A MAJESTIC LIFESTYLE

It has been Tallahassee's best kept secret...now, it's becoming the home of Tallahassee's most sought-after lifestyle. Golden Eagle Plantation, home of the Golden Eagle Golf Club, is nestled in the heart of Killearn Lakes Plantation... waiting.

If you are ready for a unique experience in North Florida living, then Golden Eagle is waiting for you. Here, you will view stately homes on large, wooded lots that overlook lush fairways and rolling landscapes. There is no other golf course in Florida like the challenging, world-class Golden Eagle golf course. And with its combination of old-world elegance and modern course design, The Golden Eagle Golf Club is truly the centerpiece of this majestic community.

Golden Eagle Plantation was designed to sustain and extend the grand tradition of country-club communities in the South. To enjoy this tradition, and to find your place in it, call or come by the Killearn Sales Center and arrange for a private tour of Golden Eagle Plantation... Tallahassee's finest lifestyle.

The Tom Fazio designed Golden Eagle golf course was rated by the PGA in 1987 as the most competitive golf course in the State of Florida.

Tee Pee Talk

By Wayne Hogan
Florida State Sports Information Director

The football victories have been few and far between since Howard Schnellenberger left Miami and took over the program at Louisville in 1985. In fact, the difference between Howard's Louisville team and his last at Miami is like night and day.

One would think that Howard would be on the verge of hari-cari. Two weeks ago, five games into his third season with the Cardinals, Howard was slapped 65-6 by Southern Mississippi. And that on his home field.

Is it time to panic? Are you kidding? If Howard Schnellenberger had been the captain of the Titanic, he'd have found a way to keep that baby from sinking.

I have had the opportunity to maintain some ties with Howard since 1979 — his first year at Miami. My attention to what Howard was doing down south was sparked by a deep admiration I saw for him by our own Bobby Bowden. Bobby continually spoke highly of Howard both as a man and as a football coach. I always wanted to meet Howard in those early years at Miami.

My first opportunity came during the 1982 season. Howard was on the verge of turning the UM program into the national contender that we now know. Unfortunately, the people of Miami were slow to learn. UM games were not exactly the social event of the year and Howard had some selling to do.

What better game to hype in 1982 than a Florida State-Miami matchup. Somehow, in a conversation between Howard and Bobby the idea of a joint press conference — to be held in Miami — came up. On Monday of game week at high noon, Bobby Bowden and Howard Schnellenberger stood side-by-side in the UM locker room for a friendly "weigh in" and there were enough cameras and writers gathered to produce a Hollywood movie.

What that one appearance did for the state of college football in Florida is not fully known. After all, coaches of opposing teams appearing together the week of their game is almost unheard of. But this was the tip of the iceberg of a budding friendship and a rivalry the way it should be. It was a rivalry with no hatred or animosity. Two fierce competitors, teaming up for the fun of the game, laughing and cracking jokes, shaking hands and then going out four days later to try to whip the other into submission.

I was lucky enough to be involved with that first production in Miami and spend a little time with Howard. The gruff, pipe-smoking coach was a charm to be around. He left no doubt who was in charge of the UM program. But he did it with such class and with a dry wit that was absolutely without match. It didn't take long to see why Coach Bowden thought the world of Howard.

On that day Howard agreed to return Bowden's favor and make a similar trip to Tallahassee during FSU-UM week of 1983. Florida State's 24-7 win over Miami in 1982 didn't change Howard's mind about making the game-week trip. Little did anyone know that by that time his Hurricanes would be closing in on a national championship.

Miami was 9-1 with only FSU left in the regular season. A victory would send them to the Orange Bowl and put them just one win from winning it all.

Howard's private plane bounced all over the sky as he headed for Tallahassee on Monday, November 7, 1983. Howard was on his way to repay his friend Bobby and a vicious North Florida thunderstorm was brewing over the Capital. He couldn't have felt good about the way things were going.

Given a year to work on the details of the Tallahassee joint press conference, we had put together an absolute "production." The conference would be held in a boxing ring at the Tallahassee-Leon County Civic Center. The two coaches would don 16-ounce gloves and boxing robes and pose for publicity shots before fielding questions.

By the time Howard arrived at the Civic Center he was a little green around the gills from the bumpy flight. Here he was, facing the biggest game of his life, and I'm telling him he needs to put on a pair of boxing gloves and spar with Bobby before the eyes of the nation's press.

Looking through those beady eyes he said to me: "I'll kill him. I used to be a pretty good fighter in my day. I think I've still got it. Besides, he doesn't have the reach I've got."

With that he broke into his little laugh. Somehow, I had a feeling right then that this was a man who was going to win himself a national championship. I was hoping it wouldn't be at our expense.

That second annual Bobby and Howard Show was as memorable an event as any since I've been associated with at FSU. Both coaches were wonderful. After the press conference, Howard attended the Monday Booster luncheon as Bobby's guest. He was given a standing ovation. Never had two rival coaches and two rival schools been closer. About as close as the score that Saturday — 17-16 Miami.

But those times have now faded into memory. Howard left UM in 1984 and was hired to coach an ill-fated USFL team supposedly headed for Miami.

I had dinner with Howard during the time he was awaiting the arrival of his new team. We talked about his idea of holding a contest to name the team. I gave him the best of all possible names — The Miami Pipers. The players would wear replicas of Howard's famous pipe on their helmets. He chuckled and puffed away. The national championship and the big money professional contract hadn't changed him a bit. That night, he was just one of the fellows.

Then came the crash of the pro hopes and Howard dropped out of site for the better part of a year only to re-surface in Louisville. Howard's first year at Louisville in 1985 ended in a 2-9 run. In early December of that year, Howard called for an interesting reason. He was doing the color commentary for Mutual Radio on Florida State's Gator Bowl matchup with Oklahoma State.

On the practice field one day during Gator Bowl week, Schnellenberger chatted with Bowden. Howard asked to say a few words to the team with Bowden's permission. As he stood in the midst of the assembled FSU team, Howard had no trouble commanding attention. His voice was strong and deep as he told the Seminoles:

"I've known Bobby Bowden for a long time and you couldn't play for a better football coach. I know what kind of man he is and what kind of program you have at Florida State. You are a part of one of the nation's great programs. Be proud of it."

With that he said something he probably didn't really mean. "I'm looking forward to seeing you all in Louisville next year."

Florida State did go to Louisville in 1986 and there was Howard, extending the biggest of welcomes. After giving us a tour of his very impressive football complex, Howard told us that he had a long way to go but was making progress. "It'll take awhile, but we'll make it."

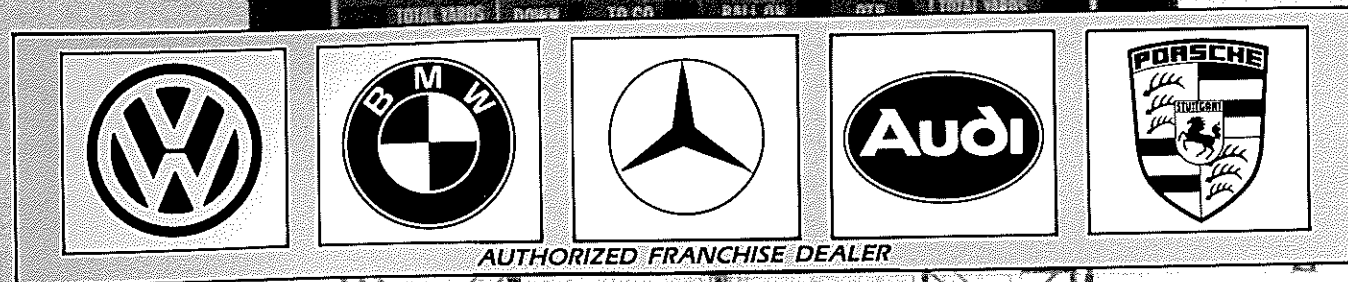

He had that same old Howard Schnellenberger look in his eye and puffed on the same old pipe. I've seen that look before. This man is as solid as a rock and as good as his word.

They say the measure of a man can be found in what he's like in good times and bad. Howard has been through a lot of both worlds. Howard Schnellenberger has proven himself to be a great football coach and one hell of a man.

NOTES AND QUOTES

• Florida State's victory over Southern Mississippi last week snapped an 11-game home field winning streak by the Golden Eagles. That was the fourth longest home streak in the country. The 61-10 score represented USM's worst loss since 1950 and the worst ever in M. M. Roberts Stadium.

• Florida State continues to amaze with its kick-blocking success. With three blocked punts in the last two games, the Seminoles now have five this year and an incredible 29 since the 1981 season. The FSU record for blocked punts is eight in 1984.

• Florida State has a 50-13-1 record at Campbell Stadium since Bobby Bowden took over in 1976.

• The Seminoles have now won five straight games on the road dating back to last season. Bowden is 45-24-2 outside of Tallahassee.

• Junior fullback Dayne Williams has already scored eight touchdowns this season, tying him with four other players for most TD's in a single season. His 13 touchdowns rank in a tie for fourth on the career list.

• In the 10-game FSU-Louisville series, Florida State has shut out the Cardinals four times. Seven times the Seminoles have held Louisville to seven points or less. To make matters worse, the Seminoles have scored more than 45 points on six occasions vs. the Cardinals.

• Florida State's senior kicker Derek Schmidt continues to climb the ladder toward an all-time NCAA scoring record. Schmidt's 13 points vs. Southern Mississippi gives him a career total of 339—30 short of breaking Luis Zendejas' all-time mark. Schmidt is now in 10th place all-time.

• Junior fullback Keith Ross is now junior cornerback Keith Ross. Out for several weeks with a knee injury, Ross was listed as the fourth-team fullback when the switch was made. The Seminoles are a bit short-handed at the corner spot with starter Eric Williams ailing with a foot injury. Ross, by the way, will continue to return kickoffs.

• Louisville quarterback Jay Gruden probably has had memories of the Seminoles after suffering a severe knee injury in last year's game. FSU tackle Eric Hayes crashed into him on a pass play during the 1986 game at Louisville.

• Tailback Sammie Smith moved into 10th place on the all-time rushing list at FSU with his 142 yards vs. Southern Miss. Sammie's 1,394 career yardage eclipses Roosevelt Snipes' 1,385. Next targets for Smith: Bobby Renn's 1,455 and Michael Whiting's 1,485. Smith could also move into the Seminole single season rushing totals next week. His 662 yards are just 114 short of Greg Allen's 1982 single season total of 776.

• Junior Victor Floyd needs just 36 yards to move into 11th place all-time, just behind Smith and ahead of Snipes.

Two Great Coaches, Two Great Gentlemen

The following are interviews with Howard Schnellenberger, head coach of Louisville, and Bobby Bowden, head coach at Florida State. These two men take out some time to talk about each other and their respective programs.

Howard Schnellenberger, Louisville

Q. What is your general thinking of Bobby Bowden and his program at Florida State?

A. Bobby Bowden has established one of the truly outstanding college football programs in the nation at Florida State. He has done it by taking on some of America's top teams on the road. And he has made Doak Campbell Stadium the toughest place in the country to take a visiting team because of the spirit and singleness of purpose you find there. Most of all he has done it with class.

Q. How are you similar to Bobby? And how are you different?

A. Obviously, we both believe in the pro-style offense and the exciting aspects that the passing game brings. I think we both are highly competitive persons. And I think both of us are proud of our profession and believe in the very good things that this sport of football can accomplish. How are we different? Probably in a million ways. I know he's a great golfer and I'm not. But seriously, I think we're very different persons with very different approaches to situations, but always with the same intention—to win with integrity.

Q. What is your most vivid memory of playing a Bobby Bowden-coached team?

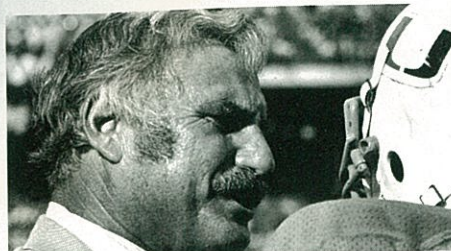

A. That's a tough one. We have had some battles. The dramatic 10-9 game in 1980 when Jim Burt deflected the Seminoles' try for two points has to be one. Our rally in 1983 to come back in the fourth quarter and clinch a bid to the Orange Bowl on Jeff Davis' last-second field goal has to be another. Certainly, FSU's big win over us in 1982 is stamped in my mind. But, maybe, I remember most of all that '83 game when on a big third down play our halfback Keith Griffin took a draw and ran faster than he had in his life to set up the winning field goal. That's what our games have always been about, all-out effort to the end.

Q. What have you learned from Coach Bowden over the years?

A. I think I have borrowed some ideas from his building process such as the gradual increase in the size of Doak Campbell Stadium and how successful that has been for FSU.

Q. Do you see your rebuilding program at Louisville as similar to Bowden's at FSU many years ago? Or is it different?

A. Actually, we are not in a rebuilding program at Louisville, we are in a building program, starting from scratch. You see, Louisville has never really had the commitment to try to develop a national contender. Obviously, Florida State had some great years under Coach Peterson. Then they faltered. At Louisville, we're still searching for our first winning season since 1978. And the school has gone to a precious few bowl games. Yet, there are some similarities, FSU has taken a small stadium, enlarged it, added to its decor, added sky boxes, built new facilities and gradually developed a great physical plant for the sport. We're in the process of doing the same things. Also, under Coach Bowden, FSU has scheduled the powerhouses of the nation and successfully taken those teams on, even if most of the games had to be on the road. We are doing the same thing, playing games at Purdue, FSU and Tennessee this year and playing against teams from the Big 10, Pac 10, SEC and major independents in the coming years.

The major difference between our construction jobs is probably the distance we have to travel. At Louisville, we are trying to somehow shorten a 15-year process into something more reasonable. We are just approaching the point at which I took over the Miami job in 1979. And as you know, it was five more years after that before we challenged for the title.

Q. Was your Miami "project" more like FSU's?

A. In the sense of having some existing tradition and of being an independent school, yes. But I think the Miami situation was quite unique—being in a major metropolitan city, having to compete with a very successful pro franchise, having a stadium that was actually too large in the beginning and may still be, and actually being on the brink of extinction. You see, they had actually voted to do away with the sport, but then reconsidered and offered me that job. And we set about doing it.

Q. Do you think Florida recruiting is in the picture at U of L because of the talent that is available in the Sunshine state?

A. Yes. Currently we have 25 players from Florida on our roster. And we will probably have a number of new players from Florida each year. We offer youngsters in that state an option, a chance to play at an early stage and we think a special opportunity to be a part of building something special. With the 30 rule, it's obvious that all the great prospects in Florida can't all sign with the three state schools. We wouldn't mind being a top option for them. Yet I'm sure as our program matures, we will attract more and more top players from around the nation and from Florida.

Q. What about the future of U of L football?

A. Our program is on a collision course with greatness. The only variable is time. I think we have the program on solid ground. We have made some tough, but correct decisions in these first three years. And we are closing the gap on the great programs ever so slowly. This year we're playing with 78 freshmen and sophomores out of 96 players. So we should get better and better as these players mature. We have seven quarterbacks on the squad, five with two or more years of eligibility remaining, three with four years to play. And as Coach Bowden will tell you, for those of us who like to throw the ball, that's enough to bring a smile.

Bobby Bowden, Florida State

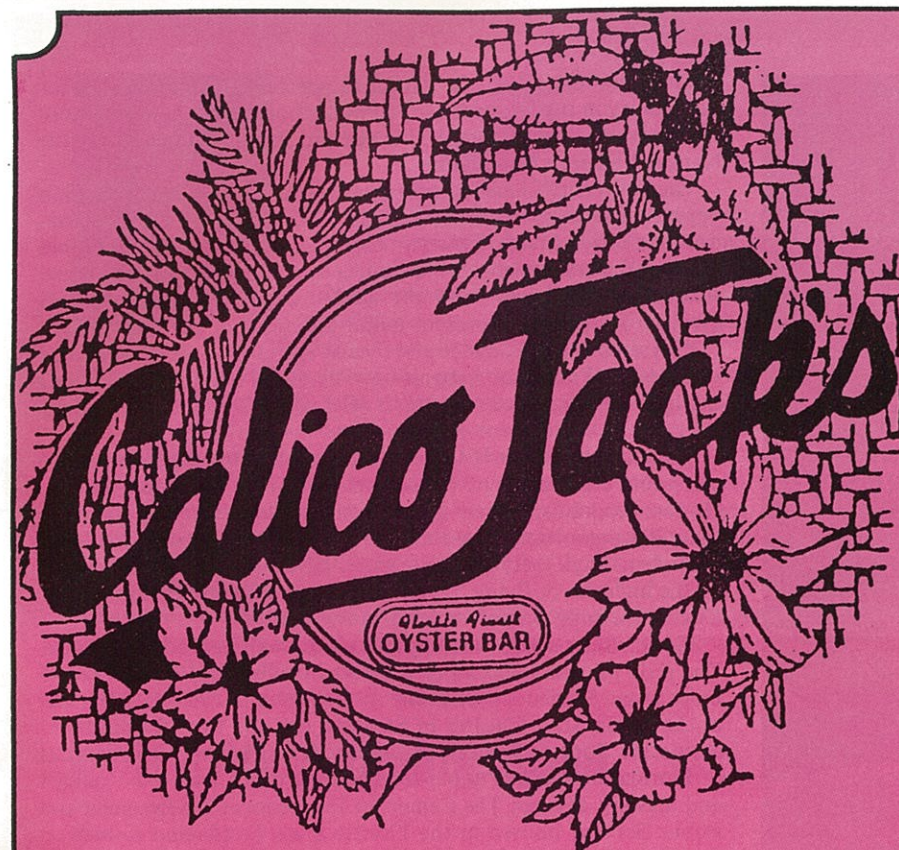

Q. What comes to mind when you think of Howard Schnellenberger?

A. There's not a better coach in the country. He can stand up with anyone. Any team that Howard Schnellenberger coaches will be a well-coached, well-prepared team. He might be outmanned, but not outcoached. I have the utmost respect for Howard Schnellenberger.

Q. What is your most vivid memory of playing a Howard Schnellenberger-coached team?

A. There have been so many great games over the years but it would have to be the 1983 game when Miami came up here and beat us 17-16. In fact, they went on to win the national championship that year. It stands out because he had Bernie Kosar, a freshman quarterback, and still won the national championship. Nothing phases Howard; he is one of the coolest coaches on the sidelines.

This is FSU

Florida State is the University which boasts of such diverse assets as the world's most powerful supercomputer and the greatest all-collegiate show on Earth, the Flying High Circus.

Located in Tallahassee, the capital of Florida, FSU is a public, coeducational university and a senior member of the State University System.

About 23,500 students representing all 50 states and more than 100 foreign countries work toward more than 250 different graduate and undergraduate degrees in the 15 schools and colleges of Florida State. The colleges of arts and sciences, business, communication, education, engineering, home economics, law and social sciences combine with the schools of criminology, library and information studies, music, nursing, social work, theatre and visual arts to make FSU a nationally acclaimed university.

The Florida State campus, located just a few blocks from the state Capitol, is one of the most beautiful in the Southeast. Traditional Gothic-style structures combine with the latest in modern architecture, all brought together by an array of oaks, pines, palms, dogwoods and azaleas. The natural beauty of the 347-acre main campus mirrors the picturesque features of the surrounding North Florida region.

Florida State was founded in 1857 as the Seminary West of the Suwannee River. Name changes over the years included Florida State College and, in 1909, Florida State College for Women. Governor Millard Caldwell signed a bill in 1947 which again made the institution coeducational and named it Florida State University.

Today, Florida State faculty and administrators generate more than $35 million annually in external funding to supplement state sponsorship of research. In addition, almost $13 million in private gifts was raised through the FSU Foundation during the past fiscal year. These contributions from alumni, friends, corporations, the university community and charitable foundations are for the sole benefit of Florida State's academic programs.

The FSU Supercomputer Computations Research Institute has attracted international attention to the University, home of the world's fastest supercomputer. The ETA10 has the capacity to perform 10 billion calculations per second.

The Tandem Van de Graaf-Superconducting Accelerator Laboratory in the Department of Physics houses two powerful atom smashers and has been ranked in the top four in the nation by the National Science Foundation.

The University's location affords excellent research and internship opportunities in government, law and the social sciences. The reputation of Florida State's research programs, the expertise of its more than 1,500 faculty members—including four members of the National Academy of Sciences—and the quality of the graduate students involved in research represent major strengths of the University.

Programs in music, dance and theater at Florida State have earned well-deserved national recognition. The visual and performing arts exhibited and produced on campus offer students and the community a wealth of enrichment opportunities.

Student activities at FSU create an important balance between the classroom experience and the personal life of the individual scholar. Honors programs, student government, intramural sports and more than 200 organizations are available for student involvement.

Students from every academic major have a chance to become stars on the highwire or flying trapeze by participating in the Flying High Circus, the only one of its kind in the nation.

Florida State academic programs extend well beyond Tallahassee. The FSU Marine Laboratory is located on the Gulf of Mexico, 45 miles away. Students participate in professional training programs at the Asolo State Theater in Sarasota and the Burt Reynolds Institute for Theatre Training in Jupiter. The Panama City Campus of Florida State offers upper-level courses which lead to bachelor's and master's degrees. The Center for Professional Development and Public Service, housed in the Florida State Conference Center on the edge of campus, manages educational outreach activities from Pensacola to Miami. In addition, Florida State maintains programs of study in England, Italy, Costa Rica, Switzerland, Yugoslavia, the Panama Canal Zone and even the People's Republic of China.

The physical growth of the University during the Sliger administration is best evidenced by such additions as the new wing of the Rovetta Business Building, the University Union expansion project, the new Paul A.M. Dirac Science Library Building, the Panama City Campus, the Jeffersonian Village Green project at the College of Law and the new building for the FAMU/FSU College of Engineering, now under construction.

Florida State is setting the pace as higher education in Florida prepares to enter the 21st century. And President Sliger takes pride not only in the academic programs and facilities of the University, but also in the people—students, faculty, alumni, administrators and staff—who make Florida State a successful monument to learning.

Bernie Sliger
University President

Dr. Bernard Sliger has served as the 10th president of Florida State University since February 7, 1977, following a six-month stint as the University's interim president. In 1987 he is celebrating the end of his first decade of leadership.

After he joined the administration in 1972 as executive vice president, he assumed the additional duties of chief academic officer, and further served as director of the University's London Study Center during the fall quarter, 1975.

Sliger, a native of Trout Creek, Mi., was born Sept. 30, 1924. He holds three degrees, the B.A. ('49), M.A. ('50) and Ph.D. ('55), from Michigan State University, all in economics. Sliger has taught at Florida State, Michigan State, Louisiana State and at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La.

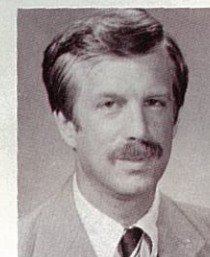

Sliger began his educational career as an instructor in Michigan's Interior Township Schools in 1947. Prior to joining Florida State, he worked for 19 years as a professor and administrator at Louisiana State University. During that time, he served LSU as head of the economics department, member and chairman of the graduate council, dean of academic affairs and vice chancellor. In 1969, he organized the Louisiana Coordinating Council for Higher Education, which is similar to the Florida Board of Regents, and became its executive director.

As president at Florida State, Sliger is involved in athletics. He is a member of the NCAA's Presidents Commission and is one of 22 chief executive officers elected to that body from Division I schools. He began his four-year term in January of this year.

Sliger and his wife, Greta, have four children.

Charles W. Ehrhardt
Faculty Athletic Committee Chairman

A professor of Law at Florida State University since 1967, Charles W. Ehrhardt is beginning his fourth year as chairman of the FSU Athletic Committee.

Ehrhardt served on the committee from 1969 to 71, and was reappointed to the board in 1983, becoming Florida State's representative to the NCAA with the appointment.

A native of Elkader, Iowa, Ehrhardt received a bachelor's degree from Iowa State University in 1962. Two years later he earned his law degree from the University of Iowa and went on to become an Assistant United States Attorney in that state before coming to Tallahassee.

A widely-respected expert in the field of Evidence, Ehrhardt holds the Florida State position as the Ladd Professor of Evidence. He wrote the Florida Evidence Code, passed by the state legislature in 1976, which deals with the admissibility of evidence.

From 1984-86, he was president of the Metro Conference which made him the league's chief representative to the NCAA. He is still active in conference administration, serving on the editorial committee.

Ehrhardt and his wife, Judy, have three children.

C.W. "Hootie" Ingram

Athletic Director

Cecil Ingram, known to his friends and associates as "Hootie," has headed Florida State's athletic department for the past seven years. He came to FSU in January of 1981 after eight years with the Southeastern Conference.

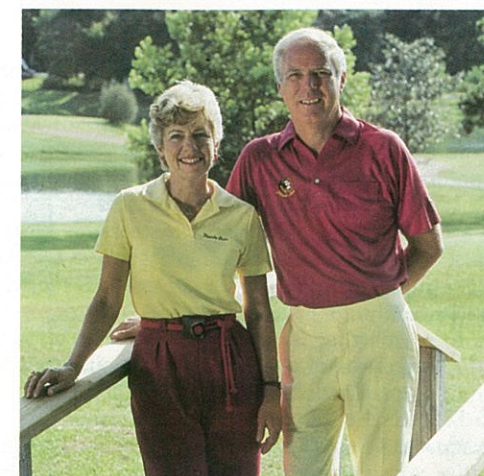

Upon arriving in Tallahassee, Ingram initiated a $10-million-dollar building program for athletic facilities. Moore Athletic Center, which houses administrative, coaching and ticket personnel, was planned, built and completed under Ingram's leadership.

Dick Howser Stadium, second to none in the South, was completed during Ingram's second year at FSU, while Doak Campbell Stadium, the Bim Stults Aquatic Center and Mike Long Track were all renovated.

Ingram is in his second year of a four-year term on the prestigious NCAA Council. As an elected member of that body, he is one of 22 representatives from Division I schools. Ingram is also a member of the College Football Association (CFA) television committee, chairman of the NCAA nominating committee and chairman of the major independents.

A native of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Ingram played football for the hometown Crimson Tide from 1951 to 1954. He was named all-SEC as a sophomore when he led the nation in pass interceptions. He was a member of both the 1953 Orange and 1954 Cotton Bowl squads, and also lettered for the Alabama baseball team as an infielder.

After graduation and an Army stint, Ingram began his coaching career in 1956 as an assistant football coach at Bradenton (Fla.) Manatee High School. The next year, he became head coach at Tuscaloosa Brookwood High School for three years.

Athletic Director Hootie Ingram and his wife Toni

Ingram moved into the college coaching arena in 1960 as an assistant at Wake Forest. He also made coaching stops at Virginia Tech, Georgia and Arkansas before accepting the head coach's job at Clemson in 1970, the only collegiate head coaching job he held. Three years after taking the position, Ingram left Clemson to join the SEC as assistant commissioner.

During his eight-year tenure with the conference, his duties included supervision of football and basketball officials, rules interpretations and eligibility. After five years as assistant commissioner, he was named associate commissioner in 1978.

Ingram and his wife, Toni, have a son and two daughters.

Head Coach Bobby Bowden

It Began With Bobby

By Wayne Hogan

Put all the rumors to rest and let's play football. Bobby Bowden looks much better in garnet and gold than any other colors anyway.

It seems like a never-ending cycle. Bowden steers his Florida State team to another successful season and into a bowl game and the rumors start to fly. And why not? Can any coach in America claim the success on the field, coupled with the wit, charm and wholesomeness of a Bobby Bowden? Probably not.

It just stands to reason that Bowden's name comes up almost anytime there is a coaching job available. For 11 years now Bowden has been winning football games and friends at Florida State. And for 11 years he's been telling all of these would-be suitors that he really kind of likes it at good Ole FSU. This time, I think he's made his point.

Recently, the most coveted of all coaching jobs on Bowden's list—Alabama—came open. Being a Birmingham native and growing up in the land of red elephants, Bowden seemed a perfect choice to some. And what better circumstance could there be? Bowden's Seminoles just happened to be making their fifth consecutive bowl appearance—where else—Birmingham's All-American Bowl.

For a few days the rumors were rampant. Unofficially, Bowden was contacted by dozens of his long-time Alabama buddies about the job. Things got so desperate that some media outlets reported that the deal was cut for Bobby to move to Tuscaloosa.

But in truth, any possibility of a Bowden move was squelched by none other than Bowden himself.

"I was driving back to Tallahassee from Birmingham with Ann (Bowden's wife of 38 years)," says the coach, "and we just decided the heck with it—we want to stay at Florida State."

Bowden pulled into his driveway that night of January 2, 1987 to find a front yard full of writers and TV cameras. He stepped from his car and said he was staying in Tallahassee ... period.

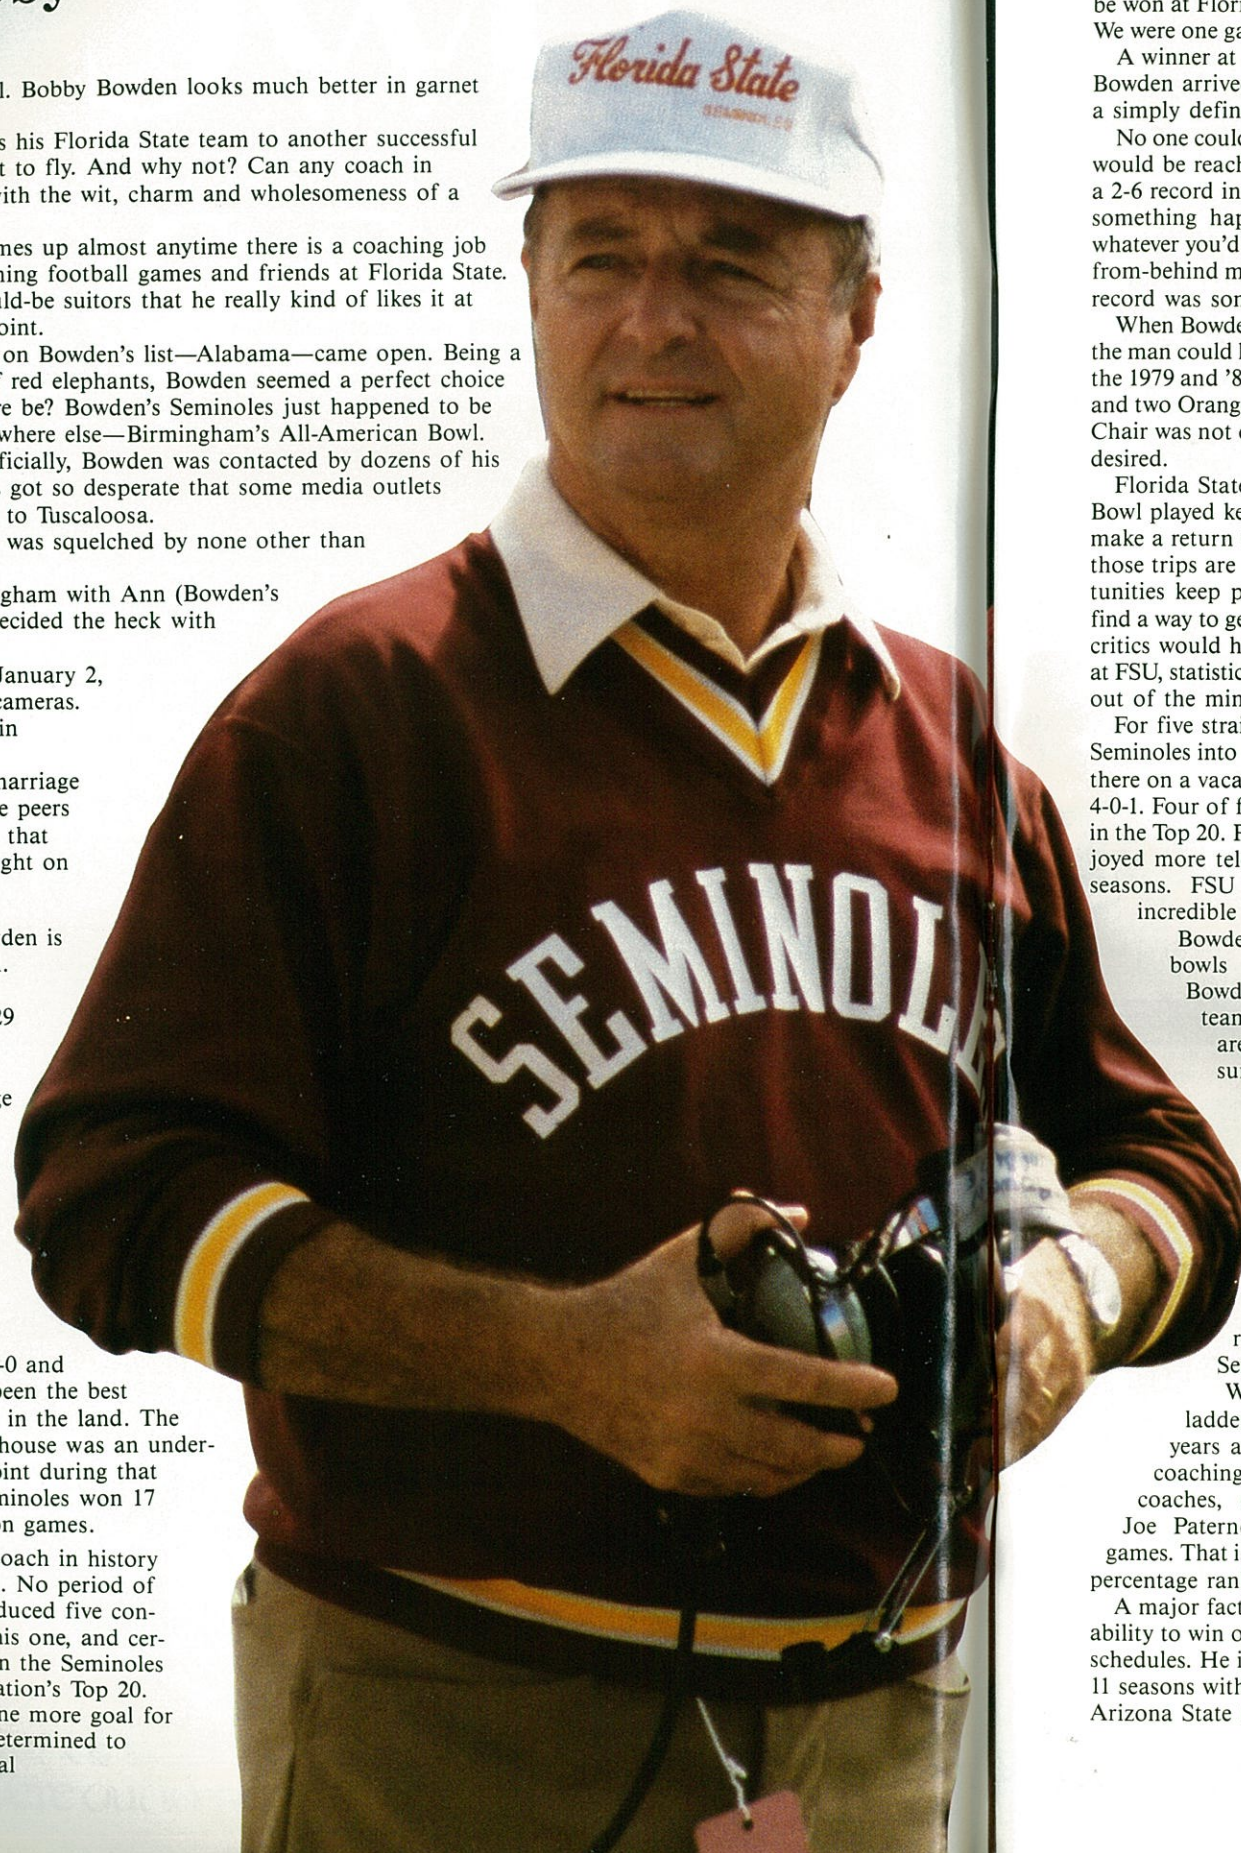

Bowden once said that he and FSU were in a marriage and that no man would put it asunder. Now as he peers at his 12th Seminole season, at age 57, it appears that his remark was just like all other Bowdenisms. Right on target.

Coaches with Most Wins

1. Bo Schembechler, Michigan ..... 207
2. Joe Paterno, Penn State ..... 199
3. Vince Dooley, Georgia ..... 183
4. Bobby Bowden, Florida State ..... 163

6. Hayden Fry, Iowa ..... 150
7. LaVell Edwards, Brigham Young ..... 137
- Tom Osborne, Nebraska ..... 137
- Barry Switzer, Oklahoma ..... 137
10. Bill Dooley, Wake Forest ..... 132
- Grant Teaff, Baylor ..... 132

In many ways Bowden is Florida State football. He took the program from the ashes of 4-29 over three previous seasons to the very pinnacle of the college football heap. Remember that Florida State was 0-11 and perhaps the worst college team in the land in 1973, and three years into the Bowden era—1979—Florida State went 11-0 and may very well have been the best college football team in the land. The outhouse to the penthouse was an understatement. At one point during that stretch Bowden's Seminoles won 17 straight regular-season games.

No Florida State coach in history can match his record. No period of FSU history has produced five consecutive bowls like this one, and certainly no era has seen the Seminoles consistently in the nation's Top 20. There is really but one more goal for the man and he is determined to reach it. The National Championship.

"I honestly believe that the national championship can and will be won at Florida State University," he said. "The resources are here. We were one game from that goal in 1979 and '80. We will be back!"

A winner at both of his previous coaching jobs, Bowden arrived at Florida State in 1976. He had a simply defined task: "Save the program!"

No one could have ever predicted the heights that would be reached. His first FSU team trudged to a 2-6 record in its first eight games. But suddenly something happened. Call it Bowden magic or whatever you'd like. There were three straight come-from-behind miracle wins in 1976 and the final 5-6 record was something to celebrate.

When Bowden's second FSU team won 10 games, the man could have been elected mayor. By the time the 1979 and '80 teams had reeled off a 21-3 record and two Orange Bowl appearances, the Governor's Chair was not out of the question if Bobby had so desired.

Florida State has twice since that 1981 Orange Bowl played key regular-season games to perhaps make a return trip, and twice come up short. But those trips are precious and as long as the opportunities keep presenting themselves, Bowden will find a way to get back. While some of the armchair critics would have you believe that times are lean at FSU, statistics prove that those thoughts are born out of the minds of spoiled brats.

For five straight years Bowden has directed the Seminoles into a bowl. And his teams don't just go there on a vacation. In the five bowl trips they are 4-0-1. Four of five years Florida State has finished in the Top 20. Perhaps no team in America has enjoyed more television exposure over the last five seasons. FSU has appeared on the tube an incredible 20 times since 1982.

Bowden's success and style draws the attention of the bowls and networks. One bowl scout said: "Bobby Bowden makes Florida State one of the most attractive teams in the country. I don't care where your allegiances are, everybody loves to see Bobby's team play. I'm not sure there is a more exciting team in America."

Bowden has built a reputation as a wide-open offensive coach. Trickery and deception are a fact of life for a Bowden team. Nothing is out of the question from any spot on the field.

Last season Bowden stunned a national TV audience and the nation's No. 1 team when he called for a cross-field lateral on a kickoff return at Miami. The Seminoles appeared to be slowly falling out of the game, but the trickery resulted in a 90-yard touchdown play that kept the Seminoles in the battle. Vintage Bobby Bowden.

With any luck Bowden will continue to move up the ladder of the nation's most successful coaches. In 11 years at FSU, Bowden is 90-36-3 (.709). His 21-year head coaching record now stands at 163-68-3. Among active coaches, only Michigan's Bo Schembechler, Penn State's Joe Paterno and Georgia's Vince Dooley have won more games. That is pretty good company. Bowden's .703 career winning percentage ranks eighth among all active head coaches.

A major factor in Bowden's success at FSU has been an uncanny ability to win on the road against one of the nation's toughest road schedules. He is 41-24-2 away from Doak Campbell Stadium in his 11 seasons with 11 of those wins coming at LSU (4), Nebraska (2), Arizona State (2), Ohio State (2) and Notre Dame (1).

Bowden's accomplishments have been recognized many times. Twice he has been named National Coach of the Year. In 1980 he was selected for the prestigious Bobby Dodd Coach of the Year Award. He has been inducted into both the Florida and Alabama Halls of Fame.

Bowden's coaching career actually began in his hometown of Birmingham when he was called to coach his alma mater Samford University in 1959. Bowden had earned a degree there in 1953 and gone on to get a master's from Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee.

In four seasons at Samford he compiled a 31-6 record and caught the eye of then-FSU head coach Bill Peterson. Bowden coached the FSU receivers (including All-American Fred Biletnikoff) in 1963 and '64.

In 1965 he accepted a position as the offensive coordinator under Jim Carlen at West Virginia and succeeded Carlen as the Mountaineer head coach in 1970. In six seasons at WVU, Bowden went 42-26 and capped off his stint there in 1975 with a 9-3 season and a Peach Bowl championship.

Bowden returned to Tallahassee in January of 1976 after a slip on the West Virginia ice convinced him it was time to return to his native South.

In addition to his two national Coach of the Year awards, Bowden was twice named Southern Independent Coach of the Year. He is married to the former Ann Estock of Birmingham and has six children.

Three of his sons are in the coaching business; as well as his son-in-law. Terry is head coach at Samford while son Jeff and son-in-law Jack Hines are assistants on Terry's staff. Tommy Bowden is the receiver coach at Alabama.

Just one of the fresh fruits you'll find on our salad bar

Plump, juicy tomatoes. Delicately sliced and chilled.

Surround them with lettuce, cucumbers, cheese and croutons. Try our fresh melons, oranges, and pineapple. Maybe a spoonful of delicious macaroni salad.

Then, dip into our rich, creamy Thousand Island dressing. Or spicy Italian. We have five to choose from.

And if you're really hungry, top it all off with a bowl of steaming hot, homemade soup. Vegetable, potato, chicken noodle. Every week, it's something different.

With more than 40 items to choose from, you could make a meal of our Soup, Salad and Fruit Bar, couldn't you?

The Winning Side.

In any area of life where you accomplish something, you need drive and dedication. A commitment to excellence. An environment that inspires achievement.

Football is certainly a character builder. But that same drive can be expressed in every field.

At Florida Progress, we have what it takes to be the best. Which is why we will continue to progress to the finish.

In four brief years, we have become one of the top 500 corporations in the country. Gaining ground internationally, in business groups ranging from Utility, Energy and Technology to Financial Services, Development and Business Services. Employing more than 8,000 talented people, with a lot of that talent recruited from the business and professional stars of tomorrow we find on Florida's college campuses. Talent that represents a bright legacy for the future of our state.

Certainly, we've an impressive record so far. Yet, you won't catch us holding the ball. We have a lot more games to win. And win them we will, with the help of top-flight recruits from Florida State University.

Because, for us, progress is more than a goal. It's a business.

YOU COULD PROBABLY THINK OF A LOT OF BORING WAYS TO SAVE $25,200 FOR YOUR EDUCATION.

We haven't seen many bored soldiers, though. We're used to seeing young men and women earn vocational/technical school money by learning about high-tech tanks or truck engines or radio communications. And by getting into rock-hard physical shape.

As soldiers, they can earn up to $25,200 for their vo/tech education, if they qualify. They save $1,200 from their first full 12 months' paychecks. The government chips in $9,600, and the Army, $14,400. On top of all that, they also receive a good salary, food, lodging, and medical coverage.

You could be one of them. Ask your local Army Recruiter about the GI Bill Plus the Army College Fund. And how it can turn saving money for your education into a matter of interest.

My Number One Pick? Ford!

It should be yours too, because I think the Ford Dealers here in Florida and South Georgia are Number One. And they've been Number One in truck sales here for over 19 straight years – out-selling Chevy and all the imports combined.*

They got to be Number One by working hard and making great deals on great Ford products ... like Thunderbird Turbo Coupe, Motor Trend's 1987 Car of the Year.

Being Number One counts for a lot with me. That's why my Number One pick is Ford ... and the Florida and South Georgia Ford Dealers.

Quarterbacks Are All Game for Terry Warren

By Lisa Franson, Tribe Editor

When the ball is snapped, the outside linebacker's job is simple on this play. Hunt the quarterback. Get to him and drop him. Florida State outside linebacker Terry Warren excelled in that play a year ago, leading the 1986 squad in sacks with five. Two weeks ago, he dropped Miami quarterback Steve Walsh on a similar play; the 6-3, 230 lb. Florida State senior hopes to hunt down more quarterbacks as 1987 progresses.

Quarterbacks are not the only thing that Warren considers "fun sport". On an open week in the fall or during the off-season, Warren will take to the woods near the Florida-Georgia border and hunt for deer or duck.

"It's a fun sport," Warren says. "It gets me away from town and into the woods. It's probably my biggest hobby."

While his football successes have been documented, his hunting successes are just as impressive. During last year's hunting season, Warren bagged four deer, one a 9-pointer that he has mounted in his apartment in Burt Reynolds Hall.

"My dad used to take my brothers duck hunting when I was too small to go," he says. "They'd come back late in the afternoon and I'd get to play with all the guts. Now I usually hunt with Kyle Unglaub (former Seminole Kurt's brother). I come back to the apartment and cook up some deer burgers. It's the best meat you can eat."

While hunting is quite normal for the Warrens, football is also all in the family. The youngest of four brothers, Terry's ties with Florida State go back to the sixth grade when big brother Scott was being recruited by outside linebacker coach Jim Gladden.

When Scott signed, Gladden offered Terry a job as the team's ball boy, enabling him to become a part of the FSU football family. Frank and Mayanne Warren took their youngest son to every game during Scott's playing days—both home and away. "I played a year of Pop Warner football down in Titusville," Terry says. "Practiced every day, but I never played in a game because I always went to the FSU games. It was really exciting being involved with the team. I remember riding on the team bus and being caught up in the police escort with the sirens screaming."

While Scott starred on the 1979 Orange Bowl team, earning All-South Independent honors that year, Terry's high school career flourished. Florida State seemed like the logical choice when he was in the position to choose a school a few years later. Not so, says Terry. "I didn't come to Florida State because I had been a ball boy," he says. "I visited four schools; in fact I almost went to Georgia."

Comparisons between Scott and him was the one thing that held him back. "I didn't want to have the comparisons," he says. "It almost kept me from coming here. I knew it would be hard, yet at the same time I thought it may be easier because Scott had built a good reputation among his peers and the coaching staff. But it came down to me feeling that it was God's will for me to come here. I'd prayed about it and felt like everything I was looking for was at FSU. Other schools emphasized different areas but Florida State had the total program."

There is a picture on the wall in Gladden's office that helps tell the story. It has been hanging there since the beginning of the decade and it has been a subtle reminder for Terry since he signed at FSU. On the field, Scott Warren, #80, is one of a host of Seminoles making a tackle. In the background, one can easily make out a young Terry, "Ball Boy" emblazoned across his chest, holding a couple of footballs and a towel.

The comparisons he expected haunted him immediately as a freshman. "It was real

Welcome Back, 1967 Gator Bowl Squad!

Nearly 20 years ago to this date, a crowd of 33,179 gathered at Doak Campbell Stadium to honor the initial Seminole football team of 1947.

Tonight, an even larger crowd gathers in the same facility to honor the team which beat the Texas Tech Red Raiders 28-12 that night. The 1967 edition of the Florida State football team proved itself successful throughout that season. Its members later distinguished themselves through careers in pro football, politics, and business ventures.

The 1967 version of the Seminoles were at a crossroads in FSU football history. After years of being scoffed at as the girls' school in Tallahassee, the Seminoles, under innovative coach Bill Peterson, were a hot item, playing in two bowl games in the previous three years.

"We had come off a good year in 1966," said former offensive tackle Jack Fenwick. "Since it was basically the same team that went to the Sun Bowl the previous year, everyone was predicting a good year for us."

A closer look at that team shows a group of athletes who possessed speed, determination and a will to win. That was the biggest difference between the athletes of that time and the sheer bulk and strength of today's athletes. Comparing the 6-2, 200 lb. average line of 1967 to tonight's line which averages 6-3 and 264 pounds shows the difference 20 years makes in the game of collegiate football. "Everyone was smaller," said starting guard Larry Pendleton, who now serves as assistant athletic director at FSU. "We relied on speed, not bulk and strength. Some of our linemen could run just as fast as the backs. Also, with as much passing as we did, we perfected pass blocking thanks to offensive line coach Joe Gibbs."

That group of linemen had the task of protecting the prolific passing tandem of Kim Hammond and Ron Sellers. Twenty years later, Sellers' career totals of 212 catches for 3,598 yards still stands in the NCAA football record book. In the late 60's era of college football, FSU's passing game was one of a kind for two reasons, according to the former All-American Sellers. "Coach Peterson was not afraid to learn from others," he said. "Every other year, he brought his offensive coaching staff to the training camp of the San Diego Chargers. There they got pointers from Coach Sid Gilliam who was passing up a storm in the old AFL. Another thing was that Peterson surrounded himself with outstanding assistant coaches."

During Peterson's 10 seasons with the Seminoles, many familiar names roamed the sidelines as an assistant for FSU. Don James (head coach Washington Huskies), Vince Gibson (former Tulane head coach), Gene McDowell (head coach and athletic director Central Florida), Don Breaux (offensive coordinator Washington Redskins), Joe Gibbs (head coach Washington Redskins), Dan Henning (former head coach Atlanta Falcons), Bill Parcells (head coach New York Giants) and even Bobby Bowden passed through the ranks during apprenticeships under Coach Pete.

The schedule FSU was faced with that season was unlike football schedules of today's teams. "Yeah, there were no I-AA teams on that (the 1967) schedule," said Peterson. "Florida State was still in a building process and we had to have teams that people would come and see." One football weekly, The Kickoff, labeled the FSU schedule third toughest in the United States. Opponents Houston, Alabama and N.C. State were ranked in the top 10 of the Associated Press poll.

The Seminoles opened the season with two road games. Traveling to the Astrodome, FSU dropped a 33-13 decision to the Houston Cougars for its sixth loss in as many tries against the independents from Texas. After a tough week of practice, it was off to Birmingham to meet an Alabama team which had been touted with a pre-season number 1 ranking. "Everything pointed against us," said Sellers. "Alabama had been the number one defensive team in 1966 and had 10 of 11 starters returning on defense." To make matters worse, ABC television planned to film footage of Coach Bear Bryant for a documentary on the legendary Alabama mentor, using Florida State as whipping boys.

What happened that night in Legion Field with the largest crowd ever to see a Florida State team play helped catapult the Seminole program into the national limelight. After defensive back Walt Sumner returned a punt 75 yards to put FSU ahead 14-0 in the first quarter, ABC cameras caught Bryant tiring down the sidelines asking his talented Crimson Tide squad, "What the hell is going on out there?"

When the dust cleared after six lead changes, the game ended in a 37-37 tie. Following an 8-yard touchdown pass from Kim Hammond to Bill Moreman to make the score 37-36 in favor of Alabama, Coach Peterson elected to go for the tie. Sophomore kicker Grant Guthrie added the extra point for one of FSU's more famous ties. Coach Peterson backed up his decision in his post-game comments. "It was my decision to go for the tie," he said. "I was not going to mess up 60 minutes of great effort in case we failed on a two-point try. If we had gone for two and missed, it might have ruined our season. Why not play for a tie when you're playing the best college football team in the country?"

The following week, the high-flying Seminoles were brought back to earth after a 20-10 loss to the Wolfpack of North Carolina State. It was to be the last loss of the season for FSU.

Next on the agenda was the Texas A&M Aggies in College Station. In a come-from-behind effort, the Seminoles pulled out a 19-18 win. The victory proved to be a turning point for FSU. Consider the factors. The game was played in driving rain with the ball literally floating on the field. "Their field (Kyle Field) was brand new and the grass had not grown strong roots," says Fenwick. "You had to hold the ball down so it would not float away. You couldn't even see the lines on the field." In addition to the elements, the Aggies were a talented team that finished the season as the Southwest Conference champions and went on to defeat Alabama 20-16 in the Cotton Bowl.

A bit of trickery was also used in College Station to give FSU an advantage. Hammond had tacks taped between his fingers in order to get a better grip on the football. "The idea originally came from former assistant coach Bill Crutchfield," said Hammond. "But (trainer) Don Fauls remembered it, and figured that it was the proper time. He cut the thumbtacks into posts and put them between my fingers. Then he wrapped my hands with flesh-colored tape. It was amazing how much ball control it gave you with such little effort. The only thing was that after the game, it looked like a wildcat had got hold of the ball."

The rain-soaked game in College Station proved to FSU that it could win on the road as well as come from behind to win. From that point, it was smooth sailing as the defense flexed its muscle, allowing an average of only 10 points per game in the next six wins.

The Florida State defense of 1967 was an overachieving bunch. "They were a unit who believed in one another," remembered Peterson. "They possessed great speed and were great hitters. They did not have much ability but they were tough. Nobody scared them; they went after anyone." Eight of the 11 defensive team members were either juniors or seniors and had played at least a year together.

They named themselves "the rat pack" after Miami coach Charlie Tate said that the FSU defensive unit "looked like a bunch of mice running around on the field" during Florida State's 23-20 win over the Hurricanes the previous year.

Their outstanding defensive performance may have stemmed from practice preparation. "The defensive guys used to call our offensive line the dirtiest bunch of guys they played against," recalled Fenwick. "We weren't a big group so we had to do something to compensate for our lack of size."

The Seminoles capped the regular season with a 21-16 win over Florida in Gainesville. It was a momentous occasion because it was FSU's first win at Florida Field. The victory was a folk-hero type story which saw Hammond return from being knocked unconscious to throw a game-preserving touchdown to Sellers, who caught seven passes for 153 yards that afternoon amongst the sea of orange.

Hammond capped off the regular season highlighting his leadership qualities which won him the starting quarterback job after Gary Pajcic's sore arm forced him to the sidelines early in the season. "Kim Hammond was another coach on the field," said Peterson. "He had unbelievable leadership qualities," added Fenwick, who roomed with Hammond during the season. "His presence completely turned the team around in the Florida game, although he didn't know where he was."

Also included in the win over Florida was an invitation to Jacksonville's Gator Bowl to face the 10th-ranked Penn State Nittany Lions under soon-to-be legendary coach Joe Paterno.

Before a crowd of more than 62,000, the Seminoles answered Penn State's 17 first half points and matched that total in the second half without giving up a point. The game ended in FSU's second tie of the 1967 season. "We made every mistake possible in the Gator Bowl and still managed a 17-17 tie," said Pendleton. "The guys on Penn State's defensive line were the biggest we faced all season. But it was our defense that turned the momentum in the second half."

When season-ending honors were passed out, the Seminoles cashed in. Sellers, who ranked second in the nation with 70 catches, was voted to four first-team All-American squads. Hammond, who was ranked second in the nation in total offense with 2,074

Where Are They Now?

LARRY PENDLETON, GUARD. Now in his seventh year as Assistant Athletic Director at Florida State. His primary duty is maintaining and scheduling of all athletic facilities.

WAYNE McDUFFIE, GUARD. Serving in his fifth year as offensive coordinator for the explosive Seminole offense. Prior to Florida State, McDuffie served at New Mexico, Oklahoma State and Georgia at the collegiate level and was the offensive line coach for the Atlanta Falcons at the professional level.

JACK FENWICK, TACKLE. Is the Director of Executive Services for the Florida Department of Law Enforcement in Tallahassee. Fenwick heads up the security for the governor of Florida as well as security for the governor's mansion. He was also responsible for the security for Pope John Paul II's recent visit to Miami.

KIM HAMMOND, QUARTERBACK. A judge for the Seventh Judicial Circuit which encompasses four counties (Flagler, Volusia, St. Johns and Putnam) on Florida's east coast.

RON SELLERS, WIDE RECEIVER. After a five-year career in the NFL with the New England Patriots, Dallas Cowboys and Miami Dolphins, Sellers has settled into the insurance business as a certified life underwriter for Ron Sellers and Associates, Inc. in West Palm Beach. Athletics keep tugging at the former All-American as Ron has recently played in the U.S. Amateur Golf Tournament. He has also qualified for the British Amateur Open set for next spring in Wales. "I would like to play more competitive golf on a national level," says Sellers. "But it takes so much time away from my business. To prepare for the U.S. Amateur, I had to take three weeks off of work."

HEAD COACH BILL PETERSON. Is currently working part-time in fundraising efforts for Florida State University. Coach Peterson and his wife Marjorie recently moved back to Tallahassee from Orlando. "It was getting too big for me down there," said Peterson. "Too much traffic"

GARY PAJCIC, QUARTERBACK. Is a successful attorney in Jacksonville. Brother Steve recently ran unsuccessfully for Governor of Florida.

KEN HART, OFFENSIVE LINE. An attorney, who currently resides in Tallahassee.

T. K. WETHERALL, DEFENSIVE BACK. A congressman from Daytona Beach in Florida's House of Representatives. He also serves as the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

ROBERT URICH, OFFENSIVE LINEMAN. Currently stars in the ABC series, Spencer For Hire. Resides in Andover, Massachusetts.

MIKE BUGAR, MIDDLE GUARD. An assistant coach at Georgia Southwestern University in Americus, Georgia.

JIM CAREY, END. A dentist living in Tallahassee.

HARVEY ZION, TACKLE. A doctor living in Wetumpka, Alabama.

GRANT GUTHRIE, KICKER. Lives in Plano, Texas and works as a sales manager for the Dallas Black and Decker Office. Grant also coaches his son's Little League football team.

JOHN CROWE, DEFENSIVE BACK. Crowe presently lives in Germantown, Tennessee and is a group manager in charge of production for Proctor & Gamble in Memphis. While teaching at the Air Force in the late 70s, Crowe called Bobby Bowden to tell him of a disgruntled Air Force punter from Minnesota by the name of Rohn Stark. Stark went on to become the greatest punter in Seminole history, and now in NFL history.

PHIL ABRAIRA, FLANKER/PUNT RETURNER. Abraira kept an interest in the Seminole team when stepson Gartha Jax attended FSU from 1982-85. Abraira is a business consultant for Inmed Corporation, a manufacturer of medical supplies. He lives in Roswell, Georgia.

Undersized, But Tough Enough

By Rob Wilson, Tribe Staff Writer

Bart Schuchts does not fall into the conventional mold of a college football defensive lineman. At 6-4, 238-pounds he is undersized by nearly 30 pounds for a "normal" lineman. But Bart has battled the odds before and he doesn't seem the least concerned that each trip on the field puts him in the underdog role.

As a tight end and linebacker at Bishop Kenny High School in Jacksonville, Schuchts had the attention of many colleges across the country. However, concerns over a poor academic record forced some schools to back away from the talented prepster. Only Florida State and Clemson remained interested in Schuchts and FSU had already warned about academics.

"I was just more interested in sports rather than class in high school," admits Schuchts. "A lot of schools backed off but I had my heart set on Florida State. I knew that they would not accept me unless I performed academically so I enrolled in a prep school."

Make no mistake about Bart Schuchts; he is no dumb jock. Eloquent and well spoken, Schuchts seems to fit into the "did not apply himself" category.

"I was determined to play for the Seminoles," he says. "I got my grades up in prep school and then a rule change nullified my grades. I had no place to go."

Schuchts went to Georgia Southern to try to improve his academic standing while playing football for his former high school coach. After one season, he was ready to transfer to Florida State.

"I just walked into Coach Andrews' (defensive coordinator Mickey Andrews) office and asked him about transferring. I felt good about it because he really seemed interested even though he didn't know me from Adam. He was also very honest. He told me that I had to be a walk-on and earn my way on the team, but he promised to give me a look."

So Schuchts transferred to Florida State and began the tough routine of life as a walk-on. Not quite a blocking dummy, but close. A natural outside linebacker, Schuchts found himself running fifth string behind four scholarship players and it was obvious to player and coach that he would have to move to play.

"Coach Andrews called me in and told me he would like to try me at defensive line," says the ruggedly handsome criminology major. "I wasn't sure, but I knew I had to move."

"I got beat around pretty good when I first made the switch because I weighed even less then. But my quickness helped a lot. I was just so hungry to get a scholarship. I guess I just fought through it and played at such an emotional high that it made up for the lack of size."

The move began to pay off in Schuchts' (pronounced shoots) junior year. He became a special teams regular and saw some playing time at the tackle spot. His best game came against South Carolina where he sacked the quarterback to begin FSU's come-from-behind win. He also was credited with three quarterback pressures and had an interception. He was named Tomahawk Player of the Week by the coaching staff.

"Coach Amato and Andrews both have just been excellent coaches," he says. "Both are very intense, but they get the most out of you. I really give Coach Amato a lot of credit, because he really demands that you do things the right way and sooner-or-later you realize that he is right. He improved me as a pass rusher which has opened the door for me to play in certain situations."

"Bart is just such a determined individual," says Amato. "He is a winner. He made every Bart Schuchts effort during the summer and off-season to improve himself and it shows. He earned a starting position this year. He's been hurt and that is frustrating, but I know he will fight his way back in there."

"I would have wondered at first about moving him to defensive line had I not had Stanley Scott a couple of years ago," adds Amato. "He was undersized also, and he managed to get by on great technique and physical strength."

Schuchts, the oldest player on the Seminole squad, dedicated himself to improving his play against the run last spring and that philosophy paid off. He found himself running first string at the conclusion of spring practice and entered the fall listed as the starter at right tackle.

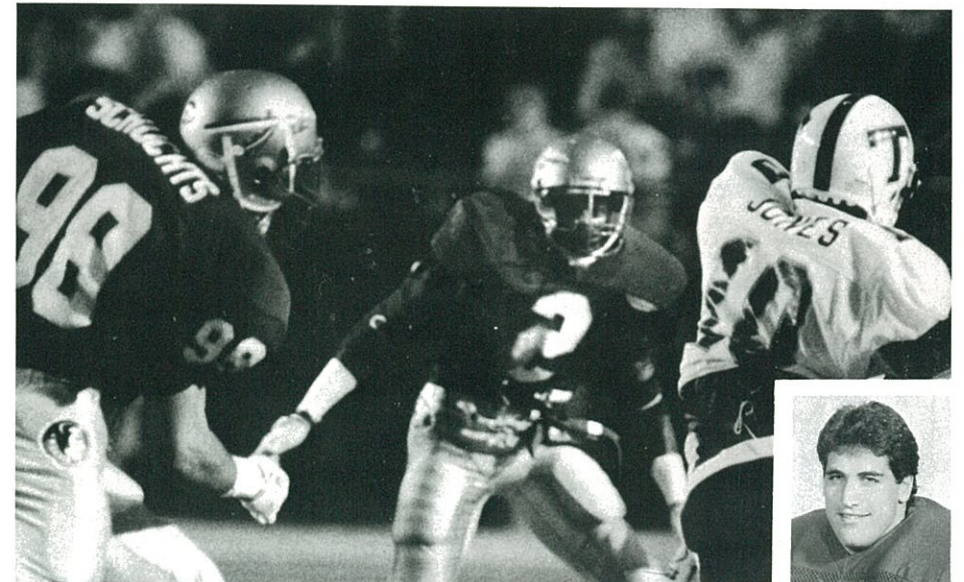

"I was pleased with my work during spring and fall drills," says Schuchts. "I still have a lot to learn, we all do, but this is a team and we all pull together."

Indeed, the Florida State roster is senior heavy and the group has kept things on track even following the tough loss to Miami earlier this season.

"We all know each other so well," Schuchts says. "We've played together for a long time and have come to trust one another. They (the team) seem to think I have a real dry sense of humor and so whenever anyone tells that style of joke, it's known as a Bart joke."

If one gets the impression that Bart Schuchts is happy to be where he is, you can bet your bottom dollar it is true.

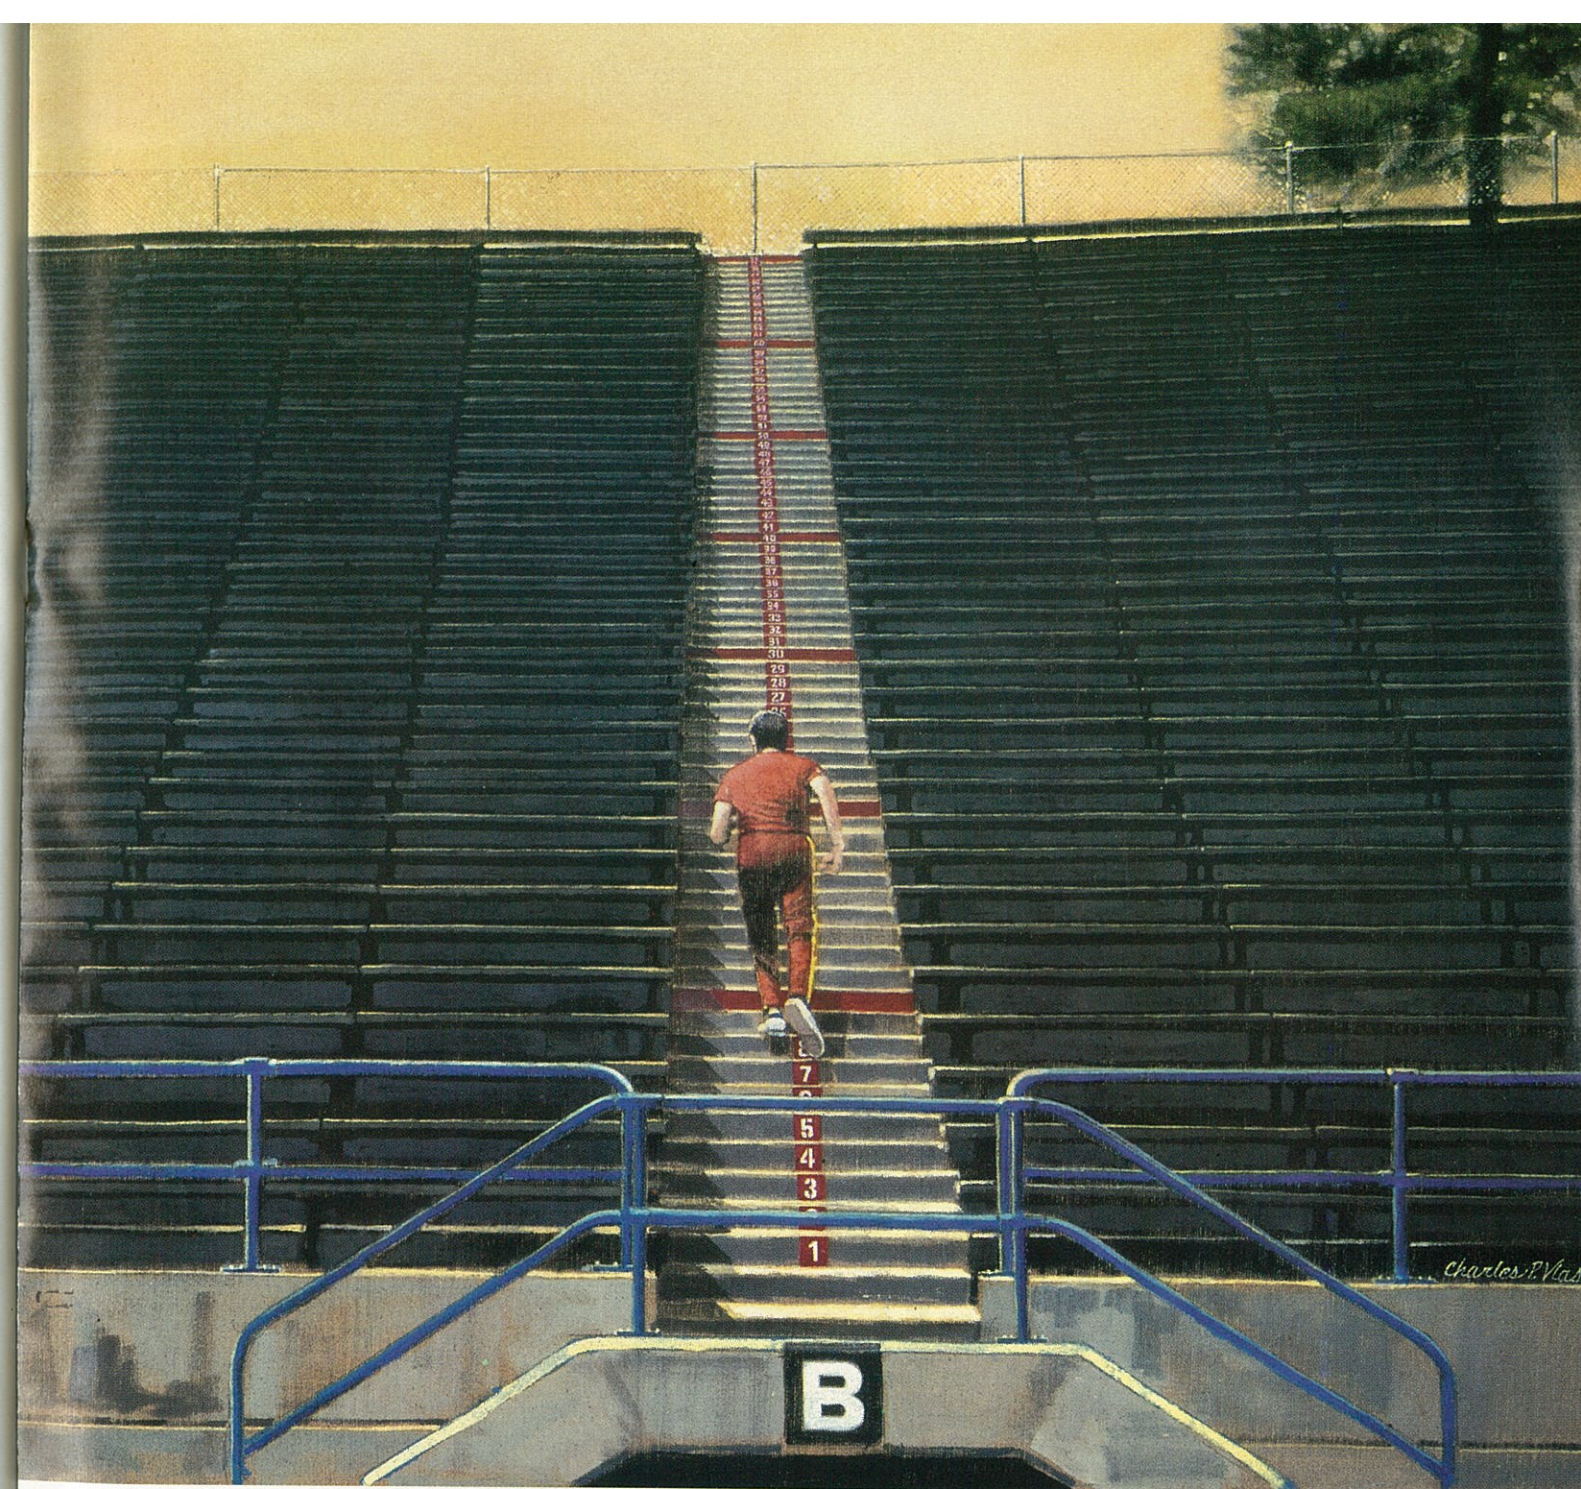

"I love it here at Florida State," he says. "It might sound corny but I just consider it a real privilege to go to school and play here. It is hard to really look at things during the season and realize what is going on, but I do enjoy playing for Florida State. It's been a dream come true."

No Place To Go But Up

By Jeff Schneider, Louisville Assistant Sports Information Director

Thieneman is from the old Louisville days...

... while Gruden and Schnellenberger have been at Louisville for three years...

Hear the phone? It's ringing for Howard Schnellenberger. It's criticism calling again to tell Howard he won't win at Louisville. Criticism calls daily to point out that Louisville has never been and never will be a power in football. It calls to tell Howard he's wasting his time. It calls and calls...

... and calls and Howard keeps answering, puffing his pipe. Criticism, though, will call some day and hear the message: "I'M SORRY, YOU HAVE REACHED A NUMBER THAT HAS BEEN DISCONNECTED. IF YOU ARE TRYING TO REACH HOWARD SCHNELLENBERGER, HE'S BACK AT THE TOP." To the top of the football world, that is. A place Schnellenberger guided Miami to in 1983 when the Hurricanes defeated Nebraska 33-30 in the 50th Annual Orange Bowl when criticism said Nebraska was one of the greatest teams ever. And a place he intends to direct Louisville in the near future.

Since Howard departed Miami for big bucks in the USFL—a job that never materialized—and then Louisville, "W's" have been as elusive as his pipe smoke.

But even though Louisville is a heavy underdog against the Seminoles, the Cardinals are closing the gap from being inept, which they were when Schnellenberger took over, to a team that truly competes on a weekly basis, which the Cards are doing this year.

Louisville has been an up and down team so far. Up—as in the Cards' come-from-behind, 42-40 win over Tulane. "Of all the big wins I've been around," Schnellenberger said, "this ranks up there with them. As far as an achievement, this one reaches beyond anything I've been around." Down—as in losing to Cincinnati 23-0 when the Cardinals still had the Green Wave on the brain. Down—as in, ugh, getting pasted 65-6 by Southern Mississippi in the error-plagued game of the year. "We were soundly thrashed and we took a major step in the wrong direction," said Schnellenberger. "It's a good thing that a game can't count as more than one loss. In 20 years of coaching, I don't think I've ever witnessed anything as bad as what I saw out there tonight." Up—as in tying Big-Ten foe Purdue and whipping in-state rival Murray State, 4-10.

Schnellenberger seethes at the Cardinals' fluttering. He knows, though, that the future holds promise. With only five seniors on this year's team, Howard is idealistic—almost quixotic. "We'll win, it's just a matter of when," he says. "And when we do, it'll be one of the greatest stories ever."

Jay Gruden is the Cardinals' story so far. From his quarterback position, Gruden—the son of an NFL scout—has led the Cardinals to a 2-3-1 record. He doesn't have Jim Kelly's arm or Bernie Koser's intellect, but don't let Gruden's Huck-Finn features fool you. Schnellenberger says, "Jay has a lot of intangibles. He's not a power quarterback like Jim Kelly. He's in the mold of a Bob Griese. He has to have time, and when he does he'll hurt you."

Gruden eclipsed the legendary Johnny Unitas in passing yardage at Louisville last week and he's on pace to break more records.

While Gruden is perhaps the Cardinals' most valuable player, fullback Rodney Knighton lurks in his shadow. Knighton leads the Cards in receiving with 31 catches for 339 yards.

Knighton has the strength of several piano movers. During summer camp he squatted 605 pounds, something no Schnellenberger player has ever achieved. Tested on the Cybex—a machine that measures muscle strength—Knighton compares with Herschel Walker in his first couple steps.

U of L has other strengths, too. Chris Thieneman, a 6-4, 250-pound defensive lineman, is the team's big brother. A fifth-year senior, he remembers the pre-Schnellenberger era, "Nobody really took football seriously around here. Until this year, I'd never heard people in class ask each other if they had tickets for the games."

Freshman Ted Washington will soon be a gala attraction. At 6-5, 264, Washington is a player you can build Toyota plants on. His father, Ted, played 10 years in the NFL with the Houston Oilers. "I plan on drawing the scouts here one day," he says. "I see a bowl game for us..."

Four wins in the next five games are a must if Louisville is to be considered bowl bound in 1987. With a 6-5 record last season, Indiana was invited to the All-American Bowl. Realistically, though, if the Cardinals finish with a winning record, Schnellenberger's progress will be blowing more than just smoke.

"I'm as confident now as I was at the beginning," Schnellenberger says. "We're right on line with what I was talking about, and I have confidence this team will win more than it loses this year."

Until then, though, the phone will be ringing and criticism will continue yapping at Howard Schnellenberger.

EMINENT SCHOLAR CHAIR

In an attempt to promote greater scholastic interest in state assisted universities, the Florida Legislature created the Eminent Scholar Chair Program in 1979 to add distinguished professors to university faculties and to stimulate private contributions to public university programs.

A private contribution of $600,000, either as a single gift or a number of gifts in combination, is matched by the State of Florida with $400,000 to create a $1 million Eminent Scholar Endowed Fund. The income from that fund is used to support, in perpetuity, the scholarship activities of an Eminent Scholar.

Those fully funded chairs at Florida State University include:

The Burt Reynolds Chair in Regional and Professional Theatre	The Mack and Effie Campbell Tyner Chair in Home Economics
The Maximilian E. and Marion O. Hoffman Chair in Theatre	The Edward Ball Chair in International Law
The Mildred and Claude Pepper Chair in Social Gerontology	The Bernard F. Sliger Chair in Economic Education
The Wiley and Lucilla Housewright Chair in Music	The Tobias Simon Chair in Public Law
The Thomas L. Williams, Jr. Chair in Information and Management Sciences

Additional Chairs pledged to Florida State University include:

The Syde P. Deeb Chair in Political Science	The Pat Winthrop-King Chair in French
The Jerry Collins Chair in Public Administration	Anonymous Chair in Biological Science
The Payne H. and Charlotte Hodges Midyette Chair in Insurance

MAJOR GIFT CHALLENGE PROGRAM

Under the State of Florida's Major Gift Challenge Program a contribution of $100,000 is matched with $50,000 from the state. This program advances Florida State's academic mission through the establishment of named professorships and scholarships and the enhancement of library resources and technical equipment.

Those Major Gifts at Florida State University which have received or will receive matching funds include:

The John Shaw Family Endowment	The Arthur Andersen Endowed Professorship in Accounting
The Peat, Marwick, Mitchell Endowed Professorship in Accounting	The James Jacob Jones Presidential Scholars Fund
The Martha G. Moore Endowed Scholarship Fund	The Ucola Katzentine Endowed Scholarship Funds
The Ernst and Whinney Endowed Professorship in Accounting	The Rose and Joe Lindsay Scholarship Funds

PRESIDENTIAL SCHOLARS

To enable the University to be in a position to encourage academically gifted students to attend Florida State University, the Florida State University Foundation has created a prestigious category of scholarship funds for this purpose. The special category is called Presidential Scholars.

With a gift of $25,000 you can place your name on a Presidential Scholars Fund. Selected students who are entering the University out of high school will receive an annual stipend based on the earnings of the $25,000 endowed fund for their entire four year undergraduate university career. In the case of a community college student the commitment will be for two years.

THE PRESIDENTS CLUB

Florida State's oldest and most prestigious academic donor club is The President's Club. Over the past ten years this organization has grown to over 700 members, far too many to list in this program. However, we would like to recognize those new members for the academic year of 1986-87.

King Arthur: Fastest Man on Campus

By Chris Sears, Tribe Staff Writer

Arthur Blake lined up in the starting blocks against several of the top high hurdlers in the world. Blake used a quick starter to fly out of the blocks and race to a 13.30 clocking to defeat 1984 Olympic gold medalist Roger Kingdom at the London Grand Prix.

The shy and reserved Blake was ready to leave the track, just as he had after scores of victories in the United States. But a funny thing happened after the race, as Kingdom came over to congratulate the much younger Blake. "Arthur," he said, "go ahead and take a victory lap. You ran a good race." Those were impressive words coming from Kingdom, who had reached the pinnacle of success—an Olympic gold medal. Blake hesitated for a moment, but went on to jog a lap around the 400 meter oval track, much to the delight of the huge following of track fans. Perhaps Kingdom recognized Blake's win as an omen of things to come. "He knows I'll be ready for next year," Blake says, referring to the approaching Summer Olympics in South Korea. "I make so many more mistakes than Kingdom does. If I get my act together, I think he thinks he might be in trouble."

His win in London was just one of many triumphs for Blake over the summer on the European Grand Prix circuit. All Blake did was run under his previous personal best at virtually every race he competed — slashing almost 3/10's of a second off his previous personal record. That fact, combined with five wins in six meets over top-ranked hurdlers like Kingdom, Keith Talley, Rod Woodson and John Rigdon, Blake has established himself as a bonafide Olympic hopeful.

Blake's accomplishments are even more astonishing considering the drastic change in his training schedule while in Europe. "It was really different," he says. "In the United States you run a race every week or two. Over there you run every day or two. By the end of the summer, I was really tired; the travel and the training was something I wasn't used to."

At his first stop, at the World University Games in Budapest, the Haines City junior ran a 13.36 to finish second to John Rigdon — the same hurdler he came back to defeat at the London meet. Blake returned to run 13.44 and 13.51 in consecutive meets to hold off 1985 NCAA champion Talley in both races. Although his 13.51 was a 1/10 of a second slower, Blake was more satisfied with that race. "I got right off a long plane ride in the morning," Blake says. "And I had to run that night. That's tough to do. I really feel good about that race."

Blake not only turned the heads of his competition overseas, but also left his impressions on the European public who recognize soccer and track as its two most popular sports. "Most of the meets were on TV," Blake says. "They've seen my face; people will remember me."

Blake's accomplishments on the track were not limited to across the Atlantic, however. In late July, he returned to Durham, NC to compete in the National Sports Festival and face the number one ranked hurdler in the world — Greg Foster. In addition to running a personal best of 13.29, Blake also pushed Foster to the fastest time run in the world this year (13.19). Following the race, the two had nothing but kind words for one another. "I wasn't aware of anyone, except Blake at the finish line," Foster told the Orlando Sentinel. "I loved it. This is a great meet that brings public attention to our American athletes."

"If I can start like that and have Foster push me to PRs everytime, that will be just fine with me," Blake said after he ran the fastest time this year by a collegiate hurdler.

With all his competition from around the globe, it's easy to forget that Blake has two years of eligibility remaining at Florida State. Last season, in his first year in a Seminole uniform, he easily lived up to FSU track fans' lofty expectations. During the indoor season, he ran one of the fastest times ever recorded in the 50-yard hurdles at the LSU Relays. The following week, Blake followed up by tying the 55 meter hurdle record held by Chicago Bears receiver Willie Gault with a time of 7.16.

Blake kept his streak of success going on into the outdoor season. He got off to a tremendous start at the FSU-Tenneco Relays, when he delighted the home crowd with a victory over Talley. Leading up to the NCAA Championships, he ran NCAA qualifying times in virtually every 110 meter hurdles and 200 meter race he entered. But late in the season, Blake came down with a case of mononucleosis which forced him to miss the Metro Conference Championships. FSU looked to sorely miss his services, as Blake figured to win the 110 meter hurdles, and 100 and 200 meter dashes. But the Seminoles rallied on the final day to defeat South Carolina and win an unprecedented 11th conference title.

Blake was not permitted to return to the track until the week before the NCAA Championships in Baton Rouge, LA. Most didn't figure him to make it to the finals; after all, the week before he ran a 14.29 — hardly Blake standards. But in Baton Rouge, Blake surprised. After cutting his time to a 13.63 in the trials, he cut his time to 13.59 — his second best time of the year to finish second.

"Once I got mono, people told me it would take a while to come back," Blake says. "I was very happy the way things turned out. I wasn't allowed to start training until one week before the NCAA meet. I wasn't as strong as I could have been."

Those who really know him really wasn't surprised by his fast recovery, since Blake has been fast since his days in Haines City where he was first introduced to the sport. "I used to get beat by the girls in seventh grade," he says. "By the time I was in ninth grade, I was the fastest guy in school. I invested a whole lot of time in hurdling. I had no choice; my coach made me run the hurdles. Now I don't regret anything."

As a senior at Haines City High, Blake drew national attention from the likes of Sports Illustrated and Track and Field News. He won the 3A 100 and 200 yard dashes and the 120 yard high hurdles and singlehandedly scored enough points for Haines City to win the 3A team title. Later that season, he set the national high school record (13.18) in the 110 meter high hurdles that was previously held by Renaldo Nehemiah. He also won the Hertz-Number One award given annually to the state's top athlete and was Track and Field News' high school athlete-of-the-year runnerup. Nearly every school descended upon the small town of Haines City to recruit the nationally-acclaimed Blake. Eventually, he decided on Florida where he developed close ties with Terry Long. It was that relationship that moved Blake to transfer to Florida State, when Long accepted the women's head coaching position at FSU. "Terry Long was the main reason why I came to Florida State," Blake says. "I had different coaches all the way through high school and I didn't want to go through another change. He's worked out a lot of the things for me in Europe and has helped me become mentally stronger."

"There is a personal relationship that has emerged," Long says. "I feel a personal duty to help him do everything to help him achieve his goals." Blake's next goal is a berth on the 1988 United States Olympic team. "This summer, I got my confidence back," Blake says. "Everytime I go out onto the track I feel like I can win."

FSU men's coach Dick Roberts agrees. "When experts speak of those who will wear the U.S. uniform, Arthur will be one of those who will have to be mentioned in the conversation."

Remind You:

Install smoke detectors: Smoke is responsible for three out of four fire deaths. The loud siren will give your family those extra minutes to escape safely. Test it once a month. Change batteries once a year.

Establish an escape plan: Have frequent family meetings to establish escape routes from your dwelling. Every room should have two means of escape, rope ladders for upper floor windows. Have practice drills every three months.

Place fire extinguishers throughout your home: For extinguishing all three types of fire, use an  fire extinguisher. Fire extinguishers should only be used in the case of small fires; if there is a large fire, get out of your home immediately.

As winter approaches: It's highly recommended to have heating systems, fireplaces and wood burning stoves checked, serviced and cleaned by a professional.

Listen For Your Seminole Sweepstakes Number and Win!!!

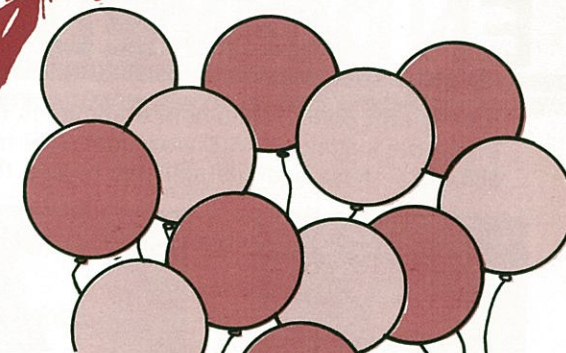

Seminole Sweepstakes is your opportunity to win gifts and prizes at many fine Tallahassee establishments.

Twice per game (once each half) the public address announcer will announce a lucky Seminole Sweepstakes number. If the number announced matches the number above, you are a winner! To claim your prize, contact Terry Hume the week after the game at (904) 644-1091.

Prizes include gift certificates from the Hilton, Epicurian Associates, Brothers Three, Cracker Barrel, Bonanza, Po Folks, Malones and Richwood Construction.

No purchase is necessary to play the Seminole Sweepstakes contest. You may pick up a lucky number at the Sports Marketing Office in Moore Athletic Center on Friday prior to home games.

Florida State athletic department employees and their families are not eligible.

ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIPS

A long-term goal of Seminole Boosters is to fully endow all athletic scholarships offered by the University. Under the leadership of Endowment Chairman Bill Parker, seventeen endowments — each in the amount of $50,000 — have been established in less than one year, and more are in various stages of development.

WILLIAM M. "BILL" PARKER
SCHOLARSHIP I

William M. "Bill" Parker of Clearwater, first Chairman of the Endowed Scholarship Program, past Chairman of Seminole Boosters, Inc. and a three-sport letterman, has established an endowed scholarship for football.

GEORGE R. LANGFORD
SCHOLARSHIP II

Tallahassee community leader George R. Langford, FSU Hall of Fame inductee and three-time Chairman of Seminole Boosters, Inc. has established an endowed scholarship for football.

ROD M. BRIM
SCHOLARSHIP III

Tallahassee civic leader and national officer of Seminole Boosters, Inc. Rod M. Brim has established an endowed scholarship for football.

DR. BERNARD F. SLIGER
SCHOLARSHIP VI

Through the generosity of Mrs. Thomas L. Williams, Jr., Thomas L. Williams, III, and Diane Williams Parker, The Williams Family Foundation of Thomasville, Ga. has established a football scholarship in the name of Dr. Bernard F. Sliger.

WM. ANDREW HAGGARD
SCHOLARSHIP VII

1988 Chairman of Seminole Boosters, Inc., Seminole alumnus Wm. Andrew Haggard of Coral Gables has established a fully endowed scholarship to benefit baseball and football.

LUTHER DRUMMOND
SCHOLARSHIP VIII

Prominent Levy County businessman, Seminole alumnus, and Seminole Booster Board member Luther Drummond has established an endowed scholarship for football.

DONALD E. GRANT
SCHOLARSHIP IX

Donald E. Grant of Perry, the Seminoles' first quarterback and longtime Seminole Booster Board member, has established an endowed scholarship for football.

JOHN E. & LEILA J. HUDSON
SCHOLARSHIP X

Through the generosity of Seminole alumni John E. and Leila J. Hudson, a fully endowed scholarship has been established to benefit both football and basketball.

COACH BOBBY BOWDEN
SCHOLARSHIP XI

Wishing to remain anonymous, "a friend from Boyd" has expressed his admiration for Coach Bobby Bowden by fully endowing a football scholarship in his name.

DAVID F. LYONS
SCHOLARSHIP XII

Pinellas County businessman David F. Lyons, a Golden Chief and Seminole alumnus, has established a fully endowed scholarship for football.

KEN & MIKE CASHIN
SCHOLARSHIP XIII

A fully endowed scholarship for basketball has been established by brothers Ken & Mike Cashin, both Seminole alumni, who provide visionary leadership and guidance to Seminole athletic programs.

MR. & MRS. NORMAN F. FAIR, SR.
SCHOLARSHIP XV

Golden Chief and Seminole Booster Board member Dr. Frank Fain, Jr., has established this fully endowed football scholarship in loving memory of his parents.

JAMES McROBERTS
SCHOLARSHIPS IV & V

Through the efforts of Seminole alumnus Bud Jordan, the James McRoberts Athletic Scholarship Fund has established two endowed scholarships for Women's golf.

SCHOLARSHIP XIV
This FSU alumnus has expressed his love for the Seminoles by fully endowing, anonymously, a scholarship for football.

COACH BIM STULTS
SCHOLARSHIP XVI

A Seminole alumnus who wishes to remain anonymous has honored the character and accomplishments of Coach Bim Stults by endowing one half of a swimming scholarship, the balance to be provided through challenge matching gifts.

COACH MIKE MARTIN
SCHOLARSHIP XVII

Citing Coach Mike Martin's status as one of the nation's leading collegiate coaches, a Seminole alumnus has anonymously endowed one half of a baseball scholarship, the balance to be provided through challenge matching gifts.

SEMINOLE ATHLETIC DORMITORY

The Seminole Boosters, through Florida State University, has constructed a stunning new athletic dormitory that ranks among the best in the country.

In the near future, a recreation hall will be added to the complex.

Seminole Boosters, and Seminole Booster clubs, who have sponsored individual rooms are recognized by an appropriately engraved brass plate on the door of each room.

hard," he says. "It was one of the toughest things I had been through. I'd always been so proud of Scott. Growing up, he was my idol—he was what I wanted to be as far as a role model and great football player. People expected me to be as good as a freshman as he was when he was a senior. I had to grow up and mature. Then things eased up a lot."

Added to the situation was a redshirt year for Terry. "It was hard to practice and not be able to play," he says. "I was practicing well and had two experienced players in front of me. I thought I had proven myself but I hadn't. Looking back, it was all good for me."

Warren's relationship with his family during the tough times helped. "It's neat because we're all best friends," he says. "I was Scott's best man in his wedding. My brother Frank still comes to all the home and road games. My mother and father are my best friends. I can tell them anything. They've been an inspiration to me through school and football. My dad has always been a positive man. He told me 'anytime you have a negative situation, try to turn it around and make something positive out of it.'"

While the honors have not come for Terry, he has been a solid contributor at FSU, first on the special teams and now as a two-year starter at outside linebacker. His tackling totals go well over 100 for his career and his eight tackles for loss and eight career sacks reminds of his big play ability.

"There is no way to compare them," says Gladden over the subject that Terry has wrestled with. "They are from a different era. The teams his brother played against are not as good as the ones Terry plays against. Terry is bigger, stronger and quicker as an athlete. But they have the same kind of qualities—the competitiveness and going all out."

"Terry has been consistent this year for us," Gladden continues. "Unfortunately, he's faced some peculiar offenses that have not enabled him to freelance and rush the passer. But he knows his responsibilities and does them well."

"Everybody wants to be better than they really are," says Terry. "I think I've been a good player here, but I think my peers and the people who watch me could give the best assessment. I would like, like everyone, to be the best player in the country like a (former Alabama All-American) Cornelius Bennett. I don't have the greatest athletic ability. But God has given me enough that I've developed into a good player. I've always considered myself an overachiever."

Terry's talent has never stopped on the football field and it is his well-roundedness off the field that makes him an interesting person. He loves singing and has performed at many functions, from weddings to a beauty pageant. "It's a gift that has been given to me," he says.

He hopes that his singing will help him as he prepares for his future following graduation in the spring. While he talks the familiar tune of "giving pro football a try", his other plans are more exciting.

"I want to go into acting," he says. "I'm not interested in theatrical acting; my main interest is in television or a movie. I've said something to Burt Reynolds about it, but the most talking I've done to anyone is Danny Greene. I think I can do it and I think that my singing could possibly tie in there."

"I definitely want to see if Burt can open a door for me," he continues. But it won't be a long, drawn out process. I'll give it a limited amount of time and if it doesn't pan out, I'll get back down to earth. I have an opportunity to be a State Farm agent in South Florida."

While those dreams and goals are all far off in the distance for Terry Warren, his immediate goals are to finish the season with a 10-1 record. Today, the thought on his mind is hunting ... the quarterback's the target.

The Marching Chiefs

The Marching Chiefs, some 350 members strong, are the band behind the Florida State fight song. They are as much a part of college football in Tallahassee as the game itself.

Since 1951, the Chiefs have provided football fans with the best in upbeat musical entertainment in their pregame and halftime shows.

The Chiefs' entourage includes feature twirlers, majorettes and flag girls representing every school and college in the university. In addition to home game performances, the Chiefs have traveled to many out of town games to cheer on the Seminoles. FSU's regional and national TV appearances have also put them in the living rooms of millions of viewers, including thousands of Seminole alumni across the country.

Under the direction of Bentley Shellahammer, director of the Chiefs; Charles Carter, associate director and arranger; graduate assistant John Carmichael; graduate staff assistants David Legette, Roger Duncan, Steve Grugin, Michael Friedman, Bill Faucett, Lisa Crews, Rick Greenwood and Jim Bye; and drum major Rodney Dorsey, the 1987 Marching Chiefs will once again greet Seminole fans with the familiar style that has entertained millions over the past four decades.

Seminole Songs

ALMA MATER

High o'er the towering pines our voices swell,
Praising those Gothic spires we love so well,
Here sons and daughters stand, faithful and true.
Hailing our ALMA MATER, FSU.

FIGHT SONG

©Music by Thomas Wright
Words by Doug Alley
You've got to fight, fight, fight, for FSU.
You've got to scalp 'em Seminoles.
You've got to win, win, win, this game and roll on down to make those goals.
For FSU is on the warpath now and at the battle's end, she's great
So fight, fight, fight to victory, our Seminoles from Florida State.
(Yell) F-L-O-R-I-D-A S-T-A-T-E

Doak Campbell Stadium

STADIUM INFORMATION

RESTROOMS: Restrooms are located on the concourse and ground levels in both the east and west stands.

FIRST AID: The first aid station is located at the southwest corner of the stadium. The station is operated by the Tallahassee Chapter of the American Red Cross. A nurse is on duty at all times and emergency service is available. There will be a charge for ambulance service if transportation is required from the stadium to the hospital.

LOST CHILDREN: Lost children should report to the police station in the stadium's southeast corner or to the First Aid Station for assistance in locating their parents.

CONCESSIONS: Concessions are available from vendors in the stands as well as from concession stands under the east and west concourses.

PUBLIC TELEPHONES: Public telephones are located on the ground levels of both the east and west stands.

LOST AND FOUND: Items may be turned in or claimed at the police station, which is in the stadium's southeast corner.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES: Alcoholic beverages are prohibited in Campbell Stadium. Violators will be asked to leave the stadium.

FIELD REGULATIONS: Regulations prohibit unauthorized persons on the playing field before, during and after the game. Please exit the stadium by the ramp and section exits.

WHEELCHAIRS: Wheelchair areas are located at the front of Aisle 9 in the stadium's west stands and Aisle 28 in the stadium's east stands.

PUBLIC ADDRESS: Announcements will be made only in cases of emergency.

yards, was voted to four second-team All-American squads and finished fifth in Heisman Trophy balloting. Kicker Grant Guthrie and linebacker Dale McCullers were voted Associated Press honorable mention All-American. Seven members (Bill Cappelman, Chip Glass, Grant Guthrie, Kim Hammond, Dale McCullers, Ron Sellers and Walt Sumner) of the 1967 team eventually played football at the professional level. For his Gator Bowl efforts, Hammond set passing records with 37 completions in 53 attempts for 362 yards. Sellers' 14 catches also set a record for the most passes snagged in the prestigious bowl. Ironically, the records broken were set by Seminoles Steve Tensi and Fred Biletnikoff in the 1964 contest when FSU beat Oklahoma 36-19.

Surely, the memories of this banner football season were tossed around when the 40 or so members of the team returned to Tallahassee this weekend. No doubt old friendships were renewed at the reception in the booster sky box last night and golf tournament earlier today. For some, it will be a chance to see some old faces and note the changes made to the Florida State campus. But for several who still reside in Tallahassee, it is just a chance to relive some great times. "It will be great to see some folks who I have not seen in a while," said Pendleton, who walks the halls of the Coyle E. Moore Athletic Center adjacent to Campbell Stadium every day. "But to me, there is no homecoming. For them it's like going into a different world."

Hopefully in another 20 years, another group of athletes can show tribute to the team on the field against Louisville tonight.

Q. What have you learned from Howard by watching him over the years?

A. I like to learn from everyone, but I began to learn from Howard when he was an assistant at Alabama while I was the head coach at Samford. I used to drive up to Tuscaloosa and observe Alabama's practices. I picked up a thing or two from those teams when Howard was coaching. As the years have gone by, especially while he was at Miami, you always like to look at a guy who has been successful and ask yourself why he is.

Q. Do you go head-to-head with Howard in recruiting now that he is at Louisville?

A. Boy, we did for so many years when he was down there at Miami. He convinced so many of those Miami boys to stay put and play for UM. If you'll also look at his past rosters though, you'll see he recruited very well out of state, especially his quarterbacks like Kosar and Testaverde. Now, we don't run into each other as much now that he is in Kentucky. But he still makes his presence known. We still run into each other every now and then and I expect that as long as this state still puts out the great numbers of prospects, you'll see major college coaches from all over the country trying to get a few of our boys.

Q. When Howard was at Miami, the two of you always seemed to work together on pre-game promotions the week of the game. We remember that you went to Miami one year and Howard came up the next year on the Monday of game week for press conferences. You've never done that with another coach. Please comment.

A. One of the things that Howard and I have both worked on is promoting the college game, and back then we were both working hard to promote it throughout the state of Florida. I think you can see the results now where the interstate games have not only grown in state importance, but also in national importance. Although Howard and I have different styles of coaching, I think that we have the same goals for college football and for producing the kind of young men who are not only winners on the field but in everything they do once they leave our campuses. Because the two of us think that is so important is why you saw (and see) us working together to promote our games.

Q. If you could give Howard any words of wisdom in trying to build his program at Louisville, what would they be?

A. Howard doesn't need my advice. He knows enough already. If anyone can make Louisville a winner, Howard Schnellenberger is the man who can do it.

Undergraduate Studies at Florida State

By Martee Wills, Former Director, FSU Media Relations

An increasing awareness of the crucial role the incoming freshman class plays in assuring the continued vitality of the entire University has led to innovations designed to smooth the educational process of Florida State University undergraduates.

As more and more well-qualified applicants seek admission to Florida State every year, the deadline to apply has been advanced. This year, the University closed applications in March. At the freshman level, there has been a 58 percent increase in applications in just the last three years. Moreover, this fall's class has the highest grade-point average and test scores to date, including 66 National Merit and Achievement scholars and finalists among its ranks.

Dean Elisabeth Muhlenfeld

Dr. Elisabeth S. Muhlenfeld, dean of undergraduate studies, says there are three primary reasons for the increase in popularity of Florida State University.

First, more students of strong academic ability have become aware of FSU. The University's curricular strength in the liberal arts—particularly the basic sciences—stands out, as does its excellence in the fine arts.

"Well-motivated and well-prepared students have a broad range of interests and abilities and are less likely to come to us with a set major in mind," the dean said. Only a small percent of entering freshmen are absolutely certain of their major; the rest are looking favorably at a university with a strong liberal-arts curriculum, which will enable them to explore.

Muhlenfeld says the second reason for FSU's popularity is that it has been discovered as a place that deals with students as people, rather than as Social-Security numbers.

"This is a place that has managed to preserve much of the character of a far smaller college; students repeatedly cite their relationships with faculty and staff as important. We are a friendly university," she said.

The third important reason listed by the dean is the Honors and Scholars program. This institution has had an honors program for decades, since the early days of Florida State College for Women; however, in 1985, it was reorganized and revitalized, and now has three basic components. Those are a Liberal-Studies-Honors curriculum designed for freshmen and sophomores, enabling the brightest students to do much of their liberal studies work in honors seminars and classes; and Honors-in-the-Major option for juniors and seniors, providing independent honors work in most departments; and a versatile extracurricular program centered around Landis Hall, where honors students form a large part of the resident population.

The honors program has grown dramatically. In fall 1986, 7.5 percent of the entering freshmen were actively involved in taking honors courses. This fall, that figure has jumped to 12 percent.

"When more than 10 percent of our lower division students are of honors caliber, believe me, every classroom benefits," Muhlenfeld said. "Bright, motivated students keep us, as faculty members, on our toes, challenged to make each class hour stimulating and probing. Routine lectures and boredom go out the window, and every student—not just the honors student—benefits."

Muhlenfeld considers it crucial that the University continue to attract these students. "To do that, we must improve our capacity to offer competitive scholarships," she said. "We remain seriously deficient in our ability to offer academic scholarships to bring Florida State into the first rank of universities in this regard."

TELLING IT LIKE IT IS—Dave Schreiber welcomed his parents with a special T-shirt that went right to the heart of the matter.

Meanwhile, the University remains concerned with the academic growth of every student, not just the ones with the highest grades. The new Undergraduate Advising Center is designed to coordinate all academic advising throughout the University, providing assurance that groups on campus with special needs are guided wisely. One special-interest group is student athletes. Florida State has been a national leader in assuring that its student athletes receive solid academic support and that they graduate.

"One tiny illustration of our success," Muhlenfeld said, "is illustrated by a recent phone call to our athletic adviser from a football top-ten school about the status of FSU's 1986 Proposition 48 students. (Last year, under the Proposition 48 rules, the NCAA raised the requirements for incoming athletes wanting to participate as freshmen in varsity athletics.) 'How many of your Prop 48 students are eligible to play football this fall?' the caller asked. The answer was 'All of them.' Astonished, he replied, 'All of them? Are you sure? What are you doing over there?'"

The answer is that FSU is using the spectrum of its human and financial resources to see that every student's undergraduate experience is an excellent one. Three-fourths of all FSU students are undergraduates, slightly less than half of whom come to the University as freshmen.

In addition to academic advising, registration is of prime importance to undergraduates. The very word conjures up horrible images to many students and alumni of a ritual that only seemed to get worse as the demand for courses tightened and the student body grew.

"Moving into the computer age didn't help much—only made it more difficult to fix problems—and it would rain on long lines of students waiting outside the Civic Center," Muhlenfeld said. "But this summer we implemented Telephone Registration. In our trial period, 16,000 students registered completely for their classes from as far away as Alaska by touchtone telephone—a miracle of modern science."

"Sass" used to be a bad word—something children never did to their parents or the teacher. Now SASS is another miracle on its way. When fully implemented, this Student Academic Support System will enable students and advisers to receive at any time a printout that spells out exactly what required courses have been taken and which ones still need to be taken—complete with information about prerequisites.

"And faculty advisers can spend their time with students really talking about the important issues—careers and academic strategies—instead of looking up obscure regulations and requirements," Muhlenfeld said.

"In other words," she concluded, "we're working hard to turn out happy, active, well-educated and supportive alumni who contribute to the greater well-being of the state, nation and world!"
