimmers and divers recruited by Florida State today have national accolades, Boggs was not well known outside of his hometown of Akron, Ohio.

Despite standing in at just 5-foot-5, Boggs was actively involved in diving, football, baseball and track, but it wasn't until his junior year that he fully turned his attentions to the springboard. Working with FSU graduate Dick Wells at Firestone High School, he began his journey to national recognition and eventually an Olympic gold medal. Following a satisfactory freshman season, instead of returning to Ohio, Boggs spent the summer in Ft. Lauderdale, training with coach Bill Barton. Barton's work that summer had a tremendous impact as the very next season Boggs placed fourth on the one-meter board at the 1969 NCAA Championships. His All-America certificate was the first by a Seminole diver since Genders in 1961.

"It was fun," Boggs said of his summer under Barton's tutelage. "He was the first person to tell me that I had the opportunity to compete on the national level."

The improvement continued the next as he moved up two spots on the one-meter board while adding All-America recognition during the three-meter competition. His final season Boggs climbed to the top of the diving mountain with a national championships on the one-meter.

At the time, Boggs' five All-America awards tied him with Genders for the most in the program's history and the diving duo currently rates third. Five years after winning the national championships for the Seminole, Boggs went on to claim a gold medal on the one-meter board at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

WOMEN'S 200 FREESTYLE & 200 MEDLEY RELAYS (1982)

The women's program went out on a high note in its last AIAW Championships as it won a pair of relay titles. The Seminoles finished second to Texas in the team standings thanks to championships in the 200 freestyle and medley relays.

Getting Florida State's first women's national championship in swimming was the quartet of Meg McCully, Sharon Spuler, Laurie Lehner and Simone Kusseling in the 200 medley relay. The foursome set a new school record with a winning time of 1:42.86. Up next was a title in the 200 free relay as Spuler, Lehner and Kusseling were joined by Lenore Gribble to post a top time of 1:33.50 to set another Seminole standard.

A tribute to the talent on that year's team, both relay marks would stand for more than 15 years. It wasn't until 1999 that the 200 free relay record was taken down and on the 20th anniversary of the 200 medley relay title, the record was finally broken. The 200 medley and free relays were the centerpiece of one of the most successful years in the program's history. Eight different swimmers came home with All-America certificates, including five that amassed 12 individual awards to go along with accolades in four of the five relays.

The following year Florida State competed at its first Women's NCAA Championships after the national governing body began sponsoring the sport the year before.

STEPHEN PARRY - 200 BUTTERFLY (1997)

Within the first 23 years of the program, Florida State had a pair of national champions, but after Phil Boggs in 1971, it would be another 36 years before a Seminole stood on top of the podium at the NCAA meet. Florida State returned to men's swimming and diving glory in 1997 when Stephen Parry put the program back on the map. Parry trained in crowded pools and limited facilities in Liverpool, Great Britain, but from that setting came great accomplishments. He was the 1994 Junior European Champion and the 1995 England National Champion in the 200-f y. Parry found his first year at FSU to be a challenge, having to adjust to a new training program, a new school and new country all together. But it was after the British Trials that he knew he had to change something. He returned to FSU with a new ambition — a team victory at the Atlantic Coast Conference Championships and a top five finish in the NCAA. He took advantage of the training facilities and started working harder and longer.

At the 1997 NCAA championship meet in Minneapolis, Minnesota, Parry and his teammates achieved several honors. Dedekind became the first FSU swimmer to achieve three All-America finishes and all five Seminole relay teams scored for the Seminoles. But perhaps the greatest accomplishment came on the night of March 29th when Parry, who was seeded first in the 200-f y going into the finals, won the first national championship for swimming in FSU history. His pool record time of 1:44.28 won him the title and helped etch his name in the Seminole record books. "I wasn't really thinking about it (the championship) at the time," Parry said. "Going into the race seeded first, there was some pressure but I wasn't expecting to win. It was more of a shock than anything else. I just swam the race the way coach planned it out. It really didn't hit me until I got back to Tallahassee that I had won a national championship. And it wasn't even until this summer that I realized I'm as good as the best swimmers in the nation."

BRENDON DEDEKIND - 50 FREE (1998) & 100 BREASTSTROKE (1999)

Swimming in a lane with six and seven people is not the ideal training conditions for an Olympic swimmer. But for Brendon Dedekind, it was the starting point for what would soon become a successful career in collegiate and international competition. After the 1992 South African Nationals, he began to pursue that dream. Dedekind sent out 32 applications to United States universities and received many prospect questionnaires, but no scholarships materialized. So in 1993 he enrolled in engineering classes in South Africa and gave up on the dream. In 1993 the tables began to turn for Dedekind and he started to see the dream becoming a reality. Neil Harper, an assistant coach at FSU at the time, received a phone call from former LSU teammate, Darryl Cronje, a fellow South African swimmer, telling him about a South African who could be an asset to the team. Not too long after, Dedekind received a call from then assistant head coach Neil Harper offering him a scholarship.

As a freshman in 1995, he qualified for the NCAA Championships at the University of Texas. Although he made the consolation finals in the 50-free and won the heat finishing ninth, he was still overwhelmed by the facility and the stronger, faster swimmers. This gave him more incentive to train and work harder for the next season.

The following March, Dedekind started to make his mark in FSU swimming history. With one NCAA meet under his belt, Dedekind felt more relaxed and less overwhelmed by the enormity of the competition at the 1997

Championships at Minnesota. That year he became the first swimmer in FSU history to garner All-America honors in three events as he finished in the top five of the 50 and 100 freestyle—including the fastest 50 free heat in NCAA history—as well as the 100 breaststroke.

In the 1998 NCAA meet at Auburn, his 19.17 qualifying time in the 50 free set a new pool record and gave him the top seed going into the evening competition. That night, Dedekind dominated the competition and became only the second swimmer in FSU history to win an individual title, taking first in the 50 free.

"I took the race as just another race," Dedekind remarked. "It was really exciting to win the 50-free, but I was still not satisfied with my time. I think I could have swam faster that night."

Satisfaction came in his senior year, but not in the 50 free. Dedekind entered the 1999 NCAA Championships qualified in the 50 and 100 free and the 100 breaststroke. He walked away with yet another title, but this time it was in the 100-breast.

A participant in the 1996 and 2000 Summer Olympic Games, Dedkind's Florida State career will come full circle in the fall of 2004. Dedekind became the eighth Seminole from the swimming and diving team to be elected to the Florida State Hall of Fame.

TERRY HORNER - ONE-METER DIVING (2007)

After taking home two diving National Titles in 10 years it would be another 36 until FSU would once again have a diver atop the podium. Not only did Terry Horner bring home the Seminoles first diving championship in more than three decades, he became the first freshman swimmer or diver to do so. Horner's 6 dive total of 399.35 put the freshman from Orlando in elite company. He, along with Seminole sprinter Walter Dix are the only FSU athletes to ever win an individual National Championship as freshmen.

Horner was able to pull away early when his second dive of the finals scored a 9.0 from all seven judges. He was able to seal the deal on his final dive where he received four more 9.0 scores. Horner now joins Seminole legend Curt Genders and Olympic Gold Medalist Phil Boggs as diving National Champions.

INTERNATIONAL SUCCESS

When the collegiate careers of Florida State University swimmers and divers are finished, it doesn't necessarily mean they are done in the water. Over the last 10 years the Seminoles have made a name for themselves on the international scene. Representing 10 different countries, Florida State athletes have competed at the top level of swimming and diving in the sport's biggest events, including the Olympics and World Championships.

- Placed 6th in the 50 free at the 1998 World Championships
- Member of the 1998 gold medal World All-Star team at the Goodwill Games in New York
- Silver medalist at the 1998 Commonwealth Games
- Finished fourth in the 50-free at the 1997 Pan-Pacific Games
- Finished third in the 50-free at the 1997 World University Games

TANYA GURR

- Represented Zimbabwe in international competition
- Competed in the 1999 All-African Games

GREG MAIN-BAILLIE

- Represented South Africa in international competition
- Finished 12th in the 50 free and 15th in the 100 free at the 1999 Pan-Pacific Championships

NELSON MORA

- Represented Venezuela in international competition
- Finalist at the 1999 Pan-American Championships in the 200-fly and was on the 4th place 400 free relay team
- Received a bronze medal in the 200 fly at the 1999 Latin Cup
- Finished 20th in the 200 fly at the 1996 Summer Olympics
- Gold medalist in the 200 fly at the 1995 Pan-American games

ROMY ALTMANN

- Represented South Africa in international competitions
- Won the 50, 100 and 200 back events at the 2004 All-Africa Games
- Finished second in the 100 back and third in the 200 back at the 2004 South African Senior Nationals
- Earned six gold medals at the 2002 All-Africa Games

ROB BRAKNIS

- Competed for Canada at the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta
- Finished 16th in the 100-back and was a member of the 12th place 400-medley relay

BRENDON DEDEKIND

- Represented South Africa in international competitions
- Finished ninth in the 50 free at the 2000 Sydney Olympics
- Second in the 50 free and 50 breast at the 2000 World Short Course Championships in Athens, Greece
- Won the 50 free at the 1999 Pan-Pacific Championships
- Fifth in the 50 free and 26th in the 100 free at the 1996 Olympics

- Third at the European Championships in the 200-fly in 1997
- Was fourth in the 200 fly at the 1997 World University Games
- British National Champion in the 100 and 200 fly in 1996
- Sixth in the 200 fly at the 1995 World University Games in Tokyo
- British National Champion in the 200 fly in 1994 and 1995

BRETT PETERSEN

- Represented South Africa in international competition
- Finished seventh in the 100-breast at the 2000 Sydney Olympics
- Fourth in the 100-breast and 400-free relay at the 1999 Pan-Pacific Championships
- Fifth in the 100-breast at the 1998 Commonwealth Games

JULIO SANTOS

- Represented Ecuador in international competition.
- Swam the 50 freestyle at the 2004 Summer Olympics in Athens
- Participated in the 2003 World Championships
- 400-free relay member at the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney
- Swam 400-free relay at the 1996 Summer Olympics in Atlanta

OLYMPIC HERITAGE

For an athlete, the highest honor a nation can bestow upon them is to have them represent their country in the Olympic Games. Since the 1976 Games in Montreal, Canada, the Summer Olympics have had a Garnet and Gold feel to them. All told, 13 current and former Florida State swimmers and divers have represented 11 different countries.

Dating back to Florida State's first Olympic representative in the pool, diver Phil Boggs at the 1976 Games, the Seminoles have had at least one representative in all but three of the last nine Olympics. At the 2004 Games in Athens, Greece, Florida State had five representatives and former Seminole Parry produced the school's second medal in 28 years as he took the bronze in the 200-meter butterfly.

The Athens Games also saw the first pair of active Seminoles participate in the Games since 1996. Golda Marcus, competing for El Salvador, and teammate Chris Vythoulkas, a member of the Bahaman team, are two of only four FSU swimmers to ever compete in the Olympics while still part of the active roster.

Florida State has been well represented on the pool deck by a pair of coaches. Head coach Neil Harper, an Olympian himself in 1984 and 1988, served as the head coach for South Africa in 2000, while returning in 2004 as a member of the Swaziland coaching staff. Diving coach Patrick Jeffrey made the trip to Atlanta in 1996 as member of the US coaching staff.

STEPHEN PARRY: GARNET & BRONZE

Every swimmer that participates in the Olympic Games dreams of being on the medal stand and having a dignitary place that medal around their neck. Every Olympian daydreams of seeing their flag rise to the rafters and for former Florida State University swimmer Stephen Parry that dream became a reality. In 2004 he became the first Seminole in 28 years to capture a medal as he took home bronze in the 200-meter butterfly.

"I'm really, really proud. It's an amazing feeling, a fantastic feeling," Parry said. "I know it's an old cliché, but it really is a dream come true. I'm so proud to be a part of the British team and give them this medal."

The fulfillment of that dream almost became a nightmare for Parry. Swimming for Great Britain, a ton of pressure had been put on Parry and his teammates after the squad came up dry in the medal count during the Sydney Games, a first for Britain since the 1936 Olympics.

With the weight of an entire country and internal pressure following a fourth-place finish at the 2003 World Championships, Parry fell short of expectations in the preliminaries of the 200 butterfly. In fact, the prelims were almost Parry's only swim of the entire meet.

"It was a disappointing start and I was desperate to give something to the team," Parry noted. "I watched the same clip of Rocky III and I was really nervous. But now I know the feeling of being an Olympic medalist and it's wonderful."

Parry turned to Florida State head coach Neil Harper to help rebuild his confidence for the semifinals. It was Harper's guidance which put Parry's mind back where it needed to be and helped him qualify for the finals. He also did a remarkable thing; became the only person at the Games to beat Michael Phelps. The 19-year-old American phenom was the favorite to win five individual medals, but in the semis Parry stole the spotlight as he beat Phelps to the wall and earn the top seed for the finals the following night.

"Sometimes uptight is not the best way for him to perform," Harper said. "As you saw from semifinals he's at his best when he is footloose and fancy-free. What it did for him was take some of the pressure off him. You could see by the way he swam that the weight had been lifted off his shoulders. It was fun to watch him last night. He tried to keep it low key for the finals but it's tough when you know the whole world is watching."

While Parry tried to bring his carefree demeanor to the finals of the 200 butterfly, having the eyes of the world on you and an agitated world record-holder in the lane besides you doesn't make for a walk in the park.

As was to be expected, Phelps took an early lead in the race and tried to put as much distance as possible between he and the rest of the field.

During that third lap Parry hit the afterburners and with 25 meters to go he was neck and neck with Phelps. Unfortunately, the combination of Phelps' closing ability and not enough fuel in Parry's tank allowed Phelps to pull away for the gold.

Yamamoto also pulled away during the last few strokes as he snuck in for the silver, but Parry would still be on the medal stand. Parry told Harper after the semifinals that he wanted to win a medal, and he had succeed.

Besides ending Britain's eight-year drought without a medal, Parry also snapped a 28-year drought for the Florida State swimming and diving program. The program's only medal came at the 1976 Games in Montreal, Canada, when diver Phil Boggs captured the gold medal on the springboard.

Phil Boggs: Florida State's First Olympic Gold Medalist

When he first came to Florida State in 1968, very few would have pegged Phil Boggs as a future gold medal winner in the Olympic Games. It was through hard work and a boost of confidence that got him to the top of the medal stand in 1976.

A four-sport athlete in his native Akron, Ohio, Boggs didn't concentrate on diving until his junior year and his first season at Florida State was not outstanding. Instead of heading back to the Buckeye State for the summer following his freshman year, Boggs decided to spend the break in Ft. Lauderdale with coach Bill Barton.

Boggs spent the summer on the diving board, learning from Barton. Besides improving the technical aspect of his diving, Barton's biggest impact on Boggs may have been the boost of confidence he gave the young diver.

"It was fun," Boggs said of his summer under Barton's tutelage. "He was the first person to tell me that I had the opportunity to compete on the national level."

Over the course of a summer Boggs was transformed from just another diver to one of the top collegiate divers in the country. At the 1969 NCAA Championships, he picked up his first All-America honor – the first by a Seminole diver since 1961—and proceeded to collect four more national honors over the next three seasons.

In his senior season, Boggs captured Florida State's second national championship, winning the one-meter crown. Now that he had capped of his collegiate career at the top of the mountain, it was time to test himself against the rest of the world.

After narrowly missing out on the 1972 Games in Munich, Boggs was determined to be on the 1976 team in Montreal. Between the 1972 Olympic Trials and the '76 Games, Boggs won 17 national and international titles, including the 1973 and 1975 World Championships. In four years he had gone from being a spectator to being the favorite for gold.

Going into the final round of the 1976 Olympics, Boggs was well in command of the springboard competition. He nailed his final dive, a 2 1/2 somersault with a twist, and when he came back to the surface and saw the judges' scores, Boggs knew he had the gold medal wrapped up.

"Everything you've ever dreamed of is right there. Even if no one else knows, you know it will always be there," Boggs added. "When the national anthem plays and you're presented your medal, you feel like the king of the world."

Boggs went on to become the president of US Diving and was inducted into the International Swimming Hall of Fame in 1985. The Phil Boggs Awards is present annually at the US Aquatic Sports Convention, honoring those who have achieved individual excellence in diving and have given back a part of themselves to insure the sport's success continues. Boggs died on July 4, 1990, in Miami, Fla.
