Tallahassee welcomes one of college football's legendary programs

By Rob Wilson Sports Information Director

Fight On for ol' SC Our men Fight On to victory...

he words to Southern California's fight song are among the most familiar and stirring in all of college football. While our own Renegade and Chief Osceola perhaps ride highest among currently recognized symbols, to folks on the West Coast the image of Traveler, a snow white Andalusian gelding, with a Trojan rider means USC football. By the way, the original Traveler and rider appeared in 1961 with the Trojan wearing the outfit and helmet that Charlton Heston wore in the movie "Ben Hur."

Anyway, the point is we welcome one great opponent to Doak S. Campbell Stadium today. And they should be cheered.

First of all because it shows the true sportsmanship that the college game was founded on, but in this specific case because they agreed to play Florida State, in Tallahassee, in September!

One of the most appalling events, or non-events as it were, that I have seen over the years in being in and around Florida State athletics is the fact that we could not find a team willing to play the Seminoles to start this season in what would have been the Pigskin Classic in Jacksonville. Actually, I should not just limit it to an FSU effort it was a combined effort by the Gator Bowl, ABC Television and the Pigskin folks, all of whom had the proverbial door slammed in their face.

Fortunately, Bobby Bowden and his Florida State program still have the guts and gusto (and, I would suggest, a keen sense of the value of promotion) that allowed us to shift our opener to a game. against Texas A&M in New Jersey. However (more shock and disbelief), that spot was open only because A&M, the Meadowlands, the Kickoff Classic and ABC could not find anyone willing to stick their neck out to play a potentially great Aggie team.

What has happened to the college game? What has happened to the attitude of playing someone "anytime, anywhere?" What has happened to the idea of a coach standing in front of a severely underdog team and imploring them to battle all the odds, battle the opposing fans, the oppos- we have never backed down from a chaling team, the opposing city and win one for good old (fill in the blank)? In other words, what happened to the spirit of fearless drive that sent our Seminoles on the road against LSU for five straight years, and Ohio State, and Notre Dame, and Michigan, and on and on? Where would our program be had we not agreed to travel to Lincoln, Neb., to be what they hoped were nothing more than garnet and gold tackling dummies in 1980? Where would we be had Paul Piurowski not shed an All-American Cornhusker offensive tackle, who was roughly the same size as the bus in which the Seminoles rode to the stadium, and hammered their quarterback sending a historic fumble to the turf? Where would we be had we not taken on and trampled Art Schlichter and his Buckeyes, Dan Marino and his Panthers, Vinnie Testayerde and his Hurricanes, Bo Jackson and his Tigers, or Desmond Howard and his Wolverines?

My guess is we would be sitting back with most of college football and trying to figure the easiest way to get through a football season with enough wins to keep everyone happy. Some schools have dropped traditional rivals in an effort to ensure hosting enough home games to allegedly keep their boosters coming back. The fact that lenge is what sets us apart from most of the rest — it is what makes us deserving of the name Seminoles.

Today we face an opponent who stands at the very top of the college football world. Look out on that field and pinch yourself — that's USC out their on our turf and we should be happy that they have the guts to be here for ol' SC is one of the very schools who could be shrinking back into the world of non-conference scheduling that features glorified high schools as opponents. They do not and never have. Notre Dame is on their schedule every year and the Trojans have upcoming dates with Colorado and Oklahoma over the next few years.

So, let's hear it for SC — they deserve it. And while we are on the subject of college football, tradition and traveling to big games, USC brings with them a most impressive fan. He is sitting today in our President's Box as our guest. His name is Giles Pellerin and the last time he missed a USC game was the Trojans' 12-0 win over St. Mary's in 1925!

Known as USC's "Super Fan" the 91-yearold retired phone company executive from Pasadena, Calif., has viewed in person 789 consecutive USC football games, home and away. In all, he has traveled by plane, train and automobile more than 650,000 miles and spent upwards of $85,000 doing so.

"I never played the game, but I love it," he tells USC fans in their media guide. "There's just a certain spirit about college football. I've always said that going to USC games is the thing that has kept me alive, young and happy. It keeps me alive and looking forward to next season."

Pellerin's streak began at the start of the 1926 season, his sophomore year at USC. The Trojans whipped Whittier 74-0 in that game, and since then, USC has compiled a 528-221-40 record over the "Pellerin era." He has seen all 69 USC-Notre Dame games and has visited more than 75 different stadiums and more than 50 cities including Tokyo. He has seen eight national championship teams, four Heisman Trophy winners and outlasted 11 Trojan head coaches.

So dedicated is Pellerin that he pushed back his honeymoon eight months so that he could celebrate it at a 1935 USC game in Hawaii. And his love for USC is so strong that he has donated $1.3 million to endow three football scholarships and a swimming scholarship.

Here's to our Seminoles, the Trojans, Giles Pellerin and the true spirit of college football!

USC super fan Giles Pellerin is attending his 790th consecutive Trojans football game today.

Note: We are looking for our own "Super Fans." If you know of any Seminole fans with impressive game attendance streaks we would like to know about it. Write me at P.O. Box 2195, Tallahassee FL 32316 and tell me about our Giles Pellerins.

Q&A WITH MYRON JACKSON

Senior tight end Myron Jackson has bided his time while backing up All-ACC performer Melvin Pearsall the last three seasons. Jackson's time is here and he sat down to talk about it with Jeff Purinton of the Florida State sports information office.

How does it feel to take over as the starter at tight end after waiting for your time to come?

Now, I have to prepare differently. I have to keep my head in the meetings and in the way I watch films more carefully. When I took over as the starter, I was ready for it and not really nervous. All those years waiting in the wings helped me get prepared mentally. When you are on the sidelines during games, you are thinking of what you would do if you were on the field in certain situations and that helps out when you get the call.

What did you learn from backing up Melvin Pearsall, an All-ACC selection at tight end?

Melvin and I have two different styles. He was more of a finesse player and was quicker than me, where I am a little bit stronger. He was better in space and I do more blocking. I did learn one of the most important keys to playing tight end — staying low while blocking. The other big thing I learned from him was route running — how to slip by defenders and how to get open in zone and also man coverage.

Do you feel like you have a responsibility as a senior on offense to take the younger guys under your wings?

You are thrown into it, you don't just take it over. The coaches put it in front of you and if you don't want that leadership role someone else will take it. Because we don't have that many seniors, we have to assume that role. Now, people look to me a little more, being the only senior on the offensive line. If we have a penalty or a bad play, I try to make sure everybody's head is in the game and I take it on myself to let those are the ones you want the most. them know that.

How would you describe your role as a tight end in the Florida State offense?

Right now it's more of a blocking tight end and we don't run that many routes.

Mainly our job is to clear out for the wide receivers. As the season goes on and people start to take away the outside receivers, we will get more of an opportunity to catch passes.

champion player, so this team any indivision of in the bound of the

What has it been like to play for a college football legend like Coach Bowden?

Sometimes it seems intimidating because he is such a large figurehead and he is so well-known across the country. It may seem hard to talk to him when you get here at first, but after a while, you see he is very easy to approach and easy to get along with. He is a really down-to-earth guy. He is definitely one of the main reasons I came to Florida State. It was special when he came to my house to visit because he doesn't go to everyone else's home. My parents wanted to make sure they were sending me to the right place.

What are your plans after leaving Florida State?

I would like to try my hand at the NFL and if that doesn't work out I might come back and get my master's degree in sports management or marketing. I will graduate with a degree in sports management this December and I would like to work somewhere in sports even though I hear the pay isn't that good (laughing).

What has been your most memorable experience here?

I think that will be when I graduate. There are a couple games I won't ever forget like the comeback in 1994 against Florida and the loss at Virginia because we should have won that one. Both games in '96 (vs. UF) when we beat them here and then lost in the Sugar Bowl for the national title. Really, any game against Florida is memorable because

What would be your dream ending to your senior season?

To finish strong and stay in the national championship race. I'm not a marquee player, so I want to do what I can to help this team win. That is more important than any individual accomplishments. I'm kind of in the background doing what I'm called on to do.

What is something the fans might not know about Myron Jackson?

My name (laughing).

How would you describe yourself?

I'm kind of a quiet person and I think to myself a lot. I expect to do the best I possibly can and work hard at whatever it is I am doing.

Drink One For The Chief.

100% Pure Florida Orange Juice.

Seminoles really go on the warpath to spear 100% pure Florida orange juice. It's delicious, refreshing and packed with important vitamins and minerals like Vitamin C, potassium and folic acid. With all this great taste and nutrition in every glass, it's no wonder Florida orange juice is the one juice that makes you feel so good.

And make sure the Florida Sunshine Tree is on all the orange juice you buy. It's your assurance of the best tasting, best quality orange juice available in the world.

So drink a toast to the Chief today with a big glass of Florida orange juice.

Q&A WITH TROY SAUNDERS

S enior cornerback Troy Saunders was recruited to Florida State out of Miami Springs High School just six weeks after the Seminoles won the 1993 national championship with a win over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Chris Walker of the Florida State sports information staff sat down with Saunders to talk about his time at Florida State.

Why did you decide to come to Florida State?

I wanted to come to an established program, one that was accustomed to winning. I was honored that Florida State was interested in me in high school. I wanted to stay in the state of Florida and be close to my family and FSU offered all of that and a good education. I was a Miami fan growing up down there but it came down to Florida State and Florida. I felt very comfortable around the players and coaches on my recruiting visit, plus FSU has a great tradition of defensive backs.

What is something that Florida State fans might not know about you?

I am a very easy going guy. People might have a stereotype of football players that they are intense. I am on the field, but not off it. I am calm, quiet and very friendly.

What does it feel like when you run out of the tunnel at home games and hear 80,000 fans cheering you on?

It is a great feeling to come out of the locker room when all the fans are going crazy. It makes you feel like you are on top of the world and can do anything. It gets you hyped up. The fans are a very important part of our program and our success.

What has been the greatest thing you have accomplished in your life?

So far I think it was graduating from high school, but that will change in the spring. I am expecting to get my bachelor's degree then, so that will be my biggest accomplishment. I am also very proud that I was able to get a scholarship to Florida State.

Who has had the greatest impact on your life?

Senior Troy Saunders will miss wearing the Garnet and Gold when his FSU career ends.

My dad has had the greatest impact on my life. I moved in with him when I started 10th grade and he has been very influential on my development. He has taught me how to be a man and how to treat people and respect people.

How would you describe Coach Bowden?

He is a great coach but an even greater man. It might be hard for people to believe this but everything that people say and hear about him is true. He is such a down-to-earth person and so genuine, which could be very difficult to be with all the success he has had.

How would you describe Coach Andrews?

Intense, extreme and unpredictable (laughing). He knows what he is doing as far as coaching and expects us to get the job done. He is one of the best in his profession and has developed some great defensive backs.

What has been the most memorable moment in your career at FSU?

It has to be during the 1996 season when we went down to Miami and beat them in the Orange Bowl (34-16). It was great to win down there because we had not won against them in Miami since 1984. I had an interception early in the game that led to our first score and I made a couple of other big plays. It is always good to go back home and win.

What will you miss most when you are done playing at Florida State next year?

I will miss putting on the Garnet and the Gold. It has really meant a lot to me. I will also miss all of our fans. But as they say, all good things must come to an end.

What will you miss least?

(Laughing) Practice and two-adays.

What do you want to do when your football career ends?

I hope to get a chance to play in the NFL. I know that football won't last forever, though. I just want to continue to be a role model and have a positive impact on young people. I want to coach little league teams, help troubled kids, help out at Boys and Girls Clubs. I would get a lot of satisfaction out of that. As long as I am happy, well you can't have anything better than that.

Can this team bounce back from the loss to NC State and still contend for the national championship?

I think we can. We need to stay focused on each week's game and play up to our potential. We still have two months of the season to go so a lot can happen above us (in the polls). We lost in November in 1993 and came back and won the national championship and Florida lost its final regular season game but still won the title in 1996. A lot can happen. We just need to take care of our business and hopefully things will go our way.

GAME NOTES

Compiled by the FSU Sports Information Staff

SERIES NOTES

Florida State and Southern California are meeting for just the second time on the football field. Last year's 14-7 FSU win in the Los Angeles Coliseum was the first game between the two storied programs. Interestingly enough, the Seminole and Trojan basketball and baseball programs have both met in NCAA postseason competition during the 1990s. The Florida State hoops program beat USC 75-72 in the NCAA Tournament's first round in 1991. The Trojan baseball team returned the favor by eliminating the Seminoles from the 1995 College World Series with a 16-11 win.

A RESOUNDING WIN

Last Saturday's 62-13 Florida State win over Duke in the 1998 home opener was head coach Bobby Bowden's 21st in 23 home openers since arriving in Tallahassee in 1976. The 49-point margin of victory was the fourth largest in an FSU home opener for Bowden but just the third largest in the last six seasons. The Seminoles routed NC State 77-17 in 1995 and beat Clemson 57-0 in 1993. The third biggest home opening win in school history came in 1980 when the Tribe ripped Louisville 52-0.

BILLY ON THE MOVE ... AGAIN

For the third time in the last 12 months, senior Billy Rhodes is playing a new position. Rhodes was switched from fullback to defensive tackle in the days leading up to FSU's home-opening win over Duke. Rhodes originally played noseguard when he came to Florida State. He was moved to offensive guard midway through the 1997 season and to fullback during spring drills. The Seminoles coaching staff moved Rhodes back to defense last week due to injuries along the defensive front and the return of William McCray at fullback.

BACK IN THE TOP 10

Florida State's time outside the Associated Press top 10 was short-lived. The Seminoles moved back in this week and are ranked No. 10. FSU has been in the poll's top 10 in 60 of its last 61 rankings. The Seminoles have been out of the top 10 just seven times during the 1990s.

Sophomore Sebastian Janikowski is 5 of 6 on field goals this season and 10 of his 19 kickoffs have resulted in touchbacks.

NO SOPHOMORE SLUMP

Florida State place-kicker Sebastian Janikowski had a phenomenal freshman campaign last season and is showing no signs of slowing down. The native of Poland hit all eight of his point after attempts against Duke and connected on two of three field goals. His field goals came from 35 and 40 yards out. His miss was a 52-yarder that had plenty of distance but was just wide to the right. Five of his kickoffs against the Blue Devils went for touchbacks.

'Noles Riding 35-Game Unbeaten Streak in Doak

Florida State enters this afternoon's contest with a 35-game unbeaten streak in Doak Campbell Stadium. The Seminoles' last loss at home came on Nov. 16, 1991, when a Gerry Thomas 34-yard field goal sailed wide right in the final minute of Miami's 17-16 victory over the Tribe. FSU went on to win 16 straight games in Campbell Stadium before rallying for 28 points in the fourth quarter of a 31-31 tie with Florida on Nov. 26, 1994. Since that game, the Seminoles have won 18 consecutive home games. The streak trails only Nebraska as the longest in the nation.

Renegade's 20th Anniversary

Florida State symbols Chief Osceola and Renegade are celebrating their 20th anniversary in 1998. Six former riders will participate in the celebration by playing the part of Chief Osceola for a game. Today's rider is Greg Erecson of Miami.

OFFENSIVE LINE SHOWS DEPTH

After playing just five offensive linemen in its first two games, Florida State used nine in the first half of last Saturday's win over Duke. FSU's 1998 offensive line was considered its deepest in years entering the season but only starters Eric Thomas (center), Jerry Carmichael and Jason Whitaker (guards) and Ross Brannon and Tarlos Thomas (tackles) had played a down from scrimmage in the first two contests. Jarad Moon (center), Otis Duhart (tackle), and Justin Amman and Donald Heaven (guards) all saw their first action from scrimmage in the Duke game.

No TO's

After committing six turnovers in its loss to North Carolina State, Florida State did not turn the ball over against Duke. It marked the first time in nine games that the Seminoles had gone turnover free. The last time FSU was without a miscue was in its 38-0 win over Georgia Tech last year.

KEY, GIBSON NOTCH FIRST OSKIES

Florida State's duo at rover — junior Scan Key and sophomore Derrick Gibson — each notched their first career interceptions against Duke last week. Mario Edwards, who started at cornerback for the first time this season against Duke, had his first career pick two weeks ago at NC State.

COLES TAKES IT BACK

Junior Laveranues Coles got Florida State's stagnant kickoff return game going against Duke. After a Duke field goal tied the game in the second quarter, Coles took the ensuing kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown. It was FSU's first kickoff return for a score since Nov. 14, 1992, when Shannon Baker went 90 yards for a TD against Tulane. Coles' 97-yarder is now tied for the fourth longest kickoff return in Florida State history.

CHANEY STARS VERSUS DUKE

Sophomore Jeff Chaney had an outstanding all-around game last week against Duke. Chaney, who played rover last season and was switched to tailback during spring drills, saw his first action at that position against the Blue Devils. He made the most of it as he ran for 88 yards on just 10 carries and scored a pair of touchdowns on runs of two and six yards. Chaney's success wasn't limited to just offense. He recovered a fumble on kickoff coverage that set up another FSU touchdown.

WARRICK, FEASTER MAKING IT HAPPEN

Florida State has not yet returned a punt for a touchdown this season but it won't be long if Dee Feaster and Peter Warrick continue to play like they have through the first three games. The duo, who have split time returning punts to this point in the season, is each averaging at least 20 yards per punt return. Warrick has returned five for 107 yards for a 21.4-yard average while Feaster is averaging 20.0 yards on six returns.

Warrick Moves Into Top 10 on TD Catches List

Junior Peter Warrick had a pair of touchdown catches against Duke last week and now has 16 in his career. That figure leaves him tied for ninth in school history. He needs six more to move into fifth place and is 13 behind FSU career leader E.G. Green.

Chief Osceola and Renegade, are celebrating their 20th anniversary during the 1998 season.

FLORIDA STATE FLASHBACK

FSU vs. Pitt in 1980 marked the first national power to visit Doak Campbell Stadium

By Chris Walker Assistant Sports Information Director

All Florida State football fans know that Bobby Bowden built the Seminole program by taking on any and all comers "anytime, anyplace, anywhere." Bowden earned the moniker "King of the Road" by taking his troops into Lincoln and beating the Cornhuskers, Columbus and toppling the Buckeyes and South Bend and stopping the Fighting Irish.

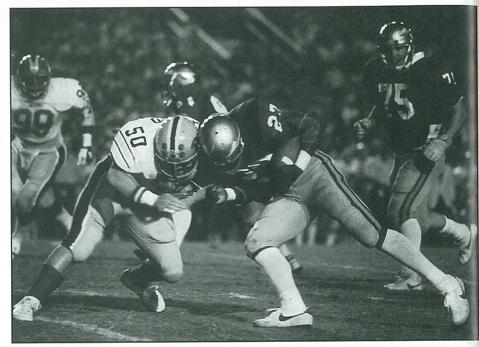

Those games and others like them gave the Florida State football program credibility and turned heads across the country. It also gave notice the Seminoles were a rising power. The down side was that the Tribe had to go on the road for most of its big national games. Return games in Tallahassee rarely, if ever, occurred.

It could be argued that today's game against Southern California is just the second time a major national power has ever ventured into Tallahassee and Doak Campbell Stadium. Sure, Miami in the 1980s was a national power, but the Hurricanes were also a long-time state rival. Florida State's tangles with Florida during this decade have taken on national significance but again the Gators are a state foe. Auburn, Clemson and Louisiana State also came to Campbell Stadium, but those are regional rivalries.

If today's FSU-USC matchup is the second intersectional game of national importance that has taken place in Doak Campbell Stadium, the first would have to have taken place 18 years ago when the Pittsburgh Panthers came to Tallahassee to face Bowden and his Seminoles.

Pitt had won the national championship just four seasons earlier, in 1976, and also boasted that year's Heisman Trophy winner in tailback Tony Dorsett. The Panthers were coming off an 11-1 campaign in 1979 that saw them win their final 10 games and finish seventh in the final Associated Press poll. Their 1980 edition featured sophomore quarterback Dan Marino, now in his 16th season as the Miami Dolphins starting quarterback, junior defensive end Hugh Green, who finished second in the 1981 Heisman Trophy balloting, as well as two other future NFL All-Pros (offensive lineman Mark May and linebacker Ricky Jackson).

The Seminoles, meanwhile, were on a roll of their own but were still considered just a college football upstart. Florida State went 11-1 in 1979, Bowden's fourth season in Tallahassee and just the school's 33rd playing the game.

FSU opened that 1979 season with back-to-back shutouts against LSU and Louis-ville, then routed East Carolina 63-7 to run its regular-season winning streak to 18 games. That streak was snapped the next week as the Seminoles were edged at Miami, 10-9, when the Tribe went for two after a late touchdown but did not convert.

It looked like the losing streak would hit two straight the next week when Florida State, ranked 16th, traveled to Lincoln, Neb., to challenge third-ranked Nebraska and fell behind 14-0 early on. FSU rallied for a landmark 18-14 victory that set up the following week's showdown with Pitt.

For the second consecutive week, the Seminoles, then ranked 11th, would take on the nation's third-ranked team. For the second consecutive week, the result would be the same.

Pitt jumped to an early 7-0 lead when Marino hit for a 39-yard touchdown pass to Dwight Collins. But the Seminoles then struck for 23 consecutive points and led 23-7 at intermission. Quarterback Rick Stockstill ignited the rally with touchdown passes of 23 yards to Hardis Johnson and four yards to Sam Childers. Bill Capece added field goals from 24, 43 and 50 yards out.

The Panthers closed to within seven points at 29-22 when three periods were complete as Marino hit Collins for another score, this time from 36 yards.

But Capece added two more field goals, making it five for the game and FSU put the game away in the fourth quarter when Stockstill hit Kurt Unglaub with a 13-yard TD pass and the Seminoles won 36-22. The Seminoles went on to a 10-2 season and a No. 5 national ranking at season's end.

The victory over Pitt was one of Florida State's biggest ever at the time and still ranks that way. Although the Seminoles had trouble getting opponents with national reputations to come to Tallahassee in Bowden's early years, that is not the case anymore. The Southern California game today marks the beginning of a great stretch of national opponents coming to town. Florida State has a home-and-home series set with Notre Dame in 2002 and 2003 with the Fighting Irish to play in Campbell Stadium in 2002. Texas A&M will visit in 2006 on the back end of a home-and-home.

So when watching today's game in the 80,000-seat setting that is Campbell Stadium now, give thought to when FSU played host to Pitt in the 51,094-seat Doak and how far Bowden has brought this program.

Men's Golf Preview

Youth is served in 1998-99

By Craig O'Halloran Sports Information Student Assistant

he 1998-99 Florida State men's golf team is one of the youngest squads in head coach Ernie Lanford's eight years at FSU. Featuring only three seniors and a bevy of underclassmen, Lanford will rely on a very inexperienced lineup in the fall. This year's team will continue to improve with tournament experience and should remain one of the premier golf programs in the country.

Although the Seminoles are young and inexperienced, the goal remains the same. The Tribe will try to qualify for the NCAA regionals for the second straight year and for the fourth time in the last five years. A trip to the NCAA Championships and an ACC title remain the most important goals for any Seminole program.

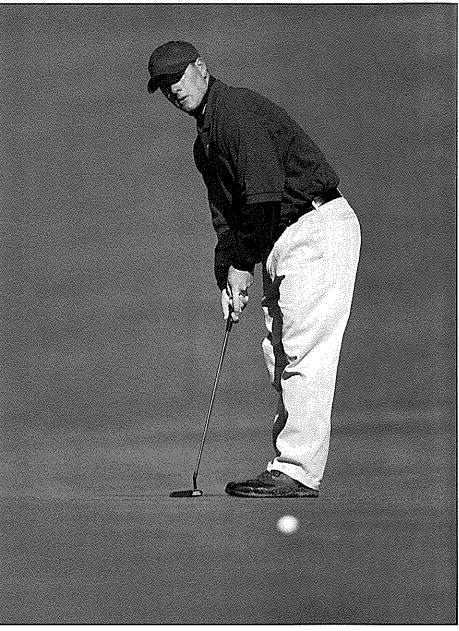

The Seminoles have to replace George McNeill, an All-ACC performer, Jason Pool, Barry Dyche and Mark Monroe from a team that qualified for the NCAA East Regional last year. Monroe was notified in August that his eligibility had been used up and that he could no longer participate in collegiate golf. Junior Nathan Bertsch and the above-mentioned individuals captured one team title last year. McNeill also notched his first and only individual championship at the Tennessee Tournament of Champions.

The top returning player for the Seminoles is Bertsch. A junior from Gulf Breeze, Fla., Bertsch is the only player returning with significant tournament experience. Bertsch has played in 17 events in his two years at FSU, recording three top 10 finishes and a composite stroke average of 78.7.

Ryan Felty enters his junior season after playing in three tournaments as a freshman and two tournaments last year. Felty led all Seminoles at the Bridges All-American, finishing tied for seventh with a tworound total of 144.

Senior Craig Cochran will play an important part in the success of this year's team. Having waited his turn behind McNeill, Cochran is one of three seniors on this year's roster. Cochran started three times as a sophomore and played in one event last year as a junior.

One of the most impressive young players for the Seminoles is sophomore Kris Hannah. A Tallahassee native, Hannah has only played in one tournament as a Seminole, but will be an integral member of this year's team. Hannah finished tied for 44th at the Keswick Club Cavalier Classic in his only start as a collegian.

A bevy of underclassmen with no tournament experience adorn this Seminole roster. Matt Ackley has been impressive in early season practice and will look to crack the lineup in the fall season. Mark Donaldson, a sophomore from Scotland, is an experienced amateur player who is looking to adjust to collegiate golf. Kevin Zuelch and Brian Hawver will also look to contribute in the fall season.

The schedule will be similar to the last three years. The Seminoles will once again host the Seminole Classic at Golden Eagle Country Club. The ACC Championships: will be one of the premier conference tournaments in the nation and the Seminoles hope to improve on their seventh-place finish from a year ago.

WOMEN'S GOLF PREVIEW

Big things expected this year

By Craig O'Halloran Sports Information Student Assistant

n the world of collegiate golf, lalent breeds success, but experience wins championships. This year's Lady Seminole team not only has the talent to be successful, but the experience necessary to be one of the best teams in Florida State history. Complete with a potential All-American and a top five that has played in a total of 100 collegiate events, this year's team has set lofty goals for the 1998-99 season.

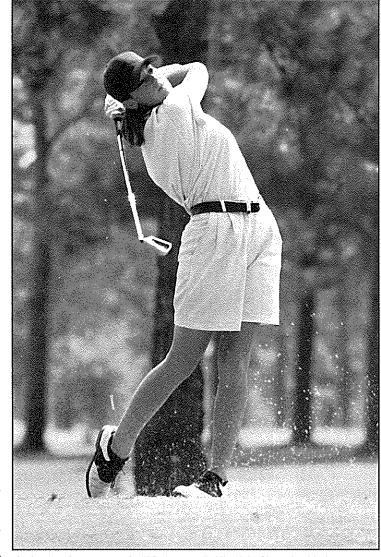

The Lady Seminoles return their top five golfers from last year's squad that recorded four top five team finishes and one individual tournament victory. Hoping to improve on a seasonbest third-place tie at the Lady Seminole Invitational last year, the Tribe will set their sights on visiting the victory podium on more than one occasion.

The goals continue to be the same for the Florida State women's golf program. The senior-laden team will set out to qualify for regional play and a trip to the NCAA Championships. The road will be as difficult, if not more difficult, than last year, considering that several of the top teams in the country play in FSU's district.

only one senior, this year's team will have four. Amy Bond, Amy Spooner season honors again this year. and Sarah Capie return for their fourth and final season at FSU, while Erika Iding will be playing in her third year with the Lady Seminoles. Sophomore Louise Wright will round out a top five lineup after playing as a true freshman.

The Lady Seminoles' top player entering the fall season is Bond. A native of Ocala, Fla., Bond has played in 29 events in her career and captured her first tournament victory last year at the Ryder-Florida State Championships. Bond led all Lady Seminoles last year with a stroke average of 76.7 and was selected as a member of the All-ACC team. She will contend for post-

While last year's team featured Senior Amy Spooner won the U.S. Amateur Public Links Championship last summer.

The bright spot of the summer for the Seminole golf program was Spooner. The Margate, Fla., native captured the U.S. Women's Amateur Public Links Championship in Hawaii in June. Spooner, a threeyear player for the Lady Seminoles, has one top 10 finish in her career, while recording three top 20 finishes last year.

Iding enters her final year at Florida State after four top 20 finishes in eight events last year. She was third on the team last year in stroke average at 78.0 and will be an integral member of this year's team.

Capie, a native of Carterville, Ill., has played in 22 events as a Lady Seminole and has compiled a career stroke average of 77.7. A two-time Academic All-American, she is also a three-time member of the ACC Honor Roll

The biggest surprise of 1997-98 was the emergence of Wright, a native of Suffolk, England. She came to FSU after a heralded amateur career, but wasn't expected to make the immediate impact as a freshman that she did. Wright played in all five events last spring, while finishing tied for 33rd at the Lady Gator Invitational and the Lady Gamecock Classic.

Several young players will contend for playing time as the season goes on. The best candidate after summer workouts is freshman Alison Zimmer of Tallahassee. Very experienced in amateur play, Zimmer will provide depth and is a player of the future for the Seminole golf program. Junior Laura Kowalski and sophomore Stacy Burgin have played collegiate events and will continue to push the top five. Freshmen Kelley Winship and Kristen Sanborn round out a roster that is talented from top to bottom.

The schedule will feature several important tournaments for district rankings and includes some of the top teams in the country. The Lady Seminoles will again travel to several tournaments in the Southeast as well as going to the Dominican Republic for a tournament. The season rounds out with the ACC Championships and, hopefully, a trip to the NCAA regionals after a one-year hiatus.

This year's version of the Lady Seminole golf team has the talent and experience to remain at the top of the collegiate golf world. With high expectations and lofty goals, this season should be one of the most exciting yet for Florida State University.

30TH ANNIVERSARY OF WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Florida State University 1968 • 1998

While women's athletics has held a rich tradition in Tallahassee since the early 1900s when Florida State was known as the Florida State College for Women, the 1998 season marks the 30th Anniversary for a continuous women's athletics program at FSU.

We will celebrate some of the wonderful events of the past 30 years, chronologically, in each issue of this season's Tribe Magazine.

Volleyball's Gabrielle Reece returned to Tallahassee in July to unveil the 30th anniversary logo.

The Florida State women's swimming program has produced numerous All-Americans throughout the years. In 1976, Laura Barber became the first Lady Seminole swimmer to attain such status.

Swimming success at Florida State continued in the early 1980s with the accomplishments of two of the most decorated Lady Seminole swimmers. Sharon Spuler (left) earned 11 All-American honors and Lenore Gribble (right) garnered 10 All-American awards throughout Perhaps the most successful of all women's sports at Florida State University, the softball program under the direction of Dr. JoAnne Graf, continues to achieve greatness each year.

The program proclaimed national prominence early on with back-to-back AIAW Slowpitch National Championships in 1981 and 1982. Two-time All-American Darby Cottle, who was inducted into the Florida State Athletics Hall of Fame in 1988, was named the slowpitch National Player of the Year in 1982.

Lady Seminole golf burst into the national spotlight as head coach Verlyn Giles led Florida State to the 1981 AIAW National Collegiate Golf Championship title. Jane Geddes, Lisa Walters and Collegn Walker were among the Lady Seminoles who led FSU to a first-place finish in the competition, which was held in Athens, Ga., and included 40 participating teams from around the nation.

Representative Herbert F. Morgan, a Florida State graduate, was honored by the Florida Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women for his support of women's athletics during the 1979 Legislature. Presenting Morgan's plaque was then-FSU Women's Athletics Director Barbara Palmer.

Men's Cross Country Preview

Seminoles' outlook is on the way up in the ACC

By Jeff Purinton FSU Sports Information Graduate Assistant

lorida State cross country head coach Scott Irving will open the 1998 season with one of his most talented teams in recent years. Senior Aaron Scheer returns as the top runner for the Seminoles and joins Michael Maier as the team's cocaptains. Irving has also added depth with several young freshmen with an increased emphasis on recruiting.

"I made a conscious decision to recruit solely for men's distance and get away from the various responsibilities I had throughout the track and field program," said Irving. "As a result, of our top 16 runners on the men's side, 10 are true or redshirt freshmen with four of those in the top eight. So you will see a significant change.'

Scheer, who transferred to Florida State from Nebraska a year ago, immediately took over as the team's No. 1 runner in his junior season. Scheer earned NCAA All-District III honors and recorded his first sub-25 minute 8K in a 10th-place finish at the Oregon Invitational in 1997.

"With the return of Scheer, who showed improvement through the track season, we have a solid number one to build from," said Irving. "He showed incredible range last year on the track by running incredible times in both the 1.500-meter, 3K and 5K."

On Scheer's heels will be senior Maier. who came to Tallahassee from Germany last year. Maier could have a breakthrough year and should make an impact in conference competition.

"Maier is improved," said Irving. "He looks like he lost some weight. He had a good summer training in Germany and is excited to prove to himself and everyone else that he can run here and in the ACC. Even though he was a transfer from Germany a year ago, it was still somewhat of a freshman year for him. He had to get acclimated to the U.S. and adjust to some of the cultural changes. So he and Scheer obviously form the leading core of the group."

Running third and fourth in the preseason time trial were Brandon Spears and Brian Fleischmann. Spears came to FSU via Troy State and brings immediate experience to the team. Fleischmann, a former swimmer, is an accomplished triathlete and was the top American finisher at the World Junior Triathlon Championships at the end of the summer.

"The next two runners after Scheer and Maier are kind of a surprise," said Irving. "Spears ran decently in the time trial and has become our number three runner. Last year. Don Gibb (FSU's head swimming coach) mentioned to me that he had a young man that might be able to help us. He came out in the trials, the first time I ever saw him run, and ended up fourth. Both of them look like they can run in the 25:30 8K range."

The next group of runners consists of three true freshmen who are a direct result of Irving's increased dedication to recruiting. David Stuart, Jorge Rivera and Tommy Kunish finished fifth through seventh in the time trial and could push the front leaders as they gain experience.

"Those three freshmen came in and showed that they had a lot of heart," said Irving. "They have a chance to be very good before they leave here if they continue to work hard and dedicate themselves to a talented host of young runners in the cross country."

Other runners who have a chance to add their names to the mix are Josh Ware, Matt Umholtz and Zach Heissner. Ware is a sophomore who contributed last year while Umholtz and Heissner are two more impressive freshmen on Irving's relatively young squad.

"We have a lot better depth this year than we've had in the past," said Irving. "There is a lot more competition to the front end and I think that is going to make a big difference in terms of the way this team improves as the season progresses. At the time trial, every record was broken. I can project the times somewhat and we will have more people running in the 26s than we've ever had and we will have a better 'B' team than we've ever had."

Irving thinks this team has a chance to be as good or better than the 1996 men's team that had one of the more successful seasons in his tenure.

"This is a better group now than when we beat Florida two years ago in Gainesville," said Irving. "That's significant because this is such a young team."

The increase in quality runners and the competition that comes along with it is something Irving has been trying to establish at Florida State. With Scheer and Maier penciled in at the top two spots and wings, a solid distance nucleus has now been established.

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY PREVIEW

Young Lady Seminoles hope to surprise

By Jeff Purinton FSU Sports Information Graduate Assistant

he 1998 Lady Seminole cross country team should be improved as they return four of their top five runners from a year ago. A young team in 1997, the projected top five this season includes four sophomores and a junior. Sophomore Cynthia Campbell will set the pace at No. 1 after adjusting to collegiate cross country in her first season at FSU.

"Campbell came back very fit after the summer and did very well in the time trial," head coach Scott Irving said. "She started to run well at the end of last year with a ninth-place finish in the ACC 5K at 18:18. I think she can run low 18s or high 17s this year and I think you will see significant improvement with her. We really need to have five runners like that to challenge the front and move the times down. She is the one runner who has a legitimate shot to make it to NCAAs in terms of what she showed last year."

Right behind Campbell will be junior Diana Hartnup and sophomores Natalie Reid and Mary Gaskins. Hartnup and Campbell were named team captains by Irving at the conclusion of preseason workouts.

"I wish I could say that we have more depth like we do on the men's side, but that is not the case," Irving said. "We've got four very good athletes in Cynthia Campbell, Natalie Reid, Diana Hartnup and Mary Gaskins. All return with experience. I think all four will run 18:30 or faster and Diana ran in the 18s last year. We need a fifth person to contribute and we need to stay healthy."

The leading candidate to come in and take over at the fifth scoring position is Kingsley Broughton. The sophomore had a solid track season and ran 19:04 in the 5K last year at an outdoor meet. She will be called on to carry that over to cross country.

"Is that enough bodies running fast enough?" asks Irving. "Not really because, unfortunately, you may lose someone during the season. So, what we have to do is recruit like we did this year for the men."

In order to help improve the women's recruiting efforts, Paul Spangler has been added to the distance staff this year. Spangler will handle the women's distance recruiting and has already started the long process of identifying potential signees across the country.

"One of our top additions is Paul Spangler," said Irving. "He came out of high school with moderate credentials, nothing great, and knows what it takes to get to higher levels. He was the 10th runner at Alabama as a freshman and by the time he was a senior at the NCAAs, he had moved up to No. 2. So that shows a lot of heart and a lot of improvement over time."

In order to advance in the ACC standings, the women must add a class of solid recruits to the established core of sophomores already on board at Florida State.

"It has to be a goal with Coach Spangler to bring in athletes who can handle the longer-end running," said Irving. "But as these people improve in cross country, it is going to help us a great deal in track. We have a couple freshmen on the women's side that I am excited about that could do something, but that remains to be seen. Kim Winn out of Florida High is a hard worker that could eventually push the top five."

If Campbell, Hartnup, Gaskins and Reid continue their improvement throughout the season, the Lady Seminoles could be a surprise in dual meets and conference action. The key will be staying away from injuries and bringing the second group of runners closer to the top four.

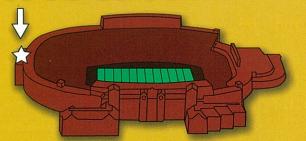

Florida State's women's cross country team has a youthful look in 1998.

Over 35 years ago, the folks at Chick-fil-A® invented the original reason to eat more chicken. Namely, the world's first chicken sandwich. Ever since then, they've been responsible for one tasty chicken creation after another. And because chicken's the healthier choice, one thing's for sure, you'll have no beef with us.

Better Coverages!

Over the years, thousands of RVers have chosen us to protect their rigs for recreation and full time use as they travel across the country on vacation and as a way of life.

Gilbert RV Insurance offers you coverage far superior to your typical insurance providers by protecting your personal property, adding emergency expense money, vacation (campsite) liability and towing/roadside coverage as standard features in addition to your typical auto type coverages.

This year we are announcing new coverages for Full-timers. We can now add coverage for jewelry, mini-storage, and golf carts directly into your Full-timer policy. We now have liability limits up to two million dollars.

Gilbert RV Insurance continues to meet the needs of RV owners throughout the United States by providing superior service, and RV insurance coverages designed specifically for your needs.

Gilbert RV Insurance, Inc. is underwritten by 5 insurance companies that have earned a financial rating of A or better from the prestigious A.M. Best insurance industry rating service.
