GENE AMMANN

Seminole pitching great Gene Ammann threatened opposing batters from 1968-70. His final season with the Tribe, although only his junior season, was his most successful. That 1970 season, Ammann appeared in 17 games, starting 15 and completing 10. He won each of those 15 starting contests, two of which came in the 1970 College World Series. Gene made his way into the FSU record books with the fewest losses in a season, and that 15-0 mark is a record that still stands. Additionally, Gene pitched an NCAA record eight shutouts and the first eight innings of a ninth early in the season. He had one string of 41 $\frac{1}{3}$ scoreless innings and another of 29 and pitched a no-hitter, the second of his career, in a 7-0 victory over South Florida. Those strong performances earned him an ERA of 0.66, still in the record books as the lowest ERA in a season. Ammann also claims the lowest career ERA with an average of 1.45 over his three years. Following his junior year with the Tribe, Gene was drafted by the Milwaukee Brewers, continuing the tradition of Florida State athletes moving on to the professional level.

TONY AVITABLE

An outstanding pitcher on one of Florida State's earliest baseball teams, Tony Avable led the Tribe in 1955 and '56. With a fast ball in the 90's and a great curve ball, Tony's record with the Seminoles was 10-1. He pitched two one-hitters and struck out 135 batters in 95 $\frac{2}{3}$ innings. Twenty-four of those batters were struck out in one game, against Furman in 1956, giving Avable the Florida State record for strikeouts in a game. That FSU record also stood as an NCAA record for 17 years until broken in 1973. Additionally, Avable was the pitcher in FSU's first NCAA regional appearance. He threw one of his two-hitters in that game vs. Duke, coming out on top 2-1. Following that performance, Tony was named to the NCAA All-Region team. During his junior year with the Tribe, Avable signed with the Kansas City Royals and spent three seasons with the club, bringing Florida State baseball greatness to the professional level.

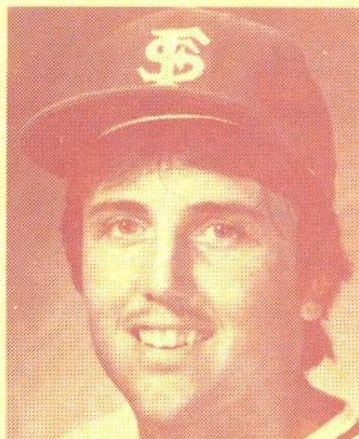

JOHN CROWE

When John Crowe came to Florida State in the fall of 1965, he came as a football, baseball, basketball and track star. He also came as the top student from his high school class, with a 3.9 cumulative average. During his years with Florida State, he further developed his outstanding athletic and academic abilities, quarterbacking the defensive secondary and leading the way in the classroom. A big play man, Crowe was one of the hardest hitters on the team and was acclaimed the best safety in Florida State history. His junior and senior years with the Tribe, John did his best to live up to that accolade. His junior year he recovered a fumble in the Texas A&M game to set up the winning touchdown, leading Florida State to its first victory of the season. He finished his senior year with 104 total tackles, an incredible total for a defensive back, and five interceptions. John Crowe's hard-hitting style started a Florida State tradition of producing some of the hardest hitting safeties in the game.

JAMIE DUKES

"Jamie Dukes wears T-shirts the size of pup tents. His shoulders could be used to park a helicopter. His legs look like they're pilings on loan from the Sunshine Skyway. Jamie Dukes is, as you might have guessed by now, large." That's how a St. Pete Times sportswriter described Florida State's fifth consensus All-American, offensive guard Jamie Dukes. And large he was, in stature and in spirit. Leading FSU's offensive line from 1982-85, Jamie started every single game over those four years, 48 total games. And behind the lead of Dukes over the course of those four years, the Seminoles finished in the top ten nationally in scoring offense, rushing offense and total offense. His All-American honors could almost fill a page on their own in Florida State record books. His senior year, he received almost every All-American honor available including Walter Camp, Football Writers, UPI, AP, Football News and NCAA Consensus. Following his illustrious career with Florida State, Dukes signed with the Atlanta Falcons as a free agent in 1986 and has been a stalwart on the NFL club ever since.

JEFF A. LEDBETTER

When Jeff Ledbetter was a freshman pitcher and outfielder at Florida State in 1979, he blasted 13 home runs. Four years later, he racked up 97. Each of his four years with the Tribe were very successful, but to say that Jeff had a "successful" year in 1982 would be the understatement of all time. During his senior year, Jeff, nicknamed "Treetops" for his prestigious blasts into the pine trees behind the right field wall at Seminole Field, set varsity records in almost every category available. In addition, he placed himself in NCAA record books for home runs in a season (42), home runs in a career (97), home runs in a game (4), RBIs in a career (346), most total bases in a season (273) and most total bases in a career (346). Ledbetter capped off that outstanding 1982 season by being named All-Metro, All-Metro Tournament, Metro Player of the Year, All-American, and Sporting News Player of the Year. Drafted in the first round by the Boston Red Sox, Jeff spent three years with the organization. Today, many of his records still stand in FSU and NCAA record books as a challenge to current and future sluggers.

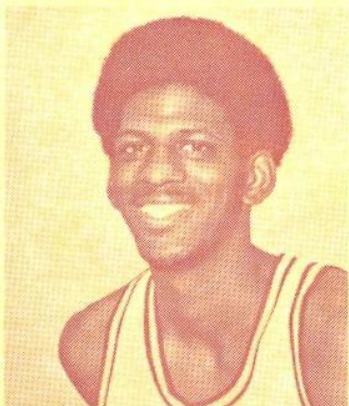

KEN MILLER

One of Florida State's foremost members of the Physical Education department was Ken Miller. From 1949-77, Ken touched every aspect of the athletic department, serving as professor, coach and acting athletic director. A physical education professor for his entire 28 years, Ken also served as chairman of the department for thirteen years. Additionally, Miller was Florida State's first men's track and field coach from 1949-54 and led the men's team to its first ever victory over both Georgia and Georgia Tech in the same season. And this he did not only once but twice, in 1953 and '54. But Miller's coaching career did not stop there. He also coached the women's track and field team from 1971-74. In addition to his professorial and coaching duties, Ken served the university as acting athletic director in 1957. And since retiring in 1977, he has remained an active part of the athletic department. With a track record of service this outstanding, Ken Miller is a fitting addition to Florida State University's athletic Hall of Fame.

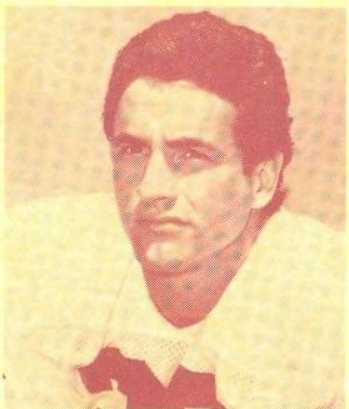

MARITA PAYNE

A twenty-one time NCAA All-American, Concord, Ontario, native Marita Payne was one of Florida State's most prolific runners. Even before her senior year at Florida State she was the fastest runner ever in the Western Hemisphere at the 400 meter, achieving that mark (50.06) at the World Track and Field Championships in Helsinki, Finland, in August 1983. She bettered that mark running 49.91 in 1984 to claim the NCAA championship, her second in that event for Florida State. Additionally, Payne won national championships as part of relay teams in the 1981 indoor 800 and 1600 meter relays, the 1983 outdoor 400 and 1600 meter relays and the 1984 outdoor 400 meter and one mile relays. In addition to those accolades, Marita was also an Olympic medal winner. After claiming fourth place in the 400 meter, she won silver medals in the 400 meter and 1600 meter relays in the 1984 summer Olympics. Her Florida State ties run deep as she is married to former Seminole basketball great Mitchell Wiggins.

REGGIE ROYALS

Nicknamed "Tree" by his teammates, 6-10 Whiteville, North Carolina, native Reggie Royals was one of Florida State basketball's most proficient players. His play was vital to Florida State's most successful basketball season ever -- a season that led to the NCAA national championship in 1972. His name dots the record book in almost every category. For his career, Reggie had 1,006 rebounds, placing him in the number two spot all-time. Additionally, Royals is in tenth place in the FSU Point Club with 1,402 career points scored. On top of those two outstanding records, Royals' name can be seen under the categories of career assists with 202 and career field goals made with 580. In the single season category, Royals is a member of the esteemed 500 Point Club, as he scored more than 500 points in his 1971-72 season. Finally, Royals also held a single game record of 35 points and 15 field goals made in a game against UC-Irvine during the 1970-71 season.

MIKE SHUMANN

One of Florida State's most proficient pass receivers was Tallahassee native Mike Shumann. Hailing from the same high school that produced Hall of Famers Jimmy Jordan and Wally Woodham, Shumann set records for pass receptions and yardage gained during his years at Florida State, 1973-75 and '77. His best year for total receptions was '74 when he grabbed 43 for 515 yards. In '75, he topped that yardage gained, bringing in 38 passes for 730 yards. Returning in '77 after one year absence, he finished his senior year with the Tribe as the second leading receiver with 33 receptions for 701 yards. For his career, Shumann had 134 receptions for 2,306 yards and 16 touchdowns. Those totals rank second, third and sixth, respectively, on the all-time Seminole receiving lists. His efforts earned him first team All-South Independent honors. Following his career with Florida State, Shumann signed with the San Francisco Forty Niners as a free agent in 1978 and remained with the club for three years, and he played in the Super Bowl game against Cincinnati in 1981.

COLLEEN WALKER

Colleen Walker has proven to be one of the most successful golfers in the Lady Seminole history. Tabbed most valuable player at Florida State in 1977 and '78, Walker was a catalyst in leading her team to a national collegiate championship. She joined the LPGA in 1982 and captured her first LPGA title at the 1987 Mayflower Classic. One of the most consistent players on the Tour, she has claimed 25 top-10 finishes and 28 top-20 finishes since joining. In 1990 alone, Walker won the Circle K LPGA Tucson Open, tied for second in the Sara Lee Classic, finished fifth in the Nabisco Dinah Shore Classic, tied for sixth in the McDonald's Championship and recorded 14 additional top-20 finishes. Following the McDonald's Championship, Colleen became only the 21st LPGA player to reach the $1 million mark in career earnings. Additionally, Colleen's consistency has placed her in the LPGA record books in several categories. She's posted a string of seven consecutive rounds in the 60's, setting an all-time LPGA record, and also led the Tour in birdies (325), rounds under par (55) and rounds in the 60's.

T.K. WETHERELL

One of the most exciting two-way performers for the Tribe from the mid to late 60's was T.K. Wetherell. As a sophomore, T.K. was the second leading receiver on the squad, hauling in 19 passes for 234 yards and a touchdown. He also returned five kickoffs for another 194 yards. His junior year, Wetherell had a touchdown-kickoff return against Miami that was one of the highlights of the '66 season. It was the second time he and Bill Moreman had pulled a lateral play resulting in a kickoff return for a touchdown. He also had a touchdown reception against Wyoming in the Sun Bowl. On the year, he caught 16 passes for 215 yards, returned four kicks for 145 yards and one touchdown and returned one punt for 36 yards. On defense, T.K. finished out his senior season with the Seminoles with three interceptions for 66 yards and ten punt returns for 18 yards. Today, he continues to serve Florida State as an avid fan and booster. He also represents his alma mater well on the state level as he is the current speaker of the state of Florida House of Representatives. T.K. Wetherell's accomplishments both on and off the field make him an outstanding member of Florida State's Hall of Fame and recipient of the prestigious Moore-Stone Award.
