erhaps no program has seen players rise to the Major Leagues faster in the last five years than FSU. Take the case of former Seminoles Mike Loynd and brothers Luis and Edwin Alicea. After winning the Golden Spike Award following the 1986 season, Loyr won his first game as a Texas Ranger, working in the minor leagues for only six weeks prior to his promotion. Yet another FSU player drafted in the '86 draft, second baseman Alicea was the second player to reach the majors out of the entire draft that year. Then last year, following his brother's path, Edwin, a 9th round selection of the Atlanta Braves, finished the season as the Braves starting second baseman on its	nd r n
AAA Richmond team.

THE METRO CONFERENCE

he Metro Conference, originally called the Metro Six, was formed on June 13, 1975. Charter members included the University of Cincinnati, Georgia Tech, the University of Louisville, Memphis State University. St. Louis University and Tulane University.

Recognition came quickly, due in large part to the excellent athletic traditions at each school. In unprecedented fashion, the Metro was awarded automatic qualification for the NCAA basketball tournament on September 22, 1975. No other conference had become an immediate qualifier for this postseason event in its very first year of existence.

Expansion was also on the horizon. League membership increased to seven as Florida State University was admitted on July 28, 1976.

Already renowned in basketball, the Metro bolstered its fall and spring sports calendars beginning in 1977. Presently, 14 league championships are decided. Men's sports include baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, swimming, tennis and track. Women participate in basletball, cross country, golf, swimming, tennis, track and volleyball.

Following the 1977-78 season, Georgia Tech relinquished its Metro membership. Virginia Tech quickly filled the void and the Hokies made their presence felt immediately.

St. Louis left the Metro on June 1, 1982, but later that same month, the University of Southern Mississippi joined the league. South Carolin's admission on April 14, 1983 increased conference membership to eight schools. However, Tulane forfeited its membership when its basketball program was discontinued following the 1984-85 season.

On August 5, 1987, Ralph McFillen was named commissioner of the Metro Conference succeeding Steven J. Hatchell. Hatchell had served since 1983 when he replaced Larry Albus, the league's first commissioner.

Under McFillen's direction, the Metro Conference has continued to stress a commitment to excellence. The Metro News, the conference newspaper, is distributed 15 times per year. In addition, the Metro Conference Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association (MCSWBA), formed in July of 1984, assists in publicizing the league's accomplishments.

The Metro Conference has come a long way in 13 short years. In 1988, 461 league student-athletes were named to the Commissioner's list, indicative of above-average grade point averages (3.0 or higher) achieved during the academic year. The total marked the list's highest number of honorees since its inception in 1983.

Effective leadership and aggressive promotion have become the trademarks of the Metro's administration while the accomplishments of its athletic teams are now recognized in all sports.
