RIZZA CLOSSES OUT CAREER AT FSU

June 1, 1987

Closing out her eight-year coaching career at FSU, Anne Rizza's Lady Seminoles took a second place finish at the Metro Conference Tennis Tournament in Hattiesburg, MS losing a 6-3 match to South Carolina in the finals.

Florida State's two tournament wins and one loss ended its 1987 season with a 11-16 spring record.

The Lady Seminoles advanced to the finals by defeating Louisville 7-2 in the first round and Memphis State 9-0 in the second round. In the finals, FSU scored two wins in singles competition along with one doubles victory. Sophomore Kirsten Turk defeated Carolina Culik 6-3, 7-6 in the number three position while senior Kim Temples defeated Margaret O'Grady 6-3, 6-4 in the final singles match of her career at FSU. Turk and Temples took the number two doubles position by default over Culik and O'Grady.

Following the tournament, Rizza's resignation became effective. After compiling a 142-105 record over eight years at FSU, Rizza claimed that she was "getting out of the coaching business." She has no other job offers in the coaching business and plans to work with her husband for the time being at his newly-opened Subway sandwich shop in Tallahassee.

Elevated to the position of interim head coach is last season's graduate assistant coach, Patti Henderson. Henderson, a four-year player for the Lady Seminoles, will assume full-time duties beginning in August. Rizza feels that because of her experience with Florida State, Henderson should be a top candidate for the job when a national search for a new head coach begins in 1988.

The change of coaches caused a few problems with the 1987-88 recruiting season according to Rizza. "Since I informed the recruits of my departure early," said Rizza. "It caused a few of them to go elsewhere because of the fact of an interim coach."

At the present time, only one incoming freshman has been signed to play tennis for the Lady Seminoles. Buffy Baker of Nashville, TN is the lone newcomer to a team which lost three seniors (Sue Hatch, Kim Temples and Mary Wood) to graduation. Also gone from the lineup is Australian Josephine O'Gorman whose scholarship was not renewed. Rizza said that Henderson, who is currently in Germany competing in club tennis play, is also taking a look at a European recruit who has expressed interest in FSU.

Key returnees to the Florida State tennis squad for 1988 are Tracey Smith, Jill Urban and Kirsten Turk. Smith returns following a 19-win freshman campaign while Turk and Urban, who will both have junior eligibility, will be counted on after picking up 11 wins each at the three and four positions respectively.

As she closes out her career at Florida State, Rizza noted that along with any coaching transition, Henderson may experience problems in her first head coaching position. "If things do not work out with the European recruit girl," she said. "Patti could have a hard time next season. But after she establishes herself, things should go much better."

WRITTEN FOR USE AS DESIRED

TALLAHASSEE, FL—With the conclusion of the fall tennis season, the Florida State Lady Seminoles look to the spring with a marked improvement in their doubles situation and their newcomers ready to face collegiate competition.

Head Coach Anne Rizza saw the fall season as a time of adjustment for a new team which had holes in the top six singles positions and no established doubles teams. "This fall we learned what we could and could not do," she said. "We are more ready now than we were earlier in the fall."

As for the 1987 doubles teams for the Lady Seminoles, Rizza has filled the top two teams. Sue Hatch, the team's number one singles player and Jill Urban, a sophomore transfer from Louisiana Tech, will occupy the number one doubles spot. The number two position finds senior Kim Temples and sophomore Kirsten Turk. During fall play the duo put together a 6-1 record.

Coach Rizza is obviously pleased with this development since she had no established doubles teams going into the fall season. "We had a marked improvement in the doubles situation," she said. "I look forward to things getting even better in the spring."

Rizza was also faced with the addition of six newcomers, but following their fall performances, she gave them a vote of confidence. "The freshmen saw what college tennis is all about," she said. "They learned something about the caliber of competition they will be seeing in the next couple of years."

Seeing the most action of the group of four freshmen was Tracey Smith of Miami, FL. Playing in the number four and five positions in four dual matches, she had an even 2-2 record. In the Florida Women's Intercollegiate Championship, she won three matches and lost two to bring her fall record to 5-4. With her previous background, Rizza hopes for a good spring from the youngster.

In the number one position for the 1987 Lady Seminoles, senior Sue Hatch will look to improve on her final top 100 ranking for the 1986 season. In the fall Hatch had a 6-4 record, which was surprising, according to Coach Rizza.

"Sue traditionally does not play well in the fall," said Rizza. "I was very pleased with her showing. I hope she follows through in the spring, if she does, she has a good chance for a national ranking."

The Lady Seminoles open their spring schedule on the road January 30 with a match against the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. Their first home action takes place February 7 with a match against South Carolina at the Don Loucks Varsity Courts.

RIZZA CLOSES OUT CAREER AT FSU

June 1, 1987

Closing out her eight-year coaching career at FSU, Anne Rizza's Lady Seminoles took a second place finish at the Metro Conference Tennis Tournament in Hattiesburg, MS losing a 6-3 match to South Carolina in the finals.

Florida State's two tournament wins and one loss ended its 1987 season with a 11-16 spring record.

The Lady Seminoles advanced to the finals by defeating Louisville 7-2 in the first round and Memphis State 9-0 in the second round. In the finals, FSU scored two wins in singles competition along with one doubles victory. Sophomore Kirsten Turk defeated Carolina Culik 6-3, 7-6 in the number three position while senior Kim Temples defeated Margaret O'Grady 6-3, 6-4 in the final singles match of her career at FSU. Turk and Temples took the number two doubles position by default over Culik and O'Grady.

Following the tournament, Rizza's resignation became effective. After compiling a 142-105 record over eight years at FSU, Rizza claimed that she was "getting out of the coaching business." She has no other job offers in the coaching business and plans to work with her husband for the time being at his newly-opened Subway sandwich shop in Tallahassee.

Elevated to the position of interim head coach is last season's graduate assistant coach, Patti Henderson. Henderson, a four-year player for the Lady Seminoles, will assume full-time duties beginning in August. Rizza feels that because of her experience with Florida State, Henderson should be a top candidate for the job when a national search for a new head coach begins in 1988.

The change of coaches caused a few problems with the 1987-88 recruiting season according to Rizza. "Since I informed the recruits of my departure early," said Rizza. "It caused a few of them to go elsewhere because of the fact of an interim coach."

At the present time, only one incoming freshman has been signed to play tennis for the Lady Seminoles. Buffy Baker of Nashville, TN is the lone newcomer to a team which lost three seniors (Sue Hatch, Kim Temples and Mary Wood) to graduation. Also gone from the lineup is Australian Josephine O'Gorman whose scholarship was not renewed. Rizza said that Henderson, who is currently in Germany competing in club tennis play, is also taking a look at a European recruit who has expressed interest in FSU.

Key returnees to the Florida State tennis squad for 1988 are Tracey Smith, Jill Urban and Kirsten Turk. Smith returns following a 19-win freshman campaign while Turk and Urban, who will both have junior eligibility, will be counted on after picking up 11 wins each at the three and four positions respectively.

As she closes out her career at Florida State, Rizza noted that along with any coaching transition, Henderson may experience problems in her first head coaching position. "If things do not work out with the European recruit girl," she said. "Patti could have a hard time next season. But after she establishes herself, things should go much better."

For more information concerning the FSU Women's tennis team, please contact Nick Gandy at the Sports Information Department.
