Florida State's Seminoles have nothing less than upset on their minds tonight, but with rugged Virginia Tech as the potential victim it might be a long evening.

The sprightly Virginians whipped the Tribe here last season, 24-20. And advance reports indicate the guests are much tougher this year.

Stopped by a powerful Tulane outfit, 21-14, two weeks ago, the Gobblers bounced back last weekend to literally swamp North Carolina State, 35-6. That, paired with a season-opening 39-2 triumph over East Carolina, gives them a 2-1 mark thus far.

And note, please, that Florida State barely edged N.C. State, 7-0 last year.

As for the Seminoles, tonight has the aura of a question mark hovering over it. They opened with a resounding 47-7 win over Ohio University but succumbed to a field goal and Georgia, 3-0, last weekend.

That loss was doubly painful because FSU lost the services of left half Bobby Renn for at least two weeks. The slim scatback suffered a pair of broken ribs.

The Seminoles are said to be definite underdogs for this one . . . it'll be a long evening.

THE SEMINOLE FOOTBALL NETWORK

Florida State University's football contests are carried to every part of the state this year by the ever-growing voice of the Seminole Football Network.

Entering its fourth year, the network now boasts a total of 12 stations located throughout Florida. (See the listings below.)

Again, the veteran trio of Bill Snyder, Ben Letson and Jim Kirk are handling the mikeside duties for the network. They've been greatly responsible for the growth and success of the broadcasts.

Snyder, of WPDQ in Jacksonville, is the play-by-play man. He began his professional career by working the games of the old professional baseball club, the St. Louis Browns.

Kirk does the color. As sports director of station WMOP in Ocala, he's been with the network from its beginning.

Letson, owner and manager of WCNH in Quincy, engineers the broadcasts.

THE MARCHING CHIEFS

HOMEcoming, 1955

Manley Whitcomb will direct Florida State's Marching Chiefs, hailed by Atlanta newspapers as the best university marching group in the south, in at least seven halftime performances this year.

Shows are planned for all home games—Ohio University, Virginia Tech, Wake Forest, Furman and Mississippi Southern—and it's likely the band will perform at Philadelphia October 27 and Miami November 2.

FSU has in Whitcomb one of the nation's foremost masters of band music. He came to Florida State in 1953 following a record 17 years at Ohio State where he led the famous Buckeye band to national recognition.

Since coming to FSU Whitcomb has developed the 128-piece Marching Chiefs into one of the most outstanding musical organizations of its kind in the nation.

At Ohio State he directed the university band in its famous westward jaunt to the Rose Bowl in 1950. Whitcomb has appeared as lecturer, guest conductor, clinician and adjudicator in 12 states. He saw service as a combat infantryman in World War II and was twice awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in combat in France.

The Marching Chiefs, which includes 180 personnel, is truly an all-southern band due to its appearances throughout the south and its predominantly all-southern personnel. The Marching Chiefs have appeared in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Texas with a possibility of adding Pennsylvania to the list this year.

Whitcomb, also a music professor, received Bachelor of Music and Masters degrees from Northwestern University. He's a native of Mellon, Wisconsin.

Band Day at Florida State, planned October 6 this year, is one of the highlights of the Marching Chiefs' spectacular shows because it brings together some of the finest high school bands in Florida, Georgia and Alabama.

Band Day was first inaugurated at FSU in 1951 and it has grown from some 13 bands to over 30. This will be the sixth annual edition of the event and promises to top all the rest.

ABOUT VIRGINIA TECH

By
WENDY WEISEND
VPI Athletic Publicity Director

Virginia Tech, a vital component of the State of Virginia's educational system, is a Land-Grant college, established in 1872 and settled with native limestone buildings in the beautifully forested surroundings of Western Virginia.

The largest building on campus, Burruss Hall, houses an auditorium that seats 3,000 persons and the offices of Dr. Walter S. Newman, president, and of other administrative officers. A 100-foot tower atop Burruss Hall overlooks the oval drill field in the middle of the scenic campus.

In all, the Tech campus is made up of some 77 principal buildings, including the new $2,000,000 Carroll M. Newman Library, and some 70 buildings of lesser importance. The total physical plant is valued at $10,000,000.

Tech comprises three schools: Agriculture, Engineering and Applied Science, and Business Administration. More than 60 per cent of the school's 4400 students are enrolled in one of the 14 phases of engineering offered. Students may work toward the B.S. or M.S. degrees in any of the available curricula, and toward the Ph.D. in some of them.

About one-third of the student body belong to the Corps of Cadets, which provides reserve officer training under its own governing body and honor system. Civilian students have a separate honor system and student government.

When students leave Virginia Tech with a degree, they are trained for a specific field of endeavor, as evidenced by the record of Tech's more than 15,000 alumni.
