That "scalp 'em" probably will never ring louder across Doak Campbell Stadium than it will tonight when Miami's Hurricanes trot across to the south bench for the first time.

It'll be the first time Miami has ever played in Tallahassee, and a Seminole football team that is at near peak physical condition has 'upset' on the mind.

The five previous meetings with the nationally ranked Hurricanes have been painful ones for FSU football teams—defeat has always been by a big margin and it's always had a sting to it.

The upset fever should run high among the close to 20,000 people who jam this stadium tonight—but none will be more wary than usually optimistic Tom Nugent.

Earlier in the week, the FSU Coach warned that "Miami has as much potential as any past Hurricane team we've met. Defensively, they're one of the toughest teams in the country."

Nugent has a lot of respect for the Miami offense, too. He says sophomore Quarterback Fran Curci is "just short of amazing." Curci will be wearing No. 15 tonight. It might be a number to watch.

As for the Seminoles, they're in outstanding physical condition and it's very probable morale is at a peak. They've had time to rest since conquering Virginia Tech, 20-7, two weeks ago.

The starting backfield will be the same as it has been these past three weeks when the Seminoles seemed to move the ball well. The only change finds George Boyer, a 220-pound senior who usually plays tackle, at the center post.

Upset? It could be an exciting evening.

THE PRESIDENT

Florida State University's recently named new President—Dr. Robert M. Strozier—is professed as an avid football fan.

Dr. Strozier, who took over the post just in time for football season, was named FSU President late in June after the beloved Dr. Doak S. Campbell retired after 16 years.

At 51, Dr. Strozier is one of the youngest University Presidents in the country. It was Governor Collins' expressed desire that the new FSU President should be a "young man with the vision and foresight" to go with growing Florida State University.

Though coming to Florida State from the University of Chicago, where he was Dean of Students, Dr. Strozier is a native southerner. He was born and raised in nearby McRae, Georgia, and attended Emory University in Atlanta. He was on the faculty of the University of Georgia at one time.

His brother, newsman Fred Strozier, is a former resident of Tallahassee and headed the local Associated Press Bureau for three years. Fred Strozier is now the AP's chief executive in its Latin American Bureau.

THE VICE PRESIDENT

Serving as president from July 1 until Dr. Strozier arrived to assume the position on September 1 was Dr. A. B. Martin, the FSU Vice President. Like Dr. Strozier, Dr. Martin is also an avid football fan.

Born in Africa of American parents serving as Methodist missionaries, Dr. Martin spent the greater part of his life in Texas, where he was identified with educational and civic affairs. The prominent Southern educator came to FSU in 1951.

THE FOOTBALL COACH

Florida State University football coach Tom Nugent has made great strides with FSU football.

Now entering his fifth year as the propelling force behind the Seminoles, Nugent has attained a record of 42 wins, against 35 defeats and three ties.

He's also become nationally known for his bright innovations. It was Nugent who invented the typewriter huddle, the double quarterback and the "I" formation used so effectively by his own Seminoles.

A native of Lawrence, Mass., the 44-year-old coach came to Florida State in 1953 after completing four highly successful years as head coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Within three years after Nugent joined the obscure VMI Keydets, he had won a Southern Conference crown and had pulled an upset victory over mighty Georgia Tech.

Nugent graduated from Ithaca College in 1936 and coached the frosh team there while he continued with graduate work. Later, he returned to Lawrence and directed the Essex Training School teams in football, basketball and baseball. Four years at Essex produced two undefeated football teams and a 35-3 record.

After serving with the Air Force from 1941 to 1946, Nugent became Head Football Coach at Williamsburg, Va., High School, where he won nine in a row. He then moved to Hopewell, Va., High and in two years won 15 of 19 games.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

The University of Miami was founded 31 years ago. Its president is Dr. Jay F. W. Pearson, who has been associated with the University since its founding in 1926 and has seen it grow from a student body of less than 800 to more than 12,000 students today.

It's a rare institution, this University of Miami—born in the fury of a hurricane, nurtured in the tempest of a depression, maturing now in a whirlwind of expansion.

As Ed Sullivan said of it a few years ago, it has become "a mighty university . . . a fabulous dream come true." Its buildings have such beauty, style and modernism that tourists flock daily to see and admire it.

To its more than 12,000 students, the U-M is a school of diversified learning, a campus with a combination of classwork and extra curricular activity that produces the kind of well-rounded citizens the world will always need.

Scattered over the 260-acre grounds are classroom buildings, residence halls and a student center—all stunning structures of glass and steel, landscaped by tropical foliage. Functional simplicity marks the architecture, with windows covering almost 50 per cent of the exterior. Everything on the campus is modern, a proud product of a few visionary educators who had a dream just 31 short years ago.

It's an independent institution, non-denominational and co-educational. The state lends support only to the School of Medicine.

Today, its students pursue careers in science, business administration, music, education, engineering, medicine, law, the liberal arts, and graduate studies in various fields.

Its 1,000 faculty members are drawn from the nation's leading colleges and universities as well as from those of South America and Europe. Research scientists and assistants work quietly in laboratories spread out over three campuses. That work includes medical research, industrial chemistry, marine biology and oceanography, business and economics, psychology, radio and television, zoology and hurricane velocity experiments.

Its location at the crossroads of the two Americas has made the U-M center of Inter-American education and culture with hundreds of foreign students from countries of Europe and Asia as well as those to the south.

The University's effect upon the culture of the community is easily seen. Its annual symphony series brings the "greats" of the world of music and opera to the school as guest soloists. Productions at its flexible Ring Theatre have been consistently acclaimed as near-professional. Works of the world's top painters and sculptors, past and present, are exhibited throughout the year in the Joe and Emily Lowe Art Gallery.

SEMINOLE

52 TROY BARNES. Senior, 6-1, 190 pounds, from Chickasaw, Ala. Did a tremendous job as the Seminole's pivot man last fall and should repeat this year. One of the most reliable men on the field at all times. Always there and always a threat.

42 CARMEN BATTAGLIA. Senior, 5-9, 175 pounds, from Niagara Falls, N. Y. Always a hard competitor, Carmen could blossom out this fall for his final season. Runs good in close, is an excellent pass catcher and has a big heart on defense.

63 ABNER BIGBIE. Sophomore, 5-9, 180 pounds, of West Palm Beach. Another rugged sophomore with a great future. He's only 19 and FSU coaches regard him as an outstanding offensive prospect. A success story in the process of being written.

81 HAM BISBEE. Senior, 6-1, 176 pounds, from Sanford, Fla. A steady competitor all through his three years at FSU. Outstanding as an offensive player with a bulldog-knack for hanging in there on defense. His final year could be his best.

77 GEORGE BOYER. Senior, 6-2, 220 pounds from Jacksonville. Often referred to as the perfect physical specimen for a football player. Moves exceptionally well for his size, excels in pursuit. A bulldog on defense, he stays with the best of them.

21 BOBBY CARNES. Soph., 5-11, 175 pounds, Tallahassee. One of the Seminoles' prime candidates at half-back, Carnes could be the outstanding sophomore back in camp this season.

PROFILES

27 STAN DOBOSZ. Senior, 5-8, 185 pounds, of East Chicago, Ind. "Stumpy" they call him. He's a hard runner and a rugged defensive player. Thrives on conditioning and could become one of the best running halfbacks in the south this fall.

66 BOB DOUGLAS. Sophomore, 6-0, 198 pounds from Dayton, O. Just turning 20, he's already a seasoned and rugged competitor. Played four years of guard at Fairmont High School in Dayton. One of FSU's toughest sophs in years.

78 TONY FEKANY. Sophomore, 5-9, 220 pounds of Jacksonville. Has all the beef a guard needs and if he can develop the speed and ability to move this season he'll figure big next fall when FSU tackles that mammoth schedule.

65 BOB FOUNTAIN. Junior, 5-11, 188 pounds of Crestview, Fla. A former end, this 21-year-old athlete has made the switch to guard with relative ease. FSU coaches expect him to be an outstanding performer this fall.

67 JERRY GRAHAM. Junior, 6-0, 180 pounds of Chicago, Ill. Tough on defense with ability to pull out and lead the sweeps around end. One of the bright spots in FSU's guard picture, coaches expect him to show well this year.

14 JERRY HENDERSON. Senior, 6-0, 175, from Pensacola. Like Renn, Jerry is a converted halfback who figures to make good as a signal-caller. He could be number two behind Bobby before the season is out.

44 EDDIE JOHNSON. Senior, 5-10, 190 pounds, from Charleston, W. Va. Moves well for his hefty size and could be a real offensive threat. Tough in pursuit from the linebacker spot and and could give Seminoles real defensive boost.

53 STUART KEITH. Junior, 5-11, 190 pounds from Panama City, Fla. A big surprise during the fall drills, he's come along rapidly and will be one of the Tribe's regular performers this fall. Moves well from that line-backing spot and does the job on offense.

70 JERRY LANE. Sophomore, 6-1, 205 pounds, from Lakeland, Fla. Young at 20 and still growing. Was an end and center in high school. Likes to play defense. If he continues to develop, he'll be an outstanding pro football prospect.

22 LENNY LEVY. Sophomore, 5-9, 180, of Miami. One of the brightest sophomores in the early fall practice, Levy could break into the starting lineup before the season is over. Has a lot of drive and really comes to play.

13 JOE MAJORS. Sophomore, 6-0, 175 pounds, from Huntland, Tenn. Younger brother of Tennessee's All-American tailback Johnny Majors has shown spurts of greatness at times at the quarterback slot. Is a fine passer, could really help the Seminoles this year.

43 LOU MANNING. Senior, 5-10, 192 pounds of Delray Beach, Fla. A service returnee, Manning brings plenty of punch back to FSU's full-back spot. He could be the biggest surprise on the team this fall.

PROFILES

12 GENE McCORMICK. Sophomore, 5-8, 160, from Miami. One of the Seminoles' more talented sophomores, McCormick figures highly in FSU quarterback plans. An excellent passer, he could break through.

61 JOE McGEE. Junior, 21, 5-9, 192 pounds of Raleigh, N. C. He'll take up a lot of the sag at the pullout spot this fall, and coaches think he'll do it well. Always reliable, he should clock a lot of game time this fall.

69 PATSY MONACO. Sophomore, 19, 5-10, 200 pounds of Balston, N. Y. Came to FSU as a fullback, he's been shifted to guard and coaches expect him to develop rapidly. Still moves like a fullback and he's big enough to make himself felt at guard.

73 BILL MUSSELMAN. Senior, 5-11, 210, of Lynchburg, Va. Nugent once said if Musselman had been a guard, he'd have been the best in the country. But he's been doing a great job holding down the left tackle post for three years.

85 BOB NELLUMS. Senior, 6-1, 201 pounds, of Pensacola. His status will have a lot of bearing on FSU's success this fall. He led in scoring with 31 points last fall even though he played only half the games. He suffered a knee injury and is in the process of recovering.

74 MEL POPE. Senior, 6-0, 215 pounds from Tallahassee. Pope has come along well during recent drills and he'll play a lot of football this fall. He's a big boost to the center post and this year it'll have plenty of depth.

24 GERALD PHILP. Senior, 5-11, 185 pounds, from Royal Oak, Mich. A converted end now slated for a right halfback post. Philp was a dependable pass catcher last year, but Nugent elected to move him to halfback to give his backfield more depth. Figures highly in Seminole plans.

15 BOB RENN. Junior, 5-10, 175 pounds, from Henderson, N. C. A switch from halfback where he led team in ground-gaining last year. Renn has developed fast as a team leader. Flashy runner with an excellent pass, he could be dark horse for All-America honors.

20 BUDDY REYNOLDS. Junior, 21, 5-10, 178 pounds of West Palm Beach. A returnee after sitting out a couple of years with a knee injury, Buddy could hit his stride this fall and make the Seminoles go.

11 TED RODRIQUE. Senior, 5-11, 185 pounds, of Lynn, Mass. "Rocky" has had his ups and downs, but he's still the best passer FSU has and he always manages to get the touchdown when it's needed most. Runs the FSU offensive system like he invented it.

29 RICHARD ROZMAN. Sophomore, 5-8, 180 pounds, Tallahassee. A hard-driving back, Rozman could be up among the top backs before the season is out.

80 RON SCHOMBURGER. Senior, 6-2, 192 pounds, of Pittsburgh, Pa. A unanimous choice for team captain, he is possessed with great inspirational qualities. Coaches expect this to be a great year for him. He has started every game since a freshman—he's FSU's All-America candidate.

PROFILES

50 PAUL SLATON. Sophomore, 5-9, 205 pounds, from Miami. Short, but there's a lot of power packed in his frame and he moves it very well. One of the brightest sophomore prospects with the Tribe, he could be a big surprise this fall.

87 JOHN SPIVEY. Sophomore, 6-2, 200 pounds of Panama City, Fla. Another of those players who can play just about any position on the line. He's presently an end but he might be playing a lot of positions before the season is out.

40 TERRELL TEAGUE. Sophomore, 6-0, 195 pounds, Auburndale. Here may be the possible solution to Nugent's long search for a hard-driving fullback. Another of many bright sophs, Teague could also be in the opening lineup before too long.

62 AL ULMER. Sophomore, 5-10, 178 pounds of Clearwater, Fla. One of those shoestring guards you hear about every so often, but he's still growing and knows no peer for courage. Excels in rugged defensive work, he steps right along with the 'backs on the pullouts.

79 LOU WALLACE. Sophomore, 6-0, 200 pounds of Atlanta, Ga. He's a little light for a tackle but he's the bruising kind and he bounces back hard when he's been hit. A 19-year-old soph, he has plenty of time to develop.

26 BILL WEAVER. Senior 5-10, 182 pounds, of Miami. Always a rugged competitor, Weaver is back this year in excellent condition. Runs like a fullback and plays defense like a linebacker. He's the senior class prexy and an outstanding student.

CHIEFS IN FORMATION

ABOUT FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY

Located in Tallahassee, Florida State University is one of the fastest growing universities in the country. Already, it is literally bursting at its seams with an estimated 10,000 students expected by 1960.

The campus consists of 297 acres, the older part of which overlooks the capital city.

The new portion of the campus follows a 50-year master plan developed by well-known architects. It stretches westward along Highway 90.

Growing by leaps and bounds, the campus has an 11-floor dormitory with three more just like it expected in the near future. A million dollar physical education plant is less than a year old as is the multi-million dollar library building.

Other new buildings include a new Geology Building, a new Science Building, a new School for Home Economics, a new Zoology and Botany classroom building and a new student center.

A recent act of the legislature granted the University $2,300,000 for developing basic nuclear studies which will put FSU to the fore in the nuclear field.

In 1851 the legislature passed an act establishing two seminaries of learning to be situated upon the east and west sides of the famous Suwannee River.

The Florida Institute, then established at Tallahassee on the site of the present Florida State University, was offered to the state. During the next 54 years the institution was known as the West Florida Seminary, Florida University and Florida State College.

The Buckman Act of 1905 made the school into Florida State College for Women, which it remained until it became the present Florida State University on May 15, 1947.

THE SEMINOLE FOOTBALL NETWORK

Bill Snyder
Seminole Network

Florida State University's football contests are carried to every part of the state again this year by the growing voice of the Seminole Football Network.

Entering its fifth year, the network boasts close to 20 stations this fall—a big increase over the 12 that carried the contests last year.

Perhaps the biggest step the network is taking this year is the fact that an Atlanta, Ga., station is being added to the network. This adds thousands of square miles to the FSU coverage area.

Handling the mikeside duties for the broadcasts are veteran Bill Snyder and newcomer Alan Robinson. Snyder has done the play-by-play of the FSU games the past two years. Robinson, of Public Relations of Florida, joins the network for the first time.

Snyder has been around the sports circuit for a long time. He began his career by working the games of the old professional baseball club, the St. Louis Browns.

All ten of the FSU games will be broadcast, including the road games to Boston, Philadelphia, Hattiesburg, Miss., and Tampa. They may be heard locally on station WTAL.
