The Seminole women's golf program has a long tradition of success. Since the spring of 1990, the Seminoles have won nine team championships – an average of nearly one a year. Equally as impressive as the nearly 60 top-five individual finishes the squad has compiled is just over 100 tournaments.

The Seminoles claimed the championship of the Ryder/Florida State championship during the Spring of 2002. During the event, All-America candidate Kristin Tamulis finished second in the individual standings to mark her third top-five finish of the 2001-02 season.

Many Seminole golfers have made their mark on the Seminole record book during their careers. Led by two-time All-ACC selection Karen Stupples, who won two individual tournament championships during her career, a total of six Florida State golfers have earned individual medallist honors at six different tournaments. Stupples earned All-America second-team honors in 1995.

Since the beginning of the 1990 season, 14 Seminole golfers have posted top-five individual finishes. Current Seminole assistant coach Amy Bond, who completed her career in 1999, captured medallist honors at the Ryder/Florida championships and led Florida State to the team title in the event. Bond earned All-ACC honors that season. Tamulis finished second at the Ryder/Florida Championship in leading the Seminoles to the team title in 2002.

Florida State has played in the NCAA Regionals in each of the last two seasons and made eight NCAA appearances from 1991-99 including seven straight from 1991-97. Florida State played in the NCAA Tournament and made eight regional appearances during the decade of the 1990's.

Florida State's 1981 AIAW National Championship Team.

1981 National Championship Team

The Florida State women's golf team won the 1981 AIAW National Championship with a three-stroke victory over the University of Georgia. The Seminoles finished the tournament with a 1,220 four-round score to best the Lady Bulldogs who finished the event with a 1,223 score.

Florida State entered the final round of the championship with a one-stroke lead over Georgia but had to rally to win the event. The Seminoles stumbled on the front nine during the final day and fell behind by a mere two strokes. The turn, however, proved to be Florida State's turn of fortunes as four of the five Seminole golfers birdied the 17th hole and Florida State was on its way to its first national championship.

The Seminoles' national championship team featured three of the top all-time golfers in Florida State history. Lisa Young, Florida State's finisher during the 1981 national championship, earned All-America honors that season along with Michele Guilbault. Barb Bunkowsky, who earned All-America honors in 1982, finished 14th in the national championship field as she birdied the final five holes of event to help lead the Seminoles to the title.

ACC/SEC Challenge

Florida State will host the third annual ACC/SEC Challenge Sept. 27-29 at the Raven Course at the Sandestin Golf and Beach Resort in Destin, Fla.

In only its two short years of existence, the ACC/SAEC Challenge has become one of the top fall events on the women's collegiate schedule. Florida State will host three of the top 10 teams in the 2002 NCAA Championship – Duke, Auburn and Florida – in the high-powered 13-team event.

Nestled between the white, sandy beaches of the Gulf and the sheltered inlets of the Choctawhatchee Bay, Sandestin Beach and Gold Resort is a paradise unto itself.

Sandestin has emerged as the premier golf destination on the Gulf Coast. It features four championship courses with its jewel – the Raven Course – hosting one of the tournament jewels in women's collegiate Golf – the ACC/SEC Challenge. The Raven Course weaves its way through the resort's thick pine trees as one of the most picturesque courses in the Southeast according to course designer Robert Trent Jones, Jr.

Marked by lush landscaping, dramatic water features and varying bunker patterns providing each hole with a personality all its own. The Raven Golf Club is unique for the way it maximizes the landscape – the course looks different from morning to late afternoon. The Raven measures 6,900 yards from the championship tees, play to a par 71 and features water on 11 of the 18 holes.

2002 Seminole Summer Golf

Women's Western Open

Seminole senior Kristin Tamulis and juniors Alison Curdt, Carrie Sordel and Katie Quinney played in the 102nd Women's Western Amateur Championship June 19-22, 2002. The Women's Western Golf Association is one of the oldest and most revered golf organizations in the United States.

Tamulis, a contestant in the championship flight, also enjoyed an outstanding tournament as she advanced to the round of 32.

Curdt was the top seed in the first flight and lost in a play-off to get to the championship flight. She won three of four matches during the tournament and was a finalist in her flight.

Sordel and Quinney both played well in stroke play during the tournament.

Women's North and South Championship

Seminole senior Kristin Tamulis and junior Carrie Sordel competed in the 100th Women's North and South Amateur Championship at Pinehurst, June 23-28.

The North and South Amateur Championship is the longest consecutive-running amateur golf tournament in the United States. Originally named the United North and South Men's Championship, it was designed to draw golfers to a five-year old resort named Pinehurst, as well as foster relations between two regions still recovering from the Civil War.

U.S. Open

Seminole senior Kristin Tamulis played in the 57th United States Women's Open Championship at Prairie Dunes Country Club July 4-5, 2002. Tamulis was one of 15 amateurs (of 149 total players) who participated in the event. She earned her way into the field during a local qualifying tournament at the Naples (Fla.) Beach Hotel Golf Course and in two sectional qualifying rounds at the Country Club at Heathrow (Fla.). Tamulis recorded a three-over par 75 in the local qualifying tournament and shot a two-round total of 149 at the sectional qualifying tournament.

The U.S. Women's Open began in 1946 and is the longest running event currently on the LPGA Tour. It is one of the LPGA's four major championships.

Tamulis realized the third best stroke improvement in the field during the second round of the event but did not make the cut as the field was pared down for the final two rounds of the most prestigious tournament in women's golf.

Tamulis carded a five-over par 75 in the second round and finished in a tie for 135th with a two-round score of 158. She missed the cut by a mere 10 strokes. Tamulis played well in round two as she improved on her first round score by eight strokes. Only one other golfer, Emilee Klein of the United States, improved her second-round score by more than Tamulis. Klein shot a second round 71 after finishing with a score of 80 in Thursday's first round. Tamulis carded a first round 83.

Tamulis finished the first major event of her career two strokes ahead of Hall-of-Famer Nancy Lopez. Lopez finished with a two-day total of 160.

U.S. Amateur Open

Senior Kristin Tamulis and juniors Alison Curdt and Katie Quinney played in the 2002 U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship at Sleepy Hollow Golf and Country Club in Scarborough, N.Y. Aug. 12-17. All three golfers earned the right to play in the event during sectional qualifying and will be playing in the event for the first time during their careers. The trio of Seminoles represented three of the 147 golfers in the combination stroke (36 holes) and match (six rounds) play format championship.

Tamulis qualified July 19 at the Tequesta Country Club in Tequesta, Fla. She shot a 73 and finished in a tie for fourth place along with Quinney (Atlantic Beach, Fla.). Tamulis and Quinney were two of eight golfers that qualified for the U.S. Amateur from that site.

Curdt (St. Louis, Mo.) was the first Seminole to qualify for the event as she shot a 74 and won a playoff against two other players at Blue Hills Country Club in Kansas City, Mo.

July 15. Curdt finished the event in a tie for fourth and won the playoff round to earn one of the four spots from that site.

Quinney has also enjoyed a successful season with a recent strong outing at the First Coast Women's Championship at the Raddison Ponce de Leon Golf and Conference Resort in St. Augustine, Fla. She led the event after the first round, was second after 36 holes and finished in second with a 54-hole total of 221.

Quinney fell to

Ellen Port in the first round of match play at the 102nd U.S. Women's Open at Sleepy Hollow Country Club. Quinney had advanced through the first two rounds of stroke play but was defeated 2-up by Port.

Seminole teammates Kristin Tamulis and Alison Curdt weren't as fortunate as Quinney and did not survive the 64-player cut after two rounds of stroke play.

Kristin Tamulis begins the 2003 season looking to become the first women's golfer in Seminole history to earn All-ACC honors three times.

Louise Wright earned All-ACC honors in 2001 during her senior season.

A Closer Look — The Atlantic Coast Conference

The Atlantic Coast Conference boasts a rich tradition of success in women's golf. Each of the six teams in the ACC is considered to be among the best in the nation and together form the top women's golf conference in the nation.

Florida State joined the ACC and began competing for the conference championship in 1992. The Seminoles have been one of the most successful women's golf teams in the league since their arrival. The Seminoles have finished second in the league championship three times (1992, 1995 and 1999) and finished third in 2001. Debbie Dillman was named the ACC Coach of the Year in 1992.

Current senior Kristin Tamulis begins the 2003 season bidding to become the first women's golfer in Seminole history to earn All-ACC honors three times during her career. She is one of only two players in school history to earn All-ACC honors twice as she was voted one of the leagues best in both 2001 and 2002.

Florida State University finished in fourth place at the 14th annual Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament at the Salem Glen Country Club in Clemmons, N.C. in 2002. Tamulis finished in a tie for fourth place in the individual standings marking the second consecutive season she has finished in the top four in the ACC championship. She finished in third place in last year's event.

The Seminoles finished fourth in the team standings as they finished with a 911 team score. Their 911 score was their third best tournament score of the spring season. Florida State has finished in the top four in each of their last four events.

FLORIDA STATE'S ALL-ACC SELECTIONS

Tamulis Earns All-ACC Honors for Second Consecutive Season

Kristin Tamulis earned All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors for the second consecutive season in 2002 as selected by a vote of the league's six head coaches. It marked the second consecutive season Tamulis had earned the honor making her only the second women's golfer in Seminole history to earn All-ACC honors twice during her career. She is joined by only former Seminole Karen Stupples who was named All-ACC in 1994 and 1995.
