

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Loyola of the South broke a ten game losing streak last night by defeating Florida State University 74-52.

The loss was the 11th in a row for the Floridians.

The Loyola Wolfpack, leading all the way, built up a halftime margin of 30-18 and pulled away in the last half. The Wolfpack never was in danger.

Guard Lou Fischer of FSU and Gus Reynoir, Loyola 6 foot five inch sophomore forward, each scored 16 points for scoring honors.

Loyola won six straight games before dropping ten straight.
