HOMECOMING, the annual attraction that lends a bit of nostalgia to the magnetic splendor of collegiate football, is the special treat in store for Alabama fans today.

Alabama's Crimson Tide will find a formidable challenge in Florida State University, but will assemble in Denny Stadium for the 2 P.M. kickoff with an extra emotional thrust that only the spirit of Homecoming can provide.

That indefinable spirit may be just the tonic that Coach Paul Bryant's dedicated Tiders need. The young, eager Tidesmen have improved tremendously since the season was initiated and even last week's 7-7 deadlock with Tennessee produced new stars.

Slender sophomore quarterback Kenny Stabler emerged as a perfect running complement to senior Steve Sloan's passing. Stabler, tagged with the nickname "Snake" since his prep days at Foley, picked up 82 yards in a beautiful exhibition of the option play.

Dennis Homan, a speed merchant from Muscle Shoals, grabbed three key passes for 65 yards and looked like a bright prospect at flanker.

Steve Bowman continued to impress as a block-busting runner at fullback, gaining 67 yards against the Vols, and Sloan completed 13 of 18 passes for 205 yards.

Homecoming fans can expect to see a combustible brand of football played by their heroes in Crimson and White. Alabama's relentless will to win has been the basis for one of the most exciting football seasons' in Tide history and the format is not expected to change suddenly.

What it lacks in pure talent and ability, the Tide makes up for with dogged determination and a dazzling style that few teams in the land can equal.

The only restraint that Alabama honors is actual game termination and only then can Tide boosters determine an absolute outcome.

Tradition, which weighs heaviest at Homecoming, has nurtured a proud Crimson Tide in 1965, one that sparkles with the advent of each new challenge and apppears increasingly capable as the season progresses.

Each game on the Tide schedule has been a key one thus far, and that aspect won't change for today's encounter with Florida State.

The Seminoles are typically gifted individually and only collectively have they lacked the cohesiveness to become a truly great football team. They come into today's game with a 2-2 record but will be up against a Bama team charged with the delivery of a venerable mission—HOMECOMING VICTORY.

Special halftime ceremonies today will include the presentation of the National Football Hall of Fame award to A. T. S. (Pooley) Hubert by Coach Hank Crisp. Hubert was an All-American back from 1922 to 1925 for the Crimson Tide and was elected to the Hall of Fame earlier this year.

My Dad

by DR. PAUL STAGG University of the Pacific

The Grand Old Man of football, Amos Alonzo Stagg, was a living legend in his time. He spent more than 70 years coaching football and making his students better citizens. His coaching methods were years ahead of his time. No one ever had a better sense of fair play. His story is told by the man who knew him best—his son, Dr. Paul Stagg, athletic director at University of the Pacific.

Y DAD, Amos Alonzo Stagg, was born in 1862 and died in March of this year at 102 years of age. His life spanned the complete history of football, which was first played on an intercollegiate basis in 1869. I believe his first contact with the game of football was at Yale, where he played two years on the team at end, being selected on Walter Camp's All-American Team in 1889.

As a student, my Dad planned to prepare himself for the ministry; however, during his days at Yale an incident occurred which made him believe that he was not a good enough speaker. At that point he decided to dedicate his life to the teaching of young men on the athletic field. For seventy years, first at the University of Chicago, then at the College of the Pacific, at Susquehanna University, and finally at Stockton College, he fulfilled his dedication as a teacher and coach. He retired from football coaching at the age of 98.

As a member of the NCAA Football Rules Committee for 61 years, he had a part in molding the rules. In the early 1900's the game had fallen into disrepute due to the inability of the old football rules committee to change the rules and open up the game from the heavy line play prevalent at that time. The Western Athletic Conference (Big Ten), with Chicago as a member, threatened to make its own football rules, appointing a committee, with my Dad as chairman, to draw up a set of rules for the conference. This prompted the large Eastern universities, which made up the old football rules committee in 1904, to invite my Dad to be the first Western representative of that committee. Although the big change in the football rules occurred after the NCAA came into the picture in 1906, it is interesting to note that a surprising number of the changes proposed by my Dad's "Big Ten Committee" were written into the rules in the next few years. From that time on my Dad was very active on the rules committee and I would judge, made a real contribution.

As a coach, Amos Alonzo Stagg was a very creative individual. Through my 28 years of college coaching, we corresponded a great deal, passing football plays back and forth among my brother, my Dad and myself. I found my Dad was always developing new formations and plays from those formations. In fact, a number of formations which later became popular were used by my Dad at an earlier date. In 1890, while attending Springfield College in Massachusetts as a player-coach, he developed a new formation by dropping his ends back off the line into a double wingback formation. The double wingback formation was used very extensively many years later. The shift, which was later called the Notre Dame shift, was used by the University of Chicago under my Dad in 1904. Army's "Lonesome End" formation (a single flanker who never entered the huddle), which received wide acceptance as something new in football in the 1950's, was used by my Dad at the College of the Pacific in 1933 or 1934. I borrowed it from my Dad and used it when I was coaching at Moravian College in Pennsylvania in 1935.

One of my Dad's inventions which is used very extensively today is the spread punt formation. He started using it at Chicago in 1918. It took about 25 years to become popular but is now used for punting by nearly all major college teams in essentially its original form.

My Dad has always been a strong advocate of the passing game, using spreads of all kinds. Single flankers, double flankers, man in motion, and pedinger plays have been in his repertoire of plays for years, and he made many contributions to the development of this type play.

Although he had some fine teams and a good record as a coach; even though he made many contributions to the rules and to the play itself; even though he coached longer than any man coached and may ever coach, I believe perhaps his contribution to the game goes deeper. Perhaps it has been his steadfast belief in amateur sport, in football and in the youth of our nation. It may have been his forthright honesty and sense of fair play which once caused him in his early years of coaching to go out on the football field and object to a penalty on the opponent. It could have been his example of clean living and his expectation that his players would live up to the best standards. Whatever it was, the hundreds of letters written to him which I have read in the last couple of years indicate that he has become a symbol of the best in the coaching profession.

PAUL BRYANT:

There are those who say, without reservation, that Paul (Bear) Bryant is the nation's greatest football coach. It should be noted that we aren't just speaking of Alabama fans, either, but rather his fellow coaches and the men who know what it takes to make a great coach.

In 20 years as a head coach, Bryant has compiled a mighty record of 151 victories, 50 losses and 13 ties. His seven-year mark as head coach of the Crimson Tide of Alabama has seen his teams win 60, loss 11 and battle to five ties.

Alabama has been to a post-season bowl game six straight years, winning three, losing two and tying one. The Tide also has been nationally ranked in the top ten in the two wire service polls for six straight years—something no other school in the country has accomplished. Bryant also has seen his 1961 and 1964 teams acclaimed national champions.

He grew up on a farm outside of Fordyce, Arkansas, and went to school at Fordyce high school, where he was an all-state tackle. Coach Hank Crisp recruited him for Alabama, where he became a regular end as a sophomore. Bryant likes to refer to himself as the "other end" on the famed Crimson Tide teams which featured the immortal Don Hutson at left end.

Bryant was president of the "A" Club at Bama and also was elected president of his sophomore, junior and senior classes in the College of Education—showing his leadership ability long before the outside world had ever heard of him.

After his playing days, Bryant remained on the Tide staff as an assistant coach under the famed Frank Thomas from 1936 to 1940. He then joined Red Sanders' staff at Vanderbilt for two seasons, before World War II came along, but he was one of the first in line when the call went out to America's young men to fight the enemy and help protect this nation's future.

He attained the rank of Lieutenant Commander in the Navy during the war, serving from 1941 to 1945. While still filling out his Naval career, he accepted the head coaching job at the University of Maryland, and although he had just three weeks to get his first team ready, he coached the Terrapins to a fine 6-2-1 record in his first try as a head coach.

Kentucky needed a winner about that time and hired Bryant to rebuild the down-trodden grid fortunes at Lexington. He did this, too, in a hurry, and in eight years as head coach of the Wildcats, his teams won 60, lost 23 and tied five, going to bowl games four times and capturing the only Southeastern Conference championship Kentucky has even won in football.

It was on to Texas A & M in 1954 to try and restore Aggie prestige. His first team went 1-9, the only losing season he has ever known, but this was corrected in a hurry and he wound up with a 25-14-2 record in four seasons, including a Southwest Conference title and one bowl trip.

Alabama asked him to be its head coach late in 1957 and he accepted the challenge, since he had always had a hunger to return to his Alma Mater. The record book speaks loudly since he returned for the 1958 season. Never has Alabama's football prestige been higher.

A BUILDER OF CHAMPIONS

Every honor that can be bestowed upon a football coach has come Bryant's way. He has been honored by his fellow coaches as the coach of the year. He has won two national championships. He currently is a trustee of the American Football Coaches Association and the Pop Warner Hall of Fame. He also has a wall full of citations and awards from various civic, philanthropic and professional groups.

... The "Other End"

Life has been good to Paul W. Bryant, not because he waited or went after the many laurels that have been given him, but because he was a dedicated man and knew the meaning of work and sacrifice. Now at the peak of his career, there seems no reason why he or the University of Alabama shouldn't continue to prosper by doing the thing he most dearly loves—win football games.

Make Sportsmanship a Part of Your Game Equipment

NOISE is a serious problem at many intercolligate football games, and on some occasions in the past has prevented the Quarterback's signals from being heard. Such a situation may be interpreted as "interference" with the conduct of the game, and penalized. We seek your assistance in preventing excessive noise, which could cause a penalty against your team.

Should unusual noise develop, the Referee will call "Time-Out" and instruct the Defensive Captain to request QUIET, which he will do by moving toward the noise area with both arms and hands raised. If necessary, the Offensive Captain will make the same request on the opposite side of the field. We shall appreciate your respect for Sportsmanship in remaining quiet at this time.

In all Southeastern Conference games the Referee is authorized to inflict a penalty based on noise developments. Please cooperate. Don't help to draw a penalty against your team.

UNIVERSITY BOASTS OUTSTANDING PROGRAM FOR PATRONS OF THE ARTS THIS YEAR

In the 1965-66 season the University of Alabama campus is a mecca for patrons of the arts throughout Alabama. Nearly 100 separate events are being presented, the performers including such giants as Pulitzer Prize-winning author Robert Penn Warren; Louise Nevelson, the United States' foremost sculptress; and Birgit Nilsson, internationally renowned diva of the Metropolitan Opera.

The University's own performing arts groups will be responsible for many sparkling performances: four plays by the University Theatre, 26 recitals and concerts by music department faculty and student ensembles; two score individual student recitals; several art exhibitions of student and faculty work.

Dr. Wilbur Rowand, chairman of the U. of A. Concert and Lecture Series that draws its audience from all parts of the state, says, "In professional music circles, the University is known as one of the important performing centers in the South. Ours is one of the largest and most successful college concert series in this region. In total number of events presented, the University is unsurpassed by any other institution in Alabama."

A high point of the season will be the mid-year Festival of Arts presented by the University of Alabama Student Government Association-Tuscaloosa Fine Arts Council, a unique example of joint college-community efforts in the arts field.

Dr. John F. Burnum, Tuscaloosa, is chairman of the Council. Zach Higgs as SGA president is U. of A. coordinator of the Festival. On February 15-27, it will bring to the campus opera authority Boris Goldovsky, Mr. Warren and Miss Nevelson in lectures; actor Hal Holbrooks in his famous impersonation-monologue "Mark Twain Tonight;" and a concert by the University Symphony Orchestra with outstanding soloists chosen from senior music students.

A show of Miss Nevelson's works will be on exhibit during this period. Literary and art contests for students are part of the Festival, with art entries also being on exhibition.

The Student Government Association again will present a series of distinguished national figures speaking on topics of current interest. It will host a top-ranking U.S. Senator in a lecture in the fall. "Emphasis '66" is the name of a two-day S.G.A. program planned for spring in which leading political figures and student body presidents of universities throughout the country will discuss the student's role in a Democratic society.

The U. of A. Concert and Lecture Series will bring to Tuscaloosa these outstanding artists: Miss Nilsson, hailed as the greatest operatic and recital soprano of our age; the Robert Shaw Chorale and Orchestra; the Budapest Children's Choir on its North American debut; Arthur Fiedler and the Buffalo Philharmonic in a Pops Concert; pianist Ronald Turini, the only pupil for sev-eral years of the great Horowitz; the New York Pro Musica with its chamber program of pre-18th century music; Broadway and Hollywood character actor Hans Conried in the comedy "Absence of a Cello:" Mr. Goldovsky; poet-editor John Ciardi in a lecture; and a special Christmas program by the University Choral Union with guest soloists.

University Theater plays, under the direction of Dr. Marion Gallaway, are to be: "The Private Ear, the Public Eye;" "Look Homeward, Angel;" "The Coop;" and a musicalization of "Captain Jenks of the Horsemarines."

The University Cinema Society, a cooperative venture presenting classic films from around the world, has slated 16 showings ranging from the Frenchfilm "Un Chien Andalou" by Salvador Dali (1928) to "Gone are the Days" U.S.A., 1963).

New to the annual schedule of musical events of the Capstone music department this year is a four part Historical Recital Series, presenting sonatas from the great periods of this form. Performing will be piano faculty members Roy Mc Allister, Joyce Strong, Amanda Penick, and Douglas Ashley. The Cadek Quartet, the U. of A. quartet-in-residence known throughout the country, will present three concerts on campus. Members of the chamber ensemble are Emil Raab, Henry Barrett, Michael Gattozzi, and Margaret Christy.

Faculty recitals will be given by violist Henry Barrett, violinists Emil Raab and Michael Gattozzi, pianist Douglas Ashley and sporano Jean Belmont, mezzo-soprano Sylvia Debenport, and organist Warren Hutton.

The annual Southeastern Composers' Forum of new music which draws performers and composers from ten or more states, will be a spring event. Other presentations include a Collegium Musicum of early music, orchestra, band and choral group concerts, a recital by the Contemporary Music Society, an Opera Workshop production, and competition festivals for high school musicians.

400-cubic-inch V-8, 4-barrel carb, twin pipes: Buckle up and have yourself a ball! This is the 350-hp 4-4-2. With heavy-duty suspension, built to K.O. the roughest roads. Front and rear stabilizers to take the "bend" out of curves, the bind out of corners. And under it all—pavement-biting red-line tires! But the swinging-est thing about Olds 4-4-2 is its surprisingly modest price! LOOK TO OLDS FOR THE NEW! Oldsmobile Division . General Motors Corp.

Introducing the tuned car. 1966 Buick.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. Like this '66 Riviera Gran Sport.

Every last thing that goes into a Buick - suspension, body mounts, shock absorbers-not only has to work, it has to work with everything else. That's tuning.

Tuning is what we do more of (and care more about) than anybody we know of. And then we go out and test it in more places, too. On roads like the ones you'll be driving on. Why we do it will be obvious when you take your first ride. The tuned car rides and handles as handsomely as it looks. (Tuning may be hard to explain. But it's easy to notice.)

What the tuned car will do for you. And your family. For a start, the new Riviera will comfort you. You'll see that when you slip into the Riviera's new bench seats. Space for six. If you like buckets, they're available, with a reclining arrangement for the rightfront passenger. And we have another comforting option available: a new notch-back seat that converts from bench to semi-bucket.

Choosing the tuned car. Visit your Buick dealer. Every Buick you see is the tuned car. Riviera, the new international classic. Riviera Gran Sport. Every '66 Buick.

And with a choice like that, how in the world can you go wrong?

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Meet Jim Laughead: WORLD'S NUTTIEST (AND BEST) SPORTS PHOTOGRAPHER

"a-huckin, & a-buckin,"

By Charley Thornton

Sports Publicity Director

A MASTER AT WORK

If you saw him dressed in his "game clothes" but away from work, you would swear that Jim Laughead had just jumped off the last freight into town.

His faded blue overalls flapping from a pair of limp suspenders, his battered red vest with the names of universities embroidered on it, and the crumpled hat that is as shapeless as an oyster make up his attire when he is at work taking pictures of some 74 college and professional teams from West Point, N. Y., to Tucson, Ariz.

James F. Laughead (pronounced lawhead) is his square title, but he is "Father Laughead" to thousands, "the Mad Hatter" to others and to the players he shoots, he is "old a'huckin' and a'buckin'."

This colorful character from Dallas, Texas, spends over six months of each year taking pictures of athletic teams. While he once needed the money, it is now more of a hobby than anything else, since he has a lucrative portrait and commercial business in Dallas. He resides in a large Texas mansion that someone once described as the only house they had seen that had a den in one of the bathrooms.

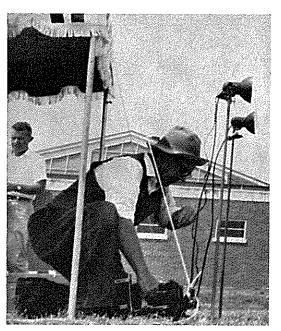

He travels with his son-in-law, Jim Bradley, and they take great pride in their work.

"I know most of this stuff is a bromide," Laughead admits, "but I've tried to come up with new poses. The newspapers like the old stuff, so who am I to tell them what to use?"

Jim Laughead is the master of the photographic cliche,—of the leaping stiff-arm, the 1-despise-you scowl, the halfback crossover that looks like a ballet step, the wild dive that has knocked the breath out of hundreds of linemen.

There is a madness to Laughead's method, but the madness is calculated. His costume, his jokes, his insults, his attitudes are part of an act that has been so well received that Laughead has adopted it into his personality and now no longer has to act.

"They all think I'm nuts," he says, "so what do I care? I get their pictures."

AT WORK UNDER HIS TENT

The Laughead technique is more like a travelling circus. Each spring when Laughead and Bradley arrive to shoot the Alabama pictures, they drive up in a station wagon stuffed with equipment. Bradley always drives, with Laughead sitting on the right puffing on an expensive cigar, dressed in his overalls, vest and hat, and with a thermos of ice water between his knees.

It takes about an hour for them to unload and get set up to shoot pictures. First, there is the tent to set up (see picture at top left). Then the lights, cameras (at least six or eight), flags, chalk for the lines, and various other gimmicks of his trade.

The players love Laughead. His favorite line is "a-huckin' and a-buckin' "which he shouts repeatedly as he goes through the exaggerated poses he wants the players to do. This phrase has been picked up from coast-to-coast and always brings laughter from anyone who has "been took" by the master.

His Pictures Are Seen On The Sports Pages More Than Any Photographer In The World

His hat, though, is THE thing.

"I paid $1.95 for this hat when I moved to Texas from Ohio as a wire-service photographer in 1936," he recalls. "I was making a lousy $42.50 a week then. But it wasn't so bad for a kid who had grown up in Detroit cleaning Ty Cobb's dog kennels for free tickets to the Tiger games and who made a D in photography at Ohio State.

"Somebody told me I had to have a hat like this if I was going to live in Texas. Now I'm afraid to have it cleaned and blocked or it will fall apart.

"Once I left it in a restaurant in North Carolina and drove back 65 miles to get it. I never wear a hat in normal human life, but the players expect me to wear it when I take their pictures. I tried to give it up one year. When I got to Ole Miss the players went on strike until I got it again. You should have heard them give that Rebel Yell when I got the hat out of the car!"

Laughead's routine is to introduce himself to every player he shoots. And he is amazing on remembering names.

"Who's been walking on your face, son?" Laughead joked with one Alabama player last spring.

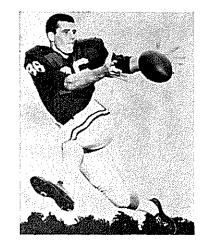

"A little bit of everybody," the Tidesman explained.

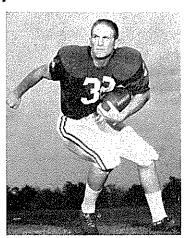

Laughead asked the player if he was a running back and the player said he guessed he was.

"Well, we'll try to make you look like one, son, no matter what Coach Bryant thinks you are," he laughed, grabbing a football and starting his insane dance, weaving and hopping, with his red vest flapping and his hat falling off.

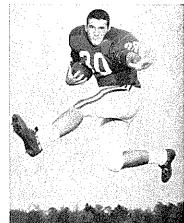

"A-huckin' and a-buckin, son, a-huckin' and a-buckin'."

How do athletes handle athlete's foot?

They follow their trainers' advice and use Desenex® for prevention and treatment

It's excellent protection against itching, cracking and irritation of Athlete's Foot. Helps prevent spreading, too. No wonder Desenex is the Athlete's Foot treatment most widely used by college football trainers.

We know you don't have a trainer to keep you on your toes. But that's no reason to suffer from Athlete's Foot. Start using Desenex yourself. Avoid Athlete's Foot problems with Desenex Powder or new, cooling Desenex Aerosol—and for treatment use Desenex Ointment. Desenex is guaranteed to work or your money back.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA DEVELOPMENT

Building for Greatness

NEW $75 MILLION EXPANSION PROGRAM

A new ten-year program to expand its physical facilities and libraries at Tuscaloosa, Birmingham, Huntsville, and the several University Centers was announced by President Rose in May. This follows the now nearly completed $42,000,000 Development Program begun in 1960, and will provide capital structures at Tuscaloosa and at the Centers valued at $43.2 million. At the Birmingham Medical Center, new construction totaling $31.3 million will be completed by 1975. Total expansion will then accommodate 15,000 students at the Tuscaloosa campus, 6,000 at the Birmingham campus, and 5,000 at the campus in Huntsville.

University of Alabama Main Campus —Tuscaloosa

Work has begun on the construction of the new Athletic Facility and Assembly Hall, long known as the Field House. It will have a seating capacity of 15,000 persons around a central arena and will be the fifth largest collegiate facility of its kind in the nation.

The Hall will provide long needed, multiple purpose facilities for the educational, cultural, and recreational programs of the total University. It will be used for graduation exercises, convocations comprising the entire faculty and student body, concerts and plays, student government sponsored programs, social events, and a wide variety of athletic contests and tournaments.

The building will also house the offices of the Athletic Director and coaching staff. Ample space will be provided for basketball and handball courts, gymnasium, and dressing rooms. For theater, music, and related presentations, a large, portable stage will be utilized. The most modern facilities will be available for news media, with press box, camera decks, projection room, and radio and television broadcasting capabilities.

University of Alabama — Birmingham

MEDICAL CENTER. The new psychiatric unit of the University Hospital, a $4 million, 100-bed wing for the treatment of mental patients is rising steadily, with occupancy scheduled for mid-year, 1966. Construction has also begun on a fourstory building bridging 19th Street, South, and linking the Veteran's Administration Hospital with the University's Health Sciences Research Building, to which a $1.2 million seven-story extension will be added beginning this fall.

University of Alabama — Huntsville

The $750,000 community campaign conducted by citizens of Huntsville and adjoining areas to provide additional classroom and library facilities for the University of Alabama was highly successful. Supplemented by a federal grant, funds totalling

$1.3 million will make possible the new Graduate Studies Building, for which construction is programmed this fall.

Tide's Academic Stars Gain Recognition

During the past 10 years, the University of Alabama is proud of the fact that 12 of its outstanding football players have gained acclaim as being Academic standouts as well as stars on the grid-

Each season the Southeastern Conference selects its All-Academic team from the league schools. To qualify for nomination, players must have a B or better average in the classroom, as well as be a starter on the field.

Alabama's first-team selections during the past 10 years have been: End Curtis Lynch, 1955; been: End Curtis Lynch, 1955; tackle Dave Sington, 1958; guard Don Cochran, 1959; back Leon Fuller, 1960; end Tommy Brooker, 1961; quarterback Pat Trammell, 1961; end Bill Battle, 1962; cen-ter Gaylon McCollough, 1963 and 1964; kicking specialist Tim Davis, 1963; quarterback Steve Sloan, 1964; fullback Steve Bowman, 1964, and tackle Ron Durby, McCollough, in addition to being named two years to the All-SEC academic stars, was also named first team Academic All-American center in 1964 to further add luster to the name of Crimson Tide athletes past, present and future.

The Southeastern Conference All-Academic team was first started in 1954. Since that time 125 student-athletics, including 14 of them elected twice and three who have been honored three years in a row, have been awarded for athletic and scholastic proficiency.

STEVE SLOAN

Alabama is also proud of the fact that five if its 1965 players have been nominated for the All-SEC scholar team. They are quarterback Steve Sloan, tackle Lynnwood Strickland, halfback Dennis Homan, halfback Dickey Bean and punter Steve Davis.

The Tide also is pleased that sports publicity director Charley Thornton is chairman of CoSI-DA'S (College Sports Information Directors of America) Academic All-American selection commit-

Fight, Alabama, never yield We've got to break right through that line

And take that ball on down that field. We want a touchdown sure this time. Fight, fight your best, we'll do the rest; We've got to show them 'Bama's right Downhearted never, we'll fight forever; Fight, Alabama, fight, fight, fight!

SONG OF THE CRIMSON TIDE We are loyal to you Crimson Tide

And we'll back ev'ry move that you make.

Alabama we all praise and pride For we share the glory that you take. We will fight, fight like men of old. Circle ends hard and then for a goal. Whether lose or win,

GREAT GAMES OF THE PAST

OLE MISS 20, LOUISIANA STATE 18

By Paul Atkinson

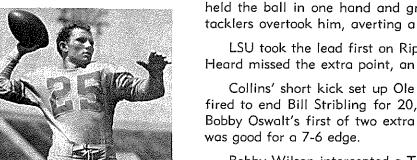

Charlie Conerly vs. Y. A. Tittle.

Those magic names brought out a packed house of 46,000 at Baton Rouge's Tiger Stadium in 1947, and they didn't disappoint.

Ole Miss was heading for its finest season since 1941 under a new head coach named Johnny Vaught. The Rebels had turned in a 2-7 report card in 1946.

The Rebels weren't worrying about a bowl bid, for they had already signed with the Delta Bowl in Memphis, Tenn. before the season started. That bowl bid in hand, Conerly's passing and Barney Poole's pass catching had caught the fancy of Dixie football fans.

Tittle, later to be united with Conerly on the New York football Giants, pulled one of the Southeastern Conference's most unusual plays in the second quarter. After Ole Miss had taken a 13-6 lead, Tittle intercepted a Conerly pass at his own 20 and seemed in the clear at the LSU 38.

But Tittle's belt broke, his pants plunged around his thighs. Tittle held the ball in one hand and grasped desperately at his pants. Reb tacklers overtook him, averting a sure touchdown.

LSU took the lead first on Rip Collins' one-yard plunge, but Holley Heard missed the extra point, an omen of misses to come.

Collins' short kick set up Ole Miss in the second quarter. Conerly fired to end Bill Stribling for 20, then rammed it over from the two. Bobby Oswalt's first of two extra points—later to be the difference—

Bobby Wilson intercepted a Tittle pass and ran it back 23 yards to the Tiger 12 late in the half. Conerly threw for five, ran for five and then two for the touchdown.

Conerly and Collins highlighted the third quarter with 65 and 58yard quick kicks. But Al Heroman, Tittle, Bill Schroll and Ray Coates revved up the Tigers in the fourth quarter. Coates scooted in from the five and it was 13-12, Ole Miss.

Conerly took that one back, slashing 26 yards for a touchdown. Now it was 20-12, Ole Miss.

LSU boomed for its last touchdown on runs of 14 and 18 by Collins and Tittle and a razzle-dazzle payoff play. Tittle pitched out wide to Coates, who hit Joe Leach with a 25-yard touchdown pass. The kick was no good—again—and LSU was a 20-18 loser.

The summary:

Y. A. Tittle as a Bengal Tiger

Ole Miss LSU 12----18

LSU-Collins, 1 run; OM-Conerly, 2 run (Oswalt kick); OM-Conerly, 2 run; LSU-Collins, 5 run; OM-Conerly, 26 run (Oswalt kick); LSU—Leach, 25 pass from Coates.

Alabama Basketball

Alabama's surprising basketball team turned in a sparkling 17-9 record in 1964-65 under the astute guidance of coaches Hayden Riley and Winfrey Sanderson and will be seeking to field another strong team in 1965-66.

Five lettermen are back, plus some promising sophomores. The veterans back are guard Ken Moses of Morristown, Tenn., guard Robert Hickey of Pellville, Ky., center Harry Hammonds of Tuscaloosa, forward Gene Schumacher of Sigel, III., and forward Johnny Smith of Guntersville.

The schedule is another good one, with tournament trips to the Virginia Tech Invitational and the Gator Bowl Classic. Last year the Tide won the VPI championship and was third in the Charlotte Classic.

Best news on the basketball front, however, is that the new 15,000 seat field house is under construction and should be ready by January of 1967. The new facilities will give Bama the nation's third largest on-campus field house in America and certainly the finest in the South.
