WELCOIVE TO FLORIDA STATE

THE 21st CENTURY'S GOALPOST: FLORIDA STATE

Florida State's position on the 30-yard-line of the 21st Century, in terms of academic research and instruction, places the University within field-goal distance of international distinction in 1970.

Already nationally recognized as a center of excellence in vital areas of scientific and technological progress, Florida State enters the decade of the 1970's with a momentum gained in more than a century of service to the state and nation. Founded in 1857 as the Seminary West of the Suwannee, and elevated to coeducational university status in 1947, the University has a current enrollment approaching 18,000 students in its 10 schools and colleges.

Its $100 million physical plant creates a skyline of research towers on the western quadrangle of the campus—visible from the west stands of Campbell Stadium—and reaches eastward to a stone's-throw of the State Supreme Court, where the new College of Law Building is under construction. Now graduating some 5,000 students each year, Florida State is one of only two dozen universities in the country annually producing more than 100 doctorates.

The University's role as a senior leader among the State's nine-institution University System is one in which it takes great pride. More than 100 specialized fields of study are represented in the University's schools and colleges of arts and sciences, business, education, engineering science, home economics, law, library science, music, nursing and social welfare.

A SALUTE TO THE FRIENDS OF THE SEMINOLES

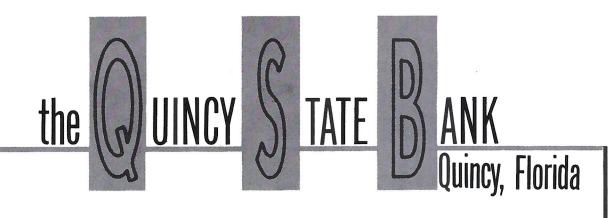

There are many reasons for the outstanding record of growth and achievement of the Florida State University in intercollegiate athletics during the past 23 years. Paramont among these are the loyal Seminole fans who fill the stands of Campbell Stadium for our home football games. The University is deeply grateful for the strong support our athletic programs have enjoyed through the years.

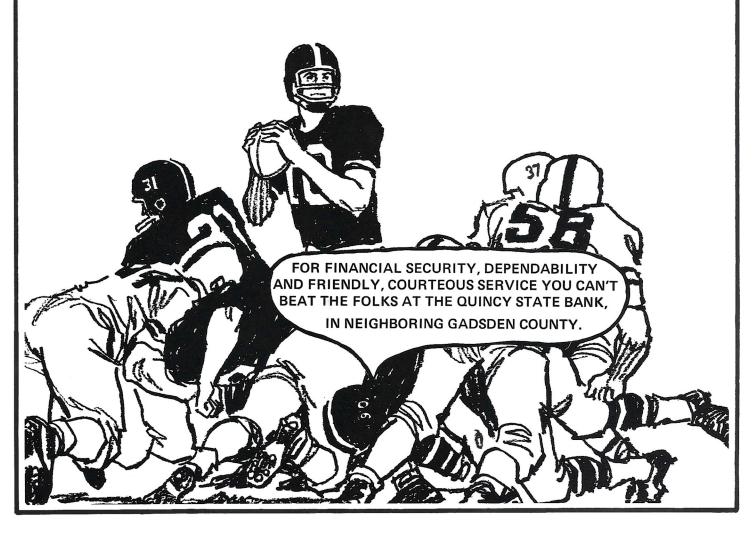

Seminole fans have responded magnificently to the University's need for additional financial support during this period of increased athletic costs. On behalf of the football team and our outstanding coaching staff—indeed of the entire University—I thank all of those in Campbell Stadium today. In particular, the contributors to the Athletic Scholarship Fund who are seated between the 40-yard lines in the west stand are deserving of special recognition; in addition, I want to recognize the many faculty and staff who have purchased season tickets and the uncounted number of students, alumni, and Seminole Boosters whose steadfast support means so much to the football team and the coaches.

This evidence of continued support of an athletic program geared to match dynamic programs in the academic areas is what keeps Florida State in the winners' circle on both counts. Such success comes only with teamwork; and it is this teamwork, on and off the playing field, that assures Florida State's continuing excellence.

—Stanley Marshall President Florida State University

TONIGHT'S GAME

By Lonnie Burt

Sports Information Director

After a year's layoff, Atlantic Coast Conference Wake Forest and independent Florida State get back together on the gridiron. In eight previous meetings, the Seminoles own a 6-1-1 edge.

Coach Cal Stoll was hired before the 1969 season to straighten out the Deacons' football fortunes. In his campaign, Stoll directed the Deacs to a 3-7 record including a 22-21 upset over ACC rival North Carolina State.

Wake Forest expected to have a green offensive team and an experienced defensive outfit this year. However, lack of depth has hurt the defense, especially in their 43-7 loss to South Carolina last Saturday night.

Wake Forest trailed 10-7 at halftime before the Gamecock legions applied the pressure. Six turnovers — three fumbles and three interceptions by South Carolina — in the final 30 minutes made the Deacons' struggle impossible.

In junior college transfer Larry Hopkins, Wake Forest has one of the ACC's better runners. The 203-pound fullback had a 61-yard touchdown run last Saturday night.

Sophomore Jim McMahen and junior Larry Russell have been sharing the Deacons' quarterback duties. Russell has started both Wake Forest games and is a threat as a runner while McMahen is the stronger passer.

Defensively, tackle Win Headley, 6-3, 240 pounds, is an All-America candidate and in two games has 12 tackles and 11 assists.

Prior to the South Carolina contest, Wake Forest bowed to mighty Nebraska 36-12 in its opener.

Florida State will be trying to bounce back from its 23-13 loss to Georgia Tech last week. And at the same time, the Seminoles will be starting a new quarterback in junior Frank Whigham.

Whigham entered the Tech game in the first quarter and wound up with 10 pass completions in 25 attempts. These were good for 201 yards and one touchdown. The Sanford native also showed talent as a runner, racing for 62 yards in six carries.

Wake's only victory over Florida State came in 1958 when the Deacons claimed a 27-24 triumph. The series tie came in 1956, the teams' first meeting which ended in a 14-14 standoff.

Florida State University would like to help put to rest the old myth that "there is nothing to do in Tallahassee."

Aside from the football games which draw thousands of people to town on Saturdays throughout the Fall, there is usually a full calendar of University-sponsored events ranging from lectures and drama to opera, art, jazz and rock concerts.

The fall quarter events calendar has representatives of a number of such annual favorites as the Artist Series, Seminole Spotlight Series, University Lecture Series, Theater and Opera Guild productions, Faculty Recitals and the Madrigal Christmas Dinners.

This season the University Art Gallery in the Fine Arts Building will have new exhibits on a monthly basis, with both professional and student works being featured; and the School of Music is offering several new adult enrichment courses, including a lecture series and piano lessons.

In addition to major productions, some type of music is performed every week on campus often with as many as two or three concerts from which to select. The Studio Theater presents plays of an experimental nature, often using student, rather than faculty, directors.

The Artist Series brings to campus some of the best professional entertainment available today. The 1970-71 Series will include such renowned performers as Metropolitan Opera Star Marilyn Horne and Dame Judith Anderson as "Hamlet." Two leading American orchestras—the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the Minnesota Symphony—will appear, as will the classic jazz group, The New Orleans Preservation Hall Jazz Band. Musical comedy will be represented in a roadshow performance of the lively Broadway hit, "Zorba" with drama represented by Shaw's "Candida" to be presented by the Asolo State Theater of Florida. An evening of dance will be performed by the American Ballet Theater.

During the fall quarter, Miss Horne will appear on Oct. 29; "Zorba" will be presented on Nov. 18; and the New Orleans Preservation Jazz Hall Band will perform on Nov. 24.

All Artist Series programs are at 8:15 p.m. in Ruby Diamond Auditorium (formerly Westcott.)

General public season tickets for all eight productions are available for $25 at the University Union Ticket Office, or by mail, through Oct. 15. Student season tickets are $8 and student spouse tickets, $12.50.

A variety of quality drama by the University Theater will have something to offer for the whole family.

Highlighting the 1970-71 theater season will be five "Main Stage" productions. The opening show, Oct. 16-24, will be the hit 1950's musical "Guys and Dolls," produced in conjunction with the School of Music and Opera Guild. The avant garde "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead," which is based on Shakespere's "Hamlet," will follow on Nov. 12-15.

The Annual Children's Show will be that classic tale for youngsters, "Peter Pan." Two plays will be premiered by "Main Stage" during the year. One, by Joseph Hayes, will headline the 1971 Fine Arts Festival, and another by FSU playwright in-residence Frank Gagliano will be presented in late spring.

Season tickets for the five shows are $10.95 for the general public and $6.95 for students. They may be purchased at the University Union Ticket Office or by mail through the Department of Theater.

Main Stage productions are held in the Fine Arts Building Theater with curtain time at 8:15 p.m. Studio Theater shows, which this year will feature a series of plays by Gagliano, are at 8:15 p.m. in Conradi Theater. Tickets for these shows are available at the box office prior to each performance.

The University Lecture Series brings to campus experts on subjects ranging in scope from government to the arts. The lectures, which are held at 8 p.m. in Diamond Auditorium, are free and open to area residents as well as University students and personnel.

The lineup for the academic year includes Dr. Robert Weaver, former Secretary of HUD on Oct. 6; Dr. Barry Commoner, an expert on environmental problems, on Nov. 10; the Rev. Jesse Jackson, Southern Christian Leadership Conference, on Nov. 19; Kenneth Tynan, leading British theater critic and expert on op art, on Feb. 9; Julian Bond, an expert on Black Politics, on Apr. 15; and Dr. John Kenneth Galbraith, whose field is the economy, on May 11.

The Art Gallery will offer everything from ancient artifacts to modern art with exhibits featuring professional talent in the upper gallery and student works in the lower. Among the Gallery's offerings will be the opening show in October featuring selected works from FSU's permanent art collection, in the upper gallery; and in the lower gallery, a photography display of works by students of Evon Streetman.

In November the upper gallery will show works by faculty artists from various Florida universities and junior colleges, while the December exhibit will be devoted to art appropriate to the holiday season.

The gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on weekends. It is closed during academic holidays, and there is no admission cost at any time.

Throughout the year Strozier Library's Undergraduate Division sponsors a Library Lecture Series presenting authors from among the FSU faculty. Lectures are held monthly on a Wednesday at 3 p.m. The lectures are free and area residents are invited to attend along with members of the University community.

The School of Music will offer two new programs this fall, in addition to such traditional favorites as the Faculty Recital Series, the Women's Glee Club Christmas Vespers, the Choral Union Concert in December and the University Symphony Concert in November.

"Music in Our Changing World" will provide the theme for the Music Lecture Series, to be held 10 consecutive Monday nights begining Sept. 28 at 7:30 p.m. Led by prominent members of the music faculty, the series is designed to help participants gain a new perspective on the contemporary trends and future prospects of music in our rapidly changing society. The $7.50 registration fee is payable during the first class session, in Room 205 of the Music Building.

"Piano for Pleasure," designed for adults with little or no piano background, will be offered as a 10 week course starting Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Jack Swartz, who will conduct the class, said it can also be taken as a refresher course for those who have been away from the keyboard since childhood. Simple piano literature will be used with an emphasis on popular music. The $50 tuition fee is payable at the first session in the Music Building.

Ending the quarter on a merry note will be the Annual Christmas Madrigal dinners, sponsored jointly by the School of Music, the University Food Services and the University Union. Dates for the old English Style holiday event are Nov. 29-30, Dec. 1-2 and 4-7.

Further information about the Dinners, which are at $6:30\,$ p.m. in the Union Ballrooms, will be announced later in the quarter.

So come join us at Flordia State where there is always something going on.

events in preview.....

MUSIC — The combined choral forces of the School of Music join the State Symphony of Florida in concert. The FSU School of Music is the home of the State Symphony and the State Opera Association, with the organizations' members coming from the faculty and student ranks.

OPERA - The Florida State University Opera Guild annually presents two or three quality productions ranging from grand opera to lighter or romantic operas or musical comedy. This season the Guild will work with the Theater to produce "Guys and Dolls," the hit musical from the '50's. The Opera Guild will produce Carlisle Floyd's opera Mice and Men" as the highlight of the 1971 Fine Arts Festival in February. The scene shown is from the opera

"Amelia Goes to the Ball," which was presented during the 1970 Fine Arts Festival.

LECTURES — Former Ambassador to the United Nations Arthur Goldberg, right, was among the speakers featured during the 1969-70 Lecture series. Here he is greeted by FSU government professor Elston Roady. The series is designed to bring to campus persons knowledgable in a wide variety of subjects ranging from government to the arts.

ARTIST SERIES — The hit Broadway musical "Zorba" will be a highlight of the 1970-71 Artist Series. The lusty show, based on the novel "Zorba the Greek," is highlighted by energetic Greek songs and dances and reflects the fierce joys and harsh sorrows of life in Greece today. It will be presented on Nov. 18.

FACULTY RECITALS — The School of Music Annually presents a series of recitals featuring the many talents of its faculty. Here Mario Abril, John Boda and Victor Ellsworth rehearse for a joint program they presented last season.

BAND — The Marching Chiefs provide color and atmosphere at all Florida S t a t e h o me football games and band members are on hand to musically boost F S U 's basketball team. After the football season the Chiefs disband and regroup as several different concert organizations which perform during winter and spring quarters.

Sound familiar? In today's fast-paced world, a busy line could signal a loss of business. When a modern system from Southeastern Telephone could automatically transfer incoming calls to other lines, should the main line be in use.

Installation is really a simple procedure, and a new system costs just pennies a day. Far less than lost business or an irate customer. Call us, and keep your lines busy. As well as your help.

Theme: GOT A GROOVY THING GOING

Seminole football fans can look forward to seeing as a show-time first a most exciting and innovative season of half-time entertainment created by the widely renown Florida State Marching Chiefs Band.

The imaginative new approach will feature as part of the overall theme four spirited and lively segments in each weeks show.

Opening up the activities is the section billed "Spirit of Our Times." It will feature ideas relevant to what's happening today, capturing the current feelings in a reflective mood and with perhaps a new twist here and there.

"The Bent Arrow Award," the second part of the show, will highlight each weeks half-time activities as all will no doubt want to know who is struck by the precarious direction of the formidable shaft.

Flashback to the time when things were really happening will highlight the third part of the show in the alike will be able to join in seeing what was relevant segment called "Those were the Days." Young and old then, in the "good old days" as the Band goes through its paces.

Rounding up the half-time activities in the sequence

Sales

"Happiness Is . . ." Only the boundaries of the imagination will limit the possibilities as to what will happen here each week.

Join in the big half-time Pow Wow each time the Marching Chiefs take to the field. Don't be a renegade. Scout for the Marching Chiefs in the next Seminole encounter.

THE SHOW

The Spirit of Our Times

Got A Groovy Thing Going — (Teepee) — One of the prevailing spirits of our times is involvement. Introducing a new cheer, the band and cheerleaders hope to involve everyone in the spirit and excitement of the hour.

Bent Arrow Award

Bent Arrow Music; Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered — (Bow and Arrow) — The Chiefs form a bow and arrow, and salute the gunky freshmen.

Those Were The Days

Those Were The Days; Hut Sut Medley — (Drill Sequence) — The days of the older generation will remember the era of radio and the fabulous hit parade. The days of relevant tunes such as The Little Fishes, Mairzy-Doats, and Hut Sut Ralston. The Chiefs do a drill sequence to these oldies but goodies.

Happiness Is

Mah-Na Mah-Na; Let It Be Me — (Concert Formation)— Happiness is a blind date with a girl as beautiful as our twelve majorettes. In concert formation, we close with Let It Be Me and feature our majorettes.

MEET THE COACHES

BILL PETERSON HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

Coach "Pete" moves into his second decade as the Seminoles "Big Chief" this season and is faced with as big a challenge as ever before.

When Bill Peterson resigned as an LSU assistant coach under Paul Dietzel to take over the Florida State head coach spot in 1960, he vowed to take the then struggling Seminoles to national prominence.

Through a decade of dedication, hardwork and desire, Peterson has succeeded in lifting the Tribe from depths of the "have nots" to the door step of the "haves."

Four of the last six years Peterson has led Florida State to bowl games. Opponents no longer look upon the Seminoles as a "breather." Their wideopen "pro style" of play has made them a favorite of national and regional television audiences, as well as bowl games.

Three Tribe quarterbacks are on pro rosters and former Seminoles Fred Biletnikoff and Ron Sellers are considered among the best in the NFL. In all, there are nearly a dozen former Bill Peterson players in the pro ranks this fall.

Peterson played his college ball at Ohio Northern University, graduating in 1946. During his tenure at LSU he was credited with recruiting and developing many members of the Tigers' 1958 national championship squad.

Now the "dean" of the state's coaches, Peterson led the Seminoles to 55 wins, 38 defeats and 11 ties in his first decade. In the last half dozen years they have been consistently ranked in or around the nation's "top 20" teams.

A member of the Methodist Church, he and wife Marjorie have five sons, Ron, Tommy, Jon, Billy and David.

Florida State's football games, whether played at home or away, will be heard throughout "Seminole Territory" on the Seminole Football Network.

With Tallahassee's WTNT acting as the originating station, 30 stations will carry every play to Seminole fans in Florida, South Georgia and South Alabama. In addition, several Florida State games will be heard from time to time as "Pick of Dixie" games.

Heading up the Seminole Network broadcast team once again will be Bo Mitchell. A veteran of more than 20 years broadcasting, Mitchell will be in his eighth season as the Seminoles play-by-play man. In addition to Seminole games Mitchell has also done play-by-play for the AFL All Star game, Senior Bowl and Tangerine Bowl games.

Joining the former Florida Sportscaster of the Year and station manager of WKIS in Orlando will be Bill Owens of Tallahassee. A Florida State graduate, Owens has handled the play-by-play for the Seminole basketball and baseball broadcasts the last two years, but this is his first season at the football mike.

Holy Cross-A Bug Beats a Football Team

by ROY MUMPTON, Executive Sports Editor, Worcester Telegram-Gazette

It was shortly after noon on Sunday, September 28, 1969. Coach Bill Whitton appeared in a stage of shock. His hair was mussed. His shirt collar was open and crumpled. His tie was askew.

He had just watched, for the third time, the films of his first Holy Cross football team's 13-0 hiding by Harvard the afternoon before. It was a horror movie. Always the Crimson defenders were swarming all over his Crusaders. Harvard's aggressiveness, so sharp in contrast, made it appear that HC had no offense at all.

"I can't believe what I see," said Whitton, who had been lured from a top assistant's post at Princeton to revive Holy Cross' fallen football fortunes and had watched his team stumble badly in its first game.

"These are good kids; I'm sure of that. I just can't understand it," he mumbled repeatedly.

Only a few days later Bill Whitton did understand.

His players, who had worked so hard to learn the new unbalanced-line Tattack and had been mighty impressive in a full dress rehearsal earlier, had been so lethargic simply because they were ill. They had been bitten by the hepatitis bug-a slow destroyer of energy.

Whitton, of course, had no way of knowing this.

Sure, Bob Cooney, a junior defensive end, had been hospitalized several days before the Harvard opener with what was thought to be a severe case of in-fluenza. Other HC players became ill during the next week. There was suspicion of a flu epidemic.

Infectious Hepatitis

It wasn't until Thursday that Cooney's illness was diagnosed as infectious hepatitis. The next day, a few hours before the departure for Hanover, N.H., and the game with Dartmouth, the entire squad was given immunization shots. Four boys were so sick they were hurried from the line to the college infirmary.

Three others became violently ill at Hanover that night and were rushed back to Worcester. Several others faced Dartmouth but had to leave after a few plays. The Indians' strong Ivy Leaguers rolled up a 38-6 score against a HC team which started without 11 reg-

Back home again, the entire HC squad took a hurried blood test on Sunday morning. All were found infected, to some degree, with hepatitis. Some 25 were to spend several weeks in isolation in the college infirmary.
"It's a disaster," sighed Coach Whitton, who himself had been very sick, but had carried on during the week of preparations for Dartmouth.

Holy Cross, the next day, was forced to cancel the remaining eight games of its schedule. So far as can be learned, this had never happened to a college football team before. So Whitton had encountered more hard luck than any new head coach in history.

Costly Illness

The disaster cost Holy Cross at least $200,000 in revenue from football, which had supported many minor sports. There were all the usual expenses, but no gate receipts for eight games, including the finale with Boston College which had been HC's home game and always a sellout as early as September.

But the rough setback hasn't discouraged Holy Cross authorities in their determination to build their football back to the high plane where Dr. Eddie Anderson placed it in the golden 1930s.

There had been rumors in the years before that HC might abandon football as had many other Jesuit Colleges. Some long-haired dissidents and a noisy professor or two had been taking pot shots at HC football and lobbying against continuing it.

Their voices became whispers once disaster hit the football squad. The hepatitis epidemic may have proved a blessing in disguise.

Alumni and friends rallied their sympathies and their dollars and made it clear that they wanted Holy Cross to stay in football.

Dartmouth, an almost annual rival of the Crusaders the last 33 seasons, sent a check to Holy Cross for $1,000 and suggested that other ECAC colleges also contribute to ease the emergency. Boston College, HC's dearest enemy, sent $2,000. Army and Navy each put $1,000 checks towards the continuance of Crusader football. Brigham Young University, a Mormon institution, sent $500 to the Catholic school. South Carolina, which had never played HC in any sport, was a contributor, too. So were others.

More than 500 alumni sent $15 checks for souvenir season's tickets when there wasn't a single home game.

Jerseys See Action

Sacramento State, which had dedicated its season to Holy Cross and wore the Crusaders' jerseys in its final game, launched a campaign to help. Mike Carter, the team captain, Coach Ray Clemons and publicist Phil Dynan created so much interest in HC at Sacramento that hundreds of students and friends made contributions. The HC co-captains flew to Sacramento and sat on the team's bench for its final game. Later Carter, Clemons and Dynan were feted in Boston at the Holy Cross Club's annual O'Melia dinner.

Fans in all parts of the country sent checks of $1, $5 and $10 with their sympathies. The fund welled. It is not nearly the $200,000 HC lost, but it all helped.

It was a water fountain on the hilltop practice field, half a mile above the campus, which led to the hepatitis epidemic. Neighborhood kids, a whole family of which had been infected by hepatitis, had been at the fountain during the summer.

Most of the HC players were infected on their very first day of practice. (Federal, state and civic health officials, who probed the situation intensely because it was unprecedented, agreed to this. None of the freshman squad, which reported ten days later, became ill.)

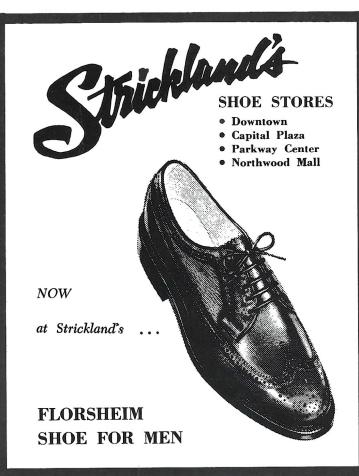

At least 10 HC varsity footballers were so sick that they missed a semester. The ECAC granted three seniors another year of eligibility, and will consider the cases of the afflicted underclassmen later.

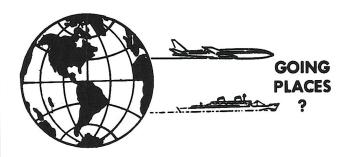

Held Spring Practice

Holy Cross, for the first time in some 20 years, had spring practice. "It was an absolute necessity," explained Whit-ton, "Our squad has the equivalent of two sophomore classes so far as football experience is concerned. Our seniors of this fall have played only two games, or less, in two years."

The Crusaders may have been down, but they seem to have everybody behind them. The road back will be steep, but they hope to climb it. HC is looking to the future and ready to forget the nightmare of hepatitis with a conviction that happier days are just around the corner.

WAKE FOREST

Good educational institutions become more interesting each year. But they don't seem to mellow. Instead they grow more vibrant.

Increasingly, individuals, corporations and governments demand more of this nation's college and universities, and it seems that the institutions demand more of themselves.

Founded in 1834 by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Wake Forest has had a long history of service. It was established on a 600-acre farm in Wake County. It prospered there, despite wars, depressions and other ailments that afflict but rarely kill educational institutions.

In 1946 Wake Forest encountered an opportunity that was to lead it to greater prominence and greater ability to serve an ever broadning area. That year the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation offered to pay Wake Forest $350,000 annually if other friends of the institution would provide necessary buildings at a new site in Winston-Salem. The annual grant was increased to $500,000 in 1955 and to $620,200 in 1968.

In 1956, Wake Forest made the historic, 110-mile move and is now firmly established in its new $30 million home. The Bowman Gray School of Medicine of the institution had been moved to Winston-Salem in 1941 when it received the resources of the Bowman Gray Foundation.

This fall Wake Forest is beginning its fourth year under the presidence of Dr. James Ralph Scales, its 16th year in Winston-Salem, and its 136th year as a North Carolina institution of higher learning.

1970 Florida State Freshman Football

The 1970 Florida State freshman team takes over the spotlight next week with its season opener against the Georgia Tech freshman in Campbell Stadium.

The Seminoles of tomorrow are directed by first year mentor Don Blackwelder and it appears there will be a good deal of aerial action during the freshman season.

Among the many standouts on this year's freshman club are quarterback Fred Geisler from Orlando and receiver Joe Goldsmith from Lakeland.

Although a good deal of the freshman's time has been spent working with the varsity, Blackwelder has seen enough to feel he has a top group gathered.

Kickoff for Saturday's contest is slated for 7:30 p.m.
Tickets will be available all this week at the Athletic Ticket Offices in Tully Gym. Admission for adults will be $2 and 50-cents for chidren. Florida State students will be admitted free upon showing their student ID card.

YESTERDAY

A WINNING TRADITION ESTABLISHED

Florida State's modern football history resumed in 1947, when the Seminoles quickly formed a team and a schedule. The result was, as could be expected, an agonizing 0-5 record.

But the Tribe was not to be down for long. The 1948 season brought a new coach, a new conference and the Seminoles first win.

Don Veller was the new coach. He came to the Seminoles from Indiana University, where he was an outstanding scholar-athlete, during the mid-thirties.

He brought with him the "cockeyed-T" first introduced by his former coach and then boss at Indiana, Bo McMillan. In addition Veller had added a few new wrinkles, like an unbalanced line.

The Seminoles' first opponent in 1948 was Cumberland University. The visitors certainly were not a national power, but they presented a formidable opening opponent, one which had beaten the Tribe, 6-0, a year before.

Veller had the Seminoles ready, however. While the defense kept Cumberland scoreless the "cockeyed-T" rolled up five touchdowns, for a 30-0 win.

Red Parrish and Ken MacLean set the pace for a devasting Tribe ground assault that netted 426 yards.

Each scored twice, leaving the final touchdown to reserve back Ernie Reddick.

A 31-yard dash by MacLean put the Tribe on the board. Later he sprinted 52-yards setting up a Parrish plunge for a score.

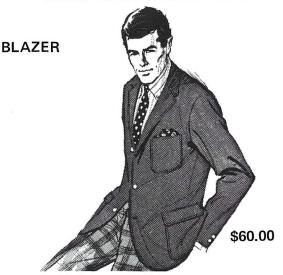

Parrish also showed speed by driving 60-yards for a touchdown.

The Seminoles missed all five extra point attempts in the Cumberland game and one more in a 14-6 loss to Erskine the following week running their two-year famine to nine. But that string stopped against Millsaps when Joe Crona kicked the winning point in a 7-6 victory.

Although the Seminoles lost their second outing, that "first ever" victory set the pace for the season. The Millsaps win started a six game streak as the Tribe finished up 7-1 and captured the first "Dixie Conference" title with a 4-0 mark.

JOIN SEMINOLE

Head Coach Bill Peterson has set a goal to have Florida State's football team become a national champion. This year nearly 1,300 Seminole fans have helped bring that goal closer to reality by joining Seminole Boosters. Officially called the Athletic Scholarship Fund, Seminole Boosters' purpose is to raise scholarship funds for the Florida State athletes in action tonight. Among the benefits a Seminole Booster receives is priority seating at all games—home and away, but the biggest benefit is knowing he has helped the Seminoles take a step closer to that national championship. If you have not yet joined the Boosters, you can do so by filling out this application and sending it with your contribution to the Athletic Department Office in Tully Gym.

Southern is scoring in the big-time now!

Just two, short years ago, Southern played in the confines of its own backyard . . . an eight-state region in the mid-South. But that's all changed now. Today, Southern is showing its winning ways in New York, Newark, Washington, St. Louis, Miami, Orlando, Tallahassee and Chicago.

Next trip, check Southern's fly pattern to any of the 66 cities it serves. See if Southern's own brand of service doesn't score points with you, too.

SPOTLIGHT

-Swimming-

The Dean of Florida State's head coaches is swimming mentor N. B. "Bim" Stults.

The personable boss of the Tribe's "aquanauts" is the first and only swimming coach in Seminole history. His initial team, in 1948, won only three of eight dual meet, but that was the only time he has suffered a losing season.

In 22 seasons, the Seminoles have ammassed a 170-34 record for a winning percentage of well over 80% and have established themselves as a perennial Southern power.

Stults coaching abilities have not gone unnoticed. Several times he has been nominated for Olympic and Pan American game coaching positions in both swimming and diving. In 1968 he was the only coach nominated for both spots on the Olympic team.

He has taken all star teams on world tours and served as a diving judge at many national meets. He is a past president of the College Swimming Coaches Association and a member of the Board of Directors of the Swimming Hall of Fame in Fort Lauderdale.

A graduate of Washington and Lee, Stults' first coaching position was an assistant's spot at Ohio State. His double tenure there was sandwiched around naval duty during World War II. A veteran line officers in both the Atlantic and Pacific, Stults is a retired Lt. Commander.

The Ohio native is acknowledged as one of the finest "in the pool" coaches in the country, getting maximum effort, dedication and ability from his swimmers, many of whom have gone on to be outstanding coaches in their own right.

Diving is a specialty with Stults and the Seminoles have gained 14 diving All-America certificates, including one national champion. Stults latest All-America diver, Phil Boggs, has already earned three awards and will be back for his senior season this winter.

BASKETBALL AT ITS BEST

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY BASKETBALL AT ITS BEST

EXCITING is the description for Florida State's Basketball team. High-scoring, run-and-shoot, offense; tenacious, pressing defense is the Seminole brand of basketball. Last year the Seminoles streaked to a 23-3 record with one of the nation's finest offensive teams. This year, despite the loss of big Dave Cowens and several other outstanding seniors, Coach Hugh Durham expects to have another high-scoring, banner year. Skip Young will be back to lead the attack along with Vernell Ellzy, Rowland Garrett and Ron Harris. Also the Seminoles will have the graduates of perhaps their finest freshman team ever. Sensational Ron King, Reggie Royals, Larry Gay and little Otto Petty, the 5-8 guard, who plays like he is a foot taller, will join the varsity. The schedule includes the likes of Texas, Miami of Ohio, Southern California, Miami (Fla.), Jacksonville, Georgia Tech and North Carolina. To order your season tickets stop by the Athletic Ticket Office in Tully Gym or mail the coupon.

SPORTSMANSHIP

STUDENTS, SPECTATORS!

Make Sportsmanship a Part of Your Game Equipment

NOISE is a serious problem at many intercollegiate football games, and on some occasions in the past has prevented the Quarterback's signals from being heard. Such a situation may be interpreted as "interference" with the conduct of the game, and penalized. We seek your assistance in preventing excessive noise, which could cause a penalty against your team. Should unusual noise develop, the referee will call "Time-Out" and instruct the Defensive Captain to request QUIET, which he will do by moving toward the noise area with both arms and hands raised. If necessary, the Offensive Captain will make the same request on the opposite side of the field. We shall appreciate your respect for Sportsmanship in remaining quiet at this time.

In all games the Referee is authorized to inflict a penalty based on noise developments. Please cooperate. Don't help to draw a penalty against your team.

Get a status symbol that carries some weight.

The time is past when people thought of a truck as strictly a workhorse.

In fact, Chevy pickups are being used for so many personal and leisure time activities that they've become a kind of symbol for a new life-style.

It's easy to see why.

Our pickups combine the luxury and utility today's on-the-go generation wants. You can order such conveniences as an automatic transmission, power steering and power brakes.

Even air conditioning, bucket seats and carpeting.

And with it all you get the practicality of a "trunk" up to 8½ feet long. Try that out for size on your next shopping trip. Or vacation trip. Or football outing.

The man to see is your Chevrolet dealer. He'll show you more reasons why Chevy pickups are so popular.

Putting you first, keeps us first.
