FSU's Abilhoa gets second title

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Marco Abilhoa, Florida State's top-seeded tennis player, won the Metro Conference No. 1 singles title for the second straight year Sunday, beating Virginia Tech's Dean Channell 6-1, 6-4.

Abilhoa, who also took part in a doubles victory, was voted the most outstanding performer of the tournament.

FSU finished third in the team standings with 33 points. Virginia Tech won the team title with 42 points. Memphis State was second with 41 points.

Tulane, with 24 points, was fourth and Cincinnati was fifth with seven. St. Louis was sixth, with six points and Louisville was seventh with a single point.
