FSU FALLS TO NORTH CAROLINA

CHAPEL HILL, NC -- Despite keeping the game close for much of the contest, the Florida State University women's basketball team fell to 5-6 on the year and 0-2 in the ACC with a 67-59 loss to North Carolina at Carmichael Auditorium this evening. UNC improves to 6-4 and 1-0 in the league.

Florida State hung right in throughout the first half and even built a four-point lead twice before allowing North Carolina to retake the lead at 23-21 with 4:53 to play in the first half. North Carolina took its largest lead of seven points at 32-25 into the lockerroom.

In the second half, Florida State failed to score until the 16:22 mark, as UNC's Chanel Wright scored the Tar Heels' first nine points of the half, giving UNC a 14-point lead at 41-27. But the pumped-up Lady Seminole squad refused to give up and ran off five straight points to pull within nine with 13:57 to play. Florida State continued to chip away at the UNC lead and despite falling behind again by 13, were later able to get as close as four points with 1:18 remaining. But the Tar Heels made four straight free throws for the victory.

"I thought we fought hard and if we would have made more of our layups and put them (Tar Heels) at the line less times, we could have pulled this out," FSU coach Marynell Meadors said. "They outrebounded us which was a factor too. If we could have controlled that, it would have been a different outcome. And the first five minutes of the second half hurt us. We just couldn't score."

Carla Williams led the way for FSU with 17 points, 13 of which were free throws. FSU will next play Clemson at the Leon County Civic Center in a televised game on Sunday, Jan. 7 at Noon.
