When speaking of legendary football coach Bobby Bowden, you face a rather difficult decision. Do you first speak of Bowden, "the man?" Or do you lead with Bowden, "the coach?" If you ask Bowden, he'll quickly tell you his innumerable coaching records aren't important. And that, more than anything, speaks volumes about Bowden, "the man."

Florida State's coach, now 63 years young, has a quality seldom found in men or women of any profession. He has it all. Piece together the ingredients needed to create the perfect football coach, and there you have Bobby Bowden. It's not enough that his coaching numbers have reached legendary proportions. Bowden also gives his University a proud moral leader, a family man of the first order, a caring disciplinarian, and a calming voice in the face of the turbulence surrounding college football.

Bowden is a man at peace with himself, a man with a rock-solid character and firm coaching principles that date back more than 35 years. Perhaps the best tribute to the man is that he is not afraid to change with the times — adapting brilliantly to new ways of winning games, as well as dealing with young student athletes. From his internal control, to a bold switch to the no-back, shotgun or Fast Break offenses, Bowden proves you're only as old as you feel.

"I'm still having fun. I still love it," he says. "I plan to coach as long as I feel good, and as long as my school will have me."

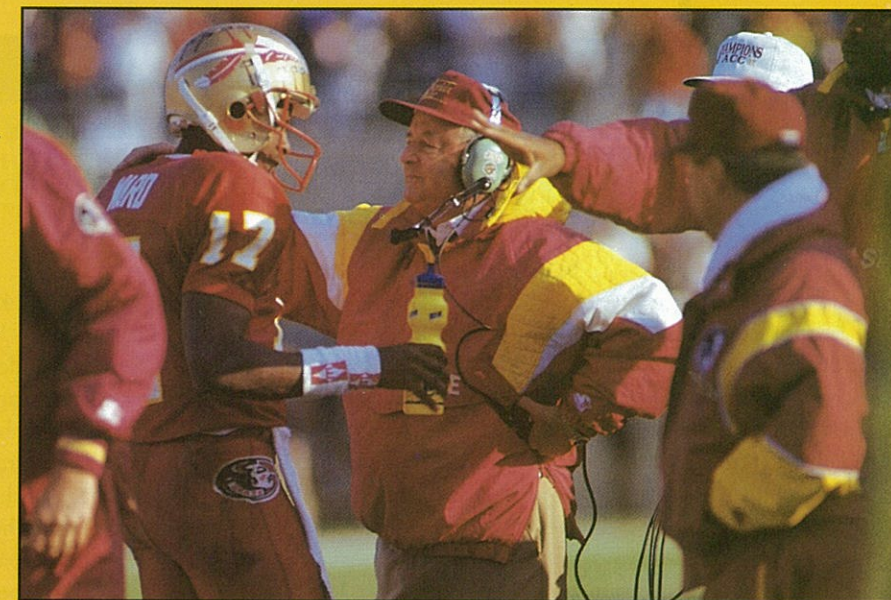

Like other coaches before him, Bowden has created something of a monster that perches squarely on his back. He has coached his Florida State teams so very close to perfection that his fans expect the moon. He has won 64 games in the last six seasons, including monumental wins over Miami, Florida, Michigan, Nebraska, Penn State, Clemson and others.

Yet some say he can't win the "big one." He has not lost a bowl game in 11 consecutive appearances, and some say he can't win the "big one." He has led FSU to six straight top four national finishes, and some keep saying he can't win the "big one." Bobby Bowden is the only coach in NCAA Division I history to win 10 or more games in six consecutive seasons, and some say he can't win the "big one."

Isn't it amazing that this man has 227 career coaching victories in 27 incredible seasons, and none of them was a "big one?" My eye! In every way, the Seminoles win the "big one" — the one that truly counts — every day Bobby Bowden reports to work at Florida State.

In this fickle world of big-time sports, some forget what it is all about. Sure, Bobby Bowden craves a national championship. There is a good chance he'll win one along the way. But as Bowden well understands at this stage of his career, there are things more important in life, and that's what makes him "our" Bobby Bowden.

He has time for charity and to give to his church. He has never walked past an admiring child without a wink and a smile. He greets total strangers as his best friends. He listens and he cares. He is not a friend to his players — he is a father figure in the traditional sense. Some, still young and thinking they know more than they do, criticize Bowden's "distance" from his players. Those older and wiser recognize how his watchful eye nudged them through their time at FSU and made them better people to this day. They call him to say thanks, and dozens come back frequently to visit.

Many were present at last season's Orange Bowl showdown with Nebraska, where the Seminole coach continued a bowl string unmatched in college football history. His Seminole teams have now won eight bowls in consecutive seasons — an NCAA record. The current 11-bowl streak without a loss began in 1983 and was marred only by a 17-17 tie with Georgia in the 1984 Citrus Bowl. Bowden's 12-3-1 record and .781 bowl winning percentage ranks first all-time. Only Joe Paterno (14) has won more bowl games.

And the Seminoles have been a fixture in the big bowls of late. Fifth-year seniors on the 1992 FSU team went to the Fiesta, Sugar, Blockbuster, Cotton and Orange bowls during his tenure.

The list of coaches who have won more games than Bobby is getting so short you might want to jot them down — on a matchbook cover. In 1991, he climbed to seventh on the all-time win list. By the end of 1993, he could break into the top five with a chance to pass or tie the likes of Bo Schembechler (234) and Woody Hayes (238). His 227 career victories rank second among active Division I coaches behind only Joe Paterno.

Just how impressive is Bowden's 27-year coaching record? He's joined the list of legends of college football, included with names like Bryant, Stagg and Warner.

When Bowden first arrived in Tallahassee in 1976, he described his relationship with the school as a marriage and was determined to let no man put it asunder. True to his word, he begins his 18th season at FSU in 1993.

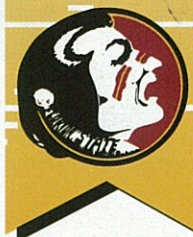

What Bobby Bowden means to Florida State University off the playing field cannot be measured, even by the most sophisticated of supercomputers. Respect, sincerity, class, honesty, charisma, charm and humor. When they put that kind of data into the system, a giant replica of Bowden will appear.

As if his character isn't enough, his coaching style draws admirers nationwide. A wide-open, gambling style makes Bowden teams a treat to watch, a pleasure to play on and a delight to cover. Reverses, flea-flickers, laterals — you name it, here it comes!

A look at the record shows he's done it both ways. The flashy wins may get all the attention, but for every one of those, there are a dozen others spawned from sound fundamental football. This guy's not just a gambling magician, he can flat out coach!

By now it's been well-chronicled how the (continued on p. 9)

Teepee Talk

A few weeks ago I received a letter from Tom Desjardin, a Florida State student from 1982 through 1988 and currently a Ph.D. student in history at the University of Maine. Desjardin wrote that his interest in history had inspired him to send me "the true story of how our Seminole War Chant began." Through the years I have received a number of calls and letters from people claiming to know the origin of the chant, but this account is perhaps the most reliable. It is consistent with my own recollection.

Desjardin also sent along a photo of himself with the late Fred "The Head" Miller at 1984 pep rally.

ing the War Chant at a pep rally in 1984.

The following is his account:

"In the early 1980s, as Seminole athletic programs began to enjoy the national prominence that so much hard work had sought to achieve, The Seminole Boosters, Inc., decided that it would be useful to develop certain traditions and unique characteristics that would set the program apart.

In 1984 the Boosters developed the position of "Spirit Coordinator" in the hopes of bringing about these traditions and generating spirit and interest among fans. Becky Bedford was hired to fill the position and a series of pep rallies and other events were planned. The Seminole "War Chicken," a.k.a. "Tommy Hawk" was developed and a number of other ideas such as face paint and war stripes at games, etc.

The Boosters asked a student booster group, "The Scalphunters," to try to develop a unique cheer that fans at the games could do. They wanted one that would be identified with Florida State athletics and would help to rally the fans. At subsequent Scalphunter meetings we tried a number of ideas with limited success.

Then the week of the 1984 FSU-Auburn game, a Theta Chi named Terry (I've forgotten his last name) came up with what at first seemed to us a goofy cheer where we waved our hands behind our heads simulating a chop. On the Friday night prior to the game we had a pep rally behind the big scoreboard in the South End Zone parking lot and were obligated to introduce some cheer, so we decided to go with the chant for lack of a better one.

I was the emcee at that pep rally. At one point during the rally, Glen Criser, Vice President of the Student Body and a Scalphunter himself, pulled me aside and said we should get all the Scalphunters on the stage and try to teach the crowd the new cheer.

We introduced it as the "Terry _____ Memorial Cheer" and got about 40 of us on stage. In the crowd it didn't appear quite as goofy as we originally thought, but it still needed a lot of work.

At the remaining home games we tried to get the cheer started in the crowd with limited success. What we could generate in the student section turned out to be little more than a bunch of people flailing their arms in no particular rhythm.

The cheer went on like this until the following year when the 1985 Auburn game changed the War Chant forever. We took upwards of 20,000 fans to that game at Jordan-Hare Stadium. The Scalphunters brought three busloads and we were all seated in one section together in the end zone almost on the field. We got the Chant going in the first quarter and did our best to make it work until a strange thing happened in the second quarter.

I remember that FSU was driving for a touchdown right toward us, and we got as loud as we could trying to get the team fired up. As we were doing the cheer we noticed something none of us had known before. At some point, the Marching Chiefs had developed a drum beat and a trumpet sound for the Chant.

Until that game we hadn't realized that the cheer had an accompanying chant and that, if a few thousand voices could do it in unison, it could be awe-inspiring. We had never before heard the band play during the cheer. At that game they were in a section of Jordan-Hare on about the 10-yard line and facing at a angle toward our Scalphunter section. When we heard the band we all realized that there was more to the cheer than just waving our arms and screaming out some random noise.

From that point on, our arms moved together, our voices chanted the same sound in unison and the Seminole War Chant became what we know it as today.

I remember the look on some of the Auburn players faces during that game when the cheer reached its peak. A few times they stopped to look up and see all the arms moving at once. You could tell that it affected the players on both sides. It helped inspire a huge goal-line stand by our defense later in the game.

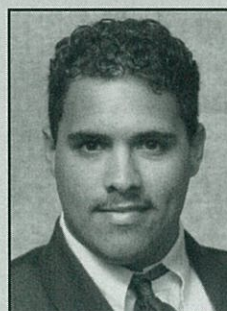

Auburn scored several times in the last few minutes to break open a close game, but the Auburn booster magazine the next week marveled at the largest and loudest away crowd that had ever come to Jordan-Hare. What they didn't realize was that they had witnessed the birth of the Seminole War Chant."

Tribe Scholar-Athlete of the Week

College is supposed to be the best years of one's life. Jesus Hernandez is living proof of that. Hernandez, the Tribe Scholar-Athlete of the Week, is making the most of his collegiate years on the field and in the classroom.

The 6-3, 277-pound offensive lineman owns a 2.6 grade point average that, like his stature on the football field, is on the rise. Hernandez walked on the Seminole football team in 1991 and since then has risen to the role of starter. After a couple of rough semesters to start his academic career,

Jesus Hernandez
Offensive Tackle

Jesus is earning top grades.

Academic advisor Mark Meleney is impressed with Hernandez's continual improvement. "Jesus has really matured into a responsible student-athlete," Meleney said. "He is much more dedicated to his schoolwork and his football career. Jesus just constantly meets the demands and responsibilities that come with being a student-athlete."

Obviously it wasn't easy for Hernandez early on. He played high school football for Miami Jackson High. But achieving passing grades was a constant nemesis. A Division I school was out of the question, not because of talent but grades.

The solution — spend a year at Valley Forge Military Academy. That was enough to get Hernandez accepted to Florida State, but that's all. "When I first got here I wasn't paying much attention to academics," Hernandez recalls. "I then realized if I did not get my act together, I would not be here much longer. I knew I could do it if I just applied myself."

Hernandez appears to be applying himself pretty well. He intends to major in criminology and return to the community where he grew up. "I would like to go back to Wynnewood and help make a change, a change for the better."

Head Coach Bobby Bowden

(continued from p. 5) Birmingham cracker left the snow and ice of West Virginia to come to Florida State and save the program. Three seasons after he walked on campus, he had taken one of the worst football teams in the country to within one game of a national championship.

Bowden's FSU record is 154-45-3. That includes an 82-15-1 record in Tallahassee and a 72-30-2 mark away from home. He has built those numbers against some of the nation's toughest schedules.

The Coach has been a man of his word, too. At his first FSU press conference in 1976, he said his biggest priority was to play arch-rival Florida on an even keel. The Gators, you see, had owned Florida State, leading the series 15-2-1 at the time. In 17 meetings since his arrival, Bowden owns an 9-8 mark vs. the intra-state school.

Bowden achieved some impressive numbers in his previous coaching stops (31-6 at Samford University in Birmingham between 1959 and 1962, and 42-26 at West Virginia from 1970-75), but what he has done at Florida State is simply phenomenal. Nine times in 17 years, his Seminoles have won 10 or more games in a season. Florida State had been to just eight bowls in 29 years before him. Since his arrival, FSU has been to 14 bowl games, including a string of 11 in a row and seven New Year's Day trips.

In his 17 years, the Seminoles have been a mainstay in the AP Top 20. An incredible 110 times under Bowden, the Seminoles have been in the top 10 on a given week. What about a top 20 finish? Thirteen times in 17 seasons!

Last year, Florida State became only the third school ever to post six consecutive top five finishes. The Seminoles' Orange Bowl victory over Nebraska and No. 2 ranking in 1992 kept alive a streak that saw second (1987), third (1988 and '89) and fourth (1990 and '91) place finishes in succession. Only Miami and Oklahoma can match such a run.

Above all Bowden's coaching accomplishments, though, are his credentials as a man. Friendly and outgoing, he is a devoted Christian and family man. The Coach loves people. His personality and charm are bigger than life. He has become somewhat of a folk hero in the Deep South.

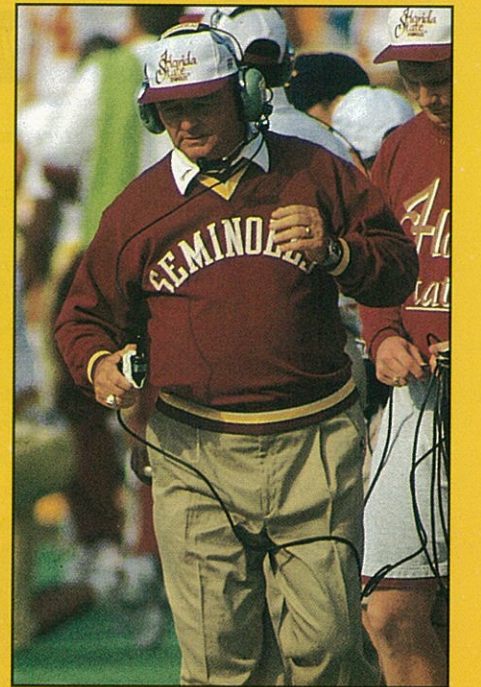

A polished speaker, Bowden is constantly in demand. His busy coaching schedule curtails many speaking engagements, but any free evening in the year will find him on the after-dinner circuit. Every free Sunday morning will find him in the pulpit of a church somewhere in the South.

Outside of football, Bowden has an intense interest in World War II history and reads countless books and articles on the subject. He traced his ancestry to parts of Germany and has visited the country several times.

Bowden was an outstanding player at Woodlawn High School in Birmingham, Ala., and went on to Alabama as a freshman quarterback, fulfilling a lifelong dream to play for the Crimson Tide. During one semester in Tuscaloosa, he found his childhood sweetheart, Ann Estock, and she was enough to lure him back to Birmingham. He soon married Ann and transferred to Howard College (now Samford University) in Birmingham.

Bowden was a Little All-American there and began his collegiate head coaching career there in 1959. His son Terry was the head coach at Samford until being named head coach at Auburn University last December. Terry's ascension to the Auburn job makes the Bowdens the first father-son pair to lead major college programs, let alone to coach them at the same time.

But they aren't the only coaches in the family. The youngest Bowden son, Jeff, is an assistant coach at Southern Mississippi and Tommy Bowden is the offensive coordinator at Auburn. Oldest son Steve is on the faculty at Flagler College in St. Augustine, Fla. The four boys, daughters Robyn Hines and Ginger Madden, and their families, make up the Bowden clan, which numbers 24 and includes 14 grandchildren.

"This is your story, your chance to let Florida State know something about yourself. What do you want me to write about?"

Usually, the player will want to talk about his football career. Senior strong safety Richard Coes decided to take a different approach. He offered to write his own story. After all, who else could give a better perspective? — Steve Roogow, Student Assistant

One of the greatest advantages a Seminole athlete experiences is the opportunity to express him or herself on and off their respective "playing fields." I've been given the chance to write about the person I should know the most about, myself!

My name is Richard Tannis Coes II. I am an individual who has extremely close and strong ties to my family and friends. My inspirations in life did not come from a super-hero, another athlete, or even University. We are still friends now, just living apart. Both play college basketball, Jason for Florida Memorial, Terrance for Virginia Wesleyan.

When I arrived in Tallahassee, I was timid, but not scared. I am a rather relaxed person who does not let a lot of things bother me. I firmly believe that every person on earth is due the respect you expect for one's self. With that attitude I quickly met new associates and was tagged with the nickname "Squeaky." That name is a direct result of my rather high-pitched voice. "Squeaky" has remained with me through my tenure in Tallahassee.

Believe it or not, I even adopted two new mothers, Janet and Linda, who are as adorable and as caring as the women they are substituting for. I first met Janet when she came to visit my roommate, Devin Bush. He was never there, but I was. She started looking out for me as much as she could. A year later, Janet introduced to me to her friend Linda. The two are like my parents away from home.

Football has been a wonderful catalyst and FSU brings an even larger forum for me to be recognized and seen on television, but that was not my major concern for coming to college. I attempted to use football as a means for me to further my education. And I have done just that. This summer I earned my undergraduate degree in business finance and am currently pursuing my master's in elementary education.

My life has not gone through many changes since my first steps inside Doak Campbell Stadium. I still love and appreciate my family greatly. My group of friends has grown, but is still a rather small collection. I continuously live day by day as I notice and adjust to my changing surroundings.

The one thing that will never change is that I'll be a 'NOLE for life.

Sincerely,

Richard I. Coes II

The University

Florida State University, nearing its golden anniversary as a coeducational graduate research institution, is poised on the brink of joining the nation's academic elite.

A senior member of the 10-member State University System of Florida, FSU was founded as an institution of higher learning in 1851 by legislative act and began operating in Tallahassee with its first students in 1857.

Today, Florida State's operating budget is $401 million. Faculty and administrators generate more than $100 million annually in external funding to supplement state-sponsored research. Three direct-support organizations serve to bolster the university: the private, non-profit FSU Foundation, which raises millions in private gifts to support academics, the Seminole Boosters and the FSU Alumni Association.

The main campus is spread over 405 acres in Tallahassee; FSU, which has the smallest campus in the SUS, acquired about 58 acres in 1991-92 after many years of being landlocked at 347 acres. The university owns a total of 1,230 acres in Leon, Bay and Franklin counties.

Within the state, FSU maintains facilities at its 25-acre campus in Panama City, its Marine Laboratory on the Gulf of Mexico and the Appleton Museum in Ocala. The university's graduate theater and film professional-training programs, the FSU/Asolo Conservatory of Professional Actor Training and FSU/Asolo Conservatory of Motion Picture, Television and Recording Arts, are both located in the Asolo Performing Arts Center in Sarasota. The Center for Professional Development and Public Service, housed Switzerland, France, Panama, Costa Rica and the Caribbean. FSU's study centers in Florence, Italy, and London, England, are considered by many to be the best American universities in Europe.

Florida State offers 275 graduate and undergraduate degree programs through its eight colleges — Arts and Sciences; Business; Communication; Education; Engineering (operated jointly with Florida A&M University, a historically black institution); Human Sciences; Law; and Social Sciences (which also incorporates the School of Public Administration and Policy) — and eight schools — Criminology and Criminal Justice; Library and Information Studies; Motion Picture, Television and Recording Arts; Music; Nursing; Social Work; Theatre; and Visual Arts and Dance.

With 1,526 members, the FSU faculty currently includes five members of the National Academy of Sciences and eight of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and has included five Nobel laureates. It is backed by 2,837 administrative, professional and support staff. Library holdings at Florida State include 1.98 million book titles, 18,436 serials and 3.9 million microforms. The main library facility, the Robert M. Strozzer Library, is linked via a computerized information system to other state university and national research libraries. The Paul A.M. Dirac Science Center Library is located at the heart of the university's main science research complex. FSU also maintains extensive music, library science and law libraries, and the Mildred and Claude Pepper Library houses the personal and professional papers of one of Florida's best known political couples.

On the top floor of the Dirac Library is the headquarters of the Supercomputer Computations Research Institute, a multidisciplinary, multinational program established in 1984 that brings together some 50 scientists, engineers and technicians. SCRI is electronically linked to an off-campus research complex at Innovation Park and the university's two powerful supercomputers.

Also providing unique research opportunities is the physics department's tandem Van de Graaff Superconducting Accelerator Laboratory, which houses two powerful atom smashers and is ranked among the top four nuclear research centers in the nation by the National Science Foundation.

In its mission of excellence in teaching, research and public service, Florida State University is advancing boldly into the 21st century.

The Westcott Building has long been a focal point of the FSU campus.

Player Profile

by Brent Halley

Everyone knows the shortest and most efficient distance between two points is a straight line. Such is the case for the majority of college football athletes who, after flourishing on the high school gridiron and accumulating a number of accolades, move on to the next level, a four-year university.

The situation of inside linebacker Alonzo Horner, however, is different. After being heavily recruited out of Miami's Palmetto High School he came up just short of the Division I requirements on his academic admissions test.

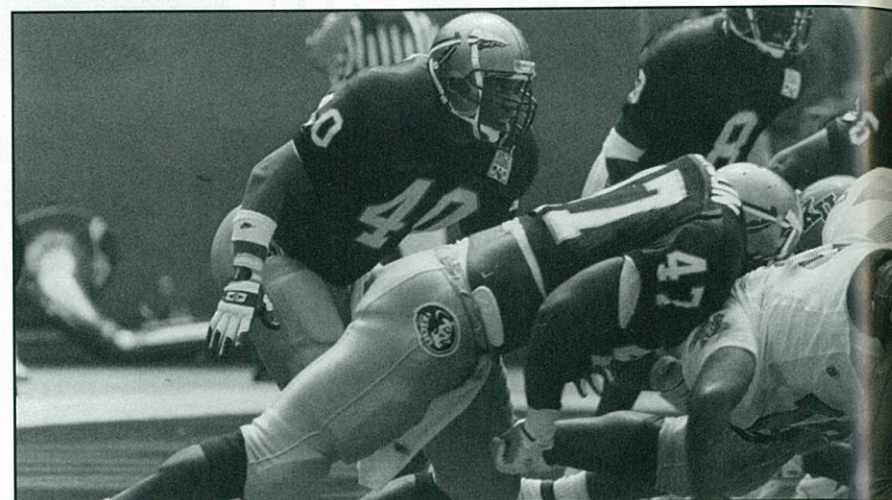

Rather than playing football at a Division I-AA or Division II school which Horner termed, "embarrassing for a player with my abilities," he enrolled at Northwest Mississippi Junior College. The same junior college attended by former Seminole defensive standout Dan Footman.

Horner, now a senior majoring in criminology, realized that by taking the junior college route he would only have two years of eligibility remaining. However, he does not regret the decision.

Alonzo Horner

"Where I was had a small college atmosphere," said Horner. "That made it easier to concentrate on the field and in the classroom. Besides that, junior college was a great motivating factor because I knew I had to just get through two years before I would be playing Division I. I knew I belonged in Division I and I had to prove that."

According to Horner, who originally signed with the University of Miami out of high school, another benefit of attending junior college was the opportunity to experience the recruiting process again. After being selected by recruiting analyst Allen Wallace as the 16th-best prospect in the nation as well as earning first-team JUCO All-America honors, it is easy to understand why Horner was so coveted. He chose Florida State over Miami, Florida and Alabama. "After junior college, I wanted to be away from home, but still in the state of Florida, so that took Miami out of the picture. So the obvious choice was FSU," Horner stated.

The transition from junior college football to Division I was not without its challenges. According to Horner, "We have a complicated defensive scheme. In order for the linebackers to be successful you have to know where your teammates are lined up at all times, especially the defensive line, who we key off of. When I first got here, I also had to learn both the Sam (strongside) and Will (weak-side linebacker) positions."

Horner, who is a cousin of another junior college transfer, FSU full-back Zack Crockett, has one year of experience in the Seminole defensive system, and has battled sophomore Todd Rebol

"Alonzo has made steady progress. He is a very consistent and reliable player who is a student of the game."

*Inside linebackers coach for the starting job at the weakside linebacker slot. Officially, Rebol is the starter, but with defensive coordinator Mickey Andrews' scheme relying heavily on substitutions, Horner has seen plenty of playing time. "I would like more playing time, but I respect the coaches' decision," commented Horner. "Todd and I are good friends so that is not a problem."

Horner, who was a high school teammate of University of Miami linebacker Rohan Marley, has made the most of his playing time while at Florida State. The coaches voted him the most improved linebacker during spring practice. Inside linebacker coach Wally Burnham has lauded his performance during the season as well. "Alonzo has made steady progress. He is a very consistent and reliable player who is a student of the game. He also played a pivotal role during our two goal-line stands. He is going to help a lot, already has and will continue to do so," Burnham said.

After graduation, Horner would like a chance to play in the NFL. "I think I can play there, too. If not I'll put my criminology degree to work."

With Horner's confidence and can-do attitude it is easy to believe he will be a success wherever life takes him. Burnham attests, "Alonzo has great work habits. That's what it takes to be a good football player and a good person in life."

President Emeritus Bernard F. Sliger, who had served as the 10th president of Florida State University for 15 years, was appointed interim president of Florida State University on Aug. 23, 1993. He returned to the university's helm following the resignation of his successor, Dr. Dale W. Lick, and will serve during the search for a new president.

It is Sliger's second stint as FSU's

Since his retirement, Sliger has served at FSU as director of the Gus A. Stavros Center for the Advancement of Free Enterprise and Economic Education and as a professor of economics. Also during those two years, he conducted research, was a consultant to the University of New Orleans and served on Sliger, a native of Trout Creek, Mich., earned all three of his economics degrees from Michigan State University. Born Sept. 30, 1924, he spent 19 years as a faculty member and administrator at Louisiana State University.

An economist and scholar in the field of economic theory and public finance, he frequently serves as a consultant.

Sliger has also served as a member of the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta and was a member of the American College Testing Board of Trustees.

Director of Athletics

In his fourth year as Florida State's athletic director, Bob Goin is the force moving Seminole athletics into the future.

Recently, Goin saw the addition of the Scott Speicher Tennis Center at Donald Loucks Courts to the FSU campus. The state-of-the-art complex houses 12 lighted courts and 1,332 seats. It is continued proof of Florida State's commitment to building top-notch facilities for its athletes.

Bob Goin

Goin is also watching over the expansion of Doak Campbell Stadium and the construction of the Daisy Parker Flory Wing of the Moore Athletic Center, which will bring all FSU coaches and athletic department staff under one roof for the first time in school history. Furthermore, the state-of-the-art academic center shows Goin's commitment to a strong student-athlete outreach program.

Goin was also a leading force in Florida State's move into the prestigious Atlantic Coast Conference in 1991. By implementing one of the nation's top compliance programs, spearheading the development of athletic facilities and committing himself to continuing FSU's unprecedented successes both on and off the athletic field, Goin has proven to be an excellent leader.

In addition, Goin is becoming a nationally-recognized leader. Recently, he was named the third vice-president of the Division I-A National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. Goin was recently named a Chair of the College Football Association Board of Directors and he is a member of the NCAA Interpretations Committee. In 1993, Goin began his first year on the Atlantic Coast Conference Baseball Committee and his third on the ACC Television Committee.

An assistant and then associate athletic director at Florida State from 1982-90 and then athletic director, Goin ran many aspects of the day-to-day operations.

Goin came to Tallahassee in July 1981 after two years as athletic director at California (Pa.) State College.

Prior to taking the California post, Goin served as assistant athletic director at West Virginia University (1976-79).

From 1960-76, Goin worked at Bethany College, as an associate professor and chairman of physical education and athletics, as well as taking coaching assignments in football, basketball and baseball.

He and his wife, Nancy, have four children — Doug, Brian, Bruce and Janice, and two grandchildren — Nikki, 13, and Robbie, 11.

Seminole Community Service

Tradition. That which is established usually becomes an honored tradition. Florida

State University is rich in tradition. Whether it be athletic prowess or dedication to academic excellence, FSU has taken its place among higher education's elite. Eight years ago, the Florida State athletic department, in conjunction with the Golden Key National Honor Society, teamed to create a tradition that is second to none — the "Say No to Drugs Program."

The brainchild of athletic director Bob Goin, the program has become a national model. The program, originally spread over 40 schools, has mushroomed. This year, 63 schools will participate in the program. More than 500,000 area students have heard the "truth" in staying in school and off of drugs. A monumental accomplishment in the mania of modern society.

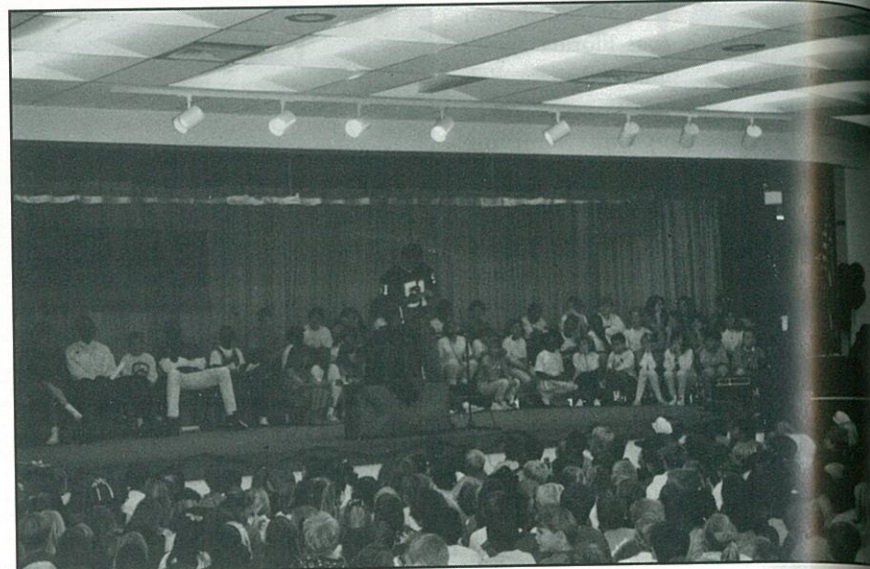

"The program was started just at the time the drug problem really began surfacing," explains AD Bob Goin. "Along with (State Chancellor) Charles Reed and (former FSU President) Bernie Sliger we saw an opportunity to really outreach into the community and to give back. We just ran with it from there."

Say No to Drugs

"The Golden Key Honor Society made the perfect fit. You could bring an athlete and non-athlete into the classroom and thereby expose the kids to the best of both sides of staying in school and drug-free. We're now looking to expand that message by including the problem of teenage violence."

The 300-member brigade of Seminole athletes and Golden Key members seize the opportunity to make a difference through the nation's largest one-day "blitz" in collegiate sports. Area students receive 5,000 posters, 50,000 stickers, and, more importantly, the experience and wisdom of Seminole athletes who know the key to positive decision making.

Defensive back Corey Sawyer can see the impact on the bright eyes of the many youngsters he touches. "The kids get a lot out of it. They see us as role models — as someone they'd like to be. It's a great thing to do for kids."

Defensive end Toddrick McIntosh preaches his message as clearly as a church bell on Sunday morning. "I just tell the kids to get involved with the right people. They should focus their energies on athletics and not drugs."

Goin sees the advantage of the program in other ways which extends its reach. "When those kids put that sticker on their chest and go home, their moms and dads, grandparents, brothers and sisters all want to know what that sticker means," explains the energetic Goin. "That type of interest brings the family together. In the classrooms, those posters remain there as a reminder to the kids."

"The message is from their mentors in a way," says Annette H. Ford, guidance counselor at Sabal Palm Elementary who sees the people as the strength of the program. "(The athletes) have a very clear message. They give very good information. The personal approach is a tremendous influence as well."

The program is really a two-way street of wonderful, human experience for both sides. "I love to do the program," explains an enthusiastic Sawyer. "I love to talk to the kids. I tell them what I had to do to make it. I see myself in a lot of them." Adds McIntosh, "It always feels good to know you can make a difference."

Goin sees the enrichment of Seminole athletes as well. "The student athlete sees first hand that what he said is respected. That means that they do have an impact on the kids. It really is a fantastic experience. Their lives are much more rounded for having been a part of it."

And what of the future of the program? The athletic director says that expansion, not only in the program's message, but also in its physical reach is the next step. His resolve and enthusiasm is unquestionable. Says Goin, "If we cover 30 miles, then we can cover 300."

Yet the degree of success which the program has had cannot be measured in terms of wins and losses. It is in the knowledge that someone, somewhere may have been so profoundly affected by its impact that they may make a life-saving decision. This is its beauty. And while the glamour of the Chief or the opulence of the Leach Center may grab the headlines, the effect on these students may be far more real than any tradition today.

FSU Swimming & Diving

In Florida State's first two years in the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Seminole swimming and diving teams have finished in the middle of the pack in one of the toughest leagues in the nation. But entering the 1993-94 season, first-year head coach Don Gibb sees bigger things for his FSU squads.

Mix four returning Atlantic Coast Conference champions, three who qualified for the NCAA Championships, with several other conference finalists and a top-notch recruiting class and Gibb has a lot to smile about.

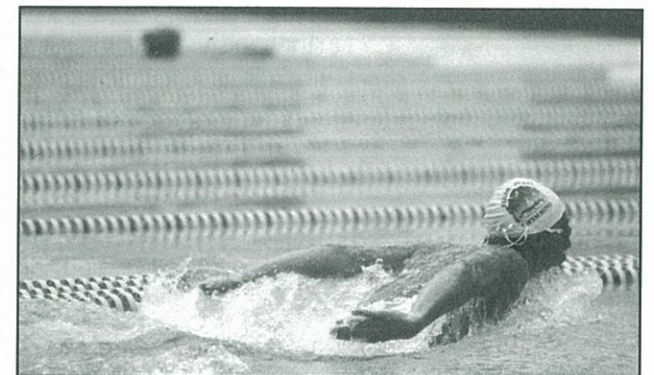

"This will be one of Florida State's best swimming and diving teams in recent history," said Gibb. "We have some great returning swimmers and we have surrounded them with a very good recruiting class."

state of North Carolina.

"I think we have the potential to be one of the top teams in the ACC," said Gibb matter of factly. "One factor that is really in our favor, is that the ACC Championships will be in Tallahassee. That will be a big advantage."

Leading the way in the pool for Florida State will be returning Atlantic Coast Conference champions Helen Jepson, Dora Bralic, Robert Braknis and Ignacio Merino. The foursome combined to set six school records during the 1992-93 season.

Jepson set an FSU record with a time of 2:00.92 to win the 200 butterfly as a freshman at last year's ACC Championship meet. Her time also placed her in make the NCAA's this year," Gibb said.

Braknis, entering his sophomore season, and Merino, a junior, both qualified for the NCAA Championships a year ago. Braknis won the ACC 100 backstroke (:48.81) and finished second in the 200 back (1:46.70), shattering school records in the process.

Merino is an FSU record holder in three events (200 breaststroke, 2:00.01; 100 butterfly, :48.64; and the 200 butterfly 1:47.29) and won the conference title in the 200 fly.

"Those two guys are two of the best swimmers in the Atlantic Coast Conference," Gibb said. "They have worked hard over the summer and during the preseason and I expect them to score at the NCAA Championships."

Diving coach Gary Cole has also assembled some talent on the boards.

Sophomores Julie Henderson and Susan Petry were ACC finalists last year and both may contend for conference honors on both the one- and three-meter boards.

Jair Castrillion, a transfer from Oral Roberts, will be counted on heavily among the men. He was the NAIA runner-up on the one-meter last year.

"I think we will be peaking at the end of the year," Gibb said. "And with the ACCs here in Tallahassee, both of our teams could be in good position to finish at the top."

Graduate assistant Chris Walker serves as the primary media contact for the Florida State swimming and diving program.

The Seminoles' Home Field

The home of the football Seminoles since 1950, Doak Campbell Stadium is undergoing a makeover, and the changes are startling.

• Where wooden bleachers once stood, a beautiful new south end zone has arisen.

• A brick facade surrounds the new end zone and much of the east side of the stadium, matching the architectural style of many campus buildings.

• Construction on the east side of the new University Center complex is in progress with a completion date set for this spring. It will house the FSU School of Motion Picture, Film and Recording Arts, classrooms and several campus services and offices, including the registrar, admissions and financial aid.

• Inside Doak Campbell, the lowest tier of field level seats has been removed, providing increased sideline space and viewing lines for the first few rows of fans.

• A matching brick wall has been constructed along the east and west sidelines, limiting field access, increasing safety and giving the stadium a whole new look.

Next year, several new sky boxes will be completed, a new wing of the Moore Athletic Center will open and overlook the history of the stadium. This year's capacity of 72,589 reflects an increase of 12,070 since the end of the 1991 season. And that number will change in each of the next two seasons, up to 74,655 for 1994 before dropping back to 71,717 for '95. The increase is due to the addition of a section to the northwest corner, as well as the changes in the north end zone. The drop for '95 reflects the enlargement of each individual seat from 16 to 18 inches.

It's hard to imagine the first Doak Campbell Stadium, with a capacity of 15,000, back in 1950. In 1954, the stadium grew to a capacity of 19,000, and 6,000 more seats were added in 1961. During the Bill Peterson era (1960-70), manicured year-round. A pre-scription athletic turf (PAT) system installed in 1988 quickly alleviates drainage problems through a series of underground pumps. The field can go from seemingly flooded to merely wet in a matter of minutes, thanks to the pumps, which allow a deeper root system in the natural turf.

Seminole football games are always a media event and the press box at Doak Campbell Stadium features seating for nearly 100 writers, as well as broadcast booths for radio and television. Rising above the west stands, the box also includes separate president and operations levels, and a photo deck area outside of the top floor.

Doak Campbell Stadium

the stadium at the north end zone and construction will begin on the west side of the University Center, which will eventually include a new press box and another seating section in the northwest corner.

Since the stadium first opened on Oct. 7, 1950 with Florida State taking a 40-7 victory over the Randolph Macon Yellow-jackets, millions of fans have packed Doak Campbell to see the finest in college football action.

Last year, Florida State set a single season attendance mark by drawing 376,784 fans in six home games for its highest average ever, 62,797. The top two crowds in stadium history saw Florida State take on Florida (68,311) and Maryland (64,127) at the end of the year.

The current expansion is the eighth in the stadium was expanded to 40,500 seats, and it remained at that capacity for the next 14 years. Between 1978 and 1982, there were three more additions.

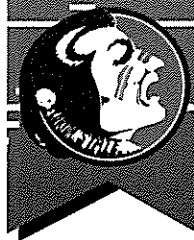

Named for Doak S. Campbell, the first president of Florida State University, the stadium sits adjacent to the Moore Athletic Center on the edge of the main campus. The stadium seats, each one offering an unrestricted view, rise out of a Bermuda grass turf enclosing the field. Fans enjoy all the modern conveniences with spacious aisles, numerous concession areas and plenty of rest room facilities. A professional public address system, first aid booths and an effective security system operate at every Seminole home game.

The field itself is one of the finest in college football, carefully managed and Both stadium scoreboards are new. The large scoreboard made its debut in 1992 and features the most technologically advanced computer animation system for a scoreboard in existence. The 160-foot-wide structure will be raised to sit on top of the Moore Athletic Center in the north end zone following the '93 season. The newest scoreboard is above the new south end zone and clearly and conveniently provides all basic information.

With the changes already made since last season, Doak Campbell Stadium is growing and improving faster than ever before. Like its residents, the Seminole football team and its fans, Doak Campbell Stadium is well on its way to becoming among the best in the nation, and a fitting showcase for Florida State University.

BIG NEWS FOR SEMINOLE FANS WHO LIKE TO STAY AHEAD OF THE GAME

SunBank has something worth cheering about. The All-In-One® Account is new and improved. It now includes the All-In-One Banking Card that looks like a credit card, but works like a check. The All-In-One card gives you the ease of acceptance of a credit card but the money is deducted directly from your checking account. And, just like the old All-In-One card, you can use it to withdraw cash from thousands of automated teller machines nationwide. That's important when you're on the road with the Seminoles. The convenient All-In-One Banking Card is the only one in its league. And it's available at SunBank.

Assistant Coaches

CHUCK AMATO

*Assistant Head Coach/Defensive Line
(North Carolina State '69)*

Chuck Amato enters his eighth season as the No. 2 man behind Head Coach Bobby Bowden in 1993. A 12-year veteran of the coaching staff, Amato came to FSU in 1982 as the defensive line coach after serving two seasons as linebackers coach at the University of Arizona.

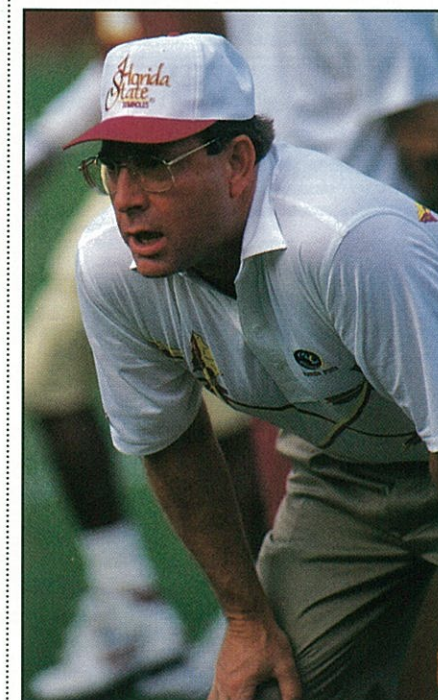

Since joining the Florida State staff, the Eaton, Pa., native has seen the Tribe defense lead the program to unprecedented national prominence. The last two years, the Seminoles have finished the season ranked in the top 10 in the nation in rushing defense.

Prior to his stint at Arizona, Amato coached at his alma mater, North Carolina State University. He started his career while still a student at N.C. State, as a student assistant coach in 1968. He remained at the school for the next 12 years. In 1971, he earned a full-time position; three years later he was promoted to defensive coordinator, a position he held for the next six seasons.

Amato worked for three different head coaches at N.C. State — Al Michaels, Lou Holtz and the late Bo Rein.

A three-year letterman in football and wrestling, Amato earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees from N.C. State. On the mat, he claimed a pair of Atlantic Coast Conference wrestling titles in his weight class and went undefeated in dual matches.

He and his wife, Peggy, are the parents of twin daughters — Lugina and Selenia.

MICKEY ANDREWS

*Defensive Coordinator/Defensive Backs
(Alabama '64)*

Florida State fans across the country breathed a collective sigh of relief when Mickey Andrews withdrew his name from consideration for the head coaching job at Houston this summer. Widely considered one of the top defensive coaches in the nation, Andrews has turned the Florida State defense into one of the top all-around units in college football over the past nine years.

Andrews' abilities as a defensive coach have not gone unnoticed. In 1991,

Athlon's Southeastern Football Magazine named Andrews its Assistant Coach of the Year, and he is annually listed among the nation's top aides.

Under Andrews' direction, FSU is becoming renowned for producing top cornerbacks. Two of his pupils — Deion Sanders and Terrell Buckley — have won the Jim Thorpe Award, given annually to the nation's top defensive back. LeRoy Butler joined those two as a consensus All-America pick at cornerback in 1989 to give the Seminoles four consensus All-America choices at the position in the last six years.

Andrews came to Florida State from the Arizona Wranglers of the United States Football League, where he spent two seasons as the defensive coordinator. But he was no stranger to the college game, having previously spent 17 years coaching in the collegiate ranks.

Andrews' coaching resume includes stints at Eastern Kentucky, Livingston, North Alabama, Clemson and Florida. He has worked for two of FSU's 1993 opponents, as assistant coach at Florida in 1981-82, and as defensive coordinator at Clemson from 1977-80.

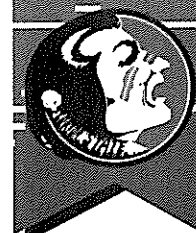

From 1972-76, Andrews was the head coach and athletic director at North Alabama. He also spent three years guiding the Livingston University program from 1970-72. During his tenure, Livingston went 24-7 and won the NAIA national championship.

Andrews starred in football and baseball for Alabama from 1961-64, earning second team All-America mention as a wide receiver and defensive back. During his career, the Crimson Tide won a pair of national championships (1961, '64) and played in three New Year's Day bowl games.

In addition to his football honors, Andrews was an all-Southeastern Conference choice in baseball. In 1964, he received the Hugo Friedman Award as the Tide's best all-around athlete.

Andrews and his wife, Diane, have two children — Ronnie and Shannon.

Assistant Coaches

WALLY BURNHAM
Inside Linebackers
(Samford '63)

Guiding the inside linebackers in 1993 for the ninth consecutive season is Wally Burnham. One of the primary concerns of the Pell City, Ala., native will be to find a replacement for consensus All-American Marvin Jones, who departed for the NFL after his junior year.

Like defensive coordinator Mickey Andrews, Burnham came to FSU from the Arizona Wranglers of the United States Football League, where he coached in 1983 and '84. Prior to that, Burnham was defensive coordinator at Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas.

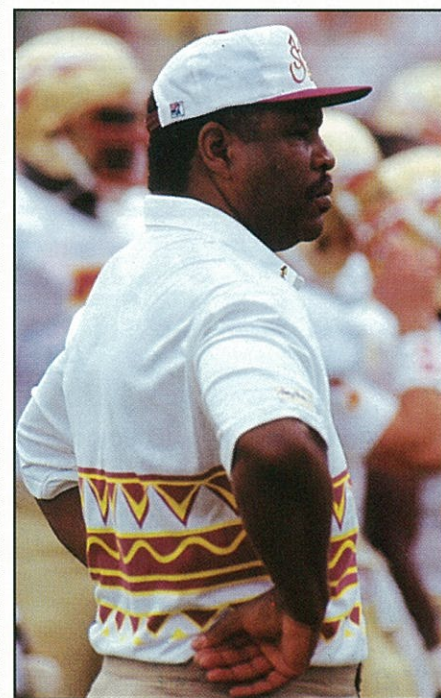

Burnham also has coached at Memphis State, Richmond, East Tennessee State and North Alabama during his 19-year career. He was defensive coordinator at East Tennessee State from 1977-79, while his stint at North Alabama consisted of five years as defensive line coach under then-head coach Andrews.

Burnham, like Bobby Bowden, played college football at both Alabama and Samford. He played for the late Bear Bryant during the 1960 and '61 seasons at Alabama before transferring to Samford, where he was a Little All-American at linebacker his senior season.

Following graduation, he worked in the Alabama high school ranks before getting his first college job in 1971 at North Alabama.

Burnham and his wife, Barbara, have three children — Patrick, Allison and Shane.

JOHN EASON
Receivers
(Florida A&M '69)

The man responsible for Florida State's reputation for producing top-notch receivers is receivers' coach John Eason.

Entering his 12th season, the native of Ocala, Fla., came to FSU from Tallahassee's Lincoln High School, where he was assistant principal for student affairs for two years. He was the offensive coordinator at Leon High School from 1973-79.

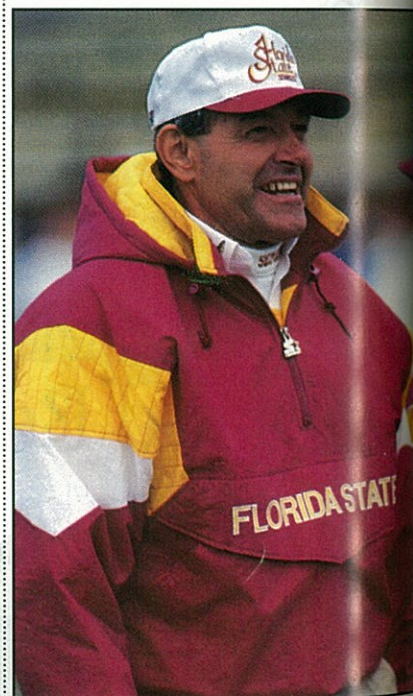

A receiver and punter for Florida A&M University from 1963-67, Eason earned All-America honors his junior and senior years. He was enshrined into the Florida A&M Sports Hall of Fame in 1984.

Eason went on to play two years of professional football with the Oakland Raiders. He began his coaching career at Vanguard High School in Ocala, where he coached until 1971. He returned to pro football in 1972 to play for the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League.

Eason holds a doctorate in educational administration from Florida State and received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Florida A&M. In addition to his coaching duties at FSU, Eason serves as an assistant to the athletic director with administrative duties in the area of academics and student affairs.

He and his wife, Dorothy, have a daughter, Amanda.

JIM GLADDEN
Outside Linebackers
(William Jewell '62)

Outside linebackers coach Jim Gladden has been an integral part of Florida State's rise to national prominence.

Assistant Coaches

In addition to working with the outside linebackers, Gladden is one of the best Seminole assistant coaches when it comes to recruiting.

Another of Gladden's responsibilities are the punt return and punt block units.

Gladden graduated from William Jewell College in 1962. As a member of the football team there, he was chosen to the all-conference team.

Over the next 15 years, Gladden coached in the high school ranks. He spent four years in Kansas City and St. Louis before moving to Kentucky, where he was the high school coach of the year in 1970. After two years as head coach at Hernando High in Brooksville, Fla., Gladden came to Florida State.

Born in Springfield, Mo., Gladden and his wife, Patricia, have two children — Julie and John.

JIMMY HEGGINS

*Offensive Line
(Florida State '78)*

In his eighth season on the Seminole coaching staff, Jimmy Heggins will guide the split side of the offensive line for the second consecutive year in 1993. This will mark the second year Heggins has led that side of the line, where one of his main duties will be to replace four-year starter Robert Stevenson at split tackle. During his coaching tenure at FSU, Heggins also has coached the tight ends for two years and the noseguards for four years.

Heggins, an outstanding noseguard under Bowden in the mid-'70s, returned to his alma mater in 1986 as a full-time coach after a year at Southwestern Louisiana, where he tutored USL's defensive ends. Prior to that, he was running backs coach at Eastern Michigan for two seasons, and at Western Illinois for one year.

At Florida State, Heggins' students at tight end have included Reggie Johnson, a second round draft pick of the Denver Broncos, as well as 1993 starter Lonnie Johnson. During his time as noseguard coach, Heggins was instrumental in the transformation of Odell Haggins from linebacker into one of the top noseguards in the country.

The Salisbury, N.C., native began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at East Carolina in 1980. He filled the same role at FSU in 1981 and '82.

Heggins originally came to Tallahassee in 1974 as a freshman running back at Florida State. He was an all-state back in North Carolina as a high school senior after gaining 1,670 yards. A fullback his first two seasons at Florida State, Heggins made the switch to noseguard in 1976. At the end of that season, he was named the squad's outstanding defensive player. A year later, he helped Florida State to a 10-2 record and the Tangerine Bowl championship with a 40-17 win against Texas Tech.

Heggins and his wife, the former Winifred Parker, have two daughters — Andrea and Lauren.

Quarterbacks (Miami '82)

After directing two top six Heisman Trophy vote-getters in the past two seasons, and sending three signal-callers to the NFL since 1989, quarterback coach Mark Richt is making his mark as one of the premier young coaches in the nation.

In his seven seasons as FSU's quarterbacks coach, Richt has tutored top quarterbacks like Casey Weldon, runner-up in the 1991 Heisman balloting, Brad Johnson and Peter Tom Willis.

Current Seminole quarterback Charlie Ward has also benefited from Richt's coaching as he finished sixth in the 1992 Heisman race and was named the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year last season. After a rocky start in 1992, Richt helped Ward become one of the top QBs in the nation who is already being touted as the "frontrunner" for this year's trophy.

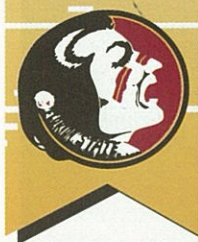

Richt has logged seven total seasons as quarterbacks coach at Florida State, although 1993 marks only his fourth straight season in that role. In 1989, Richt left FSU to be the offensive coordinator at East Carolina University under current Georgia Tech Head Coach Bill Lewis. Richt previously served as a graduate and then volunteer assistant coach in charge of quarterbacks at FSU from 1985-88.

Richt was well-schooled in the passing game before coming to FSU as a graduate assistant coach in 1985. The Boca Raton, Fla., native was a quarterback at the University of Miami under former Hurricane coach Howard Schnellenberger. He was the backup quarterback to Jim Kelly during his three seasons at UM.

Richt is married to the former Kathy Francis of Tallahassee. The couple has a three-year-old son, Jonathan.

BRAD SCOTT

*Offensive Coordinator/Offensive Line
(Missouri-Rolla '76)*

Entering his fourth season as offensive coordinator and his ninth year on the Florida State staff, Brad Scott is responsible for the direction of the tight side of the offensive line as well as handling all the coordinator duties. The tight side of the line includes the tight ends, which will be directed by FSU graduate assistant coach Mark Salva.

Scott was one of the coaches behind the installation of the shotgun and one-back offensive sets to the Seminole repertoire during the 1992 season. These formations allowed the FSU offense to become one of the most dangerous and potent units in the nation by the end of the year. In the last four contests of 1993, the Tribe averaged almost 53 points a game.

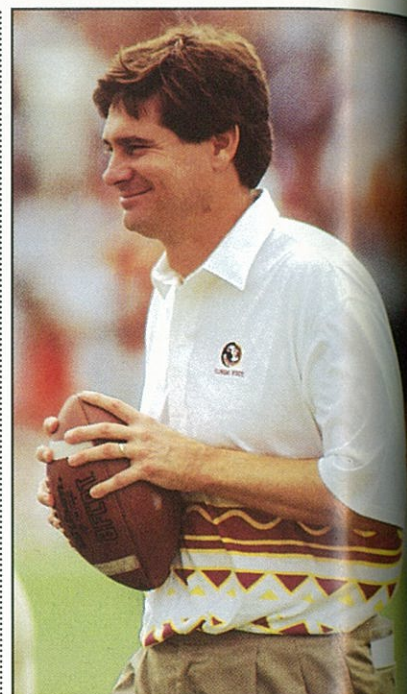

Prior to taking over as offensive coordinator, Scott established himself as a master recruiter in five years as the Seminoles' recruiting coordinator and tight end coach. Three of his five recruiting classes ranked among the nation's top five. The recruiting successes of Scott's years now comprise the nucleus of the Florida State team that has accumulated a string of six straight top four finishes since 1987. The Arcadia, Fla., native is credited with laying the groundwork for current recruiting successes.

Like five of the other FSU assistant coaches, Scott put his time in at Florida State as a graduate assistant. He coached the Florida State tight ends and junior varsity squad as a graduate assistant in 1983-84 before getting promoted to full-time status a year later.

A football standout at Missouri-Rolla from 1972-76, Scott played for Bobby Bowden in the American Bowl All-Star Game following his senior season.

Upon graduation, Scott returned to Arcadia as an assistant coach at DeSoto County High School, and then at Hardee High School in Wauchula. He started his collegiate coaching career as the junior varsity coach at The Citadel in 1981 and '82 and spent the following season as the head football coach and athletic director back at DeSoto County High prior to coming to FSU.

Scott and his wife, Daryle, have two sons — Jon and Jeff.

BILLY SEXTON

*Running Backs
(Florida State '74)*

Billy Sexton has been a familiar sight on the sidelines of Florida State football games since 1973. The Tallahassee native started his career at FSU as a player for the Seminoles and went on to become a graduate assistant coach and then a full-time coach in 1977. This year marks Sexton's 11th as the Seminole running backs coach.

Since 1983, Sexton's running backs have become one of the most effective components of the FSU offense, averaging nearly six yards per carry and more than 10 yards per catch over those nine seasons. Florida State's backs have earned a sure-handed reputation and are renowned for their pass-catching abilities.

Sexton joined the Florida State staff as a graduate assistant in 1976, Bobby Bowden's first year as the FSU mentor. He became a member of the full-time staff in 1977 and worked with the Seminole quarterbacks for five seasons until 1982 when he became the head junior varsity coach and handled scouting duties. The next season, he took over the running back position.

A standout at Leon High School in Tallahassee, Sexton played his first three years of college football at Alabama before transferring to Florida State. He was the Seminoles' starting quarterback for the opening half of the 1973 season.

Sexton earned a bachelor's degree in business from FSU and began his coaching career as assistant coach at Leon before returning to Florida State as a coach.

He and his wife, Joy, have three children — Wyatt, Leslie and Taylor.

DAVE VAN HALANGER
Strength & Conditioning
(West Virginia '76)

In the competitive environment of college football, games are often won because of strength and speed. Part of the reason for Florida State's success on the field is a year 'round weight-room program run by strength and conditioning coach Dave Van Halanger. The 11-year veteran of the Seminole coaching staff has helped hundreds of FSU athletes get stronger, faster and more flexible.

Under Van Halanger's direction, the average student-athlete gains 20-25 pounds, adds 100 pounds to his bench press and 200 pounds to his squat during his years at FSU. Each athlete can knock about two-tenths of a second off his 40-yard dash time and can jump four to five inches higher when he leaves Florida State thanks in part to the work of Van Halanger and his staff. In addition to work in the weight room, Van Halanger works closely with the FSU trainers to keep players in shape as they recover from injury.

Van Halanger spent five years as the head strength coach at his alma mater, West Virginia, prior to his arrival at FSU in July 1983. He is credited with starting West Virginia's first organized weight training program.

A four-year letterman under Bowden at West Virginia, Van Halanger was a co-captain of the 1975 West Virginia Peach Bowl team. An offensive tackle, he earned All-East honors his junior and senior seasons and was an honorable mention All-America selection as a senior. He played professionally with the Atlanta Falcons in 1976 before returning to WVU as a graduate assistant and head junior varsity coach. He became the full-time strength coach at WVU in 1978.

Van Halanger is currently in the second of a five-year term as the North Florida state director and a member of the National Board of Ethics for the National Strength and Conditioning Association. He teaches several classes on strength training and conditioning to students and to the Tallahassee community. Van Halanger leads FSU's Fellowship of Christian Athletes group.

Van Halanger, a native of Turtle Creek, Pa., and his wife, Michele, have three children — Danielle, Julie and Matthew.

RONNIE COTTRELL
Recruiting Coordinator
(Troy State '83)

If recruiting is a prerequisite to winning and the lifeblood of any successful college football program, then Ronnie Cottrell is seeing to it that Florida State stays healthy, and on top, for a long time to come.

In 1993, Florida State's recruiting class again was hailed by every recruiting expert as the top group in the entire country.

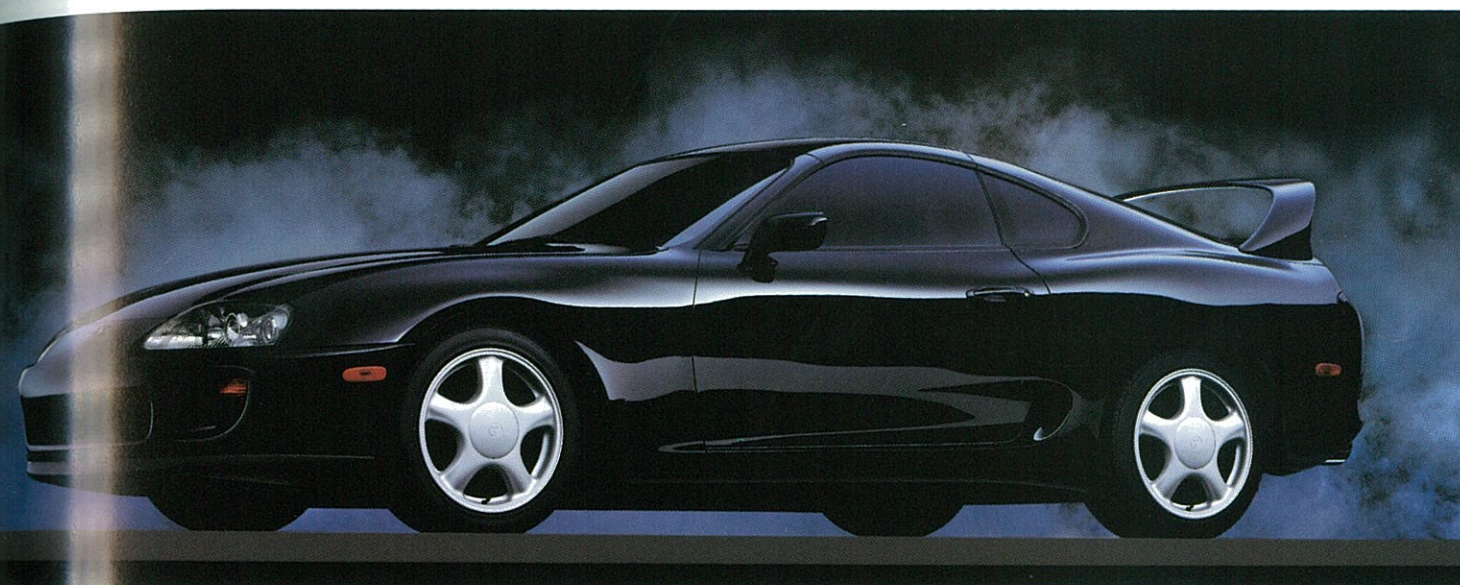

Cottrell is in his fourth season as recruiting coordinator at Florida State. He was promoted to the job as the Seminoles' top recruiter after assisting Brad Scott with the 1990 recruiting class as a graduate assistant.

A native of Brewton, Ala., Cottrell came to FSU after two years as an assistant at Troy (Ala.) State while attending school there in 1981 and 1982. He also held high school head coaching jobs in Alabama, at Kinston, Flomaton and East Brewton high schools. In 1986 and '87, he led Flomaton High to a pair of perfect regular seasons, the first in school history.

This is a line.

To some, it is seen as a constraint. A limitation. A barrier.

To others, it is a point where the past is abandoned in favor of the future.

The new Toyota Supra. It's taken everything sports cars were before and crossed the line.

Wind in the face. Steering with the throttle. Shift levers that had to be persuaded into first. More power than brakes. Heaters that only worked when the sun shined.

Sports Cars. For decades drivers wrinkled their suits and burned their shoes to experience the irony of how so many shortcomings added up to so much driving pleasure. But now there's a new kind of sports car dedicated to the proposition that performance and civilized driving do not have to be mutually exclusive.

The revolutionary new Toyota Supra.

The cornerstone of Supra's performance is a world-class power-to-weight ratio. Its 3.0-liter, 24-valve inline-6 with twin-sequential turbochargers delivers 320 horsepower (220 horsepower in the normally aspirated model). And, mated to a 6-speed transmission, propels the Turbo from zero to sixty in 4.6 seconds.*

Double wishbone suspension, 4-wheel/4-channel Anti-lock Brake System (ABS) with ventilated discs and dual air bags** help make Supra as reassuring to drive as it is fast.

Ultimately, though, the real meaning of a sports car is found in the driving. And that's why crossing the line wasn't just an end. It was a beginning. Call 1-800-GO-TOYOTA for a brochure and location of your nearest dealer.

Seminole Football

From the pre-game ritual to the fourth quarter fanfare, from the opening kickoff to the last tick of the clock, nothing compares to the pageantry and excitement of Seminole football. On a warm September night or a sunny November afternoon, fall Saturdays in Tallahassee mean only one thing — Florida State football.

Empty, Florida State's Doak Campbell Stadium is just another college football arena. But fill it with more than 72,000 die-hard, garnet-and-gold clad, screaming Seminole fans, and the stadium is transformed into one of the most exciting places in the nation. On those six dates each year, it's easy to see (and hear) why FSU's football teams have posted an amazing 37-3 mark at home over the past six years.

Game-day excitement begins hours before the game, as pregame tailgate parties kickoff the fun. Friends and acquaintances, new and old, meet, greet and eat before entering the stadium. As game time nears, fans move to their seats. The Marching Chiefs entertain and the Seminole cheerleaders exhort the crowd to a fever pitch. The excitement is palpable.

Minutes before kickoff, every eye turns toward the north end zone. Suddenly, Chief Osceola and Renegade burst out of the tunnel onto the playing field, followed by Head Coach Bobby Bowden and the Seminole team.

An Appaloosa horse owned by Tallahasseean Bill Durham, Renegade gallops the length of the field. Astride Renegade, holding a 10-foot flaming spear, is Chief makeup, with garnet and gold stripes added in FSU fashion.

Meanwhile, the Tribe cheerleaders encourage the packed and frenzied Doak Campbell Stadium crowd as the Marching Chiefs band pounds out a menacing beat. Fans move their arms back and forth in

The game captains and referees finally leave mid-field. The excitement reaches a crescendo as the horse and rider gallop to mid-field until they are on top of the Seminole head logo. The roar of the crowd is deafening. When Renegade rears up on his hind legs, Chief Osceola plants the fiery spear into the turf.

A thrill goes through the crowd. The moment the spear hits the ground, an even louder cheer goes up, while the Marching Chiefs start the Florida State fight song in the background.

Unique to Florida State, this opening show has become a trademark of Seminole football, featured on national television and recognized by fans across the country. Nothing can compare.

Osceola. An FSU student carefully chosen and trained for this moment, he wears an authentic costume designed specifically for Florida State University by members of the Seminole Indian Tribe of Florida. His face is covered with grease-based unison, following the beat of the drum. In the south end zone, Renegade fidgets and shakes his head, awaiting the end of the coin toss proceedings. When Chief Osceola raises the flaming spear over his head, the crowd roars its approval.

You don't have to be a cheerleader to pick up a football hero.

Tailgate with a big, beefy football hero. Just check out the starting lineup of our sandwich meats and cheeses in the Winn-Dixie Deli. You'll find everything from baked ham to Italian salami, cheeses from Swiss to

Muenster, all top quality and freshly sliced any way you like. Then pick up some rolls and pile it on. Or tackle one of our party

platters, some fried chicken and a freshly made salad.

Whatever you choose, our quality and low prices are sure to score major points.

So before the next game, come see us. We have everything you need to make football

heroes worth cheering about.

Delta
To Asia

We Make The Far East Far Easier.

Fly Through Delta's Uncrowded Gateways To Six Major Asian Cities.

Now you have two better routes to Asia—through our gateways in Portland and Los Angeles.

They're better, because at each gateway, we put everything in one terminal. Arrivals. Departures. Even Customs and Immigration. And Delta's passengers are the only ones who use them. Nonstop to Seoul, Tokyo and Nagoya. And on our new nonstops from Portland to Taipei, continuing to Bangkok, and from Los Angeles to Hong Kong.

So you couldn't be closer to Asia. Or farther away from the crowds you find at other gateways.

For more information or reservations, see your Travel Agent. Or call us at 1-800-241-4141. And fly Delta, express to the Orient.

Talk To Us When You Mean Business

When most people think of an Orlando hotel, they think of the attractions. The Omni Orlando Hotel is the exception – sophisticated and businesslike, taking you just far enough away from the attractions to keep your mind on business. Of course, Orlando's fun side is easily accessible when business wraps up for the day.

Let the Omni impress you with all the amenities of a large corporate hotel . . . in Orlando's dynamic, business-minded downtown.

- Located in downtown Orlando, adjacent to the Expo

Convention Centre, Bob Carr Performing Arts Centre and Orlando Sports Arena. Easily accessible to Orlando International Airport and a short distance to other area attractions.

- 14,000 square feet of meeting and banquet space. Adjoining Expo Centre offers an additional 75,000 square feet.
- 290 guest rooms and suites. Top two floors offer Omni Club™ service. Heated pool and fitness center.
- Two restaurants and two lounges. Room service available.

You've Helped Us Put Up Some Very Impressive Numbers For Academics

$4.5million...that's how much money has been raised for academics through the sale of FSU license tags. Bernae Cambric is grateful for the chance to achieve her lifetime dream, a college education.

Bernae was awarded a Florence/London Minority Scholarship which is supported by FSU license tag sales. Become part of a great academic tradition by purchasing an FSU license tag. Your purchase can make a difference to Florida State students like Bernae.

Seminoles in the Pros

Deion Sanders, Terrell Buckley, Lawrence Dawsey, Hassan Jones, Rohn Stark, Peter

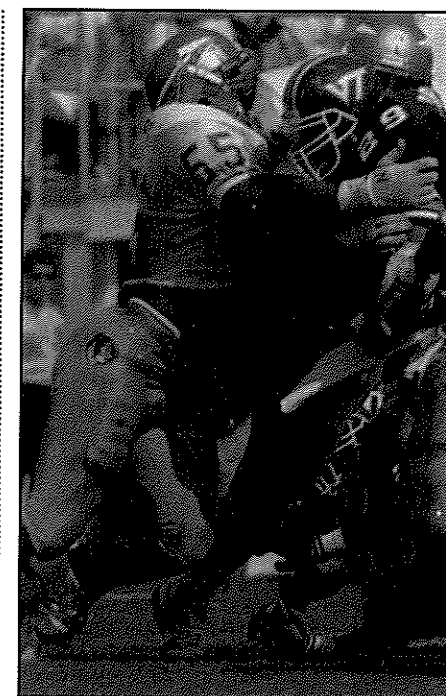

Tom Willis and Jamie Dukes. Just a few of the many Seminoles who have traveled the well-worn path between Tallahassee and the National Football League since Bobby Bowden's arrival at Florida State in 1976.

Of the 125 FSU players ever drafted, 71 have played under Bowden. Of those 71 Bowden draftees, 46 spent at least one complete season on an NFL roster.

Since the end of the 1987 season alone, a total of 34 Seminoles have been selected in the NFL draft. True to form, Florida State produced another bumper crop of talent in 1992, sending six players to the next league.

Those six were led by Marvin Jones, 1992 Lombardi and Butkus Award winner, who surpassed all previous Florida State draftees when the New York Jets made him the fourth overall pick in the draft. He became the highest FSU selection ever in the draft, replacing Deion Sanders and Terrell Buckley, who were both selected fifth overall.

Of the six Seminoles selected in 1993, five were taken in the draft's first four draft saw FSU career touchdown reception leader Barry Smith and free safety J.T. Thomas chosen first by the Green Bay Packers and Pittsburgh Steelers, respectively. Thomas would go on to play in three Super Bowls with the Steelers during his eight-year career. More recent-the greatest impression on the NFL. Jesse Solomon and Garth Jax are examples of late round selections who are still in the league after eight years. Offensive lineman Jamie Dukes and punter Rick Tuten were never drafted. The two signed free agent contracts and have enjoyed successful pro careers. Marion Butts, who lagged in the shadows of Smith at FSU, was drafted in the seventh round in 1989, and has become an NFL Pro Bowl player for the San Diego Chargers.

In 1992, 12 of Florida State's 23 seniors were drafted or signed free agent contracts. Of those, six players spent all or part of the next season on a professional roster. The Tribe's entire 1991 starting backfield was drafted — tailback Amp Lee (San Francisco) in the second round, fullback Edgar Bennett (Green Bay) and quarterback Casey Weldon (Philadelphia) in the fourth. They were joined by former Seminole teammates Terrell Buckley (Green Bay), Howard Dinkins (Atlanta) and Brad Johnson (Minnesota) in making FSU's 1992 draft class one of its most successful. They brought the total of Seminole football alumni in the National Football League to 33.

Without a doubt, FSU's greatest pro ever was Oakland Raiders wide receiver

Fred Biletnikoff, a 1964 All-American at Florida State who starred for 13 seasons with the Silver and Black and made the Pro Bowl four times during a five-year span. Biletnikoff played in nine AFL/AFC title games and a pair of Super Bowls, earning Most Valuable Player honors in Super Bowl XI. In 1988, he became the first former Seminole elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Florida State continues to build its reputation as "Cornerback U." A listing of former Seminoles in the NFL (including free agents who signed and played for a year) by position shows that Florida State has sent more defensive backs to the NFL than any other position. Eighteen FSU grads have roamed the secondary for professional teams. They may have had to cover one of 15 former Seminoles who rounds. Defense was the theme of this year's draft for FSU. In addition to Jones, defensive ends Carl Simpson (Chicago) and Dan Footman (Cleveland), and outside linebacker Reggie Freeman (New Orleans) were all selected in the second round. They were joined by outside linebacker Sterling Palmer, who was Washington's fourth-round choice. Speedy wide receiver Shannon Baker rounded out the Florida State draft when he was taken in the eighth round (Atlanta).

Since 1969, when Ron Sellers became FSU's first first-rounder, 11 Tribe players have been NFL first-round selections. Twice, Florida State has had two players taken in the first round. The 1973 ly, All-America cornerback Deion Sanders and single season rushing leader Sammie Smith went in the first round of the 1989 draft to the Atlanta Falcons and Miami Dolphins, respectively.

It hasn't always been the first, or even second, round Seminoles who have made played receiver in the pros. There have been 11 defensive linemen and 11 FSU linebackers in professional football.

A total of 12 NFL running backs wore the Garnet and Gold, while eight offensive linemen went to Florida State. Seven tight ends and eight former FSU quarterbacks made it at least one season in pro football.

Entering the 1993 preseason, 29 former Seminoles were on professional rosters and several have had long and illustrious careers. Two former Seminoles who just concluded lengthy NFL careers are defensive back Bobby Butler of the Atlanta Falcons and Denver Broncos offensive lineman Ken Lanier, both of whom recently retired after 12 years in the league.

Over the years, nine former Seminoles have played in Super Bowls. Five former FSU stars, including two-sport stand out Deion Sanders, have been selected to the Pro Bowl.

In the history of college football, few programs can boast of six consecutive top five national finishes. Yet, nothing speaks louder of Florida State's success during this span, than the number of Seminoles who have "graduated" to the National Football League.

This is the way many people deal with HIV *

A lot of people figure HIV isn't something they have to worry about. It's something other people get, not them. But anyone can get HIV infection if they are sharing drug needles and syringes or having sex with an infected person.

HIV infection can happen to you if you take chances or pretend it doesn't exist.

There are some general rules. Never share drug needles and syringes. And unless you're sure your partner isn't infected, don't take a chance. Or at least use a latex condom, correctly, every time you have sex.

Understand HIV and AIDS. Call the Florida AIDS Hotline at 1-800-FLA-AIDS. Call 1-800-243-7889 (TTY) for deaf access. For an HIV testing appointment, call your HRS/Leon County Public Health Unit at 487-3155.

FSU Football History

Tradition. When it comes to college football, the word conjures up images of Knute Rockne, Bear Bryant, helmet-less players and the Army-Navy game. Schools celebrating their 100th year of football boast of a grand tradition.

But Florida State, in only its 47th season of football, has proven that it doesn't take 100 years to build tradition. All it takes is success. With success comes all the things that make up a great college football tradition — award-winners, All-Americans, classic games and legendary coaches.

Florida State doesn't match its rivals in years of tradition. But the Seminoles have matched and surpassed some older brethren in success. For example:

- FSU is one of only three schools to compile six straight top-four national rankings, a streak that is still alive.
- The Seminoles rank sixth all-time in bowl winning percentage with a 12-7-2 record.
- With eight straight victories, FSU owns the NCAA record for bowl wins in consecutive seasons. Florida State's 11 straight bowl games without a loss is also an NCAA record.
- Florida State Head Coach Bobby Bowden is the first coach in Division I history to compile six straight 10-win seasons.

A Tradition of Excellence

• Four Seminole defensive players have finished in the top 10 in balloting for the Heisman Trophy.

Individually, Florida State players have earned consensus All-America recognition 12 times, including six in the past six years. Marvin Jones was the most recent FSU consensus choice, and the third two-time selection.

The Seminole trophy case is getting full, too. Florida State players have won two Jim Thorpe awards, two Butkus Awards, a Lombardi and a Unitas Golden Arm. Seminole players are regularly named finalists for these and other honors.

Just three Seminole football numbers have been retired. Those belong to College Football Hall-of-Famers Ron Sellers (34) and Fred Biletnikoff (25), and all-star noseguard Ron Simmons (50). Biletnikoff is also the only former Seminole enshrined in the National Football League Hall of Fame.

These are just a few examples of FSU's winning tradition, a tradition passed from team to team and player to player that builds with each passing season.

Florida State University may have one of the shortest traditions in college football, in years. But in terms of quality, success and excellence — in its All-Americans, its many bowl teams, its hall of fame selections and its national award winners — Seminole football boasts a tradition few schools can match.

25 FRED BILETNIKOFF

*Wide Receiver, 1962-64
1988 National Football League Professional Football Hall of Fame
1991 College Football Hall of Fame*

Fred Biletnikoff started catching passes in high school in Erie, Pa., continued at Florida State and went on to star with the Oakland Raiders.

In 1964, Biletnikoff ranked fourth in the nation with 57 receptions for 11 touchdowns. The Seminoles' first consensus All-America choice, he capped a super year with four touchdown catches in the Gator Bowl.

Biletnikoff was selected by the Oakland Raiders in the second round of the 1965 draft. He went on to make the AFL all-star team twice and four Pro Bowls in a five-year span. He played in nine AFL/AFC title games, two Super Bowls and was MVP in Super Bowl XI.

When his 14-year professional career came to an end after the 1978 season, Biletnikoff had caught 589 passes for 8,974 yards and 76 touchdowns. The Raiders never had a losing season during Biletnikoff's tenure; he caught 40 or more passes 10 straight years.

In 1988, he became the first Seminole inducted into the Professional Football Hall of Fame. Three years later, he joined Ron Sellers as the only Florida State alumni in the College Football Hall of Fame.

34 RON SELLERS

*Wide Receiver, 1966-68
1988 College Football Hall of Fame*

In December 1988, former Seminole great and 1968 consensus All-American Ron Sellers became the first FSU player inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

The Palm Beach, Fla., native owned the NCAA receiving records for more than 20 years. From 1966-68, Sellers caught 212 passes for 3,598 yards for Florida State. He averaged 119.9 yards per game and caught passes in a record 30 consecutive games. He had 18 100-yard receiving days and five 200-yard games. He still owns nearly every Florida State receiving record. Sellers caught 13 or more passes in a game seven times during his career.

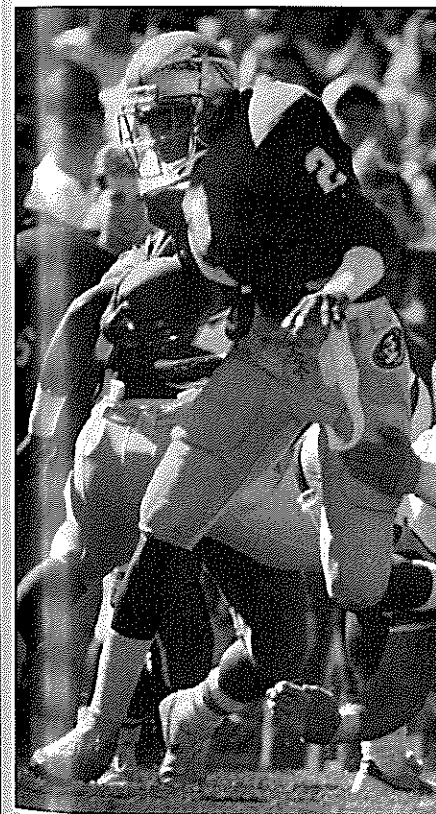

The Seminoles played in three bowl games during the Sellers era. A player labeled "can't play, too fragile" by Coach Bill Peterson at first, Sellers was later called "simply the best college receiver I ever saw."

38 PAUL MCGOWAN

*Inside Linebacker, 1984-87
1987 Butkus Award Winner*

Calling the Butkus Award for linebackers, "the Heisman of the Bad Guys," FSU inside linebacker Paul McGowan accepted the award from Dick Butkus himself in December 1987.

The 6-1, 230-pound McGowan won the award by a one-point margin over Ohio State's Chris Spielman. McGowan won the award based on a senior season in which he totalled 150 tackles, including 97 solo stops and 11 behind the line of scrimmage. He was named to the Associated Press, The Sporting News and Football News first team All-America squads.

2 DEION SANDERS

*Cornerback, 1985-88
1988 Jim Thorpe Award*

One of the best athletes ever to wear a Florida State uniform, cornerback Deion

Sanders won the Jim Thorpe Award as the top defensive back of 1988.

Sanders collected the prize after a career which saw him gather 14 interceptions, and three more in bowl games. In his junior and senior seasons, FSU went 11-1 with a pair of New Year's Day bowl wins. In 1988, Sanders ranked in the top 10 nationally with five interceptions in nine games. He was the nation's top punt returner, averaging 15.2 yards per return.

The Ft. Myers, Fla., native ranks third on the FSU career charts in interceptions and holds most of the punt return records as well.

A three-sport star in football, baseball and track at Florida State, Sanders was the fifth pick in the 1989 NFL draft by the Atlanta Falcons. He became a successful two-sport pro — elected to the Pro Bowl twice in football and starting in center field for the National League champion Atlanta Braves.

27 TERRELL BUCKLEY

*Cornerback, 1989-91
1991 Jim Thorpe Award Winner*

In 1991, Terrell Buckley capped the best season ever by a Florida State cornerback by becoming the second Seminole to win the Jim Thorpe Award.

A junior, Buckley blew away the Florida State record for interceptions with 12 in 1991. He intercepted passes in eight of FSU's 12 regular season contests to lead the country in pickoffs. Against Michigan in Ann Arbor, his interception and 40-yard return for a touchdown on the game's first play set the stage for a 51-31 Florida State win.

A native of Pascagoula, Miss., Buckley also demolished the Florida State career record with 21 INTs in just three seasons. His 470 career interception return yards broke an NCAA record that had stood since 1974. Following the season, Buckley entered the NFL draft and was selected by the Green Bay Packers in the first round.

55 MARVIN JONES

*Inside Linebacker, 1990-92
1992 Butkus Award Winner
1992 Lombardi Award Winner*

The top defensive player in the nation in 1992, Marvin Jones became the first Seminole to capture two national awards in the same year when he earned both the Butkus and the Lombardi Awards following his junior season.

Florida State's third two-time consensus All-American, Jones tallied 111 tackles and seven tackles for loss in 1992 while leading the Seminoles to an 11-1 record. He made 10 or more tackles in nine games and finished fourth in balloting for the Heisman Trophy.

He left Florida State seventh on the career tackle chart with 369. His 28 tackles for loss rank third on the school's all-time list. A first team All-ACC choice from Miami, Fla., Florida State tailored its nationally-ranked defense to Jones' strength in 1992.

Jones left Tallahassee after his junior season for the NFL, where he became the highest Seminole draft choice ever when he was selected fourth overall by the New York Jets.
