Alice Reen

Head Coach

Simply put, second year head coach Alice Reen makes a difference. Throughout her competitive career, Alice has elevated the level of competition at every program she has been associated with, and she is well on her way to continuing that trend here at Florida State where she led the Lady Seminoles to a 13-9 record this year. Last season, Reen lead FSU to a 13-10 record and a third place finish in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Orlando native played collegiate tennis for the University of Georgia. When she arrived in Athens, the Lady Bulldogs were by no means a perennial powerhouse. Four years later, Reen was Georgia's number one player and team captain on a team that was runner-up at the 1987 NCAA Tournament in Los Angeles.

Upon graduation, Reen stayed on with the Lady Bulldogs as an assistant before moving on to the University of Tennessee. Today it would be difficult to say that both schools didn't benefit immensely from Reen, as both are continually ranked in the top 20 and belong to the nation's elite in women's tennis.

In 1990, Alice Reen earned her first head coaching position at the University of Arkansas. Unsurprisingly, Reen enjoyed a successful season in Fayetteville before accepting the head job at Florida State. Despite this being only her second season in Tallahassee, Reen is already directing the Lady Seminoles to the top.

With top 20 experience as a player and a coach, it seems only a matter of time before Reen puts Florida State's women's tennis among the upper echelon of intercollegiate programs. Last summer, Reen coached the 18-year-old Florida Intersectional team to a first place finish in the USTA's National Tournament.

Jenny Mainz

Assistant Coach

In her first season as women's tennis assistant coach, Jenny Mainz was concerned with a variety of on and off court activities. Mainz assisted in the coaching of the team and performed a variety of administrative tasks.

Mainz is a former player from the University of Houston. While there, she won many awards including being named a GTE Academic All-American. In addition she was voted captain of her team three years and was tabbed a member of the All Southwest Conference team two years. Mainz ranked as high as 12th in the nation in doubles in 1990.

Currently Jenny is working on a Masters degree in Exercise Physiology.

Florida State Notes

Long time no see:

There has been a ten year hiatus since a Florida State women's tennis player qualified for the NCAA tournament. Audra Brannon, who was an alternate for the NCAA's last year, is the first Lady Seminole to make the tournament since Jaime Kaplan was invited in 1983.

Brannon and Laura Randmaa are the first FSU doubles team to reach the NCAA tournament since Patti Henderson- who later became FSU's women's tennis coach- reached in doubles in 1986.

Preparation is the key:

Audra Brannon has prepared for the NCAA tournament by facing ranked opponents in six of her last seven matches. Four of those six (Jen Callen, Anne Chauzu, Cinda Gurney and Boba Tzvetkova) join Brannon in Gainesville.

In doubles, Brannon and Randmaa have matched up against four of the teams that were invited to the tournament. One of those teams, Cinda Gurney and Alisha Portnoy of North Carolina have faced Brannon and Randmaa on three different occasions this season.

There could be a pattern here:

Audra Brannon and Laura Randmaa finished the regular season on a two match losing skid at the ACC Championships. However, the pair have never dropped three matches in a row.

The honors keep rolling in:

Audra Brannon and Laura Randmaa have both garnered a number of awards this season. They were both named to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference squad. The pair was runner-up ACC flight champions at number one doubles and Randmaa was the runner-up flight champion at number two singles. Brannon was named the 1993 recipient of the Regional Arthur Ashe Award for her sportsmanship and character.
