All right, so a national championship will not be decided in the USF&G Insurance Sugar Bowl.

So what?

When it comes to the Sunshine State, in the minds of many, bragging rights can be just as important as "We're No. 1," particularly when such feuding blood brothers as the University of Florida and Florida State University are involved.

While bowl folks ordinarily try to avoid regular-season rematches like a plague, the encore between the No. 4 Gators and No. 7 Seminoles is special for more than the obvious reason of breaking a 31-31 November tie.

Even if the Miami Hurricanes slip in the back door to capture a mythical national title, they will be talking longer and louder in the state of Florida about what takes place in the Superdome the evening of January 2.

Why?

Simply because, in a fertile land that gushes quality college talent like the Middle East gushes oil, Florida and FSU are the glamour schools with the largest fan bases.

It's a glamour enhanced by two high profile coaches known for wide-open, throw-the-bomb offenses that blend imagination, trickery and go-for-the-jugular. FSU's Bobby Bowden would rather fake a punt than run a quarterback sneak. Florida's Steve Spurrier would rather dazzle the enemy with the "Emory & Henry Shift" than run a "Student Body Right."

If you're looking for three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust, the '95 Sugar is not your cup of tea. With no wind and a dry carpet guaranteed, with the 10-1-1 Gators averaging 43 points and 462 yards, with the 9-1-1 Seminoles averaging 37 points and 483 yards, it might be wise to get out your pocket calculators.

For a moment, it seemed as if Florida might have trouble recovering from an incredible 28-0 fourth quarter blitz by the Seminoles that left an exhausted Bobby Bowden saying, "I've never had a tie feel so much like a win." A week later, however, there were the Gators proving they could win a close one, proving it with a clutch drive against 11-0 Alabama that brought Spurrier, and his team, back from their Tallahassee nightmare with an SEC championship and a firm resolve to go to New Orleans and play "a 60-minute overtime."

In a packed Georgia Dome on December 3, it appeared the Gators were doomed when Bama picked off a Danny Wuerffel pass and grabbed a 23-16 lead with nine minutes remaining. But no. Just when it counted most, Florida came up with a clutch drive of 80 yards that was vintage Steve Spurrier, that is, it included a "quarterback hobble" followed by "wide-field streak," a "quick hitch left" followed by an "Emory & Henry Shift."

"Every time I looked over at coach," Wuerffel recalled, "I could see the wheels spinning. And, man, were they spinning. We've got more plays than Florida has grains of sand." Ten plays was all it took, 10 plays in three and a half minutes, to what turned out to be a 24-23 victory and Florida's third conference crown in the last four years. It all happened after Wuerffel had just given the Crimson Tide its second touchdown on an errant pass.

"Coach Spurrier always preaches, if you make a bad play, forget it, and come back with a good one," said Wuerffel, who got the march started with two completions. Which is when he looked over and saw reserve quarterback Eric Kresser putting on his helmet and buckling his chinstrap. It was the sign for Wuerffel to limp off the field and for Kresser to come in for a play he had been practicing all week, a pass to wide receiver Ike Hilliard on something called "wide-field streak." "Coach figured Alabama wouldn't be looking for Eric to come in cold and throw long," Wuerffel explained. He did, a 25-yard completion to the Bama 42.

That was only the beginning. After Fred Taylor squeezed through for two yards on a fourth-and-one, Spurrier reached into his bag for one cerebral call that set up the next one. First he had freshman wideout Reidel Anthony flanked wide left. Wuerffel hit him on a quick hitch and Anthony ran for nine yards. On second-and-one at the Bama 22, the Gators came out in the same formation, but with Chris Doering in Anthony's spot. Wuerffel threw quickly to Doering but this time it was a backward pass, a lateral. As the Tide cornerback came up to make the tackle, Doering calmly flipped a forward pass to wide open wide receiver Aubrey Hill, who had lined up next to Doering and taken off downfield. The double-pass is a play Spurrier likes to call the "Emory & Henry Shift," named for a small school in Virginia which used it effectively. This time it worked for 20 yards as Hill was hauled down two yards shy of the end zone.

The Spurrier touch was not over. On first-and-goal, the call was a quarterback sneak. "When I saw the middle clogged," said Wuerffel, "I had the freedom to check off to a pass." It turned into a two-yard touchdown pass to Chris Doering. After Judd Davis kicked a go-ahead extra point, the burden fell to the Gators defense, which rose up and stopped the Tide when Eddie Lake picked off a Jay Barker pass at the Florida 35 with 44 seconds remaining.

Sure-handed Florida tailback Fred Taylor will be looking to run with the ball.

Kez McCorvey became the second receiver in FSU history to eclipse the 200-yard plateau by racking up 207 yards receiving against Duke.

Sugar Bowl Sweet Revenge

"I loved that last drive we made," said Spurrier, "but it was our defense that won the game. We proved we could win a close one, we proved we could play 60 minutes, now we have to go to New Orleans and play for another 60 minutes."

It was the same defense that had given up four fourth-quarter touchdowns to FSU seven days earlier. After the collapse, Ellis Johnson, a 6-3, 283-pound end, read the defense the riot act. And went on to lead by example against Bama. When he wasn't sacking Jay Barker, he was chasing the quarterback all over the Georgia Dome, turning in the kind of performance that made Johnson the game's MVP.

It helped ease the fresh memory of allowing the Seminoles to score on drives of 84, 60, 73 and 60 yards after the Gators had jumped out to a 31-3 lead, a lead they still owned with 13 minutes left. When Bobby Bowden decided to kick for a tie with 1:45 remaining, he went against the wishes of his players. As he explained, "we made such a great comeback, I just didn't want to take a chance of losing."

"If they had gone for two and made it," said Spurrier of an FSU rally that tied the Division I-A record for fourth quarter comebacks, "I'd feel a lot worse." Bowden said, "I've never seen Florida that hot. They wanted it more. They out hit us and physically whipped us in our backyard."

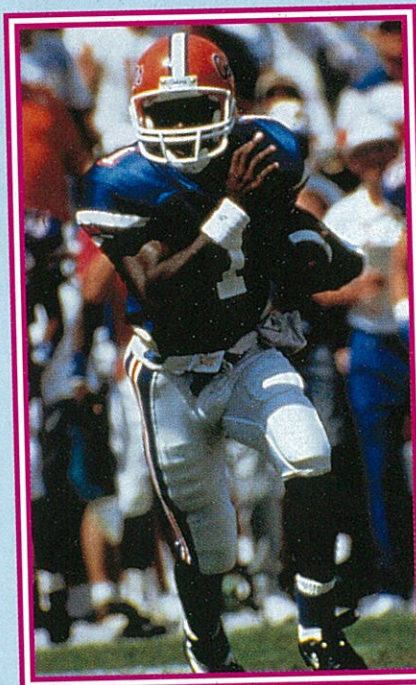

Aubrey Hill caught a 58-yard pass from Wuerffel to make it 7-3. Then the Seminoles fumbled and threw an interception and, suddenly, Jack Jackson was catching a couple of touchdown passes, the second one coming with 15 seconds left in the second quarter to make it 24-3 at halftime. When Wuerffel dove into the end zone to end an 80-yard drive late in the third period, it was 31-3. At this point, FSU's 'OMar Ellison remembered thinking he was only concerned about not being embarrassed. "We just wanted to score some points and make this thing respectable so we could go to class on Monday," he said.

At the same time, Bobby Bowden was on the sidelines thinking of changing quarterbacks. Fortunately, he didn't. Danny Kanell, who couldn't get much going, suddenly caught fire. He would throw for 232 yards and a touchdown in the fourth quarter, completing 16 of his last 17 passes. "Every time we scored," said Kanell, "I'd come back to the bench and say, 'it's not over yet.' " It wasn't. While the Gators were mustering only two first downs, the Seminoles kept marching. A six-yard pass to Andre Cooper made it 31-17, and, with 5:24 left, Kanell was running it in from the three-yard-line to make it 31-24. Then, with 1:45 to go, Rock Preston was running it in from the four for the tying score. "I wanted to go for two," said Kanell, "but Coach Bowden felt we had come too far not to get something out of it."

Despite missing the first two games, Florida State's Derrick Brooks finished second on the team in total tackles.

With the 10-1-1 Gators averaging 43 points and 462 yards, with the 9-1-1 Seminoles averaging 37 points and 483 yards, it might be wise to get out your pocket calculators.

Junior wide receiver Jack Jackson has proved an invaluable asset to the Gators' offense.

Bowden felt FSU would get the ball back and he was right. There were 22 seconds left when the Seminoles took over on their 29. After a 19-yard completion to Kez McCorvey, Kanell scrambled for nine yards, to the Florida 43, but couldn't get out of bounds before time expired. "I don't know how to explain what happened," said Gator center Dave Swain. "It seemed like we were going to kill them." Fullback Chris Bilkie said it was worse than the last-minute loss to Auburn earlier in the year. "FSU is the biggest rival we have and, to lose like this, hurts bad."

It now becomes Florida's challenge to turn that 31-31 "loss" into a second straight Sugar Bowl victory and remove what appears to be a Bowden Family Curse, remembering, if the Gators had defeated teams coached by Terry and Bobby Bowden the last two years, Steve Spurrier would be on the threshold of back-to-back 13-0 seasons.

All things considered, it would be an upset if this rematch is anything but a thriller, nothing like Ole Miss' 21-0 blowout of LSU in the '60 Sugar after the Tigers had won, 7-3, in the regular-season on Billy Cannon's Halloween Night punt return. In this one, you have two coaches who think offense. And you have two teams who'll sprinkle the Superdome with talent, with two quarterbacks who passed for a total of 725 yards in their last meeting, with two running backs—FSU's Warrick Dunn and Florida's Fred Taylor—who can run and catch with the best, with a slew of wideouts who'll soon be operating in the NFL.

As rematches go, this one is a can't-miss. ■

Gators' Offense

By Chris Harry THE TAMPA TRIBUNE

Last January, the Florida Gators entered the Sugar Bowl armed with an offense that scored more points than any team in the history of the Southeastern Conference.

One year later, nothing has changed.

The 1994 Gators bettered the record-setting numbers put up in '93 with a league all-time best 69 touchdowns and 521 points. UF's average of 43.42 points a game was second in the nation only to Penn State, which finished the regular season undefeated.

"I feel sorry for the teams that have to go up against us," junior wide receiver Jack Jackson said. "We've got way too many weapons. You can't concentrate on just one guy."

True, but if a defense felt it had to zero in on one Gator, the speedy Jackson would be the man. He caught 57 passes for 855 yards and an SEC single-season record 15 touchdowns until suffering a dislocated elbow on the third play of Florida's 24-23 victory over Alabama in the SEC Championship Game. His career total of 29 scoring receptions tied for the most in SEC history.

In addition to Jackson, senior Aubrey Hill, junior Chris Doering and true freshmen Reidel Anthony and Ike Hilliard make up one of the most gifted receiver corps in the country.

Someone has to throw to them and in Coach Steve Spurrier's system it doesn't matter who. Senior Terry Dean led the SEC in passing efficiency in '94, despite a midseason benching. Enter sophomore Danny Wuerffel, who hit 62 percent of his passes for 1,996 yards, 18 touchdowns and nine interceptions.

"Just out there pitching and catching at practice, Danny probably isn't the best-looking quarterback you'll see," Spurrier said. "But somehow, when we get in the games, the ball gets where it needs to be."

If he's not throwing, Wuerffel is handing off to one of two freshmen tailbacks: Fred Taylor (873 yards, eight TDs) or Elijah Williams (652 yards, four TDs).

When the UF machine is slowed down, Spurrier looks to the senior feet of either Judd Davis, the school's career scoring leader with 225 points, or Shayne Edge, a four-year starter and the SEC's second-ranked punter in 1994. ■

Seminoles' Defense

By Garry Smits FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

When Florida State gave up 34 points to Miami Oct. 8, it was the most an opponent had scored against the Seminoles in five years.

From that difficult night, however, rose a defense that might rank among FSU's better units during the Bobby Bowden era. There were the usual cast of All-Americans: defensive tackle Derrick Alexander, cornerback Clifton Abraham and linebacker Derrick Brooks. But a corps of younger players emerged as forces now and for the future, led by defensive end Reinard Wilson, linebackers Daryl Bush and Sam Cowart, nose guard Andre Wadsworth and free safety Sean Hamlet.

The blend of experience and frisky youth enabled the Seminoles to stage a remarkable turnaround. In the final six games of the regular season, Florida State gave up an average of only 13.6 points, 97.3 yards rushing and 252 yards total offense, also limiting opposing quarterbacks to a completion percentage of .449, to go with six interceptions and 20 sacks.

The two keys were stopping the run (four of FSU's last six opponents rushed for fewer than 100 yards) and rushing the passer (the 'Noles' 35 sacks topped last year's total of 34—in one less game—and 16 players had at least one sack).

Leading the run-stuffers was Alexander, a junior who fought off an early shoulder injury and constant double-teaming to lead FSU in tackles for losses with nine and finish fifth in tackles with 74. He was helped on the line by Wadsworth, a tough, determined walk-on and linebackers Bush, Cowart and Todd Rebol.

Wilson, a sophomore, not only led the team and the ACC in sacks with 11, but he fell only one short of Ron Simmons' school record. A freshman, Peter Boulware, was second on the team with five sacks and Alexander added four.

The secondary was led by Abraham, the latest FSU cornerback destined for the NFL. The other corner, senior Corey Fuller, overcame a serious knee injury the year before and led the team with 14 passes broken up. Hamlet got better as the season went on and nickel back James Colzie had a clutch interception against Florida and improved his punt returning after some early difficulties.

Punter Sean Liss was hurt against Georgia Tech, but kicker Dan Mowrey took over for the rest of the season and did an adequate job. ■

Seminoles' Offense

By Garry Smits FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

Quarterback Danny Kanell was criticized. The offensive line was battered by injury and affected by early-season suspensions. Kicking remained inconsistent.

Yet, Florida State still scored 405 points, the seventh-highest total in school history. And as Kanell and company proved in their miracle comeback against Florida, they can score points in a hurry.

Kanell claimed he never lost his confidence as he grew into the position and the Seminoles coaching staff also maintained their faith. It was a question of perception as Kanell had the difficult job of following Heisman Trophy winning quarterback Charlie Ward.

However, Kanell was very Ward-like in the game that clinched FSU's Sugar Bowl berth, leading the rally from a 31-3 deficit to a 31-31 tie against the Gators with 28 points and 232 yards passing in the final period alone.

During the times Kanell struggled, Florida State still moved the ball effectively with a running game that was led by the sensational, diminutive duo of sophomore Warrick Dunn and freshman Rock Preston.

Dunn (5-9) gained 1,026 yards and scored eight touchdowns, becoming the first FSU runner to crack the 1,000-yard barrier since Sammie Smith gained 1,230 in 1987. Dunn also finished second in receiving with 34 catches for another 308 yards.

Preston (5-9) added 587 yards and nine touchdowns on the ground and caught 15 passes for 126 yards. Fullback Zack Crockett, in addition to being a devastating blocker, led the team with 11 touchdowns.

Quarterback Danny Kanell will be calling the plays for the Florida State Seminoles.

Senior wide receiver Kez McCorvey was as reliable as ever and led the 'Noles with 59 receptions for 870 yards. Senior 'OMar Ellison added 32 catches for 506 yards and sophomore Andre Cooper had 27 for 359, plus a team-high five TD receptions.

The offensive line benefited after mid-season by the return of senior guard Pat McNeil, and he had an All-ACC year. Center Clay Shiver, guard Lewis Tyre and tackle Todd Fordham were also mainstays.

Senior kicker Dan Mowrey reclaimed his job during the sixth game of the year and went on to make eight of 12 field-goal attempts.

Gators' Defense

By Chris Harry THE TAMPA TRIBUNE

Bank on this: Two Florida defensive linemen will have their names called in the first round of the NFL draft this spring. And bank on this: The Gators will sorely miss defensive end Kevin Carter and tackle Ellis Johnson.

Together, Carter and Johnson make up the most ferocious side of any defensive front in the country. At 6-foot-6, 270 pounds, Carter is a behemoth who can run a 4.5 40-yard dash. Pro analysts project him as a Top 10 pick.

"Sometimes," defensive coordinator Bobby Pruett said, "he looks like Tarzan out there."

Johnson, at 6-3 and 283, is a lightning quick wrecking ball who causes all kinds of havoc in the interior line. Just ask Alabama. Johnson was basically unblockable in UF's 24-23 win in the Southeastern Conference Championship Game and walked away with Most Valuable Player honors.

"I love Ellis Johnson," said Carter. "To me, he's the best player in the country."

Combined, Carter and Johnson had 124 tackles—36 for losses—and 18 sacks.

Henry McMillian, at 6-3 and 278, isn't too bad, either. Same goes for 6-3, 287-pound defensive end Mark Campbell. The Gators got three more down-linemen who can come off the bench and make plays, giving Florida perhaps the deepest and most imposing front in the country, one that led the SEC in rushing defense by allowing fewer than 85 yards per game.

If the Gators have a weakness on defense it's their penchant to give up large chunks of yards through the air. For the third straight season, UF finished at the bottom of the SEC in pass defense (220.75 ypg). In a loss to Auburn and a tie against FSU—the lone blemishes on UF's record—the Gators combined to surrender 740 yards, both performances costing them dearly in the quest for a national title.

Florida's defense rebounded nicely against 'Bama, though, holding a pair of high-powered All-SEC players, quarterback Jay Barker and running back Sherman Williams, in check to pull off the victory.

Junior linebacker Ben Hanks finished the season as UF's leading tackler with 93, followed by strong safety and sometimes big-hitting Lawrence Wright with 84.

The purchase of liability coverage in excess of those minimum amounts stated above, will waive that amount of uninsured coverage which exceeds the minimum required by law. You as the first named Insured, moreover, must make an affirmative written waiver. One does not have the right to renew or continue the policy beyond the current premium period. Notice of your non-renewal will thusly be deemed to be proof. In order to choose any other lowered uninsured limits one must form a contract under the standing agreement above, for no less than the minimum amount required by law. In an amount equal to the liability, or towards some things related, or determined to be related, to any of these coverage agreements, and in the event you fail to make an affirmative written waiver, we must provide an additional day of coverage for every Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday falling within the three days following on the incident, and moreover, we must provide the uninsured coverage. We are also prohibited from refusing to issue more specific policies when each party agrees to pay the appraiser and equally bear expenses because you refuse to make a waiver of those things in excess of the uninsured coverage. Law now requires this in every insurers' writings of a private passenger vehicle liability insurance to provide uninsured motorists with coverage in an amount equal to those amounts of your liability limits provided under the policy against these entities, unless cancelled by the first named Insured. Law also requires that policies are doocumented to an amount within a stated minimum amount of coverage, with both liability and uninsured motorist coverage for any bodily injury and property in the event of damage unless for a combined single limit. Any further limits

Obvious, right? Yet so often overlooked. Particularly when it comes to insurance. It's amazing how your property, casualty and life coverage can work for you once you understand it. That's why at USF&G, everything we're doing is directed toward simplifying and clarifying an otherwise confusing process. [In fact, we're out to change the very nature of insurance.] With new talents, technologies and products to draw from, our agents can make your money work harder. [So you can get what you need, and eliminate what you don't.] Ask an independent agent about USF&G, and find out just how we'd handle your business or personal insurance needs [hint:differently].

Introducing The All-New Mercury Mystique.

The all-new Mercury Mystique has 21 innovations you won't find on any other car in its class*. And some you won't find on any other car in the world.

For starters, Mystique has an available 24-valve Duratec V-6, the only passenger-car V-6 in the world that goes 100,000 miles between scheduled tune-ups.

Then there's Mystique's standard MicronAir® filter, a feature that removes virtually all dust, pollen and other impurities from the vehicle interior.

And Mystique is one of the few cars in the world with available all-speed traction control, which helps provide not only safer acceleration but also improved handling.

Of course, Mystique also has all the amenities you've come to expect from Mercury. Things like standard dual air bags, solar tint glass and extensive interior illumination.

Test drive the new Mystique and discover how new a car can be. For more information, call 1 800 446-8888. The new Mystique. It's a whole new Mercury.

MERCURY

It's A Whole New Mercury.

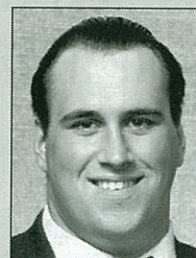

LINCOLN-MERCURY DIVISION *Based on a comparison of Mystique and Nissan Altima, Mazda 626, Pontiac Grand Am and Mitsubishi Galant. Always wear your safety belt. MicronAir® is a registered U.S. trademark of Freudenberg Nonwovens.

For the second consecutive year outside linebacker Derrick Brooks was a finalist for the Lombardi Award, given annually to the nation's top down-lineman.

Seminoles' Road To The Sugar Bowl

Danny Kanell finished the year ranked fifth on FSU's single season total offense list and second in passes completed.

ONE

FLORIDA STATE 41,
VIRGINIA 17

SEPT. 3, 1994, TALLAHASSEE, FL

Florida State began defense of its national title with a convincing 41-17 triumph over Virginia at Doak Campbell Stadium, overcoming a sluggish first quarter.

Danny Kanell looked in mid-season form, passing for four touchdowns, hitting on 32 of 48 for 330 yards.

Wide receiver Kez McCorvey snared a pair of TD passes en route to an 11-catch, 107-yard performance.

TWO

FLORIDA STATE 52,
MARYLAND 20

SEPT. 10, 1994, COLLEGE PARK, MD

The Terrapins put a scare into Florida State in the early going before the Seminoles got on track in winning their 18th consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference game. For the first time since it joined the ACC, FSU found itself trailing at halftime.

Warrick Dunn and Zack Crockett each rushed for over 100 yards.

Crockett exploded for 123 yards on 19 carries and a pair of touchdowns in one of the best rushing efforts from a fullback in school history. Melvin Pearsall's seven receptions, one touchdown and 90 yards receiving won him conference Rookie of the Week honors.

Danny Kanell directed the Seminoles to 731 yards of total offense. The junior quarterback connected on 28 of 44 attempts for 427 yards.

THREE

FLORIDA STATE 56,
WAKE FOREST 14

SEPT. 17, 1994, WINSTON SALEM, NC

The Seminoles proved to be less than cordial guests at Groves Stadium, handing the Demon Deacons a 42-point setback.

For the second consecutive week, the FSU defense shut down the opposition's running game as the Seminoles held Wake to 49 yards rushing. The Tribe used a balanced attack as eight different players scored touchdowns.

For the first time in his collegiate career Kez McCorvey did not play, snapping a string of 40 consecutive games. Despite the loss of McCorvey, FSU wideouts put up impressive numbers. Andre Cooper totaled 105 receiving yards on five receptions and E.G. Green snagged eight catches for 70 yards.

FOUR

NORTH CAROLINA 18

SEPT. 24, 1994, TALLAHASSEE, FL

Florida State returned home to take on the 13th-ranked Tar Heels, with the victor taking the early inside track in the race for the 1994 ACC title.

Playing before a record home crowd of 78,111, the Seminoles improved to 4-0 with a 31-18 triumph over North Carolina.

Tailback Warrick Dunn turned in his second 100-yard plus game of the season with a 121-yard effort. Kez McCorvey returned to the lineup with a stellar five-reception, 83-yard, one-touchdown performance.

FIVE

MIAMI 34, FLORIDA STATE 20

OCT. 8, 1994, MIAMI, FL

The University of Miami parlayed three errant Danny Kanell passes into 21 points to upend Florida State in front of 77,010 frenzied Orange Bowl fans.

In their annual showdown the Hurricanes stayed alive in this year's national championship hunt while delivering a setback to the Seminoles, as both teams went to 4-1.

The Hurricanes derailed the FSU offense, limiting the Seminoles to a season-low 219 yards of total offense. Miami used a balanced attack, churning up 185 yards rushing and passing for 178 in upping its home winning streak over Florida State to five straight.

FLORIDA STATE 17,
CLEMSON 0

OCT. 22, 1994, TALLAHASSEE, FL

The Florida State defense held Clemson in check to register its first shutout of the year in leading the Seminoles to a 17-0 blanking of the Tigers. In front of 75,902 Homecoming fans the FSU defense limited Clemson to just 149 yards total offense and gave up only four plays longer than 10 yards. With the win, Florida State tied the Atlantic Coast Conference record of 21 straight league victories established by Maryland during the period from 1973 to 1977.

Sophomore tailback Warrick Dunn enjoyed his second best rushing day at FSU with 133 yards on 17 carries. Dunn scored both Seminole touchdowns with second-quarter scoring runs of four and five yards.

The Seminole offense was effective, accumulating 393 yards of total offense, but had trouble scoring once it got into the red zone. FSU attempted four field goals of less than 35 yards but could only make one.

Seminoles' Road To The Sugar Bowl

SEVEN

FLORIDA STATE 59, DUKE 20
OCT. 29, 1994, TALLAHASSEE, FL

Florida State won its Atlantic Coast Conference record 22nd straight game in a showdown of unbeaten, thrashing Duke 59-20.

Kez McCorvey was the story of the game as he became the first Seminole since 1968 to amass over 200 yards receiving in a game. His 207 yards on 10 receptions is the sixth-best all-time single-game performance by an FSU wide out. McCorvey joined Ron Sellers as the only Seminoles to ever eclipse the 200-yard plateau.

The FSU defense was once again dominant in holding the Blue Devils to just 45 yards of total offense in the first half. Led by ACC sack leader Reinard Wilson, the Seminoles got to the Duke QB six times.

EIGHT

FLORIDA STATE 41, GEORGIA TECH 10
NOV. 5, 1994, ATLANTA, GA

Warrick Dunn rushed for a career-high 174 yards and the Seminoles scored 41 points over the last three quarters in a 41-10 pasting of Georgia Tech. The win extended Florida State's ACC unbeaten streak record to 23 consecutive games.

The sophomore tailback ripped off a 63-yard touchdown gallop to mark FSU's longest play from scrimmage this season. Florida State churned up 396 yards of total offense, including 242 on the ground.

Derrick Brooks led an FSU defense that held the Yellow Jackets to five-yards rushing for the game. Brooks made six solo stops in a team-high nine tackle performance. He also registered a sack and an interception as the Seminoles tallied five quarterback sacks and a pair of pick offs.

NINE

FLORIDA STATE 23, NOTRE DAME 16
NOV. 12, 1994, ORLANDO, FL

Florida State used a rejuvenated ground game and gutty final drive to defeat Notre Dame 23-16 in front of the largest crowd ever to assemble in the Citrus Bowl, 72,868.

For the second time this season a pair of FSU backs rushed for over 100 yards each. Warrick Dunn rushed for 163 yards on a career-high 29 carries and his back-up Rock Preston ran for a game- and career-high 165 yards on 12 attempts to lead the Seminoles to the win.

FSU's defense held the Irish's vaunted ground attack to just 138 yards and kept tailback Lee Becton in check most of the day, limiting him to 84 yards. Seminole defenders pressured Ron Powlus into just 9-of-22 passing for 83 yards.

TEN

FLORIDA STATE 34, NORTH CAROLINA STATE 3
NOV. 19, 1994, RALEIGH, NC

Florida State claimed its third straight Atlantic Coast Conference title with a 34-3 thumping of N.C. State. With the win the Seminoles extended their ACC unbeaten streak to a record 24 consecutive games. FSU has not lost in league play since joining the conference three years ago.

Once again Florida State relied on its running attack in dumping the Wolfpack. For the third straight week tailback Warrick Dunn rushed for over 100 yards in accumulating a game-high 122 yards.

Eleven Seminoles caught passes as FSU quarterbacks threw for 165 yards. Wide receiver Phillip Riley capped a 21-point second quarter FSU outburst when he hauled in a 17-yard scoring strike marking his first touchdown grab of the year.

The FSU defense was stingy against the pass, allowing only 87 yards through the air. Reinard Wilson and Sean Hamlet each had interceptions as N.C. State was held out of the Seminole endzone for the second straight year.

ELEVEN

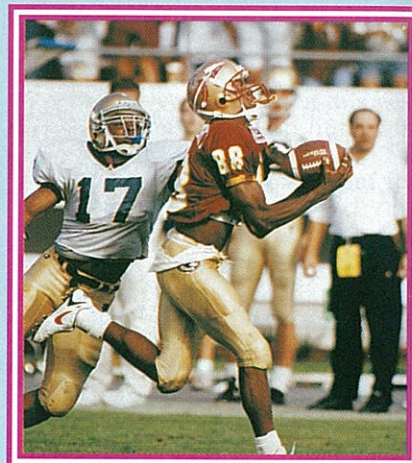

FLORIDA STATE 31, FLORIDA 31
NOV. 26, 1994, TALLAHASSEE, FL

In one of the greatest comebacks in school history Florida State overcame a 31-3 fourth quarter deficit to gain a 31-all tie with intrastate rival Florida.

Quarterback Danny Kanell engineered scoring drives of 84-, 60-, 73-, and 60-yards in the game's final stanza to pull off the comeback. Zack Crockett capped the Seminoles' first scoring drive with a five-yard touchdown run with 12:59 remaining. Two minutes and 55 seconds later Kanell found Andre Cooper in the front corner of the end zone from six yards out to make the score 31-17.

FSU's defense forced Florida to punt on its next possession and Kanell & company took over with a first-and-10 from their own 27 with 7:28 left. Kanell connected on four successive passes in marching the Seminoles to the Florida 21. Four plays later the Florida State QB scored his first-ever rushing touchdown on a two-yard scamper to pull the Seminoles to within seven.

With 4:01 remaining, James Colzie's diving interception of a Danny Wuerffel pass put Florida State 60 yards away from tying the score. Seven plays later Rock Preston went in untouched from four yards out to complete the comeback.

Bobby Bowden

COLLEGE FOOTBALL LEGEND

Some have said that Bobby Bowden has it all. The coach of one of college football's finest programs for the past 19 years, he is the second winningest active head coach and has even had the unique satisfaction of watching a son rise to national prominence in his footsteps. Surely, last year's national championship sealed his place as one of college football's legendary coaches.

With a list of accomplishments as long as the Superdome field, what is Coach Bowden looking for in a bowl game? "I want to play the very best team I can play," he says without a thought of taking the easy road.

He will lead his 1994 FSU team into a Sugar Bowl game that has staggering implications. The Seminoles travel to New Orleans with a chance to win a record 10th consecutive bowl, an opportunity at a record eighth consecutive 10-win season.

It is a daunting challenge, but it is in facing the long odds that Bowden is at his best. And he was never better than against Florida at the end of this season.

"The happiest day of my Seminole life was winning that national championship," sighed a longtime FSU faculty member. "And the proudest day of my Seminole life was 'The Comeback.'"

While there are more Bowden "stamps" on FSU's program than trophies in Charlie Ward's closet, room must be made for the game that got FSU to the 1995 Sugar Bowl. Destined to be listed along with "The Puntrosskie," FSU's record-tying fourth quarter comeback after trailing Florida 31-3 with 13:00 minutes left was a game that will be remembered forever.

Bobby Bowden is a man so closely tied with the phenomenal success of his program that he, as much as Renegade and gold helmets with garnet spears, is Florida State football. Gracious in both victory and defeat, Bowden's career coaching record stands at 248-79-4.

Back in 1976, when then-president Stanley Marshall and athletic director John Bridgers brought Bowden to Tallahassee from West Virginia, there were few clues that the Birmingham, Ala. native would transform Florida State into the football power it is today. When he arrived at Florida State, the Seminoles had won just four games in the previous three seasons, including an 0-11 campaign in 1973. There was talk of ending the program.

"When I was at Alabama, all I heard was 'Beat Auburn.' When I was at West Virginia, all I heard was 'Beat Pitt.' When I got to FSU, their bumper stickers read 'Beat Anybody!'" Bowden joked in the early years.

Bowden himself had been hanged in effigy in West Virginia, despite compiling a 42-26 record at the school in six years there and taking the Mountaineers to a pair of Peach Bowls. He left after a 9-3 season at WVU and returned to Tallahassee, where he had been an assistant coach under Bill Peterson from 1963 to 1965, coaching the FSU wide receivers.

Within two years of his arrival, Bowden led the Seminoles to their first 10-win season and to their first bowl game in six years when his 1977 team went 10-2, including a Tangerine Bowl victory over Texas Tech. It was just a preview of things to come.

In Bowden's 19 seasons at Florida State, the Seminoles have won 10 or more games 10 times. FSU has been to 16 bowl games including a string of 13 in a row and nine New Year's Day trips. Prior to his arrival, Florida State had been to just eight bowls in 29 years. His FSU win total of 166 is greater than the total of the school's previous seven head coaches combined.

Bowden's Florida State record heading into this season stood at 166-46-3. His teams have become nearly unbeatable at home with an 88-15-1 record, while earning the head coach "King of the Road" status with a 78-31-2 mark outside of Tallahassee.

Last season's 12-1 record and No. 1 final ranking tied Florida State with Miami as the only schools ever to post seven straight Top Four finishes. Over the past seven seasons, the Seminoles have finished second (1987), third (1988 and '89), fourth (1990 and '91), second (1992) and first (1993).

Those 10-win seasons keep adding up, and Bowden's career victories now

Sugar Bowl Bobby Bowden

High. From there, he went to Alabama, fulfilling a lifelong dream to play for the Crimson Tide. But after one semester in Tuscaloosa, he returned to Birmingham to marry his childhood sweetheart, Ann Estock. He transferred to Howard College (now Samford University) in his hometown and became a little All-America signal-caller there in 1951.

add up to 248. Only Bear Bryant, Amos Alonzo Stagg, Pop Warner and Joe Paterno are ahead of Bowden on that all-time win list. The Orange Bowl win over Nebraska pushed Bowden ahead of Woody Hayes. It's mighty select company.

Bowden grew up in the shadow of Legion Field and was an all-star quarterback at Birmingham's Woodlawn

Howard as an assistant coach, serving in that capacity for two years before becoming head coach at South Georgia Junior College in Douglas, Ga. There, he compiled a 22-11 record and then returned to his alma mater as the head coach in 1959. He went 31-6 at Samford in four years, and dominated Alabama small-college football. Following his stint at FSU as an assistant coach, Bowden went to West Virginia as an assistant for three years and was subsequently promoted to the top job. He slipped on a patch of West Virginia ice following his Florida State interview, made the decision to come to Tallahassee and the rest, as they say, is Seminole legend.

Bowden is also the patriarch of the "first family of college coaching." He and son Terry, the head coach at Auburn University and last year's national Coach of the Year, are the first father-son duo to lead Division I-A programs, let alone coach them at the same time. Terry's brother, Tommy, is on his staff at Auburn, as is brother-in-law Jack Hines, who is married to Bobby and Ann's eldest daughter, Robyn. Youngest son Jeff joined the Florida State coaching staff in 1994 as the wide receivers coach. The rest of the Bowden clan includes Steve and Ginger.

And, as dependable as an FSU bowl win has been lately, have been the playful sounds of 14 Bowden grandchildren in the team hotel. ■

Our Service To Country Begins In Our Communities.

The Cold War is over. America's military role is changing. And the National Guard is prepared to face any challenge.

As a fully-integrated partner with America's active forces, we're ready to answer our nation's call to arms. Just like we've done for over three hundred years. And reliance on the Guard is growing.

But the National Guard isn't only about fighting wars. We have more than one mission. In fact, we're the only military institution with state and federal missions.

You'll find us in the community developing projects like Starbase, Challenge, Youth Conservation Corps and Urban Youth Corps. Keeping young Americans off the street and helping them put their lives on track.

In our home states, we've responded to hundreds of natural and man-made disasters. Delivering food and medical supplies. Keeping the peace. Saving lives.

The National Guard also provides essential support to law enforcement agencies in their efforts to stop illegal drugs.

More and more we are being called upon to assist the citizens of foreign nations and serve as goodwill ambassadors around the globe.

We are Army and Air Guard members. Citizen-soldiers.

Dedicated. Committed. Ready to serve and defend our communities, states and country.

You'll find us at PTA meetings, company picnics, and little league baseball games. We're people just like you. We are the National Guard.

Americans at their best.

Americans At Their Best.
