VOLLEYBALL OUTLOOK

Last season, the volleyball squad won the Region III championship, earned a berth in the national tournament and finished 18th in the nation.

Only one starter was lost to graduation from that 31-19 team. With a good nucleus returning, one can only wonder what lies ahead for head coach Cecile Reynaud's squad.

"I feel we've got the right people in the right positions at this point," says Reynaud. "We had a very good recruiting year, getting several freshmen who should develop into outstanding players. They all have winning attitudes."

Reynaud, in her recruiting efforts, has gone more to the all-around player each year. "I like the player with the all-around ability — someone who can play defense in the back row and can come up to the front row as an attacker. I feel our team has that type of player," she says.

Reynaud's 'veterans' are led by two-time team MVP Margie Wessel. The 5'7" senior from Miami, an all-region selection, will be a co-captain this season. She is joined by returning all-stater and co-captain Nancy Townsend, junior Barbara Mellen and sophomore Alicia Cross.

The incoming player to watch is Rhonda Petty, according to Reynaud. The 5'8" junior college transfer has a 28-inch vertical jump to go along with polished skills. "Rhonda can come in and help us in the front row," says the fifth year coach. "She has two years of experience going for her."

Also waiting in the wings are freshmen Sally Summer, a 5'8" hitter from Miami, Shannon Lages, a 5'11" hitter from Marietta, Ga. and Marie Sanders, a 5'4" setter from LaPorte, Ind.

The Seminole offense will be working out of a 6-2 or 5-1 alignment, depending on which system develops and produces the best chemistry within the squad.

While Reynaud cites defense and service reception as two key strengths of her 1980 squad, she is looking for more blocking power up front and a quicker front line attack. "We need work blocking against a super quick offense," she says. "Improving that area just might be the key to us having a very successful season. We also need some shoring up on the quickness of OUR attack at the net," she adds.

The 1980 schedule will keep the Seminoles mostly in the South, within Florida State's region. One exception may be the biggest tournament of the year, the Metro Conference tournament, which will be held at Memphis State. "It's extremely early in the year," says Reynaud, noting the Sept. 26-27 dates. "I look for it to be our toughest challenge. But overall, we're going to concentrate on winning tournaments in our region. We came in second or third in these tournaments last year so we want to improve on that. We will also see some teams outside our region participating in these tournaments — that should give us a look of how we stack up nationally.

"Next year we are going to expand outside our region and travel to some of the other tournaments around the country.

"But," she emphasizes, "our goal right now is to form a solid team and beat other teams in our region consistently."

Head Volleyball Coach Cecile Reynaud

Two state championships, two regional championships, two trips to the national tournament. In four short years as Florida State volleyball coach, Cecile Reynaud has put Florida State on the map. A national volleyball magazine listed FSU as "the powerhouse of the South." Indeed, during Reynaud's tenure, her teams have put together some impressive credentials. A four-year record of 117-60 (a .661 winning percentage) has been matched only by last season's 18th in the nation finish.

Reynaud received her bachelor's degree in physical education from Southwest Missouri in 1975. While lettering four years in volleyball, she was on squads ranked as high as sixth nationally. Reynaud also lettered twice in field hockey and was named an Outstanding College Athlete in America twice.

After graduation in 1975, she taught physical education and coached four sports — softball, volleyball, basketball and track — at Steelville High School in Missouri. A year later, Reynaud was named head volleyball coach at Florida State. She completed her master's degree at FSU in 1978.

Reynaud is the director and head instructor of Florida State's annual summer volleyball camp. She also serves on the staff of Sports Camps International, a position which finds her traveling to areas throughout the nation to instruct at various volleyball camps.

Reynaud recently was named Region III Chairman for volleyball. Her duties include overseeing plans for the fall regional tournament in Orlando and correspondence with the national AIAW Committee.

Assistant Volleyball Coach Joy Becker

Joy Becker, a native of Springfield, Ohio, is entering her first season as Florida State's assistant volleyball coach.

Becker received her associate's degree from Palm Beach Junior College and her bachelor's degree from Florida State in 1975.

While at Palm Beach, she played volleyball and softball for two years. She played softball one season at Florida State.

Most recently, Becker has taught and coached three sports — volleyball, basketball and softball — at Maclay High School in Tallahassee. All told, she has led her teams to three state championships, one state runner-up and 16 other championships over a five-year period. She was named Class A Coach of the Year three times in volleyball and basketball.

Statistics Explanation

PASSING:

Each athlete is rated on a four-point scale (4 is the highest score) for each pass she makes throughout the match (see chart).

SERVING:

Efficiency is based on the difficulty of the opponents being able to pass the serve. An athlete is rated on a four-point scale (4 is the highest score) for the effectiveness of each serve (see chart).

PASSING:

Efficiency

4 = ball passed over net for side out 3 = ball passed to shaded area #3

2 = ball passed to #2 area

1 = pass setter can't get to but a teammate sets

0 = pass resulting in point for opponent

\*Formula: total points/attempts  $\div$  4 = efficiency percentage

SERVING:

Efficiency

4 = ace or directly resulting in point

3 = opponent passes it but setter is unable to set it

2 = opponent passes it to #2 area 1 = opponent passes it to #3 area

0 = illegal serve

\*Formula: total points/attempts  $\div$  4 = efficiency percentage

DEFINITIONS:

Kill: a spike that directly results in a point or side out for the player's own team.

Hit: a spike that went into the court, but was not a kill.

Defensive Save: saving a hard spike or dink which would have otherwise hit the floor.

Stuff Block: a block which results in a point or side-out for the player's own team.

Set Error: any time a player is called for a setting error or violation.
Set Assist: a set for an attacker which directly results in a point or side-out for the player's own team.

EQUIPMENT

The volleyball team, like all intercollegiate athletic teams at Florida State, trains, practices and plays with the best equipment made.

Weight training, which begins when the team arrives on campus in the fall, continues for most of the year. The Nautilus, one of the best known isokinetic machines, is just a part of FSU's available weight training system.

Another isokinetic machine, the Leaper, is used to increase vertical jump. Both machines are used extensively by the volleyball program.

Women's Athletic Director Barbara Palmer

Determination. Dedication. Enthusiasm. Each of these words has been used to describe Florida State women's athletic director Barbara Palmer at one time or another. Never has one individual had such a dynamic impact on a program in such a short period of time.

Since Palmer was hired in August of 1977, Florida State has developed one of the top programs in the nation.

"It is and always has been our goal to build a nationalcaliber program here at Florida State," says Palmer. "We are committed to that goal and we will not accept anything short of it. But at the same time, we are concerned with the academic achievement of our athletes. We're building winners in all aspects of personal and professional growth."

Palmer's duties as athletic director include the hiring of coaches, preparation of budgets, monitoring of scheduling and travel and fund-raising.

The Lady Seminoles Booster Club is yet another area where Palmer has directed much of her energy. "The development of the Booster Club has meant a great deal to our program," she says. "There are a lot of people out there interested in the Lady Seminoles and they let us know that. They're behind us 100 percent."

Palmer is directly responsible for the funding Florida State will receive each year from the state for women's athletics, making Florida the first state in the nation to come into full compliance with Title IX. It was Palmer's lobbying that pushed the bill through the 1980 Legislature to make it law.

Additionally, she was instrumental in the hiring of full-time coaches for each of FSU's eight women's sports. More recently, full-time assistant coaches have been added to the growing staff.

Palmer joined the Florida State staff after serving four years as executive director of a private leisure education and recreation services organization. Prior to that, she served as administrator of Camp Indian Springs, program director for Wakulla County and recreation supervisor of Merritt Island.

A long time Tallahassee, Fla. resident, Palmer received her bachelor's degree in recreation at FSU in 1970 and earned her master's degree in leisure services and studies in 1974.

Palmer is presently the president of the southeast region, region III, of the AIAW:

THIS IS FLORIDA STATE

Florida State University — the home of more than 20,000 Seminoles — has a campus that starts at the top of one of Tallahassee's famed seven hills, and rolls gently downward and westward across 340-odd acres of pines, palms and pecan trees.

Founded in 1857 as the Seminary West of the Suwannee, its heritage is evidenced in the wide range of architectural struggles to preserve history and keep up with modern times and air conditioning. Yet is still ranks as one of the South's last, few bastions of campus greenery — the kind that combines the blossoms of camellias, azaleas and dogwoods with moss-hung oaks that are, in some cases, as old as the University itself, if not older.

From the Gothic towers of Westcott at the eastern entrance to the campus, to the modern glass and steel structures of its Science Complex to the west, Florida State University has moved forward in time and growth more rapidly than many of its newer counterparts in the State University System. Its enrollment has quadrupled since it became coeducational in 1947, following nearly half a century as the Florida State College for Women.

Today, its 14 schools and colleges are spread through $150 million worth of buildings, its annual budget exceeds $100 million and it attracts more than $18 million a year in research contracts and grants. Students can pick and choose from more than 100 career options offered in arts and sciences, business, communication, criminology, dance, education, home economics, law, library science, music, nursing, social sciences, social work, theater and visual arts programs.

The location of FSU in the Capital City of Florida offers unusual opportunities for study and research in the social and policy sciences, and an optimum environment for internships and on-the-job learning experiences for students in many fields of study.

A city within a city, Florida State has 1,200 faculty members, more than 6,000 additional employees and a construction program that will exceed $50 million between now and 1981. The construction of a new civic center and a center for continuing education — both near the State Capitol — are destined for completion by the fall of 1980.
