

Gator golfer Jackson leads state tourney

SEBRING — Florida freshman David Jackson, a graduate of Aucilla Christian School, shot a 69 Thursday to help push the Gators into a tie for first place after one round of the Florida State Intercollegiate Championship.

Florida is tied with Florida State, as both teams shot a team total of 298. Five strokes back in third place is Rollins College, followed by South Florida (309), Jacksonville (310) and Florida Southern (313).

In second place individually, is FSU's Brian Kamm, who shot a 71 to trail Jackson by two strokes.

Other FSU golfers participating, with their scores in parentheses, are: Steve Keppler (75), Keith Kulzer (76), Greg Fleischer (76), Brad Baumgardner (76) and Buck Blanton (81).

The tournament ends Saturday.

Jackson, FSU golfers win in state tourney

GAINESVILLE — Former Aucilla Christian star David Jackson won the individual title for Florida but Florida State won the team title in the 36th annual Florida Intercollegiate Championship.

Jackson, who led each of the three rounds, finished with a total of one-over-par 217. The Seminoles had a team total of 882, 1 under par, and Florida was second at 903.

Individually for FSU, Stephen Keppler finished second at 218, Greg Fleischer took third at 220, and Keith Kulzer finished sixth at 224. Also, Brian Kamm had a 227, Brad Baumgardner had a 234 and Buck Blanton had a 237.

FSU golfers take lead

The Florida State men's golf team, with a team total of 595, is the leader after two rounds of the 36th annual Florida Intercollegiate Championship.

The overall leader is former Aucilla Christian star David Jackson, now of the University of Florida. He is at 141.

Individual leaders for the Seminoles are Greg Fleischer, in second at 146, Stephen Keppler, in third at 149, Keith Culzer, in fourth at 153, and Brian Cam and Brad Bumgardner are tied for fifth at 154.