ear, but far from the glaring strips of neon amuse ment, and the castles and crowds of Disney, lies another magical place in the Sunshine State one of pow-wows, plantations, politics and great pride. Often described as "The Other Florida" with its deeprooted history, rolling hills, canopy roads of moss-draped oaks, cool climate and Southern-style hospitality; it is a Florida few have seen. It is Tallahassee — Florida with a Southern accent.

Best known as Florida's capital, Tallahassee is an intimate neo-metropolitan city where the power of state government, the academic and the artistic are complemented by subtle. old-fashioned charm. It is the perfect twoor three-day diversion for the more than 41 million annual visitors to Florida and 13 million residents.

Tallahassee touts a menagerie of sights including one of the world's deepest freshwater springs, site of America's first Christmas, a wildlife habitat, Capitol buildings, fascinating museums of history, sprawling plantations, highly acclaimed fishing and hunting adventures and nearby beaches. Spirited area festivals range from celebrations of Tallahassee's spectacular spring and swamp stomps to genuine rattlesnake roundups and seafood festivals.

Accentuating Tallahassee's Southern persona are lush rolling hills, likened to the seven hills of Rome, and five "official" canopy roads of patriarch oaks. The fertile, rich soil and four distinct, yet pleasant, seasons breed floral brilliance and natural vitality year-round.

Like the city itself, the story of how Tallahassee was chosen as the state capital is rich in history. In 1823, two explorers set out — one on horseback from St. Augustine and the other by boat from Pensacola — to find a permanent, central location for the Legislature to convene. The two met at a beautiful site that the Creek and Seminole Indians called "tallahassee" — derived from > the words "talwa" meaning town and "ahasee" meaning old. The rendezvous point remains Florida's capital.

The "old town" has undergone many changes, but one thing remains the same — it is still a government town fiercely proud and dedicated to preserving its heritage. The Capitol buildings, both old and new, epitomize Tallahassee's perseverance.

The 22nd floor of the New Capitol provides a panoramic scope of a sophisticated Southern city awash in a sea of flowering azaleas, snowy dogwoods, towering pines, fragrant magnolias, and hundreds of shimmering lakes, springs, swamps, rivers and sink holes. Special legislative viewing galleries are open during the legislative session.

Below, in the shade of giant live oaks, proudly stands the Old Capitol, originally constructed in 1845 and restored to its 1902 splendor complete with red-andwhite candy-striped awnings, a dome adorned with stained glass, antique furnishings and political memorabilia.

With the Gulf of Mexico just 20 miles south and the Georgia border only 14 miles north, Tallahassee rests between the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains and the juncture of Florida's panhandle and peninsula. Nearer in miles to Atlanta than to Miami, Tallahassee more closely resembles its Southern neighbors than Florida in topography, climate and lifestyle.

Across from the Old Capitol are the 40-foot twin granite towers of the Vietnam Veteran's Memorial, and the blue stone Union Bank, Florida's oldest surviving financial institution. The nostalgic Old Town Trolley, a replica turn-of-the-century street car, carries passengers through restored Adams Street Commons numerous other historical downtown shops for free unheard of even 100 years ago.

Minutes from downtown lies the Governor's Mansion, which resembles the home of Florida's military hero Andrew Jackson; and the 52-acre natural animal habitat and 1880s farm of the Tallahassee Museum of History and Natural Science, which provide the rare chance to walk and talk with native Florida animals.

Tallahassee remains firmly linked with the past as evidenced by the unearthed 1539 winter encampment of Spanish Hernando de Soto, the site of the first Christmas celebration in America. Visitors travel back through time as they stand in the shadow of a giant 12,000-year-old American Mastodon at the Museum of Florida History or explore other historical spots including The Knott House that Rhymes, The Columns, San Luis Mission, Lake Jackson State Archaeological Site, Natural Bridge Battlefield, First Presbyterian Church, Brokaw-McDougall House, Goodwood Plantation and Adams Street Commons.

Nearby, alligators lazing in the sunshine and anhinga "snake birds" perched on twisted cypress branches are seen at Wakulla Springs, one of the world's deepest freshwater springs and site of many underwater scenes in the "Tarzan" movies with Johnny Weissmuller and

M a u r e e n O'Sullivan. Safaris aboard glass-bottomed and jungle cruise boats whisk visitors within arm's length of "The Other Florida."

Outdoor enthusiasts enjoy adventures including boating and fishing on area lakes, rivers, ponds and the Gulf — just 30 minutes away. Lakes Seminole, Jackson and Talquin are renowned in the bass fishing world for yielding the "big ones," and dense forests offer an abundance of prize-winning game. Local wildlife areas such as the Florida National Scenic Trail,

St. Marks National Wildlife Refuge and Apalachicola National Forest are among many spots for camping, picnicking, swimming, biking and exploring.

Appealing to the strokes of different folks, Tallahassee also features 99 holes of golf on six courses and a proliferation of tennis centers. Sideline athletes cheer the nationally-ranked Florida State Seminoles, Florida A&M Rattlers and the Tallahassee Tiger Sharks, of the East Coast Hockey League. And always a sure bet are the nearby greyhound races.

A sport of sorts, shopping at two regional malls and many specialty centers offer many "playing options" — from popular chains to curiosity and antique shops.

Cultural interests are sparked by widely-acclaimed museums and galleries and elaborate entertainment at the 14,000-seat Tallahassee-Leon County Civic Center.

Tallahassee is a collaboration of power-play politics and classical character splashed with a twist of Southern beauty and charm. Tallahassee is Florida with a Southern accent.

This is florida state University.

lorida State University, celebrating its golden anniver sary as a coeducational graduate research institution in 1997, has joined the nation's elite in both academics and athletics.

Located on the oldest continuous site of higher education in Florida and building rapidly on the framework of a highly regarded liberal arts college for women, the University has emerged over the past 50 years as an institution of national and international esteem. Its stature is evidenced by a number of additions to its record of excellence in the 1990s:

- In 1994, Florida State was classified a "Research University I" by the Carnegie Foundation, placing it among the nation's top research universities.
- In 1994, the college referral service, "Who's Who Among American High School Students," placed FSU among its top 10 with such universities as Harvard, Duke, Stanford, North Carolina-Chapel Hill, Michigan-Ann Arbor and Yale of most frequent choices of more than 100,000 of the nation's best and brightest high school students who asked that a specific college be notified of their recognition in "Who's Who."
- Vice President of the United States Al Gore spoke at the dedication of the National High Magnetic Field Laboratory at Florida State in 1994. The National Science Foundation established the $100 million magnet labin 1990 at FSU, which is partnered in research with the Los Alamos National Laboratory and the University of Florida. A Nobel laureate in physics and a top Russian physicist were among the first scholars drawn to the faculty. The world's largest magnet two stories high and capable of generating 45 tesla or 1 million times the Earth's magnetic field — was installed in 1995 at the NHMFL, located in the off-campus research complex, Innovation Park. In 1996, the NSF renewed and increased by 50 percent the NHMFL's funding for another five years.

• FSU created the first multipurpose student identification/ banking card. The Card Application Technology Center is a national leader in "smart card" systems.

 At the forefront of supercomputing since obtaining its first high-speed computer in 1985, FSU took yet another step in ultrafast and parallel computing in 1990 when it acquired two supercomputers, the Thinking Machine Corp. Connection Machine and the Cray Y-MP.

In fall 1994, the first tenants moved into the east side of the $100 million University Center, a classroom-and-office facility at Doak Campbell Stadium; the stadium's south end zone also was enclosed and the adjacent Moore Athletic Center expanded. With the completion of the west side in 1996, University Center now provides 550,000 square feet of much needed academic space and a centralized location for student services.

- In 1990, Florida State ranked second in popularity nationwide among high school seniors, based on the number of students who request that their Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores be sent to an institution. FSU was the only institution listed among the top 10 choices of both black and white college-bound students.
- FSU's high-tech program in structural biology in 1991 received the University's largest single foundation grant, $4 million.
- Capping more than a decade of national prominence in intercollegiate athletics, Florida State's athletic teams, nicknamed "Seminoles," joined the Atlantic Coast Conference as its ninth member in 1990. The FSU football team won the 1993 National Championship and its quarterback, Charlie Ward, won the University's first Heisman Trophy.
- The Dr. Bobby E. Leach Center, a state-of-the-art student recreation facility, with a pool, saunas, basketball and racquet-sport courts, was completed in 1991.
- FSU ranked 20th in the nation for 1990-91 in the number of black Ph.D. students it graduates. Over the five years, 1986 to 1990, FSU ranked eighth nationally by granting doctorates to 70 African-Americans.

As this list of highlights attests, Florida State is excelling in the 1990s with exceptional strength, energy and vision for the future.

Under the leadership of the University's 12th president, Tal-bot "Sandy" D'Alemberte, who took office in January 1994, FSU will continue to build on the foundation of its history of excellence in scholarship, research and service.

A senior member of the 10-member State University System, FSU was founded as an institution of higher learning in 1851 by legislative act and began in Tallahassee with its first students in 1857.

Today, FSU's operating budget is $474.3 million. Faculty and administrators generate more than $102 million annually in external funding to supplement state-sponsored research. Three direct-support organizations serve to bolster the Uni-

The main campus is spread over 451.6 acres in Tallahassee; FSU, which has one of the smallest campuses in the SUS, has been actively acquiring land in the 1990s after years of being landlocked at 347 acres. FSU owns 1,281 acres in Leon, Bay, Franklin and Sarasota counties.

Within the state, the University maintains facilities at its 25-acre campus in Panama City, its Marine Laboratory on the Gulf of Mexico, the Appleton Museum in Ocala and the Asolo Performing Arts Center in Sarasota. The Center for Professional Development and Public Service, housed in the Augustus B. Turnbull III Florida State Conference Center on the edge of the campus, provides extensive credit and non-credit continuing education programs statewide.

Florida State offers 286 graduate and undergraduate degree programs through its eight colleges — Arts and Sciences; Business; Communication; Education; Engineering (operated jointly with Florida A&M University, a historically black institution); Human Sciences; Law; and Social Sciences (which also incorporates the Reubin Askew School of Public Administration and Policy) — and eight schools — Criminology and he 1998 version of Florida State women's tennis will offer a balanced attack for the Seminoles as they enter the new season. Five veterans of dual match competition return to the FSU line up, with four newcomers to the program added in.

Along with the upside potential the Seminoles show on the court, their off the court happenings add to the upward escalation of the program. The team was named FSU's Golden Torch Award winner, going to the school's athletic program with the highest academic team GPA. The team also placed a number of it's players on the All-ACC Academic Honor Roll and FSU's Dean's List.

"Three of our starting singles players (Lori Sowell, Ann Olsson and Lori Junker) have graduated so our returning athletes will play a big part in determining the success of this team," commented second-year head coach Lise Gregory.

Sowell, a former twotime All-American as well as annual All-ACC selection, and Olsson, another All-ACC pick as a senior last season, have graduated. Also gone are Junker, a mainstay within the middle of the FSU line up and Ashley Delaney, a formidable doubles opponent in her last year of competition.

Veteran play returns in the form of Kia Åsberg, Ali Weber, Kylie Thompson and Rakina Payne.

"We won a lot of our matches last year by out-working and out-competing our opponents," said Gregory. "That will be one of our strengths again this season."

Åsberg, a sophomore from Sweden, played mainly at No. 3 singles in 1997 after joining the team in the spring, but has some experience at the No. 2 position. She went 12-8 at No. 3 singles and defeated regionally ranked players from Rice and Wake Forest. To close the season, Åsberg won nine of her final 12 matches.

"Kia came to FSU in the spring and despite not having the fall to adjust to college tennis, she had a very good season," said Gregory. "She spent the first part of the summer in Tallahassee and put in some extra work, really improving several aspects of her game." Weber, a sophomore from Clermont, was perhaps the most pleasant surprise for the Seminoles in 1997 as a freshman. She had a team-leading 26 victories last year at No. 3 through 6 singles, earning the ACC flight 5 regular season singles championship and goes into the 1998 season with a team-leading eight singles victories.

"Ali did an unbelievable job as a freshman, probably the Co-MVP with Ann Olsson for the season,"said Gregory. "She is a great competitor and is always looking for ways to get better."

Thompson, a junior from South Carolina, suffered through nagging injuries last season which hindered her singles play. As a doubles partner, she was one of the team's most consistent performers. This past fall, she won her flight's singles championship at the Lady Seminole Fall Tennis Classic showing her growth and maturity as a collegiate player.

"Kylie is a very good athlete and a natural doubles player," said Gregory. "With the maturity she gained last year and continued improvement to her footwork, she will contribute considerably in the spring."

Payne, a senior from Chicago, is the team's only returning senior and is one of FSU's most athletic talents. Her hard-fighting ways on the court have brought some success as she has advanced to her flight's finals in some of the past fall tournaments.

"'Raks' is probably the most improved player on the team," added Gregory. "She is an absolute pleasure to work with and stayed in Tallahassee for the summer to work on her game. She will definitely push the bottom of the line up."

Joining the Seminoles this year, are a group of talented players with diverse backgrounds.

Helena Karlsson, a senior from Sweden, played the past three seasons at Virginia Commonwealth and transferred to FSU for her final season. She brings needed experience and leadership to the line up. Her prescence is already noted as she advanced to her flights semifinals of the Lady Seminole Fall Classic and teamed with Natalie Carratala' to win the flight B championship at that tournament.

"Helena will be one of two seniors on this year's squad," said Gregory. "She is a true 'Swede' in that her work ethic is exemplory. She will be the most experienced member of the team and has great leadership qualities".

Carratala', a freshman from Miami, comes to FSU with a long list of accomplishments on the tennis courts, including several doubles trophies in many established junior tournaments. She has already gained a tremendous amount of experience in both singles and doubles with seven singles victories and a trip to the semifinals of two fall tournaments. She teamed with Karlsson to win their flight's championship at the Lady Seminole tournament.

"Natalie is a very good doubles player and a great tem member," said Gregory. "I really enjoy working with her, because she has a lot of potential and, more importantly, she is a worker."

Christy Travis, a freshman from Palmetto, is a young and talented singles and doubles player. As a prep player at Bradenton

Christian she was an annual team MVP and an all-conference selection, as well as all-academic honoree.

Natalie Carratalá

Nanette Duxin, a freshman from Uruguay, joins the team for the 1998 dual match season. In her native Montevideo, she has achieved a junior ranking as high as No.1 in Uruguay's open division and has participated with her national team in the Federation and Continental Cup tournaments. She has claimed several French Junior titles from 1992-95.

"This group understands my philosophy and what is expected of them and I forsee a couple of them being great leaders," added Gregory. "We are going to be one of the hardest working teams in the country but this team realizes that hard work can be a whole lot of fun."

The team opens the 1998 year at the Minnesota Invitational in January. From there they take on the ACC in the annual ACC Indoor Championships at the Cone-Kenfield Tennis Center in Chapel Hill, NC.

The Atlantic Coast Conference, led by Duke and Wake Forest, look to be as strong as ever as the two schools have been top-ten ranked for most of the 1990's. Throw into the 1998 schedule usual top-ranked Florida and other Top 25 non-conference opponents South Florida, Miami and Alabama-Birmingham and the season will be as challenging as any other.

The actual dual, head-to-head, season begins when Georgia Southern comes to the Scott Speicher Tennis Center on February 7. The Lady Eagles are an annual opponent of the Seminoles and have gotten stronger each season as they dominate the Southern Conference.

Following the match with GSU, Alabama-Birmingham comes to town the very next day. The Blazers are led by an arsenal of international players, especially a talented freshman that dethroned three top 15 players in this past fall's ITA National Hardcourt Championships and was featured in Sports Illustrated.

The match with the Gators comes next in mid-February, followed by ACC matches at Georgia Tech, Clemson and Maryland.

The perennial No. 1-ranked Gators are always a tough challenge and give the opportunity for the FSU players to face some of the nation's top young talent. The Yellow Jackets and Lady Tigers are usually ranked in the nation's top 50 and the Terrapins have shown much progress the past few seasons.

Most of the dual match season takes place in March as the Seminoles face 12 opponents, led by conference foes Wake Forest, Virginia and NC State, plus USF and Miami.

The Demon Deacons is another chance for FSU to play against a perennial Top 5 opponent. The Cavaliers and Wolfpack are just as important as they have battled the 'Noles in year's past for the higher seeding in the postseason ACC tennis tournament.

In-state rivals USF and Miami have become as important of an opponent as any other. Both teams, although are not in FSU's conference, are in the same region. Therefore, wins against these teams go a long way in NCAA regional seeding.

In April, prior to the ACC tournament, FSU will have conference tune-ups with NCAA Championships regular Duke, with North Carolina closing out the regular season.

The Blue Devils have been conference champions nearly every year since the early 1980's. Nationally, their talent is as strong as Florida, Stanford or UCLA. The Tar Heels will look to avenge last season's meeting as the 'Noles won 7-2.

The Seminoles have faired well in the ACC Championships, having advanced to the semifinals nearly every year since joining the conference in 1992.

FSU's roster shows a lot of depth, with the returning players having played from the No.2 to the No. 6 singles positions. To add to their singles experience, each is an accomplished doubles player as well. Both the veterans and newcomers received quite a bit of playing time in the fall at the Lady Seminole and Gator Classics, plus the Rolex South regional.

On the Upcoming 1998 Season and Schedule

Kylie Thompson - "We have the luxury of playing some of the toughest teams in the country. That, combined with our facilities, coaching staff, academic support system and pride in being a Seminole, makes FSU one of the premier institutions of higher learning in the nation."

Sasha Hanna - "We have a real intense season coming up. We are all looking forward to the tough competition ahead of us."

Helena Karlsson - "We have a tough schedule, with a lot of home matches. We hope for a lot of supportive audiences."

LISE GREGORY

University of Miami, '87 2nd Season at FSU

ise Gregory's program is starting to take shape in just her second year in Tallahassee. Last year, prior to her first season as head coach of the Seminole women's tennis team, Gregory insisted that Florida State would contend among the Atlantic Coast Conference's top teams, challenge FSU's non-conference opponents tougher and grow stronger as a total program.

The team finished above .500 and with four more wins than the 1996 season squad. The Seminoles finished third in the ACC, behind top 10 ranked Duke and Wake Forest and defeated non-conference Auburn, Florida International, Rice, Illinois and South Florida. In fact, 21 of 23 scheduled opponents held a national ranking by season's end. FSU wins came against 11 of them.

Growing stronger as a program is shown by the team's Golden Torch Award, given to the FSU athletics program with the highest team GPA. Women's tennis achieved a team GPA of 3.46, plus eight were mentioned in the All-ACC Honor Roll and four made the FSU Dean's List.

In addition to the on-court and classroom guidance Gregory has brought to the program, she has also put together the "Golden Spear Spirit Club". The Golden Spears are a group of Tallahassee community members, nearing 75 at the start of the 1998 dual match season, who show support for the FSU tennis program by coming out to the matches and cheering on the Seminoles.

Gregory's 1998 recruiting is comprised of four new payers in Helena Karlsson, Natalie Carratala', Christy Travis and Nanette Duxin. Karlsson is a senior transfer from Virginia Commonwealth and all past fall. Carratala' and Travis are freshmen who also have played during FSU's fall tournament season. Duxin will join the Seminoles in the spring, as did Gregory's first recruit Kia Åsberg, who joined FSU prior to the 1997 dual match season.

Gregory, a former seven-time All-American and NCAA champion at the University of Miami, served as the assistant coach for women's tennis at Vanderbilt University for the 1996 season. She assisted Commodore head coach Geoff Macdonald in guiding the progam to it's second consecutive NCAA Championship appearance and a Top 10 ranking. She has also had additional coaching experience on the private level, as a USTA Area Training Center coach and as Inter-sectional and Zonal coach for the Florida Tennis Association. The highlight of her professional career was a No. 4 world doubles ranking in 1990 with partner Gretchen Magers. She was ranked No. 18 individually.

As a player for the Hurricanes, Gregory earned an amazing seven NCAA All-America honors for her singles and doubles play as well as an NCAA doubles championship in 1986 with teammate Ronni# Reis. Together, they compiled an impressive 84-10 record over four years, while consistently being ranked among the nation's top five singles and doubles players throughout. She was named to Tennis Magazine's All-Star team as a senior in 1987 and as a junior in 1986.

As a professional, Gregory won 16 tournament titles in 23 finals appearances, including seven Virginia Slims doubles championships on the way to a career-high No. 18 world doubles ranking in 1990. She was a doubles quarterfinalist at the 1991 Australian Open, a Grand Slam event, as well as one of the top eight teams in the world that participated in the year-ending Virginia Slims Championship.

"Playing the tour was a great experience and in many ways it has helped me be a better coach," said Gregory. "I know I can help the team no matter what the situation is.

"The upcoming season is going to be an interesting one for us. Three of our top four players have gradu--ated, so we are fairly inexperienced. We do have a very close team that works hard and wants to get better, so I think we'll see them over-achieving."

he Florida State women's tennis team fin ished the 1997 regular season on a high note by qualifying for the NCAA Southeast Region tournament, on the campus of Vanderbilt University. It was the second consecutive appearance in post-season play for the Lady Seminoles and third overall.

The Lady Seminoles (12-10), led by seniors Lori Sowell and Ann Olsson, faced top-seeded and hostschool Vandy in the opening round. Although FSU was defeated in that first match of the postseason, the 1997 season showed many areas of success and progress for future seasons to benefit from.

In her first year as head coach,

Lise

Gregory guided the team back to a winning form following an 8-11 record the season prior. The Lady Seminoles also advanced into the semifinal rounds of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament against second-seeded and top ten ranked Wake Forest, an accomplishment FSU has achieved each year since joining the conference back in 1992. The third-seeded Tribe were defeated by the higher-ranked Demon Deacons, 5-1, in that semifinal round.

The women defeated No. 6 seed Georgia Tech in the opening round of play, 5-1, the previous day. No. 2 singles player Ann Olsson went undefeated at the conference tournament, including a straight set upset win over No. 62 Maggie Harris of Wake Forest 6-2, 6-2.

> Sowell, an All-American in singles during 1995 and 1996, re ceived national ranking recognition throughout the entire season, including the fall tournament > season, culminating in All-Conference honors with Olsson. Sowell's All-ACC honor was her third straight, while former junior college all-american Olsson was honored for the first time. Olsson and Sowell were also nationally ranked as a doubles tandem at No. 39 by season's end.

Freshman Ali Weber was the lone Seminole to pick up a flight championship as she was the top singles player at the No. 5 position with a conference singles record of 7-1.

With a challenging 1997 dual match schedule and some quality wins, the Lady Seminoles were able to keep their ITA/Rolex national ranking all season. Of that 1997 schedule, 21 out of 23 matches were against nationally-ranked opponents by season's end and wins occurred against nationally ranked squads such as Rice, NC State and South Florida. It was those victories that kept the Lady Seminoles among the Southeast's finest.

As far as the 1997 Atlantic Coast Conference competition was concerned, Florida State was among the league's best with six regular season wins. The Lady Seminoles had conference victories over Georgia Tech, Clemson, North Carolina, NC State, Maryland and Virginia. The Tribe also avenged 1996 losses to Virginia and UNC to round out its third place conference finish behind nationally-prominent Duke and Wake Forest.
