

Season PREVIEW

Senior Jamie Kuhn has been a great contributor to this team in the past three years. Her work on SAAC has helped motivate our players to continue their great work in the community. She is a real student of the game and a true perfectionist that will carry her far in golf and in life.

Junior Macarena Silva spent part of the summer of 2009 in Tallahassee before returning to her native Chile and competing in several national events. She represented her country in the World Championships last year and played her best golf in the spring semester of 2009. A very smart player, she is very tuned into the strategic part of the game and her strength lies in her mental toughness, very consistent striker of the ball who will contend for many titles this year.

Sophomore Hannah Thomson is coming off a year that included knee surgery. She spent most of the summer of 2009 rehabbing and has returned this year as a stronger and more physically fit athlete. She is definitely stronger than last year and striking the ball very consistently. Her approach to the game of golf is much improved and she thinks her way around a golf course as well as any player at Florida State in recent memory. Thomson should be in contention for individual medalist honors quite often this year.

Sophomore Whitney Wenglasz played well as a freshman for the Seminoles and will look to challenge for a spot in the line-up each week. She will definitely play a big part in the Seminoles' success during the spring season.

Whitney Wenglasz

Jamie Kuhn

Junior Andrea Kaelin brings some national experience to a relatively young team. She was a member of the two-time Junior College National Championship team at Redlands Junior College. She will compete for a spot in the starting line-up immediately. She is a positive person and encourages everyone around her.

Freshman Gen King is going through some swing changes and will have to work her way into the line-up. One of the most positive players on the team, she will be fun to watch over the next four years."

Freshman Jessica Negron has been a great addition to the squad this year. She has a great blend of ball striking ability and finesse around the greens. She has a great ability to not take herself too serious and stays emotional level on the course.

Freshman Mary Beth Ramsay is one of those players that has a nose for the hole. She simply plays the game without over complicating it. While she is not the longest player, she hits the ball very consistently and has a magical touch around the greens. She will have a strong chance to move into the starting line-up as she gets stronger and grows in the game of golf.

Senior Spotlight with Lacey Agnew and surprise people this season?

"I think some of our experienced players will show great things in the fall and I can see our freshmen stepping up as well. I am very excited about the play of Jessica Negron and am really looking forward to playing alongside of her in the line-up. I feel that she has the demeanor and the maturity to be a successful golfer on the collegiate level. I am also excited about the potential of Gen King. I can also see her stepping into the line-up and showing that she is a very good golfer."

How have the newcomers adjusted to college life and golf?

"Anytime you make a change there is going to be a transition period. I think each of the newcomers on our team has done a great job of acclimating themselves to life as a college student in the classroom and on the golf course. We, as upperclassmen, have really enjoyed working with the new players to make sure they are able to quickly become comfortable with their surroundings. They are a good group of people as well as golfers and we are all confident that they will be successful here at Florida State."

Which event this season are you most excited about?

"I am really excited about our first event of the spring season in Puerto Rico. I have played that course twice and am really excited about playing it for a third time during my career. I am hopeful that I have learned a lot and my experiences will help me and our team do well in the event. It is a great course and a beautiful layout; I am confident that our team can be successful in the event."

Of the courses the team will play in 2010, which is your favorite?

"The Lady Puerto Rico Classic is one of the events that I have really enjoyed playing during my career because the course is well suited for my game. I feel like I have played well there and am looking forward to playing there again this spring. The course is well maintained, the hotel is the nicest one we stay at all year and they make us feel like celebrities while we are there. Our team usually does well at the Lady Puerto Rico Classic and we plan on bringing home a trophy from the event."

What are the most important things the team has to do in order to make it back to the NCAA championship finals?

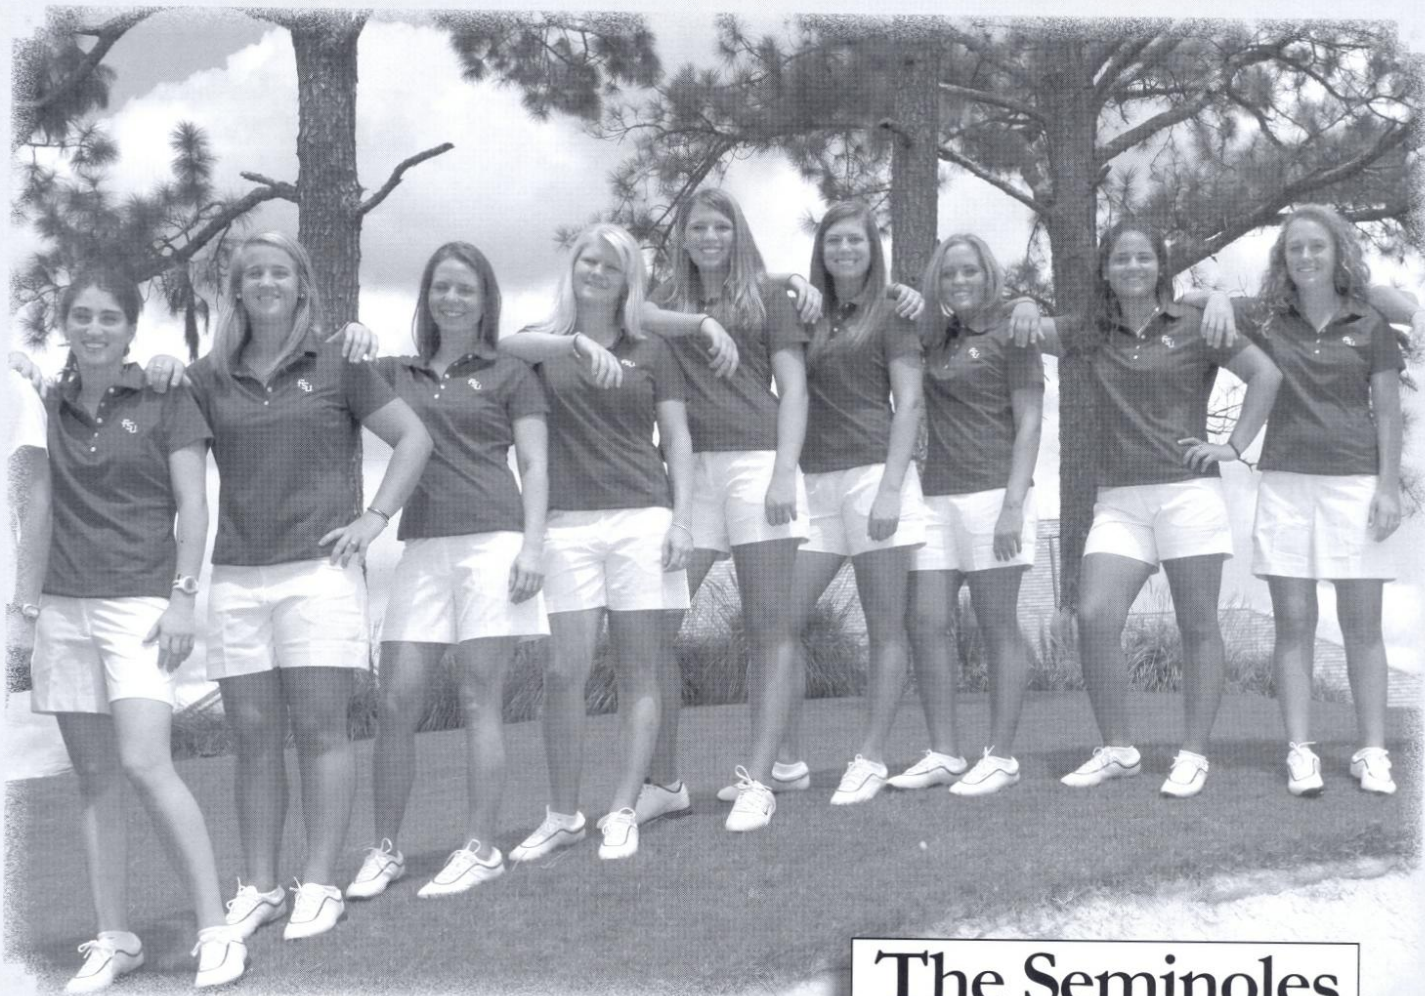

"I think the most important thing we have to do as players, and as a team, is to believe in one another. We have to trust that we are all going to play as smart and as well as we possibly can and never take a hole off – not mentally or physically. Each of us has to have the confidence in each other that we will always do what is best for the team whether we are at practice, playing in an event or away from the course. That confidence has to be in each member of our team everyday and in every way. With that confidence in each other, we also have to have complete confidence in ourselves and trust ourselves and in each of the decisions we make as individuals. We have to believe in ourselves as individuals and as good teammates. I look forward to seeing how well we can all play with that supreme confidence in each other. We know we can all play golf and know that we can all compete at the highest level. We just have to believe that we can reach the very high goals that we have set for each other as teammates."

Director of GOLF OPERATIONS

TREY JONES

Director of Golf Operations

7th Season at Florida State • North Alabama '91

In his first season as Director of Golf Operations at Florida State, and his seventh season as head coach of the men's team, Trey Jones has taken on an expanded role for the 2010 season, bringing his coaching expertise to a whole new level with the management of the women's team. Jones has earned the reputation as one of the nation's top coaches as he has helped develop Florida State into one of the elite programs in collegiate golf. The 2008 ACC Men's Coach of the Year, Jones has his Seminoles regarded as one of the most competitive teams in the nation as evidenced by their four consecutive NCAA Championship appearances, 2008 ACC Championship and top finishes while annually playing the toughest schedules in all of college golf.

Building championship teams and elevating those teams onto the national stage is nothing new to Jones who has earned four conference coach of the year awards and who has led eight of his 13 teams at the Division I level to the NCAA Tournament. His teams consistently hold prominent places in the national rankings, are adept at winning conference championships and are annually among the top producers of All-American and all-conference performers.

Jones has also coached many of the top golfers in the illustrious history of the Florida State program. He coached Jonas Blixt, a two-time All-American and two-time All-ACC selection and Matt Savage, who also earned All-American honors and was a three-time All-ACC selection and is currently coaching Drew Kittleson who played in both the Master's and US Open Championships in 2009 after finishing as the runner-up in the 2009 US Amateur Championship.

"Trey Jones helped me realize my potential as a collegiate golfer and helped make all of my teammates better golfers and competitors," said Blixt. "He believed in me as much as I believed in him throughout my career at Florida State. Coach Jones helped make me the golfer I am today and helped me reach my goals – graduating from Florida State University and becoming a professional golfer."

Jones was named the ACC Coach of the Year, led Florida State to its first ever ACC Championship and helped the team achieve a national ranking as high as No. 7 in 2008. The Seminoles also played in the NCAA Tournament for the third consecutive season, won three team championships, had a player earn All-America First Team honors for the first time since 1995 and had two players earn All-ACC recognition.

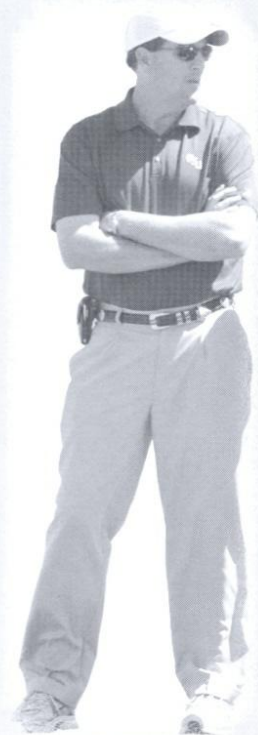

Florida State has taken its rightful place among the nation's top teams and the origins of its recent success can be traced to Jones' arrival in Tallahassee in 2004. He is responsible for attracting nationally ranked recruiting classes as well as upgrading the Seminoles' schedule to where it is ranked among the nation's toughest on an annual basis. FSU plays in the nation's most high-profile events and the most prestigious courses in the country each season.

Jones is a 19-year veteran of the collegiate coaching ranks. He was the head men's coach and Director of Golf Operations at Georgia State for eight years (1996-2003) before becoming only the fifth coach in the history of the Seminole program in 2004. Prior to his career at Georgia State, Jones was an assistant coach at Wallace State Junior College (1992-95) and his alma mater North Alabama (1991). Jones developed his teaching, coaching and recruiting philosophies as he helped mold those programs into national contenders.

Jones has been named the top coach in three different conferences – the Atlantic Coast, Atlantic Sun and Trans America Athletic Conference.

Jones has had the biggest impact on the Seminole program in the area of recruiting during his first six years in Tallahassee. Florida State's recruiting class ranked as the fourth best in the nation in 2007, the fifth best in 2008, the sixth best in 2005 and among the nation's top 15 in 2006.

Jones accepted his first head coaching job at Georgia State in 1995 and immediately began to assemble one of the dominant men's golf programs in the southeastern United States. He was responsible for the program in its entirety including recruiting, coaching, fundraising, public relations, strength and conditioning, scheduling and the team's budget.

He led the Panthers to a national ranking as high as 20th during the 2000 season, making the golf team only the second Georgia State team to earn a top-20 national ranking. In 2001, Georgia State won the Trans Atlantic Athletic Conference champions by an astonishing 41 strokes. Following the conference championship, the Panthers earned their third consecutive NCAA Regional Championship appearance.

Under Jones' leadership, Georgia State amassed 91 wins over SEC teams and 33 wins over ACC opponents from 1999-2000. During that period, Georgia State earned 23 victories over top 25 opponents. With Jones, the Panthers played in four NCAA Regional Championships (1999, 2000, 2001 and 2003) and the NCAA Championship in 2000. He led the Panthers to eight tournament titles and to the first three Atlantic Sun conference titles in school history and earned conference Coach of the Year honors each time (1998, 2000 and 2001). He is one of only three coaches in A-Sun history to earn the award three or more times during his career. Jones coached eight all-conference selections, the 2001 conference Player of the Year (Allen Thompson), the 2001 conference Rookie of the Year (Bradley Beverly), the only four-time all-conference player in school history (Jack Croyle, 1999-2001) and the only regional All-American in school history (Ty Harris, 2003).

Jones was also instrumental in developing a comprehensive support network for the Georgia State golf program. He founded the Panther Golf Club in 1998 to support both the men's and women's golf programs. The Panther Club became the largest booster club on the Georgia State's campus as it raised an average of $40,000 a year during his tenure. He has done the same at Florida State as he has been the driving force in developing the Seminole Masters – an exclusive group of individuals who have committed themselves to providing the resources for excellence for FSU golf.

Jones earned two varsity letters under head coach Billy Gamble during his collegiate playing career. He was a member of the Lions' golf team in 1990 and 1991. He also earned two varsity letters in golf at Wallace State in 1987 and 1988.

Jones has been an active member of the Collegiate Golf Coaches Association since 1993. He is currently on the board as the Division I Director for the East Region and has served as Chair of the District 3 South Regional NCAA Selection Committee in 2001 and 2002. Jones was a representative on the District 3 South NCAA Selection Committee from 1999-2002.

Jones earned his bachelor's degree in health and physical education with a minor in business administration from North Alabama in 1991.

Jones is married to the former Cathy McVeigh, who is the coordinator of financial aid for student-athletes at Florida State. The couple are the proud parents of a daughter, Jordan (8) and a son, Lawrence Andrew (4).

Trey Jones and Assistant Coach Chris Malloy will also work with the women's team this season.

Femina Perfecta Award

Femina Perfecta translated means the “complete woman” and it was the motto that appeared on the school seal when the institution was the Florida State College for Women. The “complete woman” was expected to possess the traits of Vires (strength), Artes (knowledge) and Mores (tradition), symbolized by the three torches of that seal. The Femina Perfecta Awards were established in 2005 by Dr. Billie Jones and Dr. Janet Wells to honor a female athlete in each sport, chosen by her teammates, who is not necessarily the most intellectual, fastest, strongest, top scorer, funniest, etc., but is the one who is invaluable to the team and who always makes a difference.
