Head Coach JENNIFER HYDE

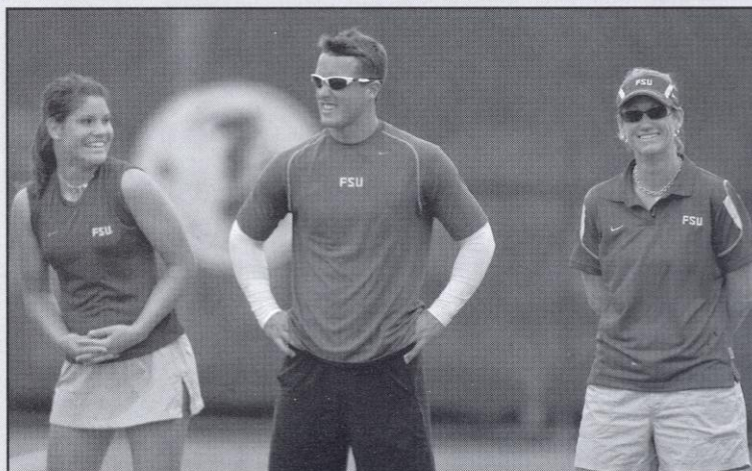

Alpharetta, Ga. / Florida State '95

Jennifer Hyde enters her sixth season as Florida State Head Coach and looks to continue pushing the Seminoles to reach new goals and maintain the reputation as one of the nation's powerhouses for women's tennis. As one of Florida State's most successful tennis coaches in program history, Hyde has coached five athletes who currently hold 19 school records. Coach Hyde enters the 2010 spring season with 4 nationally ranked players from the squad, the most players ever recognized in the rankings at one time. This is yet another foreshadowing to the year which lies ahead for Hyde and her Seminoles.

The 2008-09 season featured Coach Hyde leading her team to the NCAA Tournament for the third-consecutive year, battling in the third round of the ACC Championships for the second consecutive season while also defeating the Florida Gators for the first time in program history. The Garnet and Gold were able to knock off 10 ranked opponents throughout the season while finishing the season with a 17-8 record.

Coach Hyde continued to turn heads during the season as two Seminoles earned All-ACC honors while one 'Nole was named ACC Performer of the Week. Coach Hyde's team wasn't only more talented as a unit on the courts than in previous years, they also made strides off the courts and in the classroom. Capping off a successful junior year, Lauren McCreless (Macfarlane) earned the Cissie Leary Sportsmanship Award while teammate Ania Rynarzewska was honored with an ACC Post Graduate Scholarship and a first ever Jim McKay Post Graduate Scholarship recipient. The academic achievements didn't stop there. A total of three Seminoles were named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll while the squad once again earned the highest team grade point average of all sports at Florida State for the thirteenth straight year. Katie Rybakova and newcomer Noemie Scharle both earned bids to represent Florida State University and compete at the NCAA Individual Singles Championships as well.

The 2007-08 season also welcomed several firsts for the program with Florida State hosting the first and second round of the NCAA Tournament. Hyde led her team to two victorious matches over in-state rival Miami and after beating the 12th ranked North Carolina Tar Heels; the Seminoles reached a No. 12 ranking, the highest ranking in the women tennis program history. With the help of big wins against top ranked programs during the 2008 season, the Seminoles finished the year with an overall record of 19-7, the highest winning season since 1999 and second highest all time at Florida State. Hyde also guided her team to the semifinals of the ACC Tournament which is only the second time in program history this has been accomplished. From start to end, Hyde placed her team in the top 16 of the country with seven shut-out matches throughout the year. The impressive launch to the 2008 spring season was not only the best start in program history, but also stands out as the best in ACC history. Although many believe that the hype dimmers down towards the end of a season, this was just the opposite reaction for Hyde when she coached freshman Katie Rybakova to a top 20 national ranking in which Rybakova also received a bid to participate in the NCAA Singles Championships as a freshman.

Hyde and the Seminoles made long strides in the 2006-07 season. In addition to the NCAA berth, ITA South Region Coach of the Year and a No. 13 ranking, Hyde also coached the Seminoles to a 5th-place ACC finish, 9-1 home record and eight, top-60 victories, including the team's first win over Duke since 1983. Hyde also helped put two more Seminoles, Lauren Macfarlane and Nicola Slater, on the All-ACC team in 2007.

In just her third year with the Garnet and Gold, Hyde led FSU to its then highest ranking in program history at the time (13th), an NCAA tournament berth, eight top-60 wins and a 16-8 season record. Such high accomplishments in such a short period of time illustrate only the beginning of what Hyde has in store for the Seminoles.

Hyde came full-circle upon her return to Tallahassee in July 2004, becoming just the fifth women's tennis head coach in Seminole history. In her first year, Hyde coached Florida State into the top 30 and capped the regular season with an NCAA Tournament appearance. Hyde continued to build the program in 2005-06, notching victories over two nationally ranked teams and coaching freshman Ania Rynarzewska to a spot on the All-ACC team.

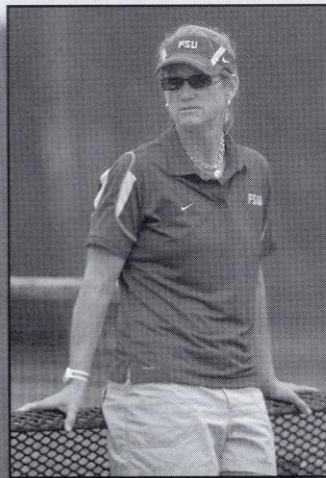

The University of Houston recognized her unquestionable skill and presence within the sport and handed Hyde her first head coaching position in 1999. Hyde spent five increasingly successful years with the Cougars, building on her previous accomplishments with a third-place finish in the Conference USA as well as the program's most dual-match wins since 1997.

It was with the Tar Heels in 1998-99 that Hyde would begin to establish herself as one of the best young coaches in the sport. With her assistance, UNC enjoyed one of its best seasons in program history, moving from outside all the national polls to a top-25 ranking and the school's first NCAA tournament berth. Hyde also made strides off the court in the recruitment realm, identifying and signing two top-five prospects for the Tar Heels.

After graduating from FSU in 1995, Hyde began her coaching career as an assistant for the Seminoles prior to heading north to the University of Iowa in 1995. Hyde spent two years in the Midwest before returning to the south and to her roots with an assistant coaching stint at the University of Alabama (1997-98).

Hyde first arrived in Tallahassee as a student-athlete in 1991. The Alpharetta, Ga., native enjoyed an impressive career with the Seminoles—establishing herself as a four-year letter winner, NCAA Tournament participant (1994) and ACC flight champion in doubles alongside teammate Jenny Graf. Ironically, Hyde would captain the 1994 Seminole squad whose No. 17 ranking stands as the highest year end ranking to date. Since the arrival of Hyde in Tallahassee as the head coach, the women's team has been ranked in a better position each year. The 'Noles finished 19th in 2006, 18th in 2007, so time will tell if No. 17 is on the horizon.

Jennifer Hyde has continued to use her skills and experience both from her student-athlete days in Tallahassee and her coaching days around the country. She continues to personify the Seminoles' trademark Unconquered spirit, driving her players and her program to new heights each season.

Who is a sports figure you look up to and why?

It's hard for me to choose any one but Tiger Woods. I know that is so cliché, but at the same time, he has proven to be the best golfer in the history of golf. When he injured himself last year, it was interesting to see how the dynamics and popularity of the sport shifted during his absence. Its amazing how one person can have such an impact, even in their absence. He is never satisfied. Greatness for him is not good enough. He's always looking for ways to become better.

What is your motto or favorite quote?

"Things are never as good as they seem. Things are never as bad as they seem." I think it's important to try and keep a level head about things in life, which at times is not an easy thing to do. I can't tell you how often I've spoken the words of that quote. We sometimes have a way of making bigger issues of things than necessary, and this quote is a nice way to remember to step back and not get all caught up in the mental madness unnecessarily.

Which reality TV show do you think you could win?

I'm quite sure I wouldn't even win it, but I would love to cook up against the best chefs of The Iron Chef. Cooking is not a strength of mine, but I love the finished product and the creativity that goes into food/cooking.

What was Coach Foreman's and the Seminoles funniest and most embarrassing moment last season?

We were up in Illinois playing a tournament last January, and snow covered the streets and walkways. Oliver went to kick what he thought was a mound of soft snow, and as he kicked it he realized it wasn't soft at all and his feet came out from underneath him and he fell onto his back. This guy is like a cat...he always ends up on his feet somehow, so it was really funny to see him flail about like a spaz. Once we realized he was okay after the spill, it was a pretty good laugh.

Associate Head Coach OLIVER FOREMAN

Eastbourne, England / Middle Tennessee '02

As one of collegiate tennis's most influential coaches, Oliver Foreman begins his fifth season with Florida State with a new responsibility and title- Associate Head Coach. Alongside Coach Hyde, Foreman guided the Seminoles to an NCAA Tournament appearance for the third straight season and third round play at the ACC Championship. In one of the team's most important victories, Coach Foreman also assisted with the squad's defeat of the Florida Gators for the first time in program history.

For his efforts on and off the courts, Coach Foreman was awarded the ITA South Region Assistant Coach of the Year and capped off the season by being named the ITA National Assistant Coach of the Year. Throughout the season, Coach Foreman coached the Seminoles to defeat ten ranked opponents and finish the season with a 17-8 record. Coach Foreman closed out the season on a high note as two Seminoles were chosen to compete at the NCAA Singles Championship. The last time FSU had more than one athlete chosen was in 1994. Coach Foreman has been an instrumental part in not only the development of the team's training on the court, but the 'Noles excellence in the classroom. While two of his players earned All-ACC honors, three Seminoles were named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll.

With the direction of Coach Hyde, Foreman helped the 2007-08 Seminoles to a top 16 seeding in the NCAA tournament, two top upsets over UNC and Miami and the highest ranking in program history at No. 12 last year. Foreman also took part in the honored role when Florida State hosted the first and second rounds of the NCAA Tournament which was also a first for the program. Foreman was an integral part in the 11 clean sweeps the Seminoles boasted in regular season dual competition, a school record. Only has Florida State improved since the 1st day Foreman stepped foot on the courts; and he continues to pull the program to higher levels of success.

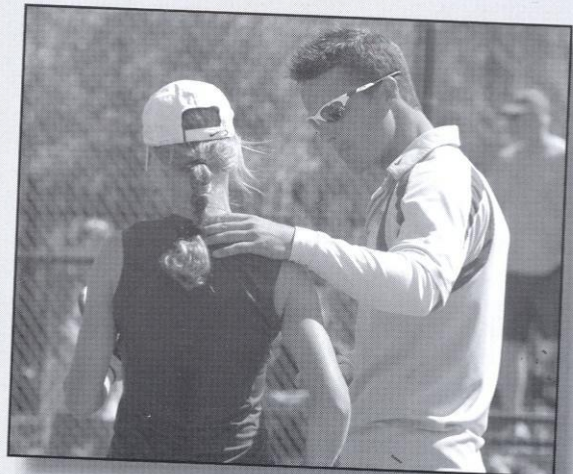

Foreman's second season with the Seminoles ended with a No. 17 ranking, an NCAA Tournament berth, a fifth-place ACC finish and a 16-8 season record. With his assistance, Florida State broke a then school record, reaching as high as 13th place in the national rankings during the season. The team also posted a 9-1 record at home and succeeded in beating Duke for the first time since 1983 en route to an 8-5 ACC record.

In Foreman's first stint as an assistant coach, he took the role of player development and recruiting. With head coach Jennifer Hyde's direction, Foreman helped the Seminoles to a great beginning season as the 'Noles won seven of nine matches with a four game winning streak. Florida State finished the season with a 9-13 record and a ranking at No. 72.

A member of the Professional Tennis Tour from 2002-04, Foreman won the 2002 Irish National Open in both the doubles and singles competitions. He also made it to the final pre-qualifying round for Wimbledon in 1998 and 2000.

Prior to his professional career, Foreman competed at Middle Tennessee State where he was named to the Ohio Valley All-Conference team (1998, 99) and the Sunbelt All-Conference Team (2001, 02). He also made it as high as the number-five spot in the national doubles rankings during his collegiate career. Among the highlights of his college accomplishments was a win in the consolation of the 2001 National Indoor Championships, regarded as the fifth leg of the college slams. Foreman's career at MTSU culminated his senior year in 2002 as he broke into the top-100 collegiate singles rankings, the top-five collegiate doubles rankings and reached the quarterfinals of the ITA All-American Championships. Foreman also qualified for the NCAA Tournament three years in a row (2000-02).

Off the court, Foreman made a powerful impact at MTSU as well, serving on the Student Athlete Advisory Council (2001-02) and notching a spot on the Dean's List twice (2001-02).

His academic success has been a valuable asset for Florida State, as Foreman's guidance has contributed in the women's tennis team securing the Golden Torch Award, given to the Florida State team with the highest GPA, for its ninth consecutive year. Academically, the team has also landed spots on the All-ACC Academic team, All-ACC Honor Roll and ITA Scholar Athletes list in Foreman's three years with the program.

Wherever the Florida State women's tennis team may go in the future, be it on the court or off, it is certain that assistant coach Oliver Foreman will continue to be one of the key figures pushing the program to new heights.

Who is a sports figure you look up to and why?

Unquestionably Tiger Woods! Anyone who knows anything about golf will understand how hard it is to make a hole in one. This guy did it at age six. His work ethic is staggering. This is a guy who would win a major, and then went back to the range for an additional two hours to correct his flaws from the round, forgetting the fact that he just beat the very elite golfers on the planet in the biggest tournament of the year. I think of the gift he was given and he is one of the few that has given so much back to the sport. He has taken the game of golf to a whole new level and is a class act to follow.

What is your motto or favorite quote?

Britain's Got Talent

What is Coach Hyde's and the Seminoles funniest/most embarrassing moment last season?

Unfortunately I didn't get to witness Jen's funniest moment. It was at the Delta baggage claim desk and there was only one witness, the guy behind the desk. Anyway, as we all know when our bags go missing we get a little frustrated and worried that we will not see them again. Well Jen headed to the claim desk in hopes that her missing luggage would be there, and with a bead of sweat running down her forehead she frantically (with a nervous tone in her voice breathing very deeply) inquired about her luggage. As she scanned the room she detected her bag. Overjoyed and excited to see her luggage and in a class act went after her bag in what would be described as a very unathletic maneuver and went tumbling down over someone else's bag and fell to the ground in a heap on the floor. The Delta agent proceeded to help her back of the ground and handed her a walking stick, thanks for the good times Jimmy! As for the team, it's very hard to highlight just one moment as it seems every trip brings out the best in our team, and almost every individual on the team, including myself, has that 'one moment' we would love to go back in time and change but hey that's what makes us who we are.

"Lauren will play her best tennis this year. She continues to play with her heart on her sleeve and she will be a big part of our success this year. She will help lead this team to a place we've never been."

2008-09 SEASON REVIEW

2008-09 SEASON REVIEW

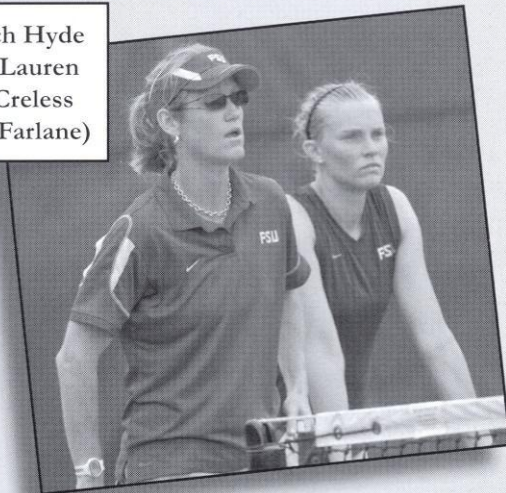

FSU Battles At The NCAA Tournament

For the third consecutive year head coach Jennifer Hyde led her Seminoles to battle at the NCAA Tournament. In a surprising twist FSU was seeded to play on in-state rival Florida's home court and could possibly face the foe for the second time this season after upsetting the Gators for the first time in program history. FSU, ranked No. 18 at the time, opened the tournament in the first round against No. 33 Auburn. Playing their best tennis of the season, the Garnet and Gold dominated the match and rolled past the Tigers 4-0. The 'Noles posted two doubles wins and three singles victories to secure their second round appearance. Florida State now faced the challenge of playing Florida in the second round of the tournament on their home courts. In spite of earning the first doubles win, the Gators fought back with two wins to take the lead into singles. Junior Jessica Sucupira continued her streak and earned the first single point, but Florida again rallied and was able to win the three additional points to win the match.

Coach Hyde and Lauren McCreless (MacFarlane)

Back-To-Back ACC Third Round Appearance

Florida State entered the 2009 ACC Tournament looking to continue its momentum from last season's stint when the Seminoles surpassed expectations and moved on to the third round. With excellent coaching and a talented squad, the No. 17 Seminoles were able to achieve their goal. FSU opened the first round of the tournament facing NC State for the second time this season. Already having a win under their belt from the first match, FSU dominated the Wolfpack, 4-0, to face No. 7 Georgia Tech. In spite of having lost in their regular season to the Yellow Jackets, 5-2, Florida State came out strong in the quarterfinals and shocked Georgia Tech by overpowering the league foe 4-3 to move on to the semifinals for just the third time in school history. Coach Hyde went on to take her team to battle against the No. 6 Miami Hurricanes, but unfortunately fell 4-0.

Florida State Upsets Throughout Season

Defeating an opponent on the road is never an easy obstacle, but it seemed to be throughout the season for the Seminoles. After sweeping weekend matches in Tampa against Furman and USF, No. 26 Florida State continued the road trip to Baton Rouge, La., where the Seminoles earned their first upset of the season against No. 23 LSU, 5-2. Continuing the momentum, FSU went on to not only move up in the rankings to No. 24, but also was able to defeat another SEC opponent and use its energy to conquer in-state rival- No. 12 Florida - for the first time in program history, 5-2. After a slight four-match slump in the conference season, the Seminoles were able to pull out and dominate in their next upset against the No. 15 North Carolina Tar Heels in Tallahassee, 5-2. Less than a week later, the No. 25 Garnet and Gold went on to overpower the No. 22 Virginia Cavaliers to earn their fourth upset of the season and second league win.

2009 Seminoles

Seminoles Knock Off Florida Gators For First Time In Program History

To be the first in history to accomplish something is special. However, to be the first women's tennis team to conquer the Gators is an indescribable feeling. Despite heavy winds and threatening weather, Florida State was able overcome the obstacles and defeat No. 12 Florida for the first time in program history, 5-2. Up to then, the Gators owned the all-time series record with 31 wins. Senior Ania Rynarzewska secured the victory for FSU with her triumph on court five 6-4, 7-5.

Noemie Scharle

Freshman Earns Top-Weekly League Honor

Despite just arriving on campus in January, freshman Noemie Scharle was honored as the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Week for her season opening performance at the Northwestern Wildcat Invitational. With her first swing of the racquet, Scharle was able to defeat the No. 28 player country, Georgia Rose of Northwestern, 6-1, 6-3. But that wasn't all the newcomer did. Scharle teamed up with Federica Sues to trump the No. 36 doubles team of DePaul, Dunja Antunovic and Kirsten Gambrell, 8-6. The Colmar-Berg, Luxembourg native left the invitational with a 3-0 record and an additional win in doubles.

Three Talented 'Noles Continue Domination Streak

Ania Rynarzewska led Florida State to three victories throughout the dual-match season. As impressive as that is, Rynarzewska also had another noteworthy accomplishment entering the tournament winning the last seven of nine matches. Following the senior's lead was newcomer Noemie Scharle. Most freshmen seem to get the jitters when playing in their first NCAA tournament. However, this wasn't an issue for Scharle as she began the tournament riding the wave of success with her seven victories in the past nine matches. Bettering both Rynarzewska and Scharle's streak is co-captain Jessica Sucupira. The veteran ended the season on a twelve-match winning streak that helped push FSU to a second round NCAA Tournament appearance.

FSU Reigns On Court Two And Six

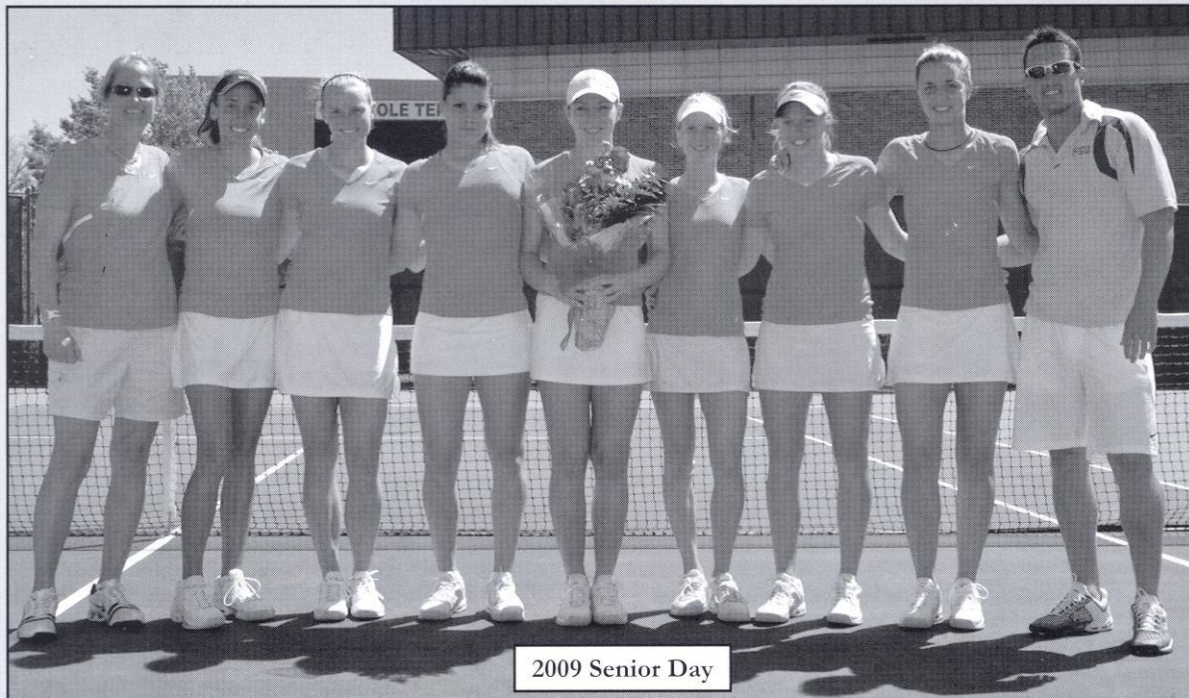

Since the moment she arrived in Tallahassee, freshman Noemie Scharle was a key component in the 2009 success for the Seminoles. After being switched between courts one and two, Coach Hyde kept Scharle on court two after noticing her continuous triumphs. The newcomer finished the season on a high note winning eight of the last ten matches. Co-captain Jessica Sucupira has also had a successful run on court six. The junior posted an impressive 15-3 singles record on court six. Sucupira has also had notable victories to improve her records on court four (2-0) and five (2-1).

Ania Rynarzewska

Rynarzewska To The Rescue

The 2009 season shaped out to be Ania Rynarzeska's year. The senior guided FSU to three of its most important victories throughout the dual-match season. First up for the Seminole was No. 12 Florida. Entering the rivalry match, FSU had never been able to trump the opponent, but things were quickly about to change. Rynarzewska secured the first ever victory against the Gators as she prevailed past Barbara Pinterova 6-4, 7-5. Just three weeks later, Rynarzewska led Florida State to its first conference victory and upset against No. 15 UNC with her win on court five over the Tar Heel's Laura Reichert 6-3, 6-3. Up next was No. 73 Boston College where the Inowroclaw, Poland native earned herself another victory as she cruised by the Eagles' Katherine Attwell 7-5, 6-2.
