

Tall Wofford Terriers Smother Seminole Five

(Special to The Democrat)

SPARTANBURG, S C—The Seminoles of Florida State University, riddled by injuries and gripped tight in the teeth of a prolonged losing streak, were unable to cope with Wofford's tall Terriers Friday night and were smothered under a barrage of baskets 77-38 for their tenth successive setback.

The rangy Terrier quintet, led by Charlie Seay, all-SIAA center who was hitting from all angles, jumped away to an early lead and continue to pile up the points as the road-weary FSU hoopsters ran low on gas.

Seay Slips Away

Seay, the smooth-working, point grabbing pivotman, slipped away from the Garnet and Gold defenders for eight field goals and checked in with four foul losses to take scoring honors with 20 points.

The Terriers, working smoothly behind a sure-passing offense, displayed terrific all-around strength, and carved out a 34-15 halftime lead over the stunned Seminoles.

The Indian quintet, hampered by the loss of Ben McCrary and Hosea Maxwell, a pair of big pivotmen who had provided most of their height under the baskets, were further stricken last night when Larry Dickinson was forced out of action two minutes after the opening whistle.

Dickson, a rangy six-foot two inch cager and the Seminoles' tallest available man, injured his ankle against Erskine Thursday night and was unable to continue in the Terrier tilt with the injury.

Lose Kratzert

To add to the Seminoles overwhelming woes, Bill Kratzert, blond ball hawk and scoring ace, fouled out of the affair after compiling only two points.

The Seminoles, with Ernie Williams setting the scoring pace, fought back at the rangy South Carolinians throughout the tilt, but were up against a team enjoying terrific scoring night.

The Terriers tossed in 31 out of 81 attempts they made from the field for an astounding 38 percentage of success on their shots. Meanwhile the Seminoles, rushed by the big Carolina defense men, were successful with only 15 of their 80 attempts from the field for a woeful 18 per cent.

Williams topped the FSU point makers with 16 points.

The victory was the second win of the season that Coach Joel Robertson's veteran five has gained over the FSU hoopsters. In the opening game last month the Terrier team rallied in the closing minutes to take a 48-45 decision.
