

Florida State's tennis team scored an upset 5-4 victory over highly touted North Carolina Tuesday.

The Seminoles won four of six singles matches to break a two-year North Carolina winning streak. The visitors had won 31 straight matches.

"I am very excited about this victory," said FSU tennis coach Lex Wood. "We knew they were tough, but we simply played wonderfully in those singles matches. Poore (Terry) really looked good. He looked like the Poore of last year."

The FSU netters were playing without one of its top doubles players, Steve Guse. He was away taking an Air Force physical.

The two teams meet again this afternoon at 2:30 on the FSU courts.
