FIRST-CLASS SOCCER FACILITIES

THE SEMINOLE SOCCER COMPLEX is one of the nation's top collegiate soccer facilities. At a cost of $5.5 million, the 1,500 seat facility not only serves as the home stadium for the FSU soccer team but it also houses all the coaches' offices, home and visitor locker rooms, a training room and a video room in the 15,000 square foot Mary Anne Stiles & Barry Smith Team Building. The intimate setting is a great atmosphere to watch soccer as FSU has ranked among the nation's attendance leaders for five straight seasons and the facilities' top playing surface is a dream for any athlete.

When you talk about facilities at Florida State, the student-athlete experience isn't just limited to the Seminole Soccer Complex. Student-athlete support services are located in the 176,000 square foot brand new Moore Athletic Center which also houses the 15,000 square foot Roger Holler Champions Training Complex and the 15,000 square foot Don Fauls Athletic Training Room. The Moore Center also is home to FSU's athletic academic support staff and the student services and personal development staff. The centralized location of all FSU's student-athlete support services allows our athletes access to all the support they will need under one roof.

When a student-athlete comes to Florida State to play soccer they not only play for a proven winner and in front of huge crowds but they also get to work and play in the nation's finest facilities.
