SEMINOLES IN THE PROS

Tiffany Faucette won the 1997 McDonald's Open while on the LPGA tour.

This Is Florida State Women's Golf

The Seminole women's golf program has a long tradition of success. Since the spring of 1990, the Seminoles have won 11 team championships – an average of nearly one a year. Equally as impressive is the more than 70 top-five individual finishes the squad has compiled in just over 100 tournaments.

Florida State won the championship at the Ann Rhoads/University of Alabama Intercollegiate during the fall of 2003. The Seminoles claimed the championship of the Ryder/Florida Championship during the spring of 2003. During the event, All-American Kristin Tamulis finished first in the individual standings to mark her first of two career individual wins.

Many Seminole golfers have made their mark on the Seminole record book during their careers. Led by two-time All-ACC selection Karen Stupples, who won two individual tournament championships during her career, a total of seven Florida State golfers have earned individual medalist honors at nine different tournaments. Stupples earned All-America second-team honors in 1995.

Since the beginning of the 1990 season, 20 Seminole golfers have posted top-five individual finishes. Current Seminole assistant coach Amy Bond, who completed her career in 1999, captured medalist honors at the Ryder/Florida Championship and led Florida State to the team title in the event. Bond earned All-ACC honors that season. Tamulis finished second at the Ryder/Florida Championship in leading the Seminoles to the team title in 2002.

Florida State has played in the NCAA Regionals in each of the last four seasons and made eight NCAA appearances from 1991-99 including seven straight from 1991-97. Florida State played in the NCAA Tournament and made eight regional appearances during the decade of the 1990's.

1981 National Championship Team

The Florida State women's golf team won the 1981 A.I.A.W. National Championship with a three-stroke victory over the University of Georgia. The Seminoles finished the tournament with a 1,220 four-round score to best the Lady Bulldogs who finished the event with a 1,223 score.

Florida State entered the final round of the championship with a one-stroke lead over Georgia but had to rally to win the event. The Seminoles stumbled on the front nine during the final day and fell behind by a mere two strokes. The turn, however, proved to be Florida State's turn of fortune as four of the five Seminole golfers birdied the 17th hole and Florida State was on its way to its first national championship.

The Seminoles' national championship team featured three of the top all-time golfers in Florida State history. Lisa Young, Florida State's finisher during the 1981 national championship, earned All-America honors that season along with Michele Guibault. Barb Bunkowsky, who earned All-America honors in 1982, finished 14th in the national championship field as she birdied the final five holes of the event to help lead the Seminoles to the title.

Seminole Golf Hall of Fame

In order to qualify as a member of the Seminole Golf Hall of Fame, Seminole golfers must have either won a PGA or LPGA event, won a NCAA individual championship or won a USGA amateur championship.

Jane Geddes played on Florida State's 1981 A.I.A.W. National Championship team and has been one of the top pros on the LPGA tour.

The ACC – A Closer Look

2007 ACC Women's Golf

The Atlantic Coast Conference boasts a rich tradition of success in women's golf. Each of the nine teams in the ACC is considered to be among the best in the nation and together form the top women's golf conference in the nation. Florida State joined the ACC and began competing for the conference championship in 1992. The Seminoles have been one of the most successful women's golf teams in the league since their arrival. The Seminoles have finished second in the league championship three times (1992, 1995 and 1999) and finished third in 2001. Debbie Dillman was named the ACC Coach of the Year in 1992.

Florida State is one of four ACC teams to have participated in the NCAA Championship in three of the last four years. The Seminoles finished 19th in the nation during the 2004 season and 16th during the 2006 season. Caroline Westrup finished in fourth place and led the Seminole women's golf team to a fifth place finish at the 18th annual Atlantic Coast Conference Championship at Pinehurst No. 8 at the famed Pinehurst Golf Resort in 2006. Westrup's finished marked the sixth consecutive season a Seminole has finished in the top 10 of the individual standings at the conference championship. Duke won its 11th consecutive championship as it led the event wire-to-wire and defeated second place Virginia by 19 strokes. The Blue Devils have won the event each year since 1996. Virginia finished second and was followed by Wake Forest in third, Maryland in fourth and the Seminoles in fifth place. Duke's Amanda Blumenherst, a freshman, earned individual medalist honors as she defeated Leah Wigger of Virginia by seven strokes. She won the event with a three-day total of four-under par 212. Westrup rebounded from a disappointing second round to card and even-par 72 over the final 18 holes of the tournament. She played each of her first 10 holes of the day at par and finished with two birdies and two bogies over her final eight holes. Westrup carded four birdies and 11 bogies during the 54 holes of her first ACC Championship to finish at seven-over par. She has now finished in the top four of each of her last four events and four of the five events she has played in this spring. Sophomore Whitney Brummett earned her second consecutive top-15 finish as she carded a 76 in the final round for a total of 231 and a tied for 15th placing in the individual standings. She carded a pair of 76's (first and third rounds) and helped the Seminoles have three golfers finish in the top 15 of the individual standings. Brummett finished tied with Seminole junior Jaclyn Burch who earned her second career top-15 finish in her third career ACC Championship. Burch finished with a 237 total after carding scores of 75 and 73 in the first and second rounds.

Katie Quinney earned All-ACC honors in 2004 as the Seminoles finished in fifth in the ACC Championship.

Kristin Tamulis is the only three-time All-ACC honoree in Florida State history. She earned the honor in 2001, 2002 and 2003.

GOOLF COURSES

The Seminoles enjoy the finest golf courses in the state of Florida for both tournaments and practice.

Quality practice facilities, training center and championship style golf are crucial to your improvement in the game of golf. The athletic administration and the support of the boosters at Florida State have helped build a first-class practice complex to promote the development of the current and future Seminole golfers. The improvements and enhancements of the golf course and its facilities will provide Florida State with one of the finest training complexes in the country.

Main photo: Capital City Country Club is one of the oldest and most historic courses in northern Florida. Its characteristics include many scenic vistas and numerous undulating hills which make each hole a challenge.

Inset photo left: The golf course at Golden Eagle Country Club has developed into one of the most challenging courses the Seminoles play on a constant rotation. The course was designed by Tom Fazio.

Inset photo right: One of the newest courses in the state of Florida, SouthWood was designed by Fred Couples and opened in 2002. One of the most scenic layouts in the state, it is quickly maturing into a championship course that will soon host regional championships and conference tournaments.

Killearn Country Club has three nine hole courses that are played in three eighteen hole combinations. These courses are home to several championship events each year and have hosted the PGA Classic and the Sprint Central. The fairways vary from tree lined to open, the greens are fast and a lake comes into play which challenges each player on each hole.

This is Tallahassee

Among low, rolling hills, down moss-draped canopy roads, within picturesque historical districts, and across seas of flowering azaleas lies a magical part of the Sunshine State – Tallahassee – Florida’s capital city. With its intriguing combination of power-play politics and classic character splashed with a twist of Southern beauty and charm, Tallahassee is a genteel Southern belle with good manners, old plantation homes and y’all-come hospitality – a side of Florida few expect to find.

Tallahassee is famous for its "canopy roads," streets and thoroughfares lined with 200-year-old oaks draped with Spanish moss.

THIS IS TALLAHASSEE

With the Gulf of Mexico just 25 miles south and the Georgia border only 14 miles north, Tallahassee rests between the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains and the juncture of Florida's panhandle and peninsula in an area known as "The Big Bend." Nearer in miles to Atlanta than to Miami, Tallahassee more closely resembles its Georgia neighbor than Florida in topography, climate and lifestyle.

Like the city itself, the story of how Tallahassee was chosen as the state capital is rich in history. In 1823, two explorers set out — one on horseback from St. Augustine and the other by boat from Pensacola — to establish a permanent, central location for the seat of government. The two met at a beautiful site that the Creek and Seminole Indians called "tallahassee" — derived from the words "talwa," meaning town, and "ahassee," meaning old. This historic meeting place remains Florida's capital today.

The New Capitol building rises at the center of Tallahassee's downtown as a sleek modern structure, juxtaposed next to the Old Capitol, built in the more classic domed style. A gallery atop the 22-story New Capitol provides a sweeping view of the hilly city and its tree-lined streets. From it, you can see all the way to Georgia, 20 miles away.

Around the capitol complex, a 10-block historic district spreads, preserving the town's gracious old homes along a linear park and holding a historic inn, bars and restaurants patronized by senators and sophomores alike. With no shortage of culture, downtown also offers museums, theater and art galleries. Artists have turned the old warehouses of Downtown Industrial Park into the studios and cafes of Railroad Square. The Museum of Florida History, nearby, is highly acclaimed for its scan of the state's past, and The Mary Brogan Museum of Art & Science, along with changing art exhibits, brings learning to a kid's level with hands-on exhibits. Other sightseeing favorites include the floral masterpiece of Alfred B. Maclay State Gardens, Bradley's Country Store, FAMU Black Archives and the Tallahassee Antique Car Museum.

The area surrounding Tallahassee reveals numerous other historic and archaeological treasures, such as De Soto State Archaeological and Historical Site, Lake Jackson State Archaeological Site, Mission San Luis, Natural Bridge Battlefield and San Marcos de Apalache. Visitors can explore prehistoric Florida at the Museum of Florida History where they are greeted by a giant 12,000-year-old mastodon pulled from nearby Wakulla Springs.

On the shores of Wakulla Springs, alligators still laze under the watchful eyes of "snake birds" perched on twisted cypress trees. The site of many underwater scenes in "Tarzan" movies, it's one of the world's deepest freshwater springs. Glass-bottomed boat tours across these mystical waters are available.

Nearby small towns offer fascinating excursions to places such as Pebble Hill Plantation, Florida Caverns State Park, Monticello Opera House and St. George Island.

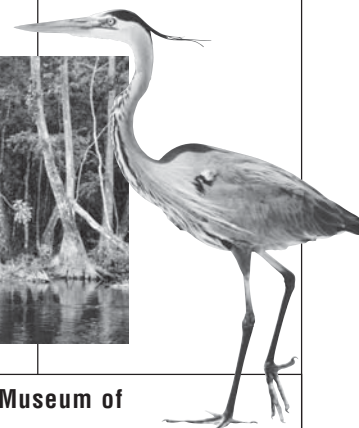

Donald L. Tucker Center

The Donald L. Tucker Center is a multipurpose convention and entertainment facility featuring a 12,100-seat arena, luxury suites and club seats and over 52,000 sq. ft. of meeting and exhibition space plus an arena view restaurant, Spotlight Grille. The Civic Center hosts a wide variety of concerts, family shows, Broadway shows, ice shows and sporting events including FSU basketball and Tallahassee Titans' football.

It is easy to understand why over one million people a year flock to the Donald L. Tucker Center, what with the varied array of attractions it offers. Some people go to the Tucker Center to enjoy the sounds of rock, country, pop and urban concerts. Some go for the thrills of basketball, rodeos and three-ring spectaculars. While others come for conventions, banquets, expositions or consumer and trade shows.

Located downtown on Pensacola Street, the Tucker Center is only two blocks from the capitol building.

A picturesque southern city, Tallahassee is the perfect place to earn a college degree and play top-notch collegiate golf.

Climate

Tallahassee has the mild, moist climate characteristics of the Gulf States and experiences a subtropical summer similar to the rest of Florida. In contrast to the Florida peninsula, however, the panhandle, of which Tallahassee is a part, experiences four seasons.

1. Forest Dunes Country Club, Roscommon, Mich.
2. The Palmer Course at Stonewall Resort, Roanoke, Va.

3. Southwood Golf Course, Tallahassee, Fla.

The debut of Southwood, which held its grand opening in 2002, gives Tallahassee a course it can call excellent. The Southwood Golf Course is the keystone to a 3,200-acre development located on the eastern edge of Tallahassee. Designed by the team of Fred Couples and Gene Bates, the course is on an uncommon piece of land which is a picnic setting of trees broken by soft slopes and cozy coves. The course itself is located on over 175 acres and was created within a design that gracefully captures the genteel feel of the land. The holes play before the various scenes of a former plantation, moving from a jaunt around a wetland area through a thicket of pine trees into an open meadow. The trademarks of the course are the magnificent oak trees that stud the landscape. The topography speaks loudly of the untapped potential of golf in Tallahassee.

"Fred Couples and design partner Gene Bates created a new buzz in the local golf scene with the grand opening of the 7,172-yard Southwood Golf Club in 2002. The semiprivate layout is the centerpiece of a 3,200-acre St. Joe/Arvida housing development. The land seems handcrafted for a course, as the topography rises and falls elegantly, creating some tough, but scenic, holes. Golf Magazine named it one of the best courses in the nation to open in 2002. Couples said it has the potential to be a 'premier course in the Southeast.'"

Killearn hosted the Tallahassee Open 20 times and LPGA's Centel Classic for four, giving it quite a tournament history. Designed by William Amick, the original 18 (the south and east nines) plays to 6,998 yards. Many pros came to fear the fourth hole on the south, a 467-yard par 4. From the two back tees, players must lay up short of water that threatens the fairway, leaving a long iron to the green."
