

FSU tourney is under way

First day play of the 13th Annual Lady Seminole Collegiate Invitational Tennis Tournament pared a large field of nearly 100 down to 16 yesterday and perhaps the biggest surprise of the day was the general lack of surprises.

Of the 15 original seeded players, 11, including the top seven have made it to the round of 16 which is being played today on FSU's Montgomery Gym courts.

Doubles competition was also scheduled to get under way this afternoon, with quarter and semi-final singles and doubles set for Saturday. All finals matches will be played Sunday.

Number one seed Candy Reynolds of Chattanooga met little resistance as she breezed to straight set victories over two opponents, Debi Snelling of Georgia, 6-0, 6-1 and Cammie Timberlake of North Carolina, 6-2, 6-3.

Miami's Susan Epstein-Robinette, the second seed, disposed of her two opponents in easy fashion as well, giving up just a single point enroute.

The day's biggest upset was pulled by Florida State's own Sally Schweppe who defeated the number eight seed, Kathy Morton of Lamar 7-6, 6-3.

Other upsets were recorded by Susanne Bowron who defeated Judy Gfroerer of MUW; Liz Broughton of Rollins who downed Diane Armao of Miami, and Patty Mays of Duke who toppled Lamar's Lynn Koth.
