

Florida State's baseball team put everything together yesterday, and came up with a 6-5 and 7-2 wins over Springfield and Virginia Tech in the Florida State Invitational Tournament.

In the day's first game Springfield shocked Auburn 6-3.

Only two games are on tap today in the tournament. Virginia Tech will take on Alabama at 5 p.m. and the Seminoles and the Crimson Tide will tangle at 7:30.

Wednesday afternoon the Seminoles ran up a quick lead against Springfield, and then hung on as the stubborn Maroons charged back with a three run outburst in the seventh inning.

The Tribe jumped on losing hurler Ken DeMond in the first inning for four runs.

Chuck Cone opened the attack with a single. He was cut down on an apparent double play, but Springfield first baseman Dave Bennett dropped the relay throw after he had batter Roy Mewbourne out by two steps.

The miscue was all the Seminoles needed.

Harry Greene followed Mewbourne with a single. Lance Hitchcock then singled Mewbourne home with the first run, and Greene going to third.

Marv Stringfellow forced Hitchcock, at second, but Greene scored with the second run. Back - to - back singles by Dick Gold, Ed Yarnell and Jeff Hogan produced the inning's final two tallies.

Springfield came back for single runs in the fourth and fifth off Tribe starter and winner Marty Brooks.

A pair of errors by Cone allowed the Maroons' first score, and Brian Hammernick's double followed by Chuck Lelas' triple produced the fifth-inning tally.

The Seminoles struck for two runs in the bottom of the fifth, however, and were again aided by Springfield errors. Cone opened the inning with a bunt single, and the fleet leadoff man went all the way to third when Maroon third-baseman Dick Wojtukiewicz's hurried throw went into right field.

With one out Greene lined his second hit, scoring Cone. In a wild turn of events the Tribe centerfielder stole second, went to third when the catcher's throw went into centerfield, and then came home as the centerfielder's return peg sailed into the Seminoles' dugout.

Brooks tired considerably in the seventh, and the Maroons shelled him for three runs and four hits. Jim Helm came in and got the final out of the inning and finished up the last two frames for the save.

Against Virginia Tech last night, the Tribe utilized the strong pitching of lefthander Mike Reibling and the hot bat of Hitchcock to down the Gobblers 7-2. Reibling survived a shakey first inning, in which he gave up a pair of runs on a home run by catcher Johnny Oates, and went on to turn in a fine four hitter.

Following Oates' 325-foot blast over the rightfield fence, VPI could manage only a pair of singles and a ground rule double. Reibling held the visitors hitless after the third inning.

The Seminoles picked up three runs in third off Gobbler starter and loser Dean Hahn. Greene opened the frame with a single, and went to second as Mike Easom drew a walk. Hitchcock, who went three-for-three against Tech and had five hits in seven trips for the day, unloaded the first of two triples to deep leftcenter.

Stringfellow then lofted a fly to deep center scoring Hitchcock with the Tribe's go ahead run.

Two more FSU runs came across in the fifth, when Dean Duchak walked, Hitchcock again tripled to leftcenter, and Stringfellow singled. A walk to Duchak, a ground rule double by Hitchcock and a sacrifice squeeze bunt by Dick Gold scored a run in the seventh off reliever Charles Farson.

Florida State's final marker came in the eighth, on a walk to Darryl Stewart, who saw his first catching duty of the year, a sacrifice by Reibling, and a single by Easom.

Reibling went the distance for the Seminoles, striking out nine while walking four. He became the fourth Tribe hurler to pitch a complete game in the tournament.

Bama's Kenny Stabler is expected to duel the Seminoles' Stringfellow in the nightcap.

In the morning game, Springfield, Mass., became the tournament's surprise club by downing Auburn 6-3 after spotting the Tigers a 3-0 first-inning advantage.

Two fielding errors and two more mental lapses helped Springfield overcome Auburn's margin with a 4-run rally in the third.

Springfield first baseman Chuck Lelas, one of the tourney's better hitters, smacked his second homer of the tournament in the fifth with a mate aboard.

This was Auburn's fourth and final tourney appearance and left the Tigers with a 2-2 record. Roger Boozer and Johny Straiton had two safeties each for the Tigers, who outthit Springfield 9-6.
