Florida State vs. Fairleigh Dickinson

Two points.

You win some and you lose some. They are all either morale-boosters or heart-breakers.

Florida State and Fairleigh Dickinson both come into tonight's game with a thorough knowledge of a two point decision. The Seminoles have been on both sides of a two point game, including a 87-85 win over Tulane last Saturday in the Superdome, while FDU dropped an 81-79 game to Maine in overtime last weekend.

The Seminoles, who lost a two point league game at Cincinnati when a buzzer shot dropped in, won as Tulane's last second shot failed to go in.

So, instead, Florida State referred back to a 25-foot jumper by Tony Jackson with just four seconds left to settle a hectic, scrambling Metro Conference game that left FSU with a 10-2 record.

Maine scored the deciding bucket with 18 seconds left in overtime to lift them to a 81-79 win over Fairleigh Dickinson. The Knights dropped to 2-9.

Senior forward Harry Davis continues to pace the Seminoles in scoring with a 19.9 average. He poured in a season high 29 points at Tulane, connecting on 13 of 18 shots.

Reserve guard Mickey Dillard is scoring 14.4 points a game. The 6-2 guard also leads the team free throws, hitting 82.6 percent of his shots.

David Thompson, coming off the bench, and starting guard Eugene Harris round out the top scorers with 11.0 and 10.9 points, respectively.

Davis leads the team in rebounding with 8.3 a game.

Fairleigh Dickinson, suffering through a dismal start, has managed only wins over St. Francis and North Carolina A & T.

Jay Jorgensen, a 6-5 forward, leads the Knights in scoring with a 19.5 average while another 6-5 forward, Ken Webb, is close behind at 13.3.

FDU will also start Rocco Margosian at center and Steve Makwinski and Howard Wilson at guards.

Florida State and Fairleigh Dickinson have met only once previously with the Seminoles winning 86-58 during the 1973-74 season.

Florida State will host Tulane on Saturday night at 8:05 and plenty of tickets remain on sale. The Athletic Ticket Office is open during tonight's game and throughout the week. The ticket office will open at 12 noon on Saturday.
