TIDE DIVERS WIN
EVENTS AT NIT MEET

TUSCALOOSA - University of Alabama divers won three of the four diving events on the first day of action at the third-annual National Invitational Dual-Meet Championships Thursday afternoon at the Alabama Aquatic Center.

Tide freshman Edward Morse won the men's 1-meter diving (332.55), Tide junior Mark Rourke won the 3-meter (376.45) and sophomore transfer Laura Landry won the one-meter (250.70). Linda Pesk of the Houston Cougars won the women's 3-meter (302.82).

In the men's 1-meter, Alabama divers finished in the top three places with Morse first, Rourke second and senior Scott Pomerleau third. In the men's 3-meter, Morse finished second behind teammate Rourke.

Morse, who said he is slowly adjusting to the team atmosphere that exists in major-college diving, added that he dove well on Thursday.

"I felt good on the 1-meter," Morse said. "I feel that the three-meter and the 10-meter are really my best events. The higher you go, the better I am. Being a member of a team is something I'm still getting used to. I think you feel a little pressure because you want to help the team."

Although Morse said he felt the level of competition at the meet is good, he said that he tries to concentrate on his own diving and block the competition out of his mind.

"If I do the best I can, I'll place well," Morse said. "I don't worry about what the other divers are doing. I just concentrate on my diving."

The NIT meet continues Friday through Sunday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Alabama Aquatic Center. There is no admission charge. Alabama's men's and women's swimming and diving teams compete against Florida State at 9 a.m. on Friday to kickoff the meet.
