

The Florida State University Seminoles went after their fifth victory of the season here this afternoon when they met Loyola University of New Orleans at the FSU West Campus athletic field.

Florida State and Loyola will also play here at Centennial Field at 7:45 tomorrow evening in a game sponsored by the Tallahassee Civitan Club. Ed Sessions and Ed Lockard, ace righthanders of the Seminole squad, were scheduled to be the mound choices of Coach Ralph Matherly for today's and tomorrow's games, respectively.

Florida State moved to its fourth win of the year here yesterday behind the smooth six-hit pitching of Freshman "Lefty" Chuck Sanders, defeating Amherst (Mass.) College 4-2.

Sanders struck out one and allowed only three walks to hold a fine Amherst team in check. Four of the six Amherst hits were of the scratchy variety.

MILLS STARTS IT

Florida State got its first score in the initial inning when Cooter Mills led off with a single to right field, moved to second when Ken Smith was hit by a pitched ball to third as Bob Trowbridge walked, and scored on Ronald Melton's infield out.

Amherst tied the score in the top of the second inning. Bucky Harris went all the way to second on Melton's error and scored as Bill Greer bounced a single off Sanders' foot into right field.

The Seminoles led the game in the fourth inning off Bill Wilson, the first of four Amherst pitchers and the loser, with three markers.

With two outs, Ralph Blinn singled down the right field foul line and went to third on Ham Wernke's single to center. Blinn scored and Wernke moved to second when Wilson threw wide to first on Rudy Susege's easy roller to the mound. Sanders walked to load the bases, then Mills and Smith both got free tickets to first to force in two more runs. Les Mullen struck out to end the Seminole rally.

Shoddy support kept Sanders in trouble in the late innings, but the tall southpaw had it when it counted. Two Florida State errors contributed to the final Amherst run which was scored in the seventh frame.
