Florida State took advantage of Miami mistakes, then had to recover from a case of "fumble-itis" of its own to hang on for a 7-5 win over the Hurricanes at Seminole Field.

The two teams will meet again this afternoon at 1:30.

Six of the Seminole runs were unearned as they took advantage of and forced Miami into four fielding errors.

Bill Fuller was the Tribe's winning pitcher. The sophomore lefthander pitched well for seven innings before he tired in the eighth and was lifted for a pinch-hitter.

Over the first seven frames Fuller's lone mistake was hanging a curve ball in front of Hurricane catcher Al Volpe. The big Miami backstop jumped on it and sent it 400feet over the leftfield fence in the second inning.

The Seminoles went in front in the third when Joel Green's two-out error allowed two runs to score.

Another marker was added in he sixth when Ron Cash doubled and scored on a single by Harry Saferight.

Four unearned runs in the seventh put the game away for the Tribe.

Mike Leber scored on an error and Dave Nichols singled a second run home. Cash sent Nichols home with a triple and scored when the throw to third went astray.

Greg Gromek opened the door for a pair of Hurricane runs with an eighth-inning error. A single by Volpe plated one run and Doug Holka doubled to center sending another. Volpe, trying to score on the play, was thrown out at the plate on relay toss from Gromek.

The Hurricanes got another pair in the ninth off reliever Mike Scarce, but Pat Barrett struck out with the tying runs on base to end the game.
